She paused for an instant, drawing on a pair of the short gloves of the mode then correct. "Do you know why I am to go on this heathen errand?" she demanded. I shook my head.

"Mr. Calhoun wishes to know whether he shall go to the cabinet of your man Tyler over there in that barn you call your White House. I suppose Mr. Calhoun wishes to know how he can serve Mr. Tyler?"

I laughed at this. "Serve him!" I exclaimed. "Rather say lead him, tell him, command him!"

"Yes," she nodded. I began to see another and graver side of her nature. "Yes, it is of course Texas."

I did not see fit to make answer to this.

"If your master, as you call him, takes the portfolio with Tyler, it is to annex Texas," she repeated sharply. "Is not that true?"

Still I would not answer. "Come!" I said.

"And he asks me to come to him so that he may decide—"

This awoke me. "No man decides for John Calhoun, madam," I said. "You may advance facts, but he will decide." Still she went on.

"And Texas not annexed is a menace. Without her, you heathen people would not present a solid front, would you?"

"Madam has had much to do with affairs of state," I said.

She went on as though I had not spoken:

"And if you were divided in your southern section, England would have all the greater chance. England, you know, says she wishes slavery abolished. She says that—"

"England says many things!" I ventured.

"The hypocrite of the nations!" flashed out this singular woman at me suddenly. "As though diplomacy need be hypocrisy! Thus, to-night Sir Richard of England forgets his place, his protestations. He does not even know that Mexico has forgotten its duty also. Sir, you were not at our little ball, so you could not see that very fat Sir Richard paying his bored devoirs to Dona Lucrezia! So I am left alone, and would be bored, but for you. In return—a slight jest on Sir Richard to-night.—I will teach him that no fat gentleman should pay even bored attention to a lady who soon will be fat, when his obvious duty should call him otherwise! Bah! 'tis as though I myself were fat; which is not true."

"You go too deep for me, madam," I said. "I am but a simple messenger." At the same time, I saw how admirably things were shaping for us all. A woman's jealousy was with us, and so a woman's whim!

"Madam," said I, my hand at the fastening of the door, "we have exchanged pledges. Now we exchange places. It is you who are the messenger, not myself. There is a message in your hands. I know not whether you ever served a monarchy. Come, you shall see that our republic has neither secrets nor hypocrisies."

On the instant she was not shrewd and tactful woman of the world, not student, but once more coquette and woman of impulse. She looked at me with mockery and invitation alike in her great dark eyes, even as I threw down the chain at the door and opened it wide for her to pass.

"Is that my only reward?" she asked, smiling as she fumbled at a glove.

In reply, I bent and kissed the fingers of her ungloved hand. They were so warm and tender that I had been different than I was had I not felt the blood tingle in all my body in the impulse of the moment to do more than kiss her fingers.

Had I done so—had I not thought of Elizabeth—then, as in my heart I still believe, the flag of England to-day would rule Oregon and the Pacific; and it would float to-day along the Rio Grande; and it would menace a divided north and south, instead of respecting a strong and indivisible Union which owns one flag and dreads none in the world.

CHAPTER VII.

Regarding Elizabeth.

Without woman the two extremities of this life would be destitute of succor and the middle would be devoid of pleasure.—Proverb.

In some forgetten garret of this country, as I do not doubt, yellowed with age, stained and undistinguishable, lost among uncared-for relics of another day, there may be records of that interview between two strange personalities, John Calhoun and Helena von Ritz, in the arrangement of which I played the part above described. I was not at that time privileged to have much more than a guess at the nature of the interview. Indeed, other things now occupied my mind. I was very much in love with Elizabeth Churchill.

Of these matters I need to make some mention. My father's plantation was one of the old ones in Maryland. That of the Churchills lay across a low range of mountains and in another county from us, but our families had long been friends. I had known Elizabeth from the time she was a tall, slim girl, boon companion ever to her father, old Daniel Churchill; for her mother she had lost when she was still young. The Churchills maintained a city establishment in the environs of Washington itself, although that was not much removed from their plantation in the old state of Maryland. Elmhurst, this Washington estate was called, and it was well known there, with its straight road approaching and its great trees and its wide-doored halls—whereby the road itself seemed to run straight through the house and appear beyond—and its tall white pillars and hospitable galleries, now in the springtime inclosed in green. I need not state that now, having finished the business of the day, or, rather, of the night, Elmhurst, home of Elizabeth, was my immediate Mecca.

I had clad myself as well as I could in the fashion of my time, and flattered myself, as I looked in my little mirror, that I made none such bad figure of a man. I was tall enough, and straight, thin with long hours afoot or in the saddle, bronzed to a good color, and if health did not show on my face, at least I felt it myself in the lightness of my step, in the contentedness of my heart with all of life, in my general assurance that all in the world meant well toward me and that everything in the world would do well by me.

J., at eight o'clock P. M., on Monday, the sixth day of June, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Ten, at which time and place prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.
JAMES T. MacMURRAY,
City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., May 2, 1910.

AN ORDINANCE

to authorize the issuing of municipal bonds for the purpose of obtaining money from the sale thereof for the permanent improvement of streets and highways of the City of Plainfield, pursuant to Chapter 200 of the Laws of 1898, during the year 1910.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That for the purpose of obtaining money from the sale thereof for the permanent improvement of the streets and highways of said City during the calendar year 1910 with permanent and durable material of a kind to be determined in each instance by the Common Council before the work is commenced, to an amount not exceeding fifteen dollars per capita for each of the inhabitants of said City according to the last official census, but not for more than the amount limited by law, the Common Council of said City do hereby, pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of said State entitled "An Act to authorize the improvement of streets and highways in cities of this State, and to provide for the payment of the expense of the same, and for the assessment of the benefits of such improvement upon the land and real estate benefited thereby," and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, authorize the issuing of thirty coupon municipal bonds of the City of Plainfield of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) each, and amounting in all to Thirty Thousand Dollars ($30,000), which bonds shall be dated July 1st, 1910, and shall bear interest at the rate of four and one-half per centum (4½ per cent.) per annum, payable semi-annually, and be payable three years from the date thereof, with the option to the City to redeem or pay off the said bonds, or any one or more of them, at any time after one year from the date thereof and before three years from the date thereof, on giving personal notice to said holders of said bonds or thirty (30) days notice by advertisement in the official newspapers of the City of the intention to make such redemption or payment, which bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and bear the corporate seal of the City and be attested by the City Clerk, and may severally or collectively when ordered by resolution of the Common Council be sold for an amount not less than par value; and there shall be raised by tax in each year hereafter such sum of money as may be necessary to pay the interest on all outstanding bonds and the principal of such bonds as may mature during that year, and the money derived from the assessments upon the property benefited shall when collected be held as a fund toward the payment of said bonds.

Sec. 2. That before any improvement shall be authorized pursuant to the Act of the Legislature referred to in Section 1, it shall be necessary to enact an ordinance designating the street or streets or parts thereof to be improved, together with the kind of pavement proposed to improve them, and all work shall be given out upon contract to the lowest responsible bidder and only after bids therefor have been solicited and received, the Common Council to have the right to reject any and all of such bids.

Sec. 3. That streets or parts of streets to be improved with durable macadam pavement shall be so improved in accordance with the following specifications, that is to say, durable macadam pavement with bituminous binder, shall be laid to a depth running from six (6) inches in the center to four (4) inches at the side, as shown on plan entitled "Plan showing standard cross-sections of streets of the City of Plainfield, N. J., filed in the office of the City Clerk April 30th, 1910," said macadam pavement to be in every respect equal to the macadam with bituminous binder on Union Street between Arlington Avenue and Stelle Avenue in said City. The ordinance specially designating said streets or parts of streets shall also designate in each instance the width to which said macadam shall be laid.

Sec. 4. That after said improvements shall have been completed, the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively, by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax; no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actually derived from said improvements.

POINTS ON SLEEVES.

After the long sleeves of other days, it is to be hailed with joy by the possessors of pretty arms that short ones are here. They extend to the elbow, or half way between the elbow and wrist, but the stamp of this season is in the length.

There is, of course, the long sleeve for those who insist upon a certain individuality in costume; but this style is not the long unbroken line to which we have been acustomed.

There must be a suggestion of the short sleeve given by bands across the arm, or by deep cuffs or puffs. Trimming can be used in placque or horizontal lines to cut the long arm line into the divisions that are emphasized in the spring fashions.

Ruffles of pleating and lace are used to edge the short sleeves— in fact, the fullness that is evidenced in other lines of dress is felt in the sleeve construction.

A Cheap Imitation.

They were setting up the golden calf.

"What do you think of it?" they ecstatically asked the wise man.

"It will look cheap enough when the food barons begin to put up the price of veal," he answered, and gloomily stalked away.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Off in His Pronunciation

"I am still having no end of trouble with my pronunciation," said the rugged man who has accumulated a big fortune without having much improved his education. "That is, I ain't having any trouble with it myself, but I'm making a lot of trouble for other people.

"As far as I'm concerned I don't mind much how I pronounce my words as long as I'm understood, but it makes an awful difference to my children, especially my oldest daughter. 'Why, father,' she says, 'what do you suppose people will think of us with you pronouncing words as you do?'

"You see, since the children were old enough to know anything we've always had plenty of money, and so they've had all the what you call advantages, and they know how to pronounce and all that, and they can hold their end up with the best of them. Now, you know, the children's mother and I have been married for quite some time, and I don't want to butt my family affairs in onto your notice, but I don't mind saying to you that I think mother is the greatest and noblest and finest woman that ever lived, and you might not think it of a tough old chap like me, but I like to call her pretty names.

"Her name, I might as well tell you, because I've got to tell you, to understand what I'm going to say, is Mary; but I like sometimes to call her something else. Sometimes I call her Lucy. I rather like Lucy, and instead of calling her Mary I've called her sometimes Lucy for weeks at a time, with her smiling at me kind o' dubious, as if I was making a fool of myself, but saying nothing. And Agnes; I always sort of liked Agnes, and once I called her Agnes for six weeks. And then another name I always did like was Pauline, and once for about four months I didn't call her anything but Pauline, and I've called her by a lot of names like that, just as they happened to strike my fancy.

"Foolish this may seem to you, just as it always did to her, but I never saw any harm in it. I like to give her these pretty names just as I like to give her pretty clothes. I like to have everything about her pretty; I'd give my hat and all I've got to make her happy. I don't know what I'd done or where I'd got without her, and she's all the world to me, and I love to give her all the pretty things I can; but I guess I can't give her any more pretty names.

"Last week I ran across the name of Beatrice. That's a pretty name, don't you think? Beatrice? And I started right away calling the lady Beatrice, but this time I ran up against my oldest daughter.

"Of course I pronounced Beatrice Bee-a-triss; what other way could there be? I never heard any other, but the first time I said it my oldest daughter happened to be around and "'Bee-a-triss?' she said. 'Why, father, what do you mean by saying dreadful things like that?'

"'Dreadful?' I says. 'Why, what's the matter with Beatrice? Isn't Beatrice a pretty name?'

"'Why, father,' says my oldest daughter, 'you mustn't say things like that; you mustn't say Bee-a-triss, it's Bay-ah-tree-chay!'

"'What?' I says, 'Bay-ah-chee-tray?'

"'No, no, no!' says daughter, 'not Bay-ah-chee-tray. It's Bay-ah-tree-chay!'

"And I tried it again and got it Bay-ah-chee-tree, and Bay-ah-tree-chee, and Bay-ah-tro-key, and various other things, and finally I got it Bay-ah-tree-chay.

"'Now, that's right,' says daughter, 'it's Bay-ah-tree-chay. Never say Bee-a-triss.'

"I said it again and got it right again this time, Bay-ah-tree-chay; and as I said it I happened to look around where mother was, and there she sat smiling at me.

"Well, it was sort of ridiculous, wasn't it? Certainly it was. Lucy was all right enough, and Agnes and Pauline, but fancy my going up to her and saying: 'Well, Bay-a-tree-chay,' and then going on and trying to say something sensible or loving after that.

"Why, of course, it wouldn't do, and we both knew that, and so, do you know, I've cut out the fancy names altogether? Dropped 'em entirely, and I think she's rather pleased with that. She always laughed at me for it, but I am inclined to think that deep down in her heart she never really fancied my calling her by any name but her own.

"So there's one little reform worked by my oldest daughter being so particular about pronunciation."

Kind to Bohemian Artists.

Mrs. Stanford White has come to be called "the little mother of the Latin quarter," so kind has she been to the Bohemian element that lives in that district of Paris. She lives in the center of the quarter with her son, Lawrence, who is completing his education in the Ecole des Beaux Arts, where his father studied. She has befriended more than one poor boy who might otherwise have been stranded.

"Hard to say. He made a date, but got a lemon."

BOYNTON'S

Newport Range

Undoubtedly, Mrs. Housewife, you know the *dis*advantages of the ordinary kitchen range, but do you know the *ad*vantages of the famous Boynton Single Oven NEWPORT Range?

We haven't space for the whole story, but will tell you part; and first—as a cooker, the "NEWPORT" is the "best yet." Its design is classical (see cut) with smooth, perfect castings and highly finished nickel parts. This means a clean stove and less kitchen work.

Some cooks like the fire box on the right side of the oven, some on the left—"NEWPORTS" are fitted both ways. "NEWPORT" dampers are convenient—the "NEWPORT" water back is large and effective. Every good feature of other ranges is incorporated in the "NEWPORT" and some that are exclusive. Don't buy a range until you see the Boynton man in your town and learn about "NEWPORT" Ranges.

DOUBLE PREMIUMS & PHENOMENAL VALUES FOR THIS EVENT

This week we celebrate our first birthday—it's to be a week of real pleasure to us—one of genuine PROFIT TO OUR FRIENDS and PATRONS—we want all Newark and vicinity to join us in celebrating. Just one year ago we launched this store—"OUT OF THE HIGH RENT DISTRICT"—with the declaration that through our location we would save the public 25% ON HOME FURNISHINGS. Many "wise ones" predicted we would never make it go—"the idea of doing business at 329-335 PLANE STREET, three doors from Market Street, was out of the question," said the high-price clique. But we have exploded their theories, demonstrating that the people are willing to take a few extra steps when THEY ARE ASSURED OF SAVING A FOURTH of the price they would have to pay for the same goods to the "swell font store in the high rent section." As a fitting commemoration of this first year of growth and progress we offer for THIS ANNIVERSARY WEEK TWO ELEGANT PREMIUMS and SCORES OF MATCHLESS BARGAINS.

Girls who love books will find in them all that makes life pleasant, according to the opinion of Isaac Barrow. Concerning book-loving girls he wrote: "She that loveth a book will never want a faithful friend, a wholesome counsellor, a cheerful companion, an effectual comforter. WANTS FOWLER RETURNED

New Idea Central Committee Chairman Rallies to Congressman.

NEEDED IN THE HOUSE.

Howard C. Tracy Says It Would Be a Grave Mistake to Nominate an Untried Candidate This Fall.

In a communication to The Daily Press today, Howard C. Tracy, chairman of the "progressive" Republicans' central committee, rallies to the support of Charles N. Fowler as a candidate for renomination to Congress. The tenor of his letter plainly indicates that the "New Idea" forces in this city will enlist under the Fowler banners for the fall campaign.

Mr. Tracy's letter follows:

Editor, The Daily Press:

If "Uncle Dan" Voorhees was correctly reported in your issue of the eleventh inst., his remarks concerning the renomination of Congressman Charles N. Fowler from the Fifth Congressional District are, to say the least, interesting to those who remember the frequent denials made by political leaders of the existence of bosses in New Jersey. If Mr. Voorhees' claim that the minority in previous congressional conventions has "forced" the nomination of Mr. Fowler upon Union county, which has a majority of the delegates, does not savor of bossism, it is hard to say what would. However, bosses are not popular in these days, and Mr. Voorhees may learn that the people of Union county will have something to say about the selection of a candidate at the next congressional convention.

Speaking seriously, however, it seems to me that the nomination of a new and untried candidate would be a grave mistake. There is a very general impression that the Democrats will have a majority in the next House. To prevent this it behooves the Republicans to renominate every Republican member of the present House who has a reasonable prospect of success at the polls, and I believe Mr. Fowler is in this class. There is a widespread feeling that the Payne-Aldrich tariff law is not a fulfilment of the pledge of tariff revision contained in the last Republican platform. President Taft's repeated assertions to the contrary notwithstanding, and although Mr. Fowler did vote for the bill, he realized its shortcomings, and endeavored to have inserted in it a provision for an efficient tariff commission, such as the President is now trying to secure through an appropriation of $250,000 for the work of the tariff board, whose powers were sought to be so restricted by the bill as originally passed.

That Mr. Fowler has made a deeper study of the currency question than almost any other man in public life, is generally recognized, and the soundness of the fundamental propositions embodied in the several bills for the reform of the currency which he has from time to time introduced is likewise generally admitted by bankers and others competent to form opinions on the subject. The opposition to them has come chiefly from those fanatically devoted to our present bond-secured currency. The currency question is likely to be one of the foremost to be considered by the next congress, and we owe it, not only to ourselves, but to the rest of the country, to return a representative so well qualified to take an influential part in the discussion and solution of so important a problem.

There are indications that the organization which has so long dominated both houses of Congress is losing its grip.

The curb recently applied to the power of Speaker Cannon, and which is likely to be strengthened, and the announced retirement of Senators Aldrich and Hale, are signs of the times, which are observed with general satisfaction. Let us hope that Senator Kean, who is a devoted follower of Senator Aldrich and a member of the clique which has so long dominated the Senate, will also be elected to private life.

I know nothing as to the merits of the reasons suggested by the chairman of the Union county Republican Committee why Mr. Fowler should not be renominated, but they seem to me narrow and unworthy of consideration in the situation now before us. When we have a representative who stands for sound and progressive principles, as does Mr. Fowler, and is not afraid to speak up for them, let us renominate him.

HOWARD C. TRACY.

TELEPHONE COMPANY TO PRESENT NEW PETITION

A representative of the New York Telephone Company attended the meeting of the Fanwood Township Committee last night and discussed the petition for a franchise that had been filed by the committee at a previous meeting. Nothing definite was done in the matter it being understood that the company will present a new petition at a future meeting of the committee.

The action of the Bucket and Engine Company in purchasing a chemical engine from the Morristown fire department was ratified and $200 was appropriated from the fire company to assist in paying for the apparatus, it being agreed that the company will pay the balance of the cost.

In an effort to eliminate dust on Front street and Park avenue during the coming summer months the committee voted to have these thoroughfares oiled.

LECTURE ON NAPOLEON WITH IMPERSONATIONS

Rev. Clarence S. Woods, of Roselle, will give his lecture on "Napoleon Bonaparte," at the Plainfield High School, Tuesday night for the benefit of the Church of the Heavenly Rest. The lecture will be illustrated by members of the church, which will make it of unusual interest. The characters and those who will impersonate them are as follows:

Napoleon Bonaparte, Irving DeHart; Josephine, Mrs. Juan Babcock; Marie Louise, Miss Blanche Thorn; Boy Napoleon, Juan Babcock, Jr.; Mother of Napoleon, Mrs. W. B. Grannatt; Pope, Juan Babcock; Cardinals, Albert Harris and Alfred Becker; Archbishop of Paris, James Harris; Lords, William J. Vocal and instrumental music will intersperse the program, among those taking part being Mrs. Chester Shreve, Miss Susan Bennett, Miss Mary Graves and Miss Lena Long. The committee in charge comprise Mrs. Charles E. Borden and Benjamin Harris. There will be a dress rehearsal at the Plainfield High School Monday night.

FREEHOLDERS INSPECT NEW ROAD REPAIRS

The committee of the Union County Board of Freeholders, of which S. P. T. Wilbur, of this city, is chairman, yesterday inspected the repairs to the New Providence road, from East Summit to Berkeley Heights. A visit was also made to the Hobart Gap road and orders were given to re-surface this road.

State Commissioner of Roads Col. Gilkyson, and his assistant, Robert A. Meeker, of this city, and the members of the committee will meet on Monday for the purpose of going over the proposed new road which will extend from Westfield to Summit, via Cranford and Baltusrol.

HAVE YOU HOOP SKIRTS YOU ARE NOT USING NOW.

Several of the young women in the cast for Trelawny of the Wells, to be given at the Plainfield theatre on Friday and Saturday night, May 20 and 21, are anxious to obtain hoop skirts. They need them in their business.

To be brief, hoop skirts will play an important part in the wardrobe and none of the young women seem to know where to obtain them. They are not on sale in Feltville or Samptown, but if you have a pair stowed away in the garret, won't you kindly send them to the office of this paper, where the young actresses will call for them. Yes, they will be returned.

"Modern Drama as a Social Force."

"Modern Drama as a Social Force," is the subject of a lecture to be given before the Monday Afternoon Club Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Hartridge School Auditorium. Mr. Moses is the editor of "Everyman," and the lecture is recommended by Charles Rann Kennedy, author of "The Servant in the House."

BABCOCK'S GARAGE WILL COST $15,000

A spurt is on in local building circles and contractors are busy figuring on plans for structures that will be erected during the summer season. Perhaps the most important application filed with Building Inspector Doane this year is one from George L. Babcock, who has contracted with Alexander Milne for the erection of what will be one of the most elaborately equipped and commodious automobile garages in the State.

The structure will be built of brick, heated by steam and will cost about $15,000. The plans of the building are now in the hands of Inspector Doane.

The Knights of Columbus have plans to local contractors for an extension of the Lindsay property on West Front street, which adjoins the First Baptist church. As announced exclusively in the Daily Press a few weeks ago, the lodge has arranged to convert the property into a commodious clubhouse, and the deal is expected to be negotiated next week. In addition to the these projects permits have been granted for the erection of eight dwellings, as follows:

Plainfield Development Company, corner Grant avenue and East Ninth street.

Mrs. Elizabeth Alexander, dwelling at 612 East Third street.

C. Peterson, dwelling on Cushing road.

Thomas Cogan, dwelling at 925 West Seventh street.

LOCAL ENDEAVORERS HEARD W. P. HALL SPEAK

The Plainfield Christian Endeavor Societies were largely represented at the twenty-second annual convention of the Union County Endeavor Union held yesterday afternoon and evening in the Presbyterian church, Westfield. The society from the Temple Baptist church had a representation of thirty-three, the largest from any one society in the county.

The chief busines last night was the election of these officers for the coming year:

President, Purdy F. Benedict, of Roselle; first vice-president, John D. Hood, of Elizabeth; second vice-president, Clarence B. LaRue, of Plainfield; third vice-president, J. Duer Randolph, of Elizabeth; fourth vice-president, Rev. Gordon M. Russell, of Garwood; secretary, Frederick L. Mintel, of Rahway; assitant secretary, Miss Vera H. Day, of Elizabeth; treasurer, Miss Ethel Irving, of Westfield.

The Union county banner was won by the Westminster Presbyterian church society, of Elizabeth.

William Phillips Hall, of Greenwich, Conn., was the principal speaker last night, his topic being "Witnesses." Among other things he said that all Christian Endeavorers should be witnesses for Christ. He declared that during his fifteen years of witnessing for Christ, 10,000 souls have been saved. His remarks stirred all the Endeavorers and were listened to with the greatest interest.

The features of the afternoon session included greetings from State Union, by Miss Edna Kelly, of Jersey City; an address, "Plans and Methods," by Chester Bradley, Junior Superintendent of the Essex County C. E. Union; concluding with a question box. A meeting of the executive committee of the county union was held at 7:15 o'clock.

At the evening service there was an address of welcome by Rev. Dr. W. I. Steans, of Westfield; report of the year's work by Harry F. Brewer, secretary; and following the report of the nominating committee made by Fred S. Bonteau, chairman, the officers were elected. State President John T. Sproull, presided during the election of officers. After the presentation of the banner, Mr. Hall made his address and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Steans.

Owls Dance a Success.

The dance given in Saengerbund Hall last night under the auspices of the Owl Club was a big success. The grand march was led by Miss B. Muldowney and George Schlick. The committee in charge was Ed Mattell, Jacob Schlick, George Schlick, George Schmidt and M. A. Nichols. Tomorrow the club will go on a May walk to the mountains.

'AS YOU LIKE IT' TONIGHT BY HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS

The senior class of the Plainfield High School will present the Shakespearian comedy, "As You Like It," at the Plainfield theatre tonight. The cast is above the average. Miss Frances Newell, who takes the leading part of "Rosalind," which has been made famous by Henrietta Crossman and Julia Marlowe and others is fine in her part and she will undoubtedly score in the forthcoming production. She is self-composed and acts with a freedom that is delightful. Miss Meta R. Pennock, who impersonates the role of "Celia," daughter of Duke Frederick, is clever. Miss Grace Woolston, as "Adam," servant to "Oliver," acts the part naturally and she speaks her lines distinctly.

Others who will distinguish themselves are Frank Arthur Putnam, as "Oliver," brother of "Orlando," and Fred D. Loizeaux as "Orlando," while William H. Bullock, as "Touchstone," the duke's jester, acts his part in a refreshing manner. Although Master Benjamin Doane, who is a page, has a small part, won applause for the efficient way in which he interpreted it. Alvan Overton, as "Charles," Duke Frederick's wrestler, is also good and the bit of wrestling in the first act is well done. Clifford B. Vail, as "Corin," an old shepherd, was fine and received much applause.

There has been a large sale of tickets for tonight's performance and doubtless it will be one of the greatest achievements in amateur theatricals in the history of the Plainfield High School.

Still Fire Alarm.

A pile of burning rubbish in the rear of Theodore Pruden's place, 148 East Second street, opposite fire headquarters, gave the firemen a short run. The blaze was extinguished by the use of three distinguishers.

COMET PARTIES ARE NOW THE REAL THING

Not to be outdone by New Yorkers Plainfielders took advantage of the vogue and formed "comet parties" at an early hour this morning and journeyed up the mountain to wait for the appearance of the "heavens' greatest wonder." One party from East Second street consisting of about a dozen Eastenders provided themselves with lunch boxes and telescopes and all the necessaries for building a camp-fire and doing some cooking started from their homes at about 1:30. They arrived near Hyde's Cottage an hour afterward patiently awaiting the apperance of the luminous monster.

The comet was distinguished through the haze at 2:40 and for a few minutes was visible, appearing like a huge ball of white fire almost as large as the sun. The haze then enveloped the visitor for half an hour and again it appeared in all its splendor, finally disappearing in another bank of haze. The approach of the sun gradually dimmed the comet so that the watchers lost sight of it.

Many of those who went to the top of Norwood avenue carried field glasses and even small telescopes and all were rewarded for their early rising. According to a report from the Yerkes observatory received here this morning all danger from gases escaping from the comet has passed. The spectrum reveals the fact that all the cyanogen gas has been absorbed in the atmosphere through which the tail has passed and even though the tail makes a thrilling nocturnal spectacle it can do no harm to the inhabitants of this mundane sphere. On May 20 the comet will be plainly seen in the western sky immediately after sunset.

SOME JUVENILE CASES IN THE CITY COURT

Several juvenile cases occupied the attention of Judge William N. Runyon in the city court this morning some of which called for drastic measures. One boy will occupy a cell in headquarters until Monday and the parents of two others were fined five dollars each on complaints which the judge could not otherwise dispose of.

James Mollock was the boy sent into the cooler. He has been so bad that ordinary measures failed to bring him to his senses. This youngster besides having been incorrigible in school is accused of theft and other offenses and has been put on his good behavior many times before, but all the corrective influences brought to bear on him have been of no avail. It is hoped that a taste of actual confinement will have a tendency to make him think over his malicious behavior.

John A. Sweeny, a colored tailor, of Richmond street, together with his wife were lectured a-plenty by the judge for the carelessness with which their children were cared for. According to the testimony of the health department and the school authorities the family of seven have been living under filthy conditions and the children have frequently been sent home from school because of their dirty condition. Sweeny evidently has labored under the impression that because he is a British subject he was not amenable to the laws of this country. But the Judge made it so plain to him this morning that he declared he would move away from here. The judge remarked that it would be a good thing if some of the nearby British possessions were selected by Mr. Sweeny.

Several other cases were disposed of including that of a colored boy who admitted having committed eighteen thefts from his mother and friends. He was taken into a cell and left there for a few minutes and when taken out promised to be good in the future. His home discipline with a rawhide will probably come later.

MISS EMILY HARRIGAN IN A THRILLING RUNAWAY.

Miss Emily Harrigan, daughter of Joseph Harrigan, of South avenue, and three friends were participants in a thrilling runaway yesterday afternoon but all escaped injury. While returning from Murray Hill to this city, the breeching strap snapped on the mountain top at the former place, and frightened the horse.

Starting on its run at Murray Hill, the animal continued its flight down the mountain road for two miles, or until Scotch Plains was reached. At this place Miss Harrigan brought the animal to a halt by steering it into the fence near Deegan's hotel. The terrified occupants of the carriage alighted and were taken care of by landlord Deegan.

MRS. MARTHA E. FORCE AGED 73 YEARS DEAD

Mrs. Martha E. Force, aged seventy-three years, widow of Henry W. Force, a member of one of the oldest families in the city, died at 9 o'clock at her home, 147 West Front street, following an illness of several weeks. She was born at Short Hills. Her maiden name was Miss Martha Dolbier. She was married to Mr. Force fifty-one years ago and he died about ten years ago.

Mrs. Force was a woman of rare womanly qualities and was beloved by a wide circle of friends. For many years she resided in New street. Surviving are eight children: Thomas H. Force, Ulysses G. Force, William C. Force, Mrs. A. A. Prudhon, Daniel V. Force, and Miss Lillie Force, of this city; Mrs. W. H. Gildersleeve, of Brooklyn, and Mrs. W. R. Cottrell, of Avon. The funeral services will be held from the late home, Monday evening and the burial will be at the convenience of the family in Evergreen cemetery.

MAN WITH GUN GETS FORTY DAYS IN JAIL

Frank Moraski, a Pole, who bears a strong resemblance to Czogoltz, the assassin who murdered President McKinley, was sentenced to forty days in jail this morning by City Judge William N. Runyon for being intoxicated and carrying a loaded revolver. Moraski was arrested on Thursday night by Patrolman Thomas Flatley, who had to play the "hide and seek" game to get his man.

Moraski was zig-zagging down Richmond street casting furtive glances around apparently on the lookout for someone when the officer arrived at the corner of Richmond and Fifth streets. Flatley became suspicious and hid behind a tree. Moraski did likewise. Then Flatley moved up a tree or two and the other backed up one. Finally Flatley made a break from cover and collared the fellow before he had time to get away and put him through a severe cross-examination. Moraski said he thought he was in Elizabethport and was looking for an address on Elizabeth avenue.

Patrolman Flatley searched the man after asking him whether he carried a gun which the man denied, and found the revolver besides several shells and some cartridges. Judge Runyon thought Moraski a too dangerous character to be at large and sentenced him as above.

He was born near Stirling and had resided in the borough for nearly thirty years. The funeral services will be held on Monday at 8:30 from his late residence and at 9 o'clock from St. Joseph's church. Interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

HARVEY THORN INJURED

Knocked from Motorcycle at Richmond and East Front Streets.

NOT MORTALLY WOUNDED.

Motorist Tries to Get Away and Evade Knowledge of Accident —Furnishes $1,000 Bond —Hearing Saturday.

For colliding with Harvey Thorne, cashier of the Public Service Company at 7 o'clock last night, Harold Hansen, of 1043 West Front street, was held in $1,000 this morning for a hearing next Saturday morning during which time the police will make a further investigation into the accident from which Mr. Thorne suffered serious injuries. The bond was signed by Peter McDononugh.

Last evening about 7 o'clock Mr. Thorne was crossing East Front street on his motorcycle at Richmond intending to run up Norwood avenue when an automobile coming west on East Front street hit the motorcycle throwing Mr. Thorne a distance of twelve feet, smashing the wheel and rendering the rider unconscious. Mr. Thorne received a deep gash in his head and internal injuries, the extent of which cannot yet be determined.

The autoist sped up his machine and made what he thought a clean getaway, but in this he made a mistake. W. B. Hartshorn, who was behind the machine which caused the accident, in his automobile, stopped and with the assistance of neighbors in the vicinity lifted Mr. Thorne into the car and took him to his home, where Dr. Thomas S. Davis attended the injured man. This morning Dr. Davis was unable to state correctly the exact extent of Mr. Thorne's injuries, but internal hurts are feared.

The identification of the automobile which struck Mr. Thorne was made after much trouble from the description given by Mr. Hartshorn and a painter who witnessed the collision. When Sergeant Overbaugh had satisfied himself of the owner's name he called upon Mr. Hansen and asked him if he had had an accident or if he knew of any. Hansen denied all knowledge of it. Again after getting further information Overbaugh went to Hansen, who again denied any knowledge of the accident. This morning after he had made sure of his facts Sergeant Overbaugh again visited Hansen and presenting the facts as he kenw them Hansen finally owned up and he was brought to headquarters, where he was arraigned before City Judge Runyon.

Clarence L. Bond and J. A. Rosen assisted Mr. Hartshorn in helping the injured man into Mr. Hartshorn's automobile and all speed was made to Mr. Thorne's house. At the time of the accident there were several wheelmen ahead of Mr. Thorne on Richmond street and he evidently tried to avoid a collision with them and cut diagonally across East Front street to do it. At least this is the theory of the police who investigated the occurrence. The police hope to round up all the witnesses in the case so as to have them present at the hearing next Saturday.

FIRM INCREASES EMPLOYES' WAGES.

Elizabeth, May 14.—When the 200 employes of the Barrett Manufacturing Company, of this city, open their pay envelopes today they will find 15 cents more for every day they have worked since May 1. The increase was announced by the officials.

A month ago many of the employes signed a petition asking for more money. The letter was sent to the main office in New York and it came back with a refusal. Three days after a number of Poles working at the plant went out on strike. They later returned to work without the increase.

The announcement of the advance was a surprise to the employes. They had considered themselves disregarded by the company. About sixty women are also employed at the Barrett mill.

TEACHER A BRIDE SINCE NOVEMBER.

Bayonne, May 14.—Through her resignation as vice-principal of Public School No. 7, the discovery was made yesterday that Miss Teresa G. Garrett was married, and is now Mrs. John Gavegan. Mrs. Gavegan severed her connection with the school yesterday afternoon.

The wedding took place November 3 last in St. Henry's Roman Catholic church, the Rev. Father Reilly officiating. The event was a secret to the couple's most intimate friends. The bride did not want to give up teaching until the close of the present year, so the marriage was kept secret.

Several days ago one of the bride's relatives learned of the wedding, and upon questioning she admitted the truth. Then the bride presented her resignation to the board.

Mr. and Mrs. Gavegan are residing at 11 West Twenty-eighth street.

NOW HAS DOG CATCHER.

But Trenton Is Still Without a Pound.

Trenton, May 14.—Trenton has at last succeeded in electing an official dog catcher, but its stray dog problem is still far from settled. Edward J. Lowe is the official to whom has been entrusted the task of ridding the streets of homeless curs. And Lowe is up against it. As soon as his election was announced he began looking about for a suitable place for the dog pound. He finally decided upon a vacant lot, owned by his brother, near Prospect Heights, one of Trenton's new residence suburbs.

As soon as the people of the Heights heard what Lowe was contemplating they objected. Lowe desisted and directed his efforts elsewhere, but as yet no spot has been found where the dog pound may officially be located.

Connie Mack's Athletics are starting off like winners this year.

Princeton's editorial nines defeated the journalistic aggregations of Cornell yesterday by scores of 19 to 4 and 6 to 5.

Harry Flannery, the old Scotch Plains favorite, has retired from the game. Several years ago Flannery underwent an operation for appendicitis and it is owing to that he decided to call quits.

Manager Dorflinger has conferred the tin can degree on Benbrown, shortstop, who was touted as a New England League phenom. Benbrown's successor will be Carlstrom, an Elizabeth boy, who is expected to deliver the goods. Carlstrom will make his first appearance in a Plainfield uniform at Flemington today. With Joe Harter on third sack and Boyd in center field the locals look fancy indeed.

TRAIN VICTIM DIES.

Price Succumbs to Injuries in Elizabeth Hospital.

Elizabeth, May 14.—As a result of being struck by a train near the Singer factory Thursday David Price, of 209 Church street, Catasaqua, Pa., died in the General Hospital late yesterday afternoon.

Price was on his way to New York and intended going to Hudson, N. Y., to obtain employment. He did not hear the approaching train, which struck him from the rear. His brother and sister arrived at the hospital last night and made arrangements for taking the remains to Catasaqua.

County Physician Westcott viewed the body and granted a burial certificate.

OUR OFFICE BOY DOES A BRISK BUSINESS

Say Bo, is the grand old game of baseball popular this year? If you want some straight dope on the situation, just ask "Hub" Reynolds, our Head Office Boy, to pipe you off on the matter.

"Hub" is the genial individual who does the sprinting act night after night to the telephone in our sanctum, answering the scores of inquiries from fans and bugs who never turn into the hay without knowing the baseball results.

And wern't there an army of rabid fans last night in our midst? If Johnny McGraw and his Giants were here they would surely get on their jobs and win some games. Caustic comments on the performances of Giants were shooting through the air with the same alacrity as our noble mosquitos flit through the atmosphere over the Newark meadows in summer time.

Out of 213 'phone inquiries attended to last night by "Hub," our H. O. B., about two hundred began this way, at least this is an accurate description of one session:

"Ding, a-ling-ling."

"Hello," saluted Hub.

"How did the Giants make out today?"

"St. Louis, 13; Giants, 4," replied Hub.

"What? Stop that kiddin'."

"Giants got beat 13 to 4," was Hub's response.

"Who pitched, Bugs Raymond?"

"No, Matty."

"Oh, no; that can't be so; old St. Louis beating the Giants by that score."

"Oh yes, that's the right dope."

"Well, how did it happen?"

"That's easy. The Giants didn't make enough home runs and they ran the bases too slow. See now."

"Punk ball playing. Brush should get a new ball team and manager."

"Guess they'll win tomorrow," suggested "Hub" in sympathetic tones.

"Well, they better win, or I'll never go over to the Polo grounds again. It's nothing but the punkest kind of playing. A bush league aggregation or Bound Brook could make a better showing."

"Well, what makes you believe that they'll win tomorrow?"

"Why Bugs Raymonds is due to twirl."

"That settles it, I wouldn't bet a three cent cigar."

"Who are you?"

"Billy Townsend, so long. Much obliged."

A good sized delegation of fans accompanied the Plainfields to Flemington on the 2 o'clock train this afternoon expecting to see a redhot contest. Joe Harter's acquisition is considered a good move and it is to be hoped that he will be retained permanently. Charley Boy will cover a position in the outfield.

Joe McGinnity, and his Newark Indians, like the Giants, have sustained some hard bumps this week. Rochester can still be considered as Newark's hoodoo club.

Bob Ewing, the Phillie pitcher, was the whole show against the Pirates yesterday. The world's champions got only three bingles and only two Pirates reached third sack. Topping this first class box performance off Ewing cracked out four hits.

Silent John Hummell was another athlete who registered a quartet of hits yesterday. Hummel's stick work materially aided Brooklyn to gain a victory over Cincinnati.

Frock, of the Doves, had the Cubs at his mercy yesterday, holding the Murphyites to three wallops.

St. Louis was the whole cheese against the Giants yesterday. John McGraw placed just fifteen players in the game, yet the Cardinals carried everything before them. It must have been a lucious victory for Roger Bresnahan, the former Giant catcher.

Team managers who faced defeat yesterday naturally blamed it all on Friday, the thirteenth.

Eight runs in one inning against Mathewson means that St. Louis pounded the ball with a vengeance. According to reports from the scene of carnage there is some consolation for local admirers of the great pitcher. One press dispatch stated, "Matty took his medicine like a man in the furious second stanza, but retired to the clubhouse after the inning ended.

Ralph Stroud, who pitched Detroit to victory against the Yankees yesterday, was turned down by Stallings two years ago when the Big Chief was manager of the Newarks.

SHOULD BOYS PLAY ON REGULATION DIAMONDS

Is the regulation diamond too large for boys' nines to play on, and could better results be attained by juvenile clubs if they played on smaller diamonds? Here are two problems that have arisen and claim the interest of those who are identified with baseball in circles where boys' teams are conducted.

In a recent conversation with George L. Listman, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., he expressed himself forcibly on the subject. That official entertains the belief that boys should play their games on smaller diamonds for several reasons.

In the first place it hardly appears reasonable that a twelve-year-old boy should be expected to play ball on a diamond of the same dimensions as used by the big league clubs or adult nines. Under the present conditions the third sacker on the Fairview Cycle Club, the Y. M. C. A. Juniors, or any of the local juvenile clubs must hurl the ball just as big a distance as Arthur Devlin, the third baseman of the Giants.

Where juvenile games have been watched, it has been noticed that in a majority of cases some of these youngsters have great difficulty in throwing a regulation league ball across the diamond; the catchers find it almost impossible to nip runners on the bases; the pitcher is also to be considered as our juveniles pitch the same distance as the big leaguers.

The distances between the different stations on regulation diamonds is ninety feet between the different bases; the space between the pitchers' box and the home plate is a fraction over 63 feet, and the distance between home plate is about 124 feet.

It is contended that ambitious youngsters in many cases subject themselves to straining their muscles and risking other serious injuries by following this practice.

Mr. Listman has suggested what looks to be a sensible remedy, and one that if adopted, would be a vast benefit to the boys in their games. That is, reduce the diamond measurements between the bases to 60 feet, and also make a corresponding reduction between the pitchers box and home plate.

This looks like sensible dope and something that should be investigated by managers of our younger nines.

GOLF.

The boys' handicap golf tournament as well as the weekly competition for the Spring Handicap cups will be continued at the Plainfield Country Club, today. Ideal weather conditions and a perfect course will doubtless attract a large field.

The annual open tournament for the Lynnewood Hall cup will be held over the links of the Huntington Valley Country Club on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, June 13, 14 and 15. This is a departure from the usual week-end custom, but the club's officials are attempting it this time so as to avoid any possible chance of a conflict in dates with some metropolitan district attraction. Before the Lynnewood Hall cup can become the permanent property of any one player he will have to win it three times. Jerome D. Travers has two legs on the trophy, and Fred Herreshoff has also won it once. Up to date Walter J. Travis has never played in this tournament, but, according to one of the Huntingdon Valley officials, the metropolitan champion intends to be on hand in June.

WOMEN'S GOLF COMPETITION WILL BEGIN ON MAY 23.

Commencing May 23 and continuing to June 25, inclusive, there will be a women's golf competition at the Plainfield Country Club. A prize will be presented by the club to the player having the lowest "selected gross score" for the eighteen holes, between May 23 and June 25. No cards will be valid unless at least nine holes are played. Cards properly attested should be handed in promptly to the superintendent as no card will be accepted unless handed in on the day the score is made.

Mrs. H. Reeve Stockton is chairman of the sub-committee for the women's golf competitions and notices of these competitions will be found on the bulletin board on or before May 23. Last season the women became greatly interested in events arranged for them and an increased entry list is looked for this year.

THE FORUM.

Questions For the Public.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Since the decision given by the Supreme Court of New Jersey, filed on February 21, 1910, that a sale of wine, beer or liquor is not consummated before delivery of same is made, the Honorable Mayor Fisk, of this city, took the matter up to the point of law and informed the public through the Police Department in both this city and North Plainfield.

The edict declares that dealers in North Plainfield dare not accept orders and have them delivered direct in the city of Plainfield themselves. The question naturally arises as to the constitutionality of the decision. It seems to me that the citizens of the State are deprived of their rights to purchase their needs at the places where they wish to.

The grand rally will begin tomorrow and continued all next week with entertainments, concerts, etc.

HUDSON'S DOCTORS RAP FORT AND OSTEOPATHS.

Jersey City, May 14.—At a banquet held by the Hudson County Medical Society Thursday night Assemblyman William E. Ramsay, of Middlesex, said it was time the medical profession of the State woke up and put a stop to osteopaths, who, he said, are no more than rubbers in Turkish baths, and who won't take examinations to practice medicine.

"If we don't," he said, "they will make us all look foolish."

Before the meeting adjourned resolutions were adopted commending the Legislature for passing Assembly bill No. 126, regulating the practice of medicine in this State, expressing approval of Dr. Ramsay for introducing the measure and condemning Governor Fort for vetoing it. The resolutions concluded:

"Resolved, That his excellency, the Governor of New Jersey, has by his action in vetoing the said bill not only failed to keep his ante-election promises, but displayed an unfortunate and unjust discrimination which will rebound to the discredit of his high office."

Dr. Ramsay said the Governor always was against the bill, and all his supporters in Legislature were antagnostic to it. The Assemlymen from Hudson county, he said, had only erred once against the medical profession; and that was when they supported a measure which permitted men who were not physicians to test eyes and sell medicines.

THIS IS A REFORM AGE, SAYS WOODROW WILSON.

Chicago, May 14.—Speaking before the Chicago Alumni Association of Princeton University Thursday night, President Woodrow Wilson, of Princeton, declared that this is the age of great reforms, readjustment of corporate and private morals and the fixing of moral responsibility.

"We are in the midst of a great reconsideration," said President Wilson, "not of principles, for the foundations of justice and equity remain the same, but of the application of principles.

"More than that, we are on the eve of such a reorganization of society as will effect a much better and more just adjustment of public and private interests. It will be a great day of moralization when we come fully to realize that no enterprise conducted on a great scale can be a wholly private enterprise, when we come to realize that every duty is in a sense a public duty, that the final standard of conduct is the benefit of the country and the good of mankind."

UNLUCKY THIRTEEN.

Everything About a Trenton Trial Bore the Fatal Number.

Trenton, May 14.—In the United States District Court here yesterday before Judge Cross when the jury in the case of the Newark Meadows Improvement Company, Joseph H. Wells, and Giuseppe Fijio convicted all three defendants of illegally dumping mud in New York Harbor the jury retired at thirteen minutes after twelve o'clock and was just thirteen minutes in arriving at a verdict.

When the bailiff announced to the court that the jury had agreed there were just thirteen men in the courtroom, and when the jury was brought in a stray man made just twenty-six, or twice thirteen, when the verdict was announced. The case was also the thirteenth of this criminal term and was thirteenth on the docket. And it was Friday, the 13th of May.

All of the witnesses were seafaring men, and they jokingly said they would not go to sea on Friday when it was again joined to the thirteenth day of the month. The defense to the action was that there was a heavy sea rolling in the harbor, that a hatch broke off the scow being towed by the steamer Col. John F. Gaynor, and that Fijio, the man on the scow, in terror of his life, dumped two pockets of it.

Another jury in the case of the United States against the Breakwater Company, doing work at Cape May on the Delaware Breakwater, brought in a verdict for the Government of guilt on thirteen counts and acquitted on nine counts of an indictment charging the defendants with allowing men to work more than eight hours a day on Federal work.

"The Refusals of Jesus," will be the topic of Rev. C. L. Goodrich's sermon at the Congregational church tomorrow morning and in the evening at 7:45 the singing will be led by the young people's choir, with special solos. The subject of a short sermon by the pastor will be "Bits of the Biography of a Psalm."

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Milne are observing their wedding anniversary on a trip to Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Hardy, of Brooklyn, are visiting relatives and friends in Plainfield and the borough.

EX-PRISONERS OF WAR TO MEET IN SEPTEMBER.

Atlantic City, May 14.—In conjunction with the Forty-fourth National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, to be held in this city September 19-24 next, the Thirty-eighth Annual Encampment of the National Association of Union Ex-Prisoners of War will also take place, announcement of the coming event being made in circular letters sent out on the first instant, by Gen. Harry White, National Commander of the organization.

Business headquarters of the association will be established on Young's Ocean Pier, while the hotel headquarters will be located at the Hotel Windsor. Members of the association will assemble in National Convention on September 20 in the auditorium on the Steel Pier.

Prisoners of War campfire will also be held in the Steel Pier auditorium on the evening of September 20, and will be a most unique affair, to be addressed by comrades of the prison pens and stockades. Patriotic war songs will add an old-time zest and enthusiasm to the affair.

Probably the most important event in which the Ex-Prisoners will take part is the parade, which will be made by them in conjunction with the G. A. R., on Wednesday, September 21. The association will be escorted by the Department of New Jersey, and the Civil War musicians will furnish the music in the great parade.

Gloucester, May 14.—After a long delay, the United States yesterday took possession of the William J. Thompson residence, at Gloucester, as an immigrtion station. The deed was recorded in Camden yesterday.

Mr. Rodgers, District Attorney Vreeland and Assistant Commissioner of Immigration Hughes received the property on behalf of the government. Mr. Thompson will remain in his old home for a few days as custodian for the government.

The executive offices of the immigration service will be over to Gloucester as soon as possible and an architect of the Treasury Department will begin work on plans for the necessary additions to the structure as soon as possible. Work on a new wharf will be the first thing done toward making the station what the government intends it shall be, one of the most commodious on the Atlantic Coast.

SENTENCED TO DIE.

Chauffeur Who Killed His Wife Will Appeal.

Paterson, May 14.—Arthur Rose, the negro chauffeur, who was Thursday night convicted of murdering his wife, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Minturn to die in the electric chair at Trenton during the week beginning June 27. Counsel for the convicted man say they will appeal the case.

Rose slashed the throat of his wife at their home in William street on March 9 last, and she died almost instantly. He made two unsuccessful attempts to end his own life and then gave himself up to the police. His defense was that he and his wife often quarrelled, and on the night of the murder he had just been informed that his wife was untrue to him, and in a rage slashed her throat. He said he was intoxicated and when he entered the house he had no intention of killing his wife, and that he must have been insane when he committed the deed.

The case is one of the quickest in the State. In a few days over two months after the commission of the crime the prisoner has been convicted and sentenced to death, but his counsel are firm in their belief that a new trial will be granted.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

Young Man Was Going Home After Long Absence.

Paterson, May 14.—Following the receipt of a letter from her son Thursday afternoon which read, "Dear mother, don't write, as I am about to start for home," Mrs. John Pearson, of 28 East Main street, was horrified Thursday night when a policeman informed her that a young man, believed to be her son, had been killed by a freight train at Ridgewood. The woman yesterday positively identified the body as that of her son Joseph, whom she said had been living in Buffalo recently. She did not know how her son came to be at Ridgewood.

A gang of linemen were working on the Erie when they found the body lying alongside the track. A short time before a fast freight train had gone through and it was this train which doubtless ran over and killed young Pearson. From papers in his pockets was learned his identity and Thursday night an officer was sent to his mother's house to break the news. The body was brought here for burial.

Young Pearson was 23 years old, and had been employed as a weaver, but when work was slack here he went to Buffalo.

STILL THEY FAST.

Story of Hearty Breakfast of Three Women False.

Garden City, L. I., May 14.—Despite the rumor that they had broken their fast and had returned to solid food again, Mrs. Keith Trask, Miss Ann Townsend and Miss Marion McKeller are still faithful to their vows and have broken only their water fast, which they had intended doing after three days. After the third day the women began drinking warm milk every hour, and this they have kept up to the present time. There are indications, however, of a weakening, especially on the part of Miss Townsend, who shows the results of the food denial more than the other two. Mrs. Trask yesterday said that she intended sticking to their schedule until the end of the seventeen days, but it is more than probable that Miss Townsend will quit this Monday.

FIND MAN IN PRISON.

Relatives Locate Missing Fink in State Institution.

Trenton, May 14.—Samuel Fink, of Second street, this city, who has been missing from his home for two months, was found by his relatives yesterday a convict in the New Jersey State prison, which is just opposite his home.

Fink's disappearance caused great anxiety in his family, and every means was employed to locate him. It appeared he went to Flemington, where he was arrested for assault and battery and sentenced to a year in prison. He endeavored to keep his disgrace a secret, but the news leaked out yesterday, after he had been in the institution several weeks.

Warnings Get Here.

The religious fanatic who has been flooding the mails of New York city with postal cards bearing the legend, "Lookout! Only Forty Days to Burning Daylight," is not confining his warning to the judges and city officials of the metropolis. Several of the warning postal cards have been received in this city and one found its way to this office. If the poor fellow is scared by the approach of Halley's comet why don't he dig for himself a hole in the ground and crawl in until all danger is past instead of annoying the public with his fear?

A Boot Duster.

Devotees of cleanliness, as absolute as can possibly be cultivated, tell us that many deleterious germs may be introduced into our house upon our boots and shoes and recommended the Eastern plan of removing the footgear worn outside before entering. This plan is froeign to our customs, but the new boot and shoe duster is an excellent alternative. It has a smart basket handle and a practical whisk, and it is so ornamental in appearance that it is a decorative addition to the hall, where it should be hung in readiness to remove the dust of those who enter the house. Another argument in its favor is that after walking or motoring men can have their boots dusted and made tidy-looking at the threshold.

Girls and Their Home Manners.

Who has not met the seemingly charming girl who is often described as being "quite different at home." She is quite different in the bosom of her family, because she is too cowardly to display her pettishness and bad temper anywhere else. Girls who are pleasant to strangers and irritable and exacting at home are a type to be avoided and distrusted. Home manners should be the test of character, and, although it is easy to dissimulate, exposure will inevetably come in the long run to the girl who keeps her sharp tongue for her own people and silken speech for outsiders.

All Figured Out.

"Why do you refuse to carry an umbrella?"

"Well, in a heavy storm you get wet anyhow, don't you?"

"I suppose so."

"And in a mild rain you don't need one."

54-40 OR Fight

By Emerson Hough

As to Elizabeth Churchill, it might have been in line with a Maryland custom had she generally been known as Betty; but Betty she never was called, although that diminutive was applied to her aunt, Jennings, twice as large as she, after whom she had been named. Betty implies a snub nose; Elizabeth's was clean cut and straight. Betty runs for a saucer mouth and a short one; Elizabeth's was red and curved, but firm and wide enough for strength and charity as well. Betty spells round eyes, with brows arched above them as though in query and curiosity; the eyes of Elizabeth were long, her brows long and straight and delicately fine. A Betty might even have red hair; Elizabeth's was brown in most lights, and so liquid smooth that almost I was disposed to call it dense rather than thick. Betty would seem to indicate a nature impulsive, gay, and free from care; on the other hand, it was to be said of Elizabeth that she was logical beyond her kind—a trait which she got from her mother, a daughter of old Judge Henry Gooch of our superior court. Yet, disposed as she always was to be logical in her conclusions, the great characteristic of Elizabeth was serenity, consideration and charity.

"Is That My Only Reward?" She Asked.

With all this, there appeared sometimes at the surface of Elizabeth's nature that fire and lightness and impulsiveness which she got from her father, Mr. Daniel Churchill. Whether she was wholly reserved and reasonable, or wholly warm and impulsive, I, long as I had known and loved her, never was quite sure. Something held me away, something called me forward; so that I was always baffled, and yet always eager, God wot. I suppose this is the way of women. At times I have been impatient with it, knowing my own mind well enough.

At least now, in my tight-strapped trousers and my long blue coat and my deep embroidered waistcoat and my high stock, my shining boots and my tall beaver, I made my way on my well-groomed horse up to the gates of old Elmhurst; and as I rode I pondered and I dreamed.

But Miss Elizabeth was not at home, it seemed. Her father, Mr. Daniel Churchill, rather portly, and now just a trifle red of face, met me instead. It was not an encounter for which I devoutly wished, but one which I knew it was the right of both of us to expect ere long. Seeing the occasion propitious I plunged at once in medias res. Part of the time explanatory, again apologetic, and yet again, I trust, assertive, although always blundering and red and awkward, I told the father of my intended, of my own wishes, my prospects and my plans.

He listened to me gravely and, it seemed to me, with none of that enthusiasm which I would have welcomed. As to my family, he knew enough. As to my prospects, he questioned me. My record was not unfamiliar to him. So, gaining confidence at last under the insistence of what I knew were worthy motives, and which certainly were irresistible of themselves, so far as I was concerned, I asked him if we might not soon make an end of this, and, taking chances as they were, allow my wedding with Elizabeth to take place at no very distant date.

"Why as to that, of course I do not know what my girl will say," went on Mr. Daniel Churchill, pursing up his lips.

"Oh, of course—that," I answered; "Miss Elizabeth and I—"

"The skeesicks!" he exclaimed. "I thought she told me everything."

"I think Miss Elizabeth tells no one quite everything," I ventured. "I confess she has kept me almost as much in the dark as yourself, sir. But I only wanted to ask if, after I have seen her to-day, and if I should gain her consent to an early day, you would not waive any objections on your own part and allow the matter to go forward as soon as possible?"

In answer to this he arose from his chair and stood looking out of the window, his back turned to me. I could not call his reception of my suggestion enthusiastic; but at last he turned.

"I presume that our two families might send you young people a sack of meal or a side of bacon now and then, as far as that is concerned," he said.

I could not call this speech joyous.

"There are said to be risks in any union, sir," I ventured to say. "I admit I do not follow you in contemplating any risk whatever. If either you or your daughter doubts my loyalty or affection, then I should say certainly it were wise to end all this; but—" and I fancied I straightened perceptibly—"I think that might perhaps be left to Miss Elizabeth herself."

After all, Mr. Dan Churchill was obliged to yield, as fathers have been obliged from the beginning of the world. At last he told me I might take my fate in my own hands and go my way.

Trust the instinct of lovers to bring them together! I was quite confident that at that hour I should find Elizabeth and her aunt in the big east room at the president's reception, the former looking on with her uncompromising eyes at the little pageant which on reception days regularly went forward there.

My conclusion was correct. I found a boy to hold my horse in front of Gautier's cafe. Then I hastened off across the intervening blocks and through the grounds of the White House, in which presently, having edged through the throng in the antechambers, I found myself in that inane procession of individuals who passed by in order, each to receive the limp handshake, the mechanical bow and the perfunctory smile of President Tyler—rather a tall, slender-limbed, active man and of very decent presence, although his thin, shrunken cheeks and his cold blue-gray eye left little quality of magnetism in his personality.

It was not new to me, of course, this pageant, although it never lacked of interest. There were in the throng representatives of all America as it was then, a strange, crude blending of refinement and vulgarity, of ease and poverty, of luxury and thrift.

A certain air of gloom at this time hung over official Washington, for the minds of all were still oppressed by the memory of that fatal accident—the explosion of the great cannon "Peacemaker" on board the war vessel Princeton—which had killed Mr. Upshur, our secretary of state, with others, and had, at one blow, come so near to depriving this government of its head and his official family; the number of prominent lives thus ended or endangered being appalling to contemplate. It was this accident which had called Mr. Calhoun forward at a national juncture of the most extreme delicacy and the utmost importance. In spite of the general mourning, however, the informal receptions at the White House were not wholly discontinued, and the administration, unsettled as it was, and fronted by the gravest of diplomatic problems, made such show of dignity and even cheerfulness as it might.

I considered it my duty to pass in the long procession and to shake the hand of Mr. Tyler. That done, I gazed about the great room, carefully scanning the different little groups which were accustomed to form after the ceremonial part of the visit was over. I saw many whom I knew. I forgot them; for in a far corner, where a flood of light came through the trailing vines that shielded the outer window, my anxious eyes discovered the object of my quest—Elizabeth.

It seemed to me I had never known her so fair as she was that morning in the great east room of the White House. Elizabeth was rather taller than the average woman, and of that splendid southern figure, slender but strong, which makes perhaps the best representative of our American beauty. She was very bravely arrayed today in her best pink-flowered lawn, made wide and full, as was the custom of the time, but not so clumsily gathered at the waist as some, and so serving not wholly to conceal her natural comeliness of figure. Her bonnet she had removed. I could see the sunlight on the ripples of her brown hair, and the shadows which lay above her eyes as she turned to face me, and the slow pink which crept into her cheeks.

Dignified always, and reserved, was Elizabeth Churchill. But now I hope it was not wholly conceit which led me to feel that perhaps the warmth, the glow of the air, caught while riding under the open sky, the sight of the many budding roses of our city, the scent of the blossoms which even then came through the lattice—the meeting even with myself, so lately returned—something at least of this had caused an awakening in her girl's heart. Something, I say, I do not know what, gave her greeting to me more warmth than was usual with her. My own heart, eager enough to break bounds, answered in kind. We stood—blushing like children as our hands touched—forgotten in that assemblage of Washington's pomp and circumstance.

Marketing is so Easy By Telephone

MARKETING by telephone is on the increase. Nearly all grocerymen and other retail merchants recognize this fact. They cater to telephone trade and deliver the very best class of goods to telephone customers because they appreciate the saving of time in their own stores on orders given in this way.

If you have a telephone at home, you are thus assured of the very best treatment at the hands of your tradesmen. The cost of the service is offset by the car fares it saves.

FORTY-TWO CANINES CAPTURED THIS WEEK.

The dog-catcher did some business during the week just past and forty-two canines fell into his net. Among these was "Teddy," who created such a furor during the early part of the week, and who has kept his owners busy telling all the neighbors about that "dreadful dog man." But it may be said in justice to "Teddy" that there are worse than he.

All sorts of mongrels and breeds made up the catch of the man whose duty it is to apprehend stray dogs. It is certain to happen this week that the dogs who have been scratching up the gardens of the residents of the East End will be rounded up and impounded. There is no doubt that the officer detailed to this work is doing his duty but, as one Netherwood man puts it, "What are we to do to preserve our gardens"

FIRE WHISTLE TO BE REMOVED NEXT WEEK.

Fire Chief T. O. Doane announced today that the fire whistle will be removed from the P. S. C. electric station to its new position on the Spicer Universal Company's factory buildifig on Monday or Tuesday.

Contractor William T. Kirk has the tower stand in readiness for the reception of the whistle and work was started today in getting the machinery of the whistle in position. When this task is completed the gong can be put in place in a short time. The work was considerably delayed owing to the tardy arrival of the steel which was used in the construction of the tower.

Tungsten Lamps on Trial.

The Public Service Corporation, according to its promise, has installed thirteen Tungsten lamps on Front street, between Watchung and Central avenues, in place of the ordinary street lamps, for a month's trial. If they prove satisfactory it is possible that the Common Council will order a substitution of these lamps for the old style ones. The new lamps were lighted last night for the first and were a notable improvement. The lamps are of 32-candle power and give a pure white light.

UMPIRE ROBS P.H.S. IN SOMERVILLE CONTEST

Plainfield High School was defeated at Somerville this morning by the school nine of that town by the score of 11 to 5. The P. H. S. adherents on their return to town declared that the rank umpiring by Porter, of Somerville, was responsible for the defeat of the locals. Close decisions and everything were given to Somerville.

Terry occupied the box for Plainfield and pitched a steady game. Henderson, who also faced the locals in this city in the first game of the season, also twirled in fine style for Somerville.

Lidgate performed in classy fashion behind the bat and the Fanwood boy also hit the ball hard. Doane led the locals in stickwork. The teams lined-up as follows:

Plainfield—Doane, center field; Van Zandt, third base; Lidgate, catcher; Nash, first base; Runyon, left field; Bristol, second base; Zerega, shortstop; Terry, pitcher; Riffert, right field.

FRESHMEN WIN FROM JUNIORS IN FAST GAME.

On one of the fastest class games of the season the P. H. S. Freshmen defeated the Juniors at Crescent Oval yesterday, the score being 4 to 3. Van Deventer whiled for the upper class men; Grisley pitched good ball for the Freshmen. For a long time the score stood a tie but when the eighth inning was reached the Freshmen brought in a pretty run. These two classes bray of the best teams in the school and it is always interesting when they get together on account of being so evenly matched.

The line-up:

Freshmen—Guttridge, c; Grisley, p; J. Ricketts, 2b; Carty, 1b; Weber, 3b; Rosenson, ss; Sharpe, rf; Sharkey, cf; Huson, lf.

Juniors—Van Deventer, p; Wilson, c; Banks, 1b; Van Zandt, 2b; Shrager, ss; Hatfield, 3b; Shonck, lf; Manley, cf; Hardwicke, rf.

Score by innings:

HIGH SCHOOL THESPIANS

Senior Class Pupils in "As You Like It" at Local Theatre.

A CREDITABLE PERFORMANCE.

Miss Frances Newell as Rosalind and Fred Loizeaux as Orlando—Greeted by a Large House.

The presentation of Shakespeare's comedy, "As You Like It," at the Plainfield theatre Saturday night, by the senior class of the Plainfield High School, was a pretentious effort and worthy achievement. The young women and men to the number of eighteen that comprised the cast, acquitted themselves creditably and it was a thoroughly appreciative audience that witnessed the production.

Nearly everyone in the cast was line perfect and the acting was good throughout. Miss Frances Newell, as "Rosalind" scored a hit. Her interpretation of the part left scarcely anything to be desired for an amateur. She never faltered once in her lines, while her acting bore a charm that won for her much applause. As the peasant boy, she was natural and graceful and displayed a light-hearted spirit so true to the story.

Miss Meta R. Pennock, as "Celia," daughter of Duke Frederick, shared the honors with Miss Newell. She gave an excellent interpretation of her part and several times was accorded applause.

Fred D. Loizeaux, as "Orlando;" Miss Grace Woolson, as "Adam," servant to Oliver; Frank Arthur Putnam, as "Oliver," brother to Orlando; William H. Bullock, as "Touchstone," the duke's jester; Miss Edna Cole, as "Le Beau," courtier attending Duke Frederick; Theddore Hamilton, as the peasant youth; Miss Celestine Waldron, as "Audrey," a country wench; Miss Mary Radford, as "Phoebe," a shepherdess; Clifford Vail, as "Corin," an old shepherd, and "William," a country lout, and Alan Overton as "Charles," Duke Frederick's wrestler, were all exceptionally good in the leading parts. There was only one thing lacking and that was a little more confidence and spirit on the part of some members of the cast.

Others who deserve special mention for their work include Miss Lila P. Duy, as "Silvius," a young shepherd, who was in love with "Phoebe" and Howard C. Runyon, as the "Duke."

The cast was elaborately costumed and the play was handsomely staged. Praise is due S. B. Howe, Jr., who coached the young people for the production. The young thespians were generously remembered with beautiful flowers and altogether the performance was a notable one in school circles. The cast.

Orlando, Fred D. Loizeaux; Adam, servant to Oliver, Miss Grace Woolston; Oliver, brother to Orlando, Frank Arthur Putham; Charles, Duke Frederick's wrestler, Alan Overton; Rosalind, Miss Frances Newell; Celia, daughter of Duke Frederick, Miss Meta R. Pennock; Touchstone, the duke's jester, William H. Bullock; Page, Master Benjamin Doane; Le Beau, courtier attending Duke Frederick, Miss Edna Cole; Duke's guards, Clifford B. Vail and S. B. Howe, Jr.; Frederick, the usurping duke, Howard C. Runyon; lords, Harry Brick, John Kenney, Russell Miller, Lester N. Sutton; peasant youth, Theodore D. Hamilton; Corin, an old shepherd, Clifford B. Vail; Silvius, a young shepherd, Miss Lila P. Duy; Duke, living in banishment, Howard C. Runyon; Amiens and Jaques, lords attending the banished duke, S. B. Howe, Jr., and Theodore D. Hamilton; foresters, Harry Brick, John Kenney, Russell Miller, Lester N. Sutton; forest maid, Miss Ruth Klein; Audrey, a country wench, Miss Celestine Waldron; Phoebe, a shepherdess, Miss Mary Radford; William, a country lout, Clifford B Vail.

The executive committee comprised the following:

Business managers, Harry Brick and Fred D. Loizeaux; stage manager, S. B. Howe, Jr.; property manager, Mr. Bostwick; program committee, William H. Bullock, Miss Kathryn Moynihan, Theodore D. Hamilton; faculty directors, Miss Daisy T. Day and S. B. Howe, Jr.

Howard W. Cobbs to Wed.

Howard W. Cobbs, of West Third street, left today for Providence, R. I., where tomorrow he will be married to Miss Catherine Mitchell, formerly of Plainfield.

Plainfield Protective Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Protective Association will be held tonight at the Y. M. C. A.

WILD WEST SHOW GOOD; MAY BE REPEATED

A genuine wild west show and circus was given by young residents of West Seventh street Saturday afternoon, before a small, but none the less appreciative audience on the property of J. H. Greene, Jr., 602 West Seventh street. The total proceeds of the affair, $5, has been sent to the treasurer of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society of Plainfield and North Plainfield. It is possible that the affair may be repeated next Saturday for the benefit of the local baby camp conducted by the King's Daughters.

The boys who took part in the circus derived as much fun from it as the spectators. The program included a pitched battle between cowboys and Indians, the resuce of the little pale-faced maiden, Miss Marion Greene, from the cruel clutches of the blood-thirsty savages; acrobatic stunts, wrestling matches and toe dancing by little Miss Greene. It goes without saying that all the performers scored in their respective parts.

Among those taking part were Charles Greene, Clarence Skiff, John and Henry Hammann, Carlton Moore, Parker and Putnam Newell and Miss Marion Greene. A. C. Penn, Jr., will make his debut next Saturday afternoon in an acrobatic specialty.

RAISE MONEY FOR CHURCH RENOVATION

Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, made an earnest appeal to his people yesterday morning, the object being to raise by subscription about $6,000 with which to pay for extensive improvements planned for the church. As a result about $1,500 was pledged by means of the subscription cards distributed among the people of the congregation.

The pastor's appeal was made through a unique text, the subject being, "The First Contribution Box." The text was taken from II Kings, 12: 9: "But Jehoiada the priest took a chest and bored a hole in the lid of it, and set it beside the altar, on the right side as one cometh into the house of the Lord; and the priests that kept the door put therein all the money that was brought into the house of the Lord." From this text, which referred to the raising of money with which to repair the temple, Pastor Broek touched the hearts of his hearers and they were led to subscribe generous amounts toward a fund to repair the church, as has already been described in these columns. The result was gratifying and it is believed that the amount subscribed yesterday will be largely increased in the near future.

WILLIAM J. BARRY DIES AT SCOTCH PLAINS.

William J. Barry, son of Mrs. Mary and the late Edward Barry, died Saturday night at the home of his mother on Westfield avenue, Scotch Plains. The deceased was 27 years of age and was a native of Jersey City. Owing to failing health he removed to Scotch Plains with his family about a month ago.

Surviving him is a mother, two brothers, Edward and Arthur, and three sisters, Estelle, Florence and Adelaide. The funeral service will be held in the Catholic church at Westfield tomorrow morning at 8:45 o'clock, the service to be in charge of Father Byers. Interment will be made in New York Bay cemetery.

HILLAIRE BLATZ AND HIS CHICKEN STORY.

Hillaire Blatz, of Somerset street, who is an expert chicken raiser, visited William Holt, at Wakefield, N. Y., and returned with an A. No. 1 chicken yarn. It is about a hen belonging to Mr. Holt who was put on a setting of fifteen eggs and hatched out sixteen chickens.

This is how it occurred, said Mr. Blatz: "In the setting was fifteen eggs, all right, and on the first day of the setting the hen laid another egg, making sixteen eggs in all."

Mr. Blatz was accompanied to Wakefield by his wife and Miss Alice Beauteaux, of the borough, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Texier, of New York, formerly of this city.

IS THE COMET TO BLAME, IF NOT, PRAY WHO IS?

Religious fanaticism coupled with a black-hand mania is a combination well calculated to upset the best regulated minds. Some person or persons during the past week have been circulating letters of a more or less terrorizing character among residents of the West End. The climax was reached on Saturday when the wife of Leslie Mathews, of Lee place, received a letter written in a hand resembling none of the others ordering her to place $50 beneath a pan located on a certain pile of railroad ties near the car barn under penalty of having her house burned about her ears.

This letter was turned over to the police and a watch kept over the place where marked money had been put, but the writer of the letter failed to show up for the coin. By some who have heard the story it is characterized as a hoax, but by others it is believed to be the work of the black hand and as a result people in the neighborhood named are nervous.

SELDEN G. WICKETT DIES A VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA

Selden G. Wickett, well known in the wholesale dry goods trade in New York up to two years ago when he removed to this city, died this morning at his home, 230 East Seventh street, after an illness of five months which terminated in pneumonia.

Mr. Wickett, who was fifty years of age, was born in Brooklyn, where he spent most of his life. For a great many years he was connected with the dry goods' commission house of J. H. Lane & Co., of New York, retiring about two years ago when he removed to Plainfield. He was a member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church and a regular attendant until illness prevented.

Besides a wife, who was Miss Lillian Weekes, of Brooklyn, Mr. Wickett is survived by a daughter, Miss Ethel Wickett. The funeral services will be held from the late home Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock and Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will have charge. The burial will be in Woodlawn cemetery Thursday noon.

STREET NO SPEEDWAY, BUT DRIVER THOUGHT SO.

Joseph Donnelly was fined five dollars by Judge Runyon this morning for causing a disturbance on West Fourth street yesterday morning about church time. According to Patrolman Sweeney who made the arrest Donnelly was trying to break in a horse on the thoroughfare which was crowded at the time with people. The horse was a nervous animal and afraid of trolley cars and in order to cure the animal of this fault Donnelly, who was mounted bareback, drove the horse directly in the path of two or three cars the third time after being warned to desist. Patrolman Sweeney declared that had it not been for bystanders and himself not only others but Donnelly himself would have been injured ultimately as the rider was under the influence of liquor and he arrested the man for safety's sake.

TRINITY CHURCH BELL TO RING FOR FIRES.

The fire gong was removed this morning from the P. S. C. electric power house to the factory of the Spicer Universal Joint Company. While the gong is being placed in its new position the bell of Trinity Reformed church wil serve as a fire alarm.

Chief Doane stated this morning that he expected that the work in putting the whistle in operating order will be completed by Wednesday, in any event, Trinity's bell will be in service until the job is completed.

Harvey Thorn's Condition.

Physicians who are in attendance on Harvey Thorn, who was injured in a collision with Harold Hensen's automobile on Friday night, conducted an examination of the injured man yesterday, but found no broken bones. Mr. Thorn is severely bruised, however, but unless unforeseen complications develop, chances for his recovery are considered bright.

Continuance No. 4.

The hearing in the case against Charles Walpole was again postponed this morning at the request of counsel for both sides until tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Walpole is the young man accused of assault by a crew of the P. S. Railway Co.

COMMISSIONER SMITH, WHO OWNS CAR, 6050?

Another incident in which hoggishness, it is alleged, predominated and in which the courtesy of the road was a matter of indifference, occurred last evening at about 6 o'clock on the Greenbrook road and Sebring's Mill adjoining the pond at the point. Wm. Scheuer, a baker of Bound Brook, while going west in his automobile on the road was run into by another car rendering the Scheuer machine useless, forcing the occupants to walk home.

The other automobile after colliding and refusing to wait for possible chances to help and refusing to pay for any damage they may have inflicted passed on. Fortunately some of the witnesses of the accident noted the number of the touring car which was 6050, and it is likely that the authorities will look up the owner and bring him to book.

There is no doubt that Mr. Scheuer's car was on the right side of the road and that the chauffeur of the other car lost his head fearing a cold bath in the adjacent waters. Anyway there is trouble in store for someone, when the name of the owner of N. J. 6050 is discovered.

MICHAEL CALLAHAN DIES ON WAY TO HIS WORK

Michael Callahan, one of the best known and efficient gardeners in this vicinity, dropped dead on Norwood avenue at about 7 o'clock this morning while on the way to work. Mr. Callahan was an employe of Mrs. M. E. Edgerton and he was stricken as he was about to enter the garden gate, on the Norwood side of the latter's East Front street property.

Heart disease was the cause of death. Mr. Callahan left his home this morning apparently in the best of health. The body was viewed by County Physician Westcott at noon who issued a burial permit.

Mr. Callahan was a native of Ireland; was seventy-three years of age and is survived by a daughter. He was a resident of this city for about forty years. For many years he was in the employ of the late James T. Closson, and at the latter's death he remained in the employ of Mrs. Edgerton. He enjoyed the enviable reputation of being one of the finest landscape gardeners in this city.

BOARDER PUMMELLED FOR USING PROFANITY

Patrolman Saffron was called to New and West Second streets on Saturday afternoon at 5:45 to quell a disturbance caused by two men whom the neighbors claimed were fighting. When Saffron arrived at the scene of the encounter he found Thomas Sheridan, of 426 West Second street lying near the gutter with his clothing somewhat torn and under the influence of liquor. When awakened from his little trance Sheridan claimed to have been beaten by James Frazee, of the same address and yesterday Frazee was brought to headquarters.

This morning Judge Runyon after hearing the case dismissed it, suspending sentence on Sheridan and exhonorating Frazee who claimed to have been defending his family from the profane attack of Sheridan. The latter was warned to change his boarding house under penalty of serving a term in jail or paying a fine.

He will be graduated from the New Brunswick Theological Seminary on Thursday, the graduation exercises being held in the First Reformed church, New Brunswick, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

Lewis L. Apgar, of this city, is spending three weeks at "The Mullica," Atlantic City.

DEFENDED DAUGHTER AND GOT ASSAULTED

James Rodgers, a diminutive but belligerant colored man, was fined ten dollars by city Judge Runyon this morning for assaulting Wm. Johnson, an elderly colored man, with a hickory club on Saturday afternoon. It is claimed that Rodgers was returning from a funeral and while passing through Plainfield avenue made an attempt to strike Johnson's daughter with a club. Johnson who was sitting on his stoop saw the attempt and called out to Dodgers to quit. Rodgers seemed to have resented the effrontry of Johnson for trying to protect his daughter and threatened him with some of the "same." Johnson went down to expostulate and got what he had been threatened with—a clout over the jaw with the hickory stick which loosened his teeth and caused his jaw to swell. This morning Rodgers denied being under the influence of liquor, but Captain Frederickson said that when Rodgers was brought in yesterday he was in a rather shaky condition from overindulgence. Hence the fine.

MIDDLEKAUFF'S CAR HAS BEEN RETURNED

The automobile which was supposed to have been stolen from E. D. Middlekauff, on last Friday morning after its owner had driven it out here from New York on Thursday evening, has been recovered and appears to have been but a chapter of accidents. Mr. Middlekauff recovered his new car where it had been taken by the machinist who brought it here from New York and the incident is closed.

The trouble arose over the fact that the car which Mr. Middlekauff had given in exchange to the concern from whom he purchased his new machine was being repaired in the Martin Garage and could not be taken back as was intended, made the New York machinist suspicious and he refused to linger longer and made his way back to his company's headquarters. The whole thing has adjusted itself and everybody concerned seems to be satisfied. The car cost $4,000. Mr. Middlekauff, a mining promoter, had reported the "theft" to the police and a message was sent far and wide from local headquarters to be on the lookout for the machine.

YOU DON'T NEED TO TAKE YOUR HUBBY'S SHOES OFF.

While Marshall Frank Culver was patrolling Somerset street late on Saturday night, he heard cries of "Help" and "Murder." The shrieks came from the home of Joseph Augustine on Howard street. There Mrs. Augustine informed the policeman that her husband was abusing her and accordingly the offender was taken to the borough jail.

In court this morning Mrs. Augustine refused to press the complaint against her hubby. She admitted to Recorder Dolliver that her helpmeet came home in a drunken condition, but declared she was partly to blame for the fracas.

"How do you figure that out?" inquired Recorder Dolliver.

"Because I refused to take his shoes off when he asked me," replied Mrs. Augustine.

"Three dollars," replied the recorder. Augustine paid the fine.

William Deckard and William McLean, who were arrested by Chief Weiss and Marshall Keller, for disorderly conduct, on Somerset street Saturday night were adjudged guilty and fined five dollars each.

William Holmes Choirmaster.

William Holmes, baritone soloist of the First Baptist church choir, has been engaged to take charge of the chorus choir at the Park Avenue Baptist church. He will retain his position at the First Baptist church, devoting his time on Friday night to training the choir of the Park Avenue church. He began his duties on Friday night. He plans to have a chorus of thirty voices, there being fifteen at present.

"The Voices of Jesus."

The prayer meeting at the Congregational church Wednesday night will be of special interest. There will be a fifteen minute song service and three minute addresses on "The Voices of Jesus," will be delivered by E. S. Suffern, Mr. Hooker, Mr. McClymont, A. C. LaBoyteaux, Mr. West and Mrs. Neilsen.

—Corra Ryno, of Codington avenue, advertising manager of The Daily Press, is confined to his home by illness.

CHARGE OF PERJURY DISMISSED BY COURT

Judge Runyon refused to hold Herman Mintz for the action of the grand jury, a request made by Robert Newton Crane, counsel for Leon Karpf, Jr., of Newark, this morning, because he failed to discern intentional or wilful perjury in testimony offered by Mintz in a civil suit brought by Karpf on May 5. Mr. Mintz was defended by Counsellor Harry C. Runyon.

According to witnesses in the case a check for $30 which had been given to Mintz by Karpf in part payment for a horse on September 7 last was claimed to have been for twenty-five dollars only, by Mintz, when as a matter of fact the face showed it to be for thirty dollars. However, it was shown to the satisfaction of the court that the lapse of several months could easily cause a lapse of memory on the part of the recipient and probably did so in this case. Besides other transactions between the parties in which checks had been passed and anyone of these might have been for similar amounts.

Horace Adams, clerk of the District court, corroborated the testimony of Karpf as to the testimony given before Judge Newcorn, but the simple statement of Mintz, who was not put under oath, was sufficient weight to convince Judge Runyon that no actual perjury had been committed.

U.S. ATTORNEY EXPLAINS NATURALIZATION LAWS

"American Citizenship—How Acquired," was the subject of an address delivered by Louis R. Bick, Assistant United States attorney, of Brooklyn, before the Men's Club, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, last night. There was a large attendance of members and friends of the club, and all listened with interest to the talk by Mr. Bick.

The speaker confined his remarks chiefly to explaining some of the salient features of the new laws pertaining to naturalization. He said that while it is necessary for an alien to live in this country five years before taking out papers, that after living here three years should he return home for a period of two years without declaring his intentions, it would be necessary then for him to live here continuously for five years.

Another point brought out was that a person committed for a felony cannot obtain citizenship papers unless pardoned by the President. Mr. Bick related many amusing incidents which have come under his observation in issuing papers to applicants.

The club elected these officers: President, C. W. Spicer; vice-president, A. F. Randolph; secretary, Frank Langworthy; treasurer, Rolland Davis; executive committee, William C. Hubbard and John B. Cottrell. During a social hour following the meeting refreshments were served.

He doesn't need them himself; he wants them for the show on Friday and Saturday nights. In response to the appeal in this paper Saturday, one hoop-skirt has been received. Five others are wanted. Just send them to this office. No, we won't publish your name.

SCORES "PLEASURE-MAD"

Don't Sacrifice Eternity for Transitory Pleasure, Exclaims Pastor Maguire.

WARNING TO THE PARENTS

"Dancing Classes in Public Places Are Spawning Ground of Hell," Declares Minister.

It was not Governor John Franklin Fort, nor Governor Charles E. Hughes, nor yet Governor Harmon, of Ohio, whom Rev. Gabriel R. Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, had in mind when the topic for his last night's sermon was announced, but a Governor who was in power when the Apostle Paul was doing missionary work in Cesarea. In mentioning this fact last night Pastor Maguire said: "Disappointment describes the feelings of Felix," the subject of the sermon, "and I venture to say that disappointment describes the feelings of some of you rock-ribbed Republicans and you Stand-pat Democrats because I am not going to give you a political harangue. I am not in the muck-raking business.

"A large part of my time today has been given up to wearing out the carpet between my study and the telephone answering calls from people wanting to know which Governor I was going to attack. But, as I said, I am not in the muck-raking business and they were obliged to come and hear me to learn the truth. It has been said of our statesmen that each and every one of them has his price, but I tell you that in our legislatures and assemblies and in Congress today there are men who cannot be bought with all the wealth of this and any other world. And thank God for it. Some of our men are incorruptable and were it not so, this glorious country of ours would not occupy its present place among the nations of the earth.

"I am sorry for you who came expecting me to rake over the deeds of some poor misguided politician, but I am glad that you will be able to hear of one man who had the opportunity to save his immortal soul and lost it and that, perhaps, you may profit by the experience of the other fellow."

Mr. Maguire then told of the imprisonment of Paul by Felix, as described in the twenty-fourth chapter of The Acts of the Apostles, taking for his text the twenty-fifth verse. Paul was in prison and Drusilla, the stolen companion of Felix, having heard of it asked of her lover that Paul be brought before her to discourse on the subject of salvation or any other topic which would reveal to Felix his eloquence. But when brought into the presence of the potentate Paul leaving prudence to take care of itself let conscience tell him. "I am an ambassador of Christ and forthwith began a sermon which mightily moved Governor Felix and his consort, but which resulted in Paul's return to the prison cell.

"The story of Paul's encounter with Felix was written for our admonition," said Mr. Maguire, "and I will give you several reasons why they should all be heeded." An exhoration to the parents of Plainfield, such as probably never has been heard by them before, followed.

The practises of parents in neglecting the attributes which God gave them to secure the salvation of the souls of their children, the indifference which parents of the present day show in what their children do along certain lines. The neglect of the little things which with ordinary care could be eliminated from the lives of the young by a few well directed words at the proper time, and how often the fall of the girl or boy is due directly to this negligence of the parent.

"Dancing classes in public places are the spawning ground of hell," declared the minister. "How many unfortunate girls owe their downfall to this special amusement only God knows, but you mothers and fathers know how to prevent it with your daughters. Keep their feet from getting into the slippery places. If you are going to hell for God's sake don't take your children with you," he shouted. "There are things which God will excuse, but not this."

Referring to the pleasure-mad people of this country, Mr. Maguire said, "I feel sorry for the men and women who care for their souls only during Lent. Just think what a good time the devil has during the balance of the year! Nothing to do but cajole the unthinking and careless into believing that they have nothing to do but seek the things which please them. I tell you that it is wrong to sacrifice an eternity for a transitory pleasure. Felix might have become a good Christian but

COURT CALLS CASE A MOST PALPABLE FRAUD.

Trenton, May 16.—In awarding George C. Lower, of New Egypt, a verdict for $450 against John Cottrell, a farmer living near Cookstown, Vice-Chancellor Walker said Friday that the case presented by Cottrell was one of the most palpable frauds that had ever come before him in the Court of Chancery.

Cottrell, after purchasing a lot of farm implements, stock and other property, gave notes in payment at various times. When the creditors sued on the unpaid notes, Cottrell produced a chattel mortgage for $1,700, which he had given on all his property to his wife. The Vice-Chancellor held that the mortgage was given for the express purpose of escaping the payment of Cottrell's just debts.

He was Immune.

An elderly gentleman, traveling in a stage coach, was amused by the constant fire of words kept up between two ladies. One of them at last kindly inquired if their conversation did not make his head ache, when he answered, with a great deal of naivete, "No, ma'am; I have been married twenty-eight years."

Sure Thing.

"Oh, they have their uses."

"What have?"

"These barefoot dances. Since they came in, lots of people are beginning to understand art."

Nearly a Sale.

"The editor must have thought this story was pretty good."

"Why?"

"He declines it with regrets instead of the usual thanks."

He started to write of famous men;
The subject to oblivion sinks
While he holds forth with fluent pen
About himself and what he thinks.

Housekeepers' Opportunity Week

Three or four years ago we inaugurated what we were pleased to term "Housekeepers Opportunity Week." We were sceptical at first because nothing of the kind had ever been tried before and we didn't know whether the housekeepers of this vicinity would lay down their work and come to this sale or not. The first hour of the first day proved to us that we had struck a responsive chord and we straightway determined to make a regular yearly feature of "Housekeepers Week." Last year's sale was a tremendous success and so was the one of the year before. This year's "Opportunity" sale is the best yet and we think every housekeeper in this vicinity will know about it before the week is half gone.

PLAINFIELDS SERVES CROW TO FLEMINGTON

A luscious meal of crow was served up to Flemington's aggregation of ball tossers in their own ball yard by our gallant Plainfield athletes on Saturday afternoon. Score 6 to 2.

It was a mournful procession of Flemingtonites who made their way to the supper table after the battle. One individual who couldn't understand why the Hunterdon Braves were squelched was Zeke Spittlehouse, the town constable. "B'gosh, I can't fur the life of me understand how you fellers did it," is what he said to Warry McLaughlin after the game.

On the other hand there was great rejoicing in the Plainfield contingent over the victory, until the supper table was reached. The inn-keeper, where our gallants headquartered, was dead sore. He lost two plunks on the game, and to get even, he served up two-ounce portions of beefsteak, coffee minus the spoons, and some half ripe radishes, to the victors and local rooters who made the trip. A few strawberries, to each eater, topped off the scanty meal. There was much growling on the supper score thereof.

Here is the story of victory. It was delayed until the ninth spasm, but it counted just the same. The score was 2 to 2 when the locals started the aggressive. Matters assumed a dismal hue when Nelson, the first batter, flied out to Chathers. Warry McLaughlin poked the ball 'way out to centrefield against the fence. It looked as if the sphere was going to drop on Pickle Mountain in the distance, but Zanetti got in under it—but alas! he muffed it—and gave McLaughlin a "lifer" on the middle sack. Boyd was put in the game to run for Warry, and Schott advanced him home on a cracking single to right field. Schott advanced to third, and when he tried to score on Lidgate's tap to second base, Adams perished at the plate.

Lidgate, who was safe on first base, reached third on singles by Martin and Boyd. With the sacks all occupied Barnes pasted a high fly to right field which Parker muffed and all three Plainfielders romped home, making the score 6 to 2. Barnes ended the round by popping out to Rothfuss.

Plainfield set the pace in the run getting line in the fourth by tallying two scores. Harter and Carlstrom received free transportation by Warren and were advanced on Nelson's sacrifice, and then Warry McLaughlin smacked the globule to center garden and Harter and Carlstrom scored. McLaughlin died on the bases as Schott and Lidgate were easily retired.

A couple of wildcat chucks in the fifth session permitted the Hunterdon county boys to tie the score. Hampton, the mute first sacker, opened the runfest by flying out to Carlstrom. Chathers walked. Applegate fanned. Parker was safe on Lidgate's muff, and Chathers also made third on the misplay. While the latter was going to third Nelson threw wild to Harter and Chather scored. Harter retaliated by returning a crazy chuck to Nelson, and this opening gave Parker an opportunity to tally. After the fracas Warry retired the enemy by fanning Warren.

McLaughlin pitched splendidly for the locals, striking out ten men and holding the opposing side down to two meazley hits, one of which was an infield scratch. Carlstrom, the new acquisition at shortstop, performed in fast style. Brit Martin and Schott earned a lot of handclaps from the bleacherites and grand standees for their sensational contributions to the game. The score:

Plainfield.

Hit by pitched ball—Carlstrom. Passed ball—Nelson. Sacrifice hits—Nelson, Lidgate, Rothfuss. Stolen bases—Martin (2), Carlstrom, Nelson, Schott, Hampton. Left on bases—Plainfield, 6; Flemington, 4. Time of game 1h. 45m. Umpire—Nelson.

Carlstrom will do. He's a shortstop of the "swell-elegant" variety. He participated in two lightning double plays that enlivened the contest. In two of these double specialty acts, Barnes also performed.

Adam Schott set the spectators on fire when he scooped in Zanetti's long fly to center field territory in the fourth inning.

Brit Martin's red fire stunt was executed in the eighth when he pickled Adam Rothfuss' sizzling grasser and chucked the veteran catcher out at first base.

Catcher Rothfuss had a busy session. In addition to handling Warren's six strikeouts, he accepted seven other chances, making in all thirteen out of fourteen chances.

Warry McLaughlin is a big favorite with the fans of Flemington who remember him when he pitched for Somerville years back. Before returning he indulged in nearly a hundred hand shaking fests.

And Billy O'Loughlin. He was the matinee idol of the pretty lassies of the village.

The nine as now constituted looks good and fully able to compete with any semi-pro nine in the State.

Flemington will play on Crescent Oval next week. Saturday's victory should insure the biggest crowd of the season.

Y. M. C. A. IS WINNER OF SHARP BATTLE

Powerless before the superb pitching of Slocum, Y. M. C. A.'s twirling wonder, the crack Brooklyn Centrals fell a victim to the locals on Crescent Oval Saturday by the score of 5 to 4. It was one of the prettiest diamond battles waged on the oval and was marked by brilliant plays on both sides.

Although beaten the visitors excelled Plainfield at the bat, nine hits to five, but on the other hand the locals played an errorless game while there were six misplays credited to Brooklyn.

Slocum was the "whole show." The youngster fanned eighteen out of thirty-two batters who faced him. In the first and second rounds he whiffed the first six batters. In the third and fourth innings he fanned two in each round. One fell a victim to his curves in the fifth, three more in a row in the sixth, one in each the seventh and eighth. In the concluding round he was just as strong and added another pair of victims to his string. Hand accorded Slocum perfect support behind the plate.

While Plainfield secured only five safe swatettes off of Hu't the bingles of the visitors aided the locals materially in their run getting. Stover led at the bat for the locals registering three of the five bingles. The score:

To Determine Circle of Shunpike.
State Road Commissioner Gilkyson will come to Union county today to inspect the road known as the Shunpike running between Westfield avenue and Summit, which will be macadamized during the coming summer at a total cost of about $20,000 to the State and Union county. The Commonwealth Quarry Company, which owns property near the Summit end of the road, has appealed to the State road department to have the highway made a wider circle around its quarry than the plans now propose. In making plans for the improvement the road was straightened at certain points and the quarry company claims that if the plans are adhered to along its property there will be interference with the operation of their quarry. Commissioner Gilkyson will go over the ground and determine the point.

for his love of pleasure. He would not give up his sin. "At a more convenient season,' he said, but he was trembling. But he never got the chance. His opportunity had gone and his procrastination caused his death. Poor Felix! Don't any of you let the opportunity pass when it is presented to you. Would you rather spend forty or fifty years in the pleasures provided in this world than spend fifty millions and more of happiness in Paradise?"

The church was filled with an audience that at times was moved to tears and at intervals a titter would run among them at some witty sally of the man in the pulpit. The earnestness of the pastor is unquestionable. Five young people asked for prayers after last night's sermon. Judge William N. Runyon sang a solo as the offertory.

P. H. S. NOTES.

A number of High School pupils, headed by Miss Day, a teacher, journeyed to the top of the High School at 3 o'clock this morning to see the comet. At a quarter of four they saw what they thought was the much talked about wonder and went home contented.

The prize examinations will be held at the High School on May 23, 24, 25, 26. The entrance exams will take place along with the regular ones.

MARY GARDEN TALKS OUT IN MEETING.

"Frenzied? The life of a grand-opera singer frenzied? Why, that is a mild word, a mere euphemism! From the moment I put my foot on American soil for my season with Mr. Hammerstein, I am a slave—a slave both to my art itself and to the physical demands upon me as an artist.

"I was quoted from abroad as having said that America is nothing but a railroad station. I was misunderstood by many, but anyone who knows what my life means during the America opera season will understand exactly what I intended to say. Here is the explanation:

"About half my time I spend on railroad trains or in hotels. To be sure, I have an apartment with my sister in New York, which I call my American home—but how much enjoyment do I get out of it? I hardly have a moment to myself. If it were not for my splendid physical health, I would be in a state of collapse before the New York season is half over.

"Just consider: I sang about three times a week and am meantime constantly studying new roles. The latter means that I must attend frequent rehearsals. You know that I am a believer in thoroughly rehearsing an opera before it is presented, and I never shirk my duty in that respect. I never allow any other artist in the cast to say that he or she has given more time to rehearsals than I.

"Last season I sang nearly sixty times in America. I expect to reach that total again this season. You can imagine from this record how few moments are left for anything but work, travel and work. Why, an hour devoted to a social engagement or an extra hour's sleep seems stolen.

"Do not let any young woman deceive herself with the idea that the operatic artist's career is a 'flowery path!' It is long, steep and rocky. There is only one thing that keeps an artist going, and that is enthusiastic love of her art.

"When the season is over, can you wonder that I eagerly hasten to my quiet home in Paris to recuperate the forces of nerve, brain and brawn that I have almost exhausted during my season in America? Frenzied, did you say? Hyper-frenzied would come a little nearer to it!"—From "Frenzied Opera," in Everybody's.

Very Discreet.

A party of ladies were taking luncheon together at a well-known Italian restaurant the other afternoon, and at a table half across the room sat a man whose singular conduct was attracting considerable attention. Said one of the ladies in a mysterious and confidential undertone to the waiter:

"Garcon, parlez vous Francaise?"

"Oou, madame," was the quick response.

"Then," she continued, eagerly, resuming her ordinary tone of voice and with it her English, "what's the matter with that man over there?"

NOISE NO BAR TO SLEEP IN BIG CITY.

Insomnia Unknown Among Dwellers of N. Y. Tenements.

Is it possible to obtain eight or nine hours' sleep every night in the great and noisy city? Surely it is. The man or woman who pretends this is impossible is either a victim of self-deception or a very rare invalid. Let us consider a few cases in New York, the biggest and noisiest city in America. There are living in that city some half-million or more of men who work as day laborers, mechanics, etc., and who sleep as soundly in tenements in the most congested districts as in the equally noisy outskirts of the city.

Any case of neuraesthenia or insomnia among them? Not to any great extent. Of course their hard manual labor gives them a fine appetite, their means are small, and their diet therefore plain, and the good honest fatigue resulting from a day of physical toil sends them swiftly into sleep that restores to them abounding vigor next day.

It is not so long since the eight-oared crew of Columbia University won the intercollegiate championship of all America at Poughkeepsie on the Hudson, and several time since then the crews of this university have finished second in the great struggle, so close up with the leaders that spectators could not tell who had won. Yet these young athletes lived during nearly all the period of training in the busiest, noisiest city in America, and if they had not taken plenty of sleep they could not have made such a splendid showing against the crews of Cornell, Pennsylvania, Syracus, Wisconsin, Georgetown, etc.

Does the strain, the noise, the bustropolis afflict these young athletes? Bustropolis afflict these youn athletes with insomnia or neurasthenia What a joke!—Harper's Weekly.

DARNING COTTON CASE.

A convenient case for two spools of darning cotton—a black and a white—is made of two similar silk-covered pasteboards. They are oval in shape and so planned as to length that they will fully cover the two balls of cotton.

They are covered with figured silk and faced with plain silk, the two qualities being overcast together along their edges.

Within these two covered oblongs there are placed the two spools. Through their openings there are passed ribbons, which are then threaded through holes punched in the cardboards.

These will hold the spools of cotton firmly in place after the ends of the ribbons are sewed securely to the figured silk and finished with rosettes on the outside of the oblongs.

FRAMES OF BRASS.

Have you a photograph frame that has long held a fovorite photograph? Has its beauty waned or your taste changed, while your heart still holds true to the face it incloses?

If so, hie yourself to the dealer in beaten brass supplies, buy about a foot of brass—or less, if your frame be small—and after first carefully removing the back mounting of the frame, the glass and the picture, lay the brass upon the skeleton left and carefully bend it about the edges of the old frame. Cut the centre opening in tooth-like sections, so that they can also be bent to the shape of the original opening, and upon the smooth surface thus make copy with a lead pencil or tracing paper some simple design of leaf or flower. A conventional stencil design is good and shows up well when the groundwork is beaten flat.

To give the precious note of individuality that we all desire, a monogram could be added in one corner, and when once mounted and the similar face installed you have a new ornament that will be a long-time pleasure.

OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY OF THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

Observing the twenty-first anniversary of the founding of the Epworth League, a service of special interest was held at the First M. E. church last night. The speaker of the evening was Rev. Dr. A. W. Hayes, of the Methodist church, Westfield, who exchanged with the pastor, Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson. Arthur Humble, of the Epworth League, was in charge of the meeting and introduced the speaker after a pleasing soprano solo by Miss Bailey.

Mr. Humble recalled that the Epworth League was organized at Cleveland, O., in 1889, and after passing through the early years successfully is today one of the strongest forces for good among the young people of the world.

Dr. Hayes spoke from the motto of the Epworth League, "Look Up and Lift Up," and from the text, "And Peter Gave Him His Right Hand." He referred to the countless symbols admired by people of all countries, including the American eagle, which he characterized as the symbol of dignity, but in his opinion the greatest symbol, the one that is revered the world over, is the Cross, but if Christ had not been nailed to the Cross, it would have become nothing more than so much wood.

The speaker then went on to explain the great importance of the hand, which he said was the most valuable tool in the world, a marvelous power of communication, which has controlled gases, electricity, the secret of the load stone, which builds the hut and the palace. The speaker referred to the power of the hands of great leaders and what they have accomplished in the world's history. He then made his remarks applicable to the work and progress of the Epworth League, inspiring the members to do even greater things in the future than in the past. The address of Dr. Hayes was greatly enjoyed by the large congregation. The pulpit was decorated with the flag of the Epworth League, while another one bearing the motto and insignia of the organization was displayed in front of the organ.

Miss Helen Lynch Entertains.

Miss Helen Lynch, of East Fifth street, entertained the Now and Then Euchre Club at her home Friday evening. Card playing, vocal and instrumental music weer features. Honors were awarded to Miss Anna Doyle and Harry Pasch, and the consolation honors to Miss Helen Griffin and Edward Mundy. Refershments were served after the play. Those present were the Misses Elsie Knowlton, Anna Doyle, Fanny Mundy, Annabel McAfee and Helen Lynch, of the city; Helen Griffin, of Newark, and Messrs. Earl Moran, Edward Mundy, Harry Forristel, John Doyle, William Brown and Harry Pasch.

Y. W. C. A.'s on a Jaunt.

Twelve members of the Young Woman's Christian Association enjoyed a walk over the mountains on Saturday afternoon. In the vicinity of Moldenke's castle the party encountered a shower but this failed to dampen the pleasure of the occasion. Shelter was secured in a ravine on the northern slope of the mountain. With a foliage of trees as a roof the picnickers built a fire, boiled a pot of coffee and enjoyed their luncheon. When the sunshine appeared the young women turned homeward. Next Saturday afternoon a walk will be taken to South Plainfield.

Baptist Laymen to Meet Here.

The laymen of the Baptist churches of Plainfield, Westfield, Scotch Plains, Elizabeth, Newark, New Market and other neighboring cities will hold an important meeting at the First Baptist church, Thursday night, to consider the growing demands upon the Baptists of New Jersey. There will be short addresses by men prominent in the Baptist churches of New Jersey and the gathering, it is expected, will be a large one.

Music Teacher's Close Call.

Professor Lloyd, instructor of music at the North Plainfield schools, had a thrilling experience this morning while on the way from his home at Bound Brook to the borough schools. While boarding a moving train at Bound Brook, the music master missed his footing, and was dragged about twenty-five feet, before he recovered his balance and gained the platform. In the excitement Mr. Lloyd lost his hat.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

The Epworth League, of the Methodist church at Dunellen, observed its twenty-first anniversary last night by special exercises which included the installation of the newly elected officers of the league which will serve for the ensuing year. A large congregation was present and the exercises were highly interesting.

The installation ceremony was conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. A. Knox. The officers installed were as follows: President, W. W. Giddes; first vice-president, Miss May Apgar; second vice-president, William Rinker; third vice-president, Miss Lulu Adams; fourth vice-president, Mrs. O. Weber; secretary, Miss Ellen Shiveley; treasurer, Miss Lillian Kennedy.

All of the officers were installed at the altar, where Dr. Knox delivered a charge to each of the officials. Following that part of the program, W. W. Giddes offered prayer, and the officers took places on the platform, where each one delivered an address.

President W. W. Giddes, in his address, presented some interesting figures and statistics, which showed the growth and work of the organization in all parts of the world where it is organized. Mr. Giddes urged that the league interest itself in raising funds to advance the work of the organization in foreign fields during the coming year. Mrs. Knox also presented an interesting report dwelling on the history of the local league.

Special music which was rendered by the choir included a duet "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," sung by Miss Elizabeth Herlick and W. W. Giddes. At the close of the service a missionary offering was made.

Receive New Members at Hope.

The reception of members and celebration of communion was observed at Hope chapel last night. Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor, preached a strong sermon to the large congregation present. Seven new members were added at the service, five on confession of faith and three by letter. Those received on confession were Donald McPherson and the Misses Marie Thomas, Clara Weber, Lillian Morley and Jennie Thomas and those by letter were Mrs. Aaron Snyder, J. Frank Lindsley and Mrs. Minnie Cross.

The Buzzards Walk.

The first annual May walk of the Buzzards' Club yesterday at Krauss' farm was a big sucess, due to the untiring efforts of the committee in charge. The day was ideal and the program of sports arranged by the sub-committee furnished considerable amusement. Steamed clams, clam chowder, boiled lobster, chicken comprised the bill of fare. The May walk committee comprised James Niles, chairman; Harry Doty, George Slorah, James Downing, Arthur Dow.

C. E. Anniversary.

The Christian Endeavor Society, of Warren chapel, will observe its twenty-second anniversary tomorrow night. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, will deliver an address, and John T. Sproull, president of the State Union, is also expected to be present and speak. An attractive program will be rendered and refreshments will be served during a social period that will follow the anniversary program.

Attending Lodge Convention.

Mrs. B. F. Moore, treasurer; Mrs. Annie Wyckoff, secretary, and Mrs. Lottie Anson, left this morning for Atlantic City, to attend the convention of the Daughters of Liberty, which will be held this week. They represent Old Glory Council, No. 62, D. of L., of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Barton Groendyke and son, George W. Groendyke, of 909 West Front street, will remove to 978 Park avenue on Thursday.

Love and Hate.

Thirst belongs to humanity, everywhere, in all ages; but the white pine pail and the brown mug belong to me in particular; and just so of my special relationships with other things and my race. One could never remember himself in eternity by the mere fact of having loved or hated any more than by that of having thirsted; love and hate have no more individuality in them than single waves in the ocean; but the accidents or trivial marks which distinguished those whom we loved or ha ed make their memory our own forever, and with it that of our own personality also.—Holmes.

Another Smile.

"What did the sun look like to you when you were in the arctic regions?"

"Well," answered the explorer thoughtfully, "it resembled an elusive gold dollar much magnified."

Necklaces of Small Pearls.

Small pearls are much in favor now for necklaces. They are strung in festoons, and some are caught with medallions of quaint workmanship.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The local team with Deegan in the box defeated Bound Brook Saturday afternoon by the score of 3 to 2. Willie was in fine form and his work upset the calculations of some, who thought that he would not be able to get back in the game again after a two years' rest.

No grounds have been secured yet by the local ball team. However, the fans enjoyed their Sunday game of baseball as North Plainfield, Westfield and South Plainfield all played.

The twentieth anniversary of the Epworth League was observed last night in the Methodist church. A special service was held which was largely attended.

The St. Mary's ball team, of Stony Hill, was defeated in the game at South Plainfield yesterday afternoon by the score of 7 to 3.

Mrs. Nicholas Alberts, of Front street, was the guest of relatives in Plainfield over Sunday.

John Albert has purchased a new road horse for use in his hacking business at the station.

The weekly meeting of the B. Y. P. U. was held last night in the parlors of the church.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The local Field Club went to Metuchen Saturday to play the Metuchen B. B. C., but when they arrived a game was being played with the C. C. of New Brunswick. The South Plainfield boys had to return without playing.

The locals defeated the St. Mary's team, of Stony Hill, Saturday by a score of 7 to 4. Stony Hill was well padded up with Scotch Plains' players, having almost half of their men from that club.

Miss Mildred Newbrand, who has been visiting friends here, has returned to her home in New York.

John Pace, of Somerville, formerly of this place, renewed old acquaintances here yesterday.

John Lang, of Somerville, has returned home after a visit with friends here.

John Miller is spending a few days with friends in Newark.

LOCAL BALL PLAYER INJURED IN GAME.

Frank Evans, of Arlington avenue, while playing with the Clinton nine, at the latter place, on Saturday, fractured his left wrist, which will necessitate his retirement from the diamond for several months. Evans sustained the injury on a slide to home base, on his journey from third base.

Evans without doubt is the prize hardluck player in this vicinity. Early last season he met with injuries in a game which placed a prohibition on his playing the greater part of last season.

Playmates as Pall Bearers.

The funeral service of J. Gerald Dunn was conducted at St. Mary's church this morning where a requiem mass was celebrated by Father Bogan. Playmates of the dead boy acted as pall bearers. They were Edward Dugan, Victor Crook, William Godan, Monroe Gulberg, Howard McDonough and Carl Gulberg. There were many beautiful floral tributes on the casket. Interment was made at St. Mary's cemetery.

Will Organize Cadet Corps.

There will be a meeting at the First Baptist church Friday night of those interested in the organization of a cadet corps. The plan is to form two companies, one for the young men and another for the boys. Robin Brown will be the drill master, assisted by J. D. Macnab and Louis Matlack. Later on it is proposed to organize a bicycle corps. Friday nights will be reserved for drilling, and steps will be taken at once to secure uniforms.

New Drug Store—Our young friend, Cornelius Boice, formerly with Marlowe & Reynolds, of this city has opened a drug store in L. B. Boice's new brick building on Somerset street, North Plainfield. This store is a much needed institution in that part of Plainfield, and we have no doubt but that our enterprising friend will do a good business.

Amputation—Mr. Ezra Wooden, of North Plainfield, who has for some time past been suffering from wounds in his feet, received from a mowing machine over a year ago, had one of his feet amputated last week, and it is feared that he will yet have to loose the other one to save his life.

Linden has raised four thousand dollars towards a new Episcopal church, and Somerville fifteen thousand dollars for a Baptist church.

A True Remark—If one of the "Appomatix Guard," made while returning from his headquarters last Tuesday night, to one of his comrades:—"We may drum and blow as much as we like, but I believe Greeley will be elected." Sure pop.

We learn that our old friend, David Willigan, for the past three years an employee in the Times office of this city, has been engaged as local editor of the Somerset Messenger. We are glad to learn of it, and are satisfied that the readers of the Messenger will be benefitted by the appointment.

POSTOFFICE DEFICIT DUE TO FRANKING ABUSES.

It hardly needs expert investigation to disclose the scandalous abuse of the postal service by some members of Congress through franking privilege. Everybody knows something about it, but few know all the facts. These should be uncovered and reduced to computation; the public has the right to know the extent of the offense against the morality if not the legality of a necessary branch of the government's business.

It is more than probable that the deficiency in the revenues of the postoffice department would be more than equaled if the privilege now granted to the members of Congress, heads of departments and even employees, literally to smother the library tables and office desks of this vast country with tons upon tons of printed matter which few read, were not outrageously abused, says the Bookkeeper.

A thorough investigation by those skilled in uncovering unpleasant as well as agreeable facts, not only would surely result in a rearrangement of methods now hidden or sanctioned, but would undoubtedly shock the sensibilities of the masses of the people who try to be honest and are footing the country's bills.

NEW TABLE DECORATION.

The girl who is looking for an attractive way to brighten her table for a society affair should adopt the new idea of ribbon bows around the fern dish. This is very effective and easily managed. Six-inch, leaf green satin ribbon is used, unless one wants to follow another color scheme. Green is mostly used because it is the safest color on the table. However, peach color was recently used with great success where the candle shades and the flowers were yellow and pink.

The ribbon is arranged in a series of eight-inch loops, which have feather-bone in the middle to make them stand erect. These loops are made along the line of folded ribbon. They are not cut separately and attached.

The foundation of the ribbon is also featherboned to keep its shape, and when the fern dish or Japanese bowl of flowers is placed in the middle of the table this upright ribbon decoration is massed around it.

If a girl wants to give a spring dinner, luncheon or supper, she can use spring green satin ribbon around an immense cut glass bowl of ferns and pink roses, cut glass candlesticks with pink candles and pink shades made of tarletan, edged with a fringe of pink and crystal beads, and silver dishes filled with white candy and green mints.

An Editor's Troubles.

"I suppose it is difficult to please all your readers?"

"It is," admitted the editor of the Plunkville Palladium. "I just received a delegation of ladies who requested me not to print any more starvation statistics on the society page."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HINTS FOR THE SUBURBAN GARDENER.

Although a trifle late for the ordinary climate, there is still time for the starting of various flowers which are later to be placed out in the garden. A package of seeds, or even a small portion of an ordinary package, planted now indoors will give a good start for this summer and allow you to get the best of your neglectful neighbor. The custom of planting seeds of annuals indoors very, very early in the spring has grown more each year, and is sure to grow more in the future.

Bring out your dried geranium roots, place them in some rich earth and set where the sun can reach them. You will be surprised to find that you will be several months ahead of gardeners who do not do the same thing, and you will have geraniums in the garden from the very first. For such things the proper method is to plant in pots and not in boxes, because of the resetting in May. Box-raised plants have the disadvantage of having to undergo quite a shock when they are replanted, but if they are raised indoors in pots the entire earth can be sunk into the ground without any danger to the roots.

Many persons imagine that to reset a plant all that is necessary is to dig the plant up and set it in the earth. This is a very grave error, as it sets the plant back a long time. Plants are like human beings; in fact, the theory of evolution shows that animals were once plants. Any and all plants have delicate feelings. The require food and drink just as ordinary mortals, and when you allow a root to dry up or to become injured it is just as though you were to give a human being a sore throat or to tear your own stomach into pieces. Every portion of the root counts, and the slightest injury to that root affects the plant. Therefore, take every care whenever you set a plant unless it is in a dormant state, and even then the change is likely to result seriously even in shrubs or trees.

Now is the time to keep an eye on the San Jose scale, as well as other insects, which will be out in force later and bring about the ruination of your garden or your orchard. Spray your trees with your favorite insecticide. Lime, sulphur or one of the soluble oils will be a good thing to keep away the scale and will also work harm to the aphis and other insects. Where fruit trees are infected with black-knot or cancer, cut away the diseased portions. To stop the peach leaf curl spray the trees with lime-sulphur.

If you have any pruning to do and have not done it, be careful that the sap is not running; if it is, don't prune. This refers especially to grapes, which should ordinarily be pruned before the snow is off the ground.

There is plenty of time before seeds can be sown outdoors, but one sowing should be made in the greenhouse early if seedlings of strong growth and bearing an abundance of flowers are wished for.

Just as soon as the snow has left the ground you must not forget to attend to your asparagus by placing over it a good dressing of well-rotted fertilizer. This same advice applies to rhubarb.

A FURRIER'S HINT.

A furrier says that more fine furs are ruined through carelessness than from any other cause. No garment is guaranteed. The wear depends entirely upon the care taken of it.

This dealer ten years ago made up two coats for different women of the finest sealskin. At the end of the year one returned with the coat in tatters; the other had her coat made over this winter for the third time.

What caused the difference? Lack of care. One woman had done everything but sleep in her coat, while the other and kept hre's in good condition.

Few fine fur coats will stand rough handling. Pulling on and off in a hurry, pitching down in a heap when wet, not using hangers or wearing over sweaters or other coats tear the skins.

Heat is the chief foe to fine furs, always hang your coat in a cold room, particularly when wet. To do otherwise will make the skins shrivel and crack.

Be careful in traveling not to put your furs near the radiator. Hang them on outside of seat. If in street cars, you are sitting over the steam-pipe, lift your coat or it may be ruined before the end of the ride.

In choosing furs, remember that the finer the fur the less wear you may get out of it. This is particularly true of baby caracul, chinchilla, sable and ermine. Often wearing qualities in inverse proportion to cost.

A stout woman who must count cost cannot afford a fine fur, for she is apt to rub delicate skins into frayed places.

Worth Knowing.

When a splinter has been driven deep into the hand, it can be extracted without pain with steam. Nearly fill a wide-mouthed bottle with hot water, place the injured part over the mouth of the bottle and press lightly. The suction will draw the flesh down, and in a minute or two the steam will extract the splinter and inflammation together.

"How do you do?" was all I could find to say. And "How do you do?" was all I could catch for answer, although I saw, in a fleeting way, a glimpse of a dimple hid in Elizabeth's cheek. She never showed it save when pleased. I have never seen a dimple like that of Elizabeth's.

Absorbed, we almost forgot Aunt Betty Jennings—stout, radiant, snub-nosed, arch-browed and curious, Elizabeth's chaperon. On the whole, I was glad Aunt Betty Jennings was there.

"Aunt Betty," said I, as I took her hand; "Aunt Betty, have we told you, Elizabeth and I?"

I saw Elizabeth straighten in perplexity, doubt or horror, but I went on.

"Yes, Elizabeth and I——"

"You dear children!" gurgled Aunt Betty.

"Congratulate us both!" I demanded, and I put Elizabeth's hand, covered with my own, into the short and chubby fingers of that estimable lady. Whenever Elizabeth attempted to open her lips I opened mine before, and I so overwhelmed dear Aunt Betty Jennings with protestations of my regard for her, my interest in her family, her other nieces, her chickens, her kittens, her home—I so quieted all her questions by assertions and demands and exclamations, and declarations that Mr. Daniel Chuschill had given his consent, that I swear for the moment even Elizabeth believed that what I had said was indeed true. At least, I can testify she made no formal denial, although the dimple was now frightened out of sight.

Admirable Aunt Betty Jennings! She forestalled every assertion I made, herself bubbling and blushing in sheer delight. Nor did she lack in charity. Tapping me with her fan lightly, she exclaimed: "You rogue! I know that you two want to be alone; that is what you want. Now I am going away—just down the room. You will ride home with us after a time, I am sure?"

Adorable Aunt Betty Jennings! Elizabeth and I looked at her comfortable back for some moments before I turned, laughing, to look Elizabeth in the eyes.

"You had no right—" began she, her face growing pink.

"Every right!" said I, and managed to find a place for our two hands under cover of the wide flounces of her figured lawn as we stood, both blushing. "I have every right. I have truly just seen your father. I have just come from him."

She looked at me intently, glowing, happily.

"I could not wait any longer," I went on. "Within a week I am going to have an office of my own. Let us wait no longer. I have waited long enough. Now—"

I babbled on, and she listened. It was strange place enough for a betrothal, but there at least I said the words which bound me; and in the look Elizabeth gave me I saw her answer. Her eyes were wide and straight and solemn. She did not smile.

As we stood, with small opportunity and perhaps less inclination for much conversation, my eyes chanced to turn toward the main entrance door of the east room. I saw, pushing through, a certain page, a young boy of good family, who was employed by Mr. Calhoun as messenger. He knew me perfectly well, as he did almost every one else in Washington, and with precocious intelligence his gaze picked me out in all that throng.

"Is it for me?" I asked, as he extended his missive.

"Yes," he nodded. "Mr. Calhoun told me to find you and to give you this at once."

I turned to Elizabeth. "If you will pardon me?" I said. She made way for me to pass to a curtained window, and there, turning my back and using such secrecy as I could, I broke the seal.

The message was brief. To be equally brief I may say simply that it asked me to be ready to start for Canada that night on business connected with the department of state! Of reason or explanations it gave none.

I turned to Elizabeth and held out the message from my chief. She looked at it. Her eyes widened. "Nicholas!" she exclaimed.

"Elizabeth," said I, turning to her swiftly, "I will agree to nothing which will send me away from you again. Listen, then—" I raised a hand as she would have spoken. "Go home with your Aunt Betty as soon as you can. Tell your father that to-night at six I shall be there. Be ready!"

"What do you mean?" she panted. I saw her throat flutter.

"I mean that we must be married to-night before I go. Before eight o'clock I must be on the train."

"When will you be back?" she whispered.

"How can I tell? When I go, my wife shall wait there at Elmhurst, instead of my sweetheart."

She turned away from me, contemplative. She, too, was young. Ardor appealed to her. Life stood before her, beckoning, as to me. What could the girl do or say?

I placed her hand on my arm. We started toward the door, intending to pick up Aunt Jennings on our way. As we advanced, a group before us broke apart. I stood aside to make way for a gentleman whom I did not recognize. On his arm there leaned a woman, a beautiful woman, clad in a costume of flounced and rippling velvet of royal blue which made her the most striking figure in the great room. Hers was a personality not easily to be overlooked in any company, her face one not readily to be equalled. It was the Baroness Helena von Ritz!

We met face to face. I presume it would have been too much to ask even of her to suppress the sudden flash of recognition which she showed. At first she did not see that I was accompanied. She bent to me, as though to adjust her gown, and, without a change in the expression of her face, spoke to me in an undertone no one else could hear.

"Wait!" she murmured. "There is to be a meeting—" She had time for no more as she swept by.

Alas, that mere moments should spell ruin as well as happiness! This new woman whom I had wooed and found, this new Elizabeth whose hand lay on my arm, saw what no one else would have seen—that little flash of recognition on the face of Helena von Ritz! She heard a whisper pass. Moreover, with a woman's uncanny facility in detail, she took in every item of the other's costume. For myself, I could see nothing of that costume now save one object—a barbaric brooch of double shells and beaded fastenings, which clasped the light laces at her throat.

The baroness had perhaps slept as little as I the night before. If I showed the ravages of loss of sleep no more than she, I was fortunate. She was radiant, as she passed forward with her escort for place in the line which had not yet dwindled away.

"You seem to know that lady," said Elizabeth to me gently.

"Did I so seem?" I answered. "It is professional of all to smile in the east room at a reception," said I.

"Then you do not know the lady?"

"Indeed, no. Why should I, my dear girl?" Ah, how hot my face was!

"I do not know," said Elizabeth. "Only, in a way she resembles a certain lady of whom we have heard rather more than enough here in Washington."

"Put aside silly gossip, Elizabeth," I said. "And, please, do not quarrel with me, now that I am so happy. To-night—"

"Nicholas," she said, leaning just a little forward and locking her hands more deeply in my arm, "don't you know the little brooch you were going to bring me—an Indian thing—you said it should be my—my wedding present? Don't you remember that? Now, I was thinking—"

I stood blushing red as though detected in the utmost villainy. And the girl at my side saw that written on my face which now, within the very moment, it had become her right to question! I turned to her suddenly.

"Elizabeth," said I, "you shall have your little brooch to-night, if you will promise me now to be ready and waiting for me at six. I will have the license."

It seemed to me that this new self of Elizabeth's — warmer, yielding, adorable—was slowly going away from me again, and that her old self, none the less sweet, none the less alluring, but more logical and questioning, had taken its old place again. She put both her hands on my arm now and looked me fairly in the face, where the color still proclaimed some sort of guilt on my part, although my heart was clean and innocent as hers.

"Nicholas," She Said, "Come To-Night."

"Nicholas," she said, "come to-night. Bring me my little jewel—and bring—"

"The minister! If I do that, Elizabeth, you will marry me then?"

"Yes!" she whispered softly.

Amid all the din and babble of that motley throng I heard the word, low as it was. I have never heard a voice like Elizabeth's.

An instant later, I knew not quite how, her hand was away from my arm, in that of Aunt Betty, and they were passing toward the main door, leaving me standing with joy and doubt mingled in my mind.

CHAPTER VIII.

Mr. Calhoun Accepts.

A woman's tongue is her sword, that she never lets rust.—Madam Necker

I struggled among three courses. The impulses of my heart, joined to some prescience of trouble, bade me to follow Elizabeth. My duty ordered me to hasten to Mr. Calhoun. My interest demanded that I should tarry, for I was sure that the Baroness von Ritz would make no merely idle request in these circumstances. Hesitating thus, I lost sight of her in the throng. So I concluded I would obey the mandate of duty, and turned toward the great doors. Indeed, I was well toward the steps which led out into the grounds, when all at once two elements of my problem resolved themselves into one. I saw the tall figure of Mr. Calhoun himself coming up the walk toward me.

"Ah," said he briefly, "then my message found you?"

"I was starting for you this moment, sir," I replied.

"Wait for a moment. I counted on finding you here. Matters have changed."

I turned with him and we entered again the east room, where Mr. Tyler still prolonged the official greeting of the curious, the obsequious, or the banal persons who passed. Mr. Calhoun stood apart for a time, watching the progress of this purely American function. It was some time ere the groups thinned. This latter fact usually would have ended the reception, since it is not etiquette to suppose that the president can lack an audience; but to-day Mr. Tyler lingered. At last through the thinning throng he caught sight of the distinctive figure of Mr. Calhoun. For the first time his own face assumed a natural expression. He stopped the line for an instant, and with a raised hand beckoned to my chief.

At this we dropped in at the tail of the line, Mr. Calhoun in passing grasping almost as many hands as Mr. Tyler. When at length we reached the president's position, the latter greeted him and added a whispered word. An instant later he turned abruptly, ending the reception with a deep bow, and retired into the room from which he had earlier emerged.

Mr. Calhoun turned now to me with a request to follow him, and we passed through the door where the president had vanished. Directed by attendants, we were presently ushered into yet another room, which at that time served the president as his cabinet room, a place for meeting persons of distinction who called upon business.

As we entered I saw that it was already occupied. Mr. Tyler was grasping the hand of a portly personage, whom I knew to be none other than Mr. Pakenham. So much might have been expected. What was not to have been expected was the presence of another—none less than the Baroness von Ritz!

So we were apparently to understand that my lady was here as open friend of England! Of course, I needed no word from Mr. Calhoun to remind me that we must seem ignorant of this lady, of her character, and of her reputed relations with the British foreign office.

"I pray you be seated, Mr. Pakenham," said Mr. Tyler, and he gestured also to us others to take chairs near his table. Mr. Pakenham, in rather a lofty fashion, it seemed to me, obeyed the polite request, but scarcely had seated himself ere he again rose with an important clearing of his throat.

"Your excellency," said he, "her majesty the queen of England's wish is somewhat anticipated by my visit here to-day. I hasten only to put in the most prompt and friendly form her majesty's desires, which I am sure formally will be expressed in the first mails from England. We deplore this most unhappy accident on your warship Princeton, which has come so near working irremediable injury to this country."

"Sir," said Mr. Tyler, rising, with a deep bow, "the courtesy of your personal presence is most gratifying. Allow me to express that more intimate and warmer feeling of friendship for yourself which comes through our long association with you. This respect and admiration are felt by myself and my official family for you and the great power which you represent."

Each having thus delivered himself of words which meant nothing, both now seated themselves and proceeded to look mighty grave. For myself, I stole a glance from the tail of my eye toward the Baroness von Ritz. She sat erect in her chair, a figure of easy grace and dignity, but on her face was nothing one could read to tell who she was or why she was here.

"I seize upon this opportunity, Mr. Pakenham," said Mr. Tyler presently, with a smile which he meant to set all at ease and to soften as much as possible the severity of that which was to follow, "I gladly take this opportunity to mention in an informal way my hope that this matter which was already inaugurated by Mr. Upshur before his untimely death may come to perfectly pleasant consummation. I refer to the question of Texas."

"I beg pardon, your excellency," rejoined Mr. Pakenham, half rising. "Your meaning is not perfectly clear to me."

The same icy smile sat upon Mr. Tyler's face as he went on: "I cannot believe that your government can wish to interfere in matters upon this continent to the extent of taking the position of open ally of the Republic of Mexico, a power so recently at war upon our own borders, with the brave Texans who have left our flag to set up, through fair conquest, a republic of their own."

The mottled face of Mr. Pakenham assumed a yet deeper red. "As to that, your excellency," said he, "your remark is, as you say, quite informal, of course—that is to say, as I may state—"

DUNELLEN WINNER IN A BATTING MATINEE

In a game that bristled with terrific slugging on both sides Dunellen's crack ball nine came across the line a winner in a game with the Jersey Central team on Saturday afternoon by the score of 10 to 6. The Dunellenites slapped the leatherette with a vengence all through the game and outbatted their opponents fifteen swats to thirteen.

The battery work of "Smiling Jimmy" Montross, in the box, and Benny Dodwell behind the rubber, was one of the features of the game. Montross, although he allowed the railroaders to gauge his delivery for thirteen bingles, he was steady in pinches. In the fifth round, with three on the sacks, he used his spitball, and retired Meehan, the principal slugger of the Jersey Centrals, on a weak grounder to the infield. (Handclaps for "Jimmy.")

Miller, the Dunellen shortstop, leaped into popularity by his timely batting. He was a veritable demon with the willow and during the fray fattened his batting average by cracking out four healthy bangs. Giles at second base also played a creditable game.

Eilers and Meehan, of the Central R. R. aggregation, also did some tall executing with the stick, the former getting a quartet of hits and Meehan three. Dunellen fans were highly pleased over the victory and predict another triumph for their favorites when they tackle the Plainfield Y. M. C. A.'s next Saturday. The score:

WILLIE DEEGAN BACK IN THE GAME AGAIN.

Scotch Plains defeated Bound Brook at the latter place on Saturday by a score of 3 to 2. Willie Deegan, the old Plainfield pitcher twirled his first game in three years for the Scotch Plains team and held the hard-hitting Bound Brooks to four hits. Deegan was very effective after the first inning, when he passed four men and forced in a run.

THREE STRAIGHT FOR THE SOUTH PLAINFIELDS

South Plainfield made it three in a row yesterday when the Middlesex boys defeated the St. Mary's nine of Stony Hill by the score of 7 to 4. Although the Saints were padded with Scotch Plains players they failed to threaten the chances of the "Southerners" after the fourth round when South Plainfield secured a 6 to 1 lead.

The fourth inning proved to be the Saints' Waterloo. With two out Scholler walked, stole second, and scored on Franklin's two-bagger. Ramsberger followed with another double which scored Franklin. After Powers got a "life" Captain Mullen shooted the ball for the third two-bagger of the inning, scoring Ramsberger and Powers. Moran ended the inning by grounding out to first base.

Conshay and Franklin did excellent work in the box for the "Southerners," each having seven strikeouts. After Fuch, the Stony Hill pitcher, was knocked out of the box in the fourth round, he was succeeded by Hand, who did fine work despite the lead against him. Mullen caught a fine game for South Plainfield, not a Stony Hill man stealing second. The lineups:

N. P. H. S. TROUNCES BOUND BROOK HIGH

"Just like stealing candy from a baby." That was the comment made by Professor Phelps after the baseball tragedy enacted by the nines of the North Plainfield High and Bound Brook High on Hyde Field Saturday afternoon. The borough athletes trounced their opponents to the tune of 22 to 3. That's all.

Everybody seemed to hit the ball. In the twenty-two hits recorded by the boroughites, four of the swats were doubles and one a triple. Townley and Stine did splendid battery work for the North Plainfield nine. Frezza and Clark were in the points for the visitors.

SOMERVILLE A WINNER IN THE TENTH INNING.

The new Somerville baseball team opened the season on Saturday by winning a ten-inning contest from the Whitehouse Club by a score of 2 to 1; both teams played snappy ball. An error by Grimes in the sixth gave the visitors their only run. Henry Albert, of Scotch Plains, was behind the bat for White House.

KIELY AND STOUT LEAD IN TWO-MAN TOURNEY

Kiely and Stout are showing the way in Campbell's two-man tenpin tourney with a record of 17 wins and 7 defeats. Miller and G. Ortleb are in second place with a record of 21 victories and 9 setbacks.

It appears that Johnny Campbell will win the individual honors in a walk. He tops the list with a average of 207.23 for 30 games and also holds the high score mark, 259, which he registered last week. The team standing and individual averages follow:

TENNIS DOUBLES WON BY WORLD'S CHAMPIONS

Harold H. Hackett and Frederick M. Alexander, the national lawn tennis champions at doubles, defeated on Saturday Carleton R Gardner, the Californian, and Edgar W. Leonard, Harvard's former intercollegiate champion, in fast sets at the courts of the Plainfield Country Club. Brilliant tennis marked the work of the experts which was applauded by a large gallery.

Through the first and second sets Hackett and Alexander led their opponents by their swift and accurate volleying, playing with dash in their rallies. The Californian played well, chopping across court and facing the champions repeatedly. On his side of the net Hackett did most of the playing as Alexander appeared to be still suffering from the cold which has been annoying him for the past week, leading him to cough after every rally.

Leonard came into the third set with an irresistible spurt. He used a cut serve to advantage and worked so rapidly at close range that he had the champions on their mettle. The pair won this, the only set of the match.

William B. Cragin acted as umpire and was assisted by W. L. Righter, A. D. Beers, John King and R. S. Gough, as linesmen. Fillowing is the summary: Hackett and Alexander won 6-4, 6-2, 5-7, 6-1.

FIVE-GAME SERIES IS CARDED WITH SOMERVILLE.

The local baseball season will end in a blaze of excitement. On Saturday the Plainfield management arranged a five-game series with Somerville, Plainfield's ancient enemy. The first game will be played Saturday, September 17, and the four remaining contests will be decided on the following Saturdays.

Local fans are sure to welcome this bit of news. The only regret is that there is a long wait for the games. Contests in past years with Somerville have been marked with keen excitement and the coming series is sure to arouse the old time rivalry.

—The process of oiling West Front street was completed on Saturday and a dressing of fine stone was spread over it, which is considered an improvement. West End avenue has also been treated.

MANY ENJOYED GOLF AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

The large field of golfers attracted to the links of the Plainfield Country Club, Saturday, shows that the game here is growing in popularity. Through the day the course was thronged with players, some taking part in the weekly competitions, while others were playing merely for the exercise and general pleasure. The recent rains put the course in especially good condition and the greens are almost equal to mid-season.

In the morning the boys' handicap was continued, the points being won by Reginald Rowland, L. S. Church and E. A. Walbridge. Their scores: Reginald Rowland, 109, 6-103; L. S. Church, 104, 0-104; E. A. Walbridge, 107, 0-107.

A large number of players competed for the Spring Handicap cups. In Class A, the point winners were W. T. Glenney, Clifton Wharton, Jr., and Arthur Murphy, Glenney returning the low score of 69. In Class B, the point winners were L. R. Hopton, George S. Clay and C. M. Church, all posting low scores. The leading scores in both classe follow:

Class A—William T. Glenney, 76, 7-69; Clifton Wharton, Jr., 87, 14-73; Arthur Murphy, 81, 8-37; H. D. Hibbard, 85, 9-76; S. H. Patterson, 92, 15-77; J. A. Lane, 95, 15-80.

Class B—L. R. Hopton, 102, 27-75; George S. Clay, 101, 25-76; C. M. Church, 100, 23-77; S. D. Wood, 100, 22-78; W. L. C. Glenney, 103, 24-79; Hugh F. Fox, 98, 18-80; C. W. King, 107, 25-82; L. H. Gates, 110, 27-83; A. W. Kenworthy, 106, 22-84; H. A. G. Taylor, 112, 18-94.

NO 'SANE FOURTH' HERE

The Common Council Pigeon-Holes the Proposed Ordinance.

AFTER A PUBLIC HEARING.

Mayor Fisk and G. W. V. Moy Advocate Its Passage—Councilmen Clay and Mygatt Speak Against It.

There was a decidedly breezy time at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council last night, when Mr. Holt, chairman of the committee on laws and ordinances, moved for a public hearing on the proposed ordinance to provide a safe and sane Fourth of July by prohibiting the sale of fireworks. There was a large gallery of interested spectators, including several women. The ordinance provoked a lively debate in which Mayor Fisk, George M. V. Moy and Dr. A. F. Van Horn urged its passage, and the speakers were frequently applauded.

Yet, after all the remarks in favor of the ordinance were heard, Councilmen Mygatt, Clay and President Tolles expressed the opinion that it was too drastic and by a six to five vote the ordinance was referred to the committee on laws and ordinances which means that it is a dead issue for this year. This action caused great disappointment. Those who voted to refer the ordinance to the committee were Councilmen Buxton, Clay, Montgomery, C. C. Randolph, Frank Randolph and Tolles, while those who voted in the negative were Councilmen Gloak, Holt, Mygatt, Taylor and Wilson.

At the outset of the public hearing a communication was read from the Plainfield Mothers' Association urging the passage of the ordinance. Mr. Holt suggested that it would be wise to change the time for obtaining a written permit for a display of fireworks from thirty days to forty-eight hours, and said that if the ordinance got that far in its passage he would so recommend.

Mayor Fisk was then given the privilege of the floor and made a strong appeal to the councilmen to pass the ordinance. He presented all the letters received from the Mayors of the State, together with those from physicians, Boards of Education, principals of public schools and others, which have been noted in The Daily Press, and all of which favored the ordinance.

The Mayor declared that there was only one possible objection to the passage of the ordinance and that was that it would affect the man who sells fireworks. He did not believe that the small profits acruing to the dealer should be compared with the possible loss of life and permanent injury that might result. The Mayor did not think that Independence Day was ever intended as a time to kill people and he forcibly reminded the councilmen that if their children should be so injured they would never forgive themselves for not passing the ordinance.

Mr. Fisk said that the only way to prevent the accidents is to prohibit the sale of fireworks and this he thought the Council should do at this time. He recalled the accidents of the past few years; also the fact that it has always been necessary to establish an emergency hospital at police headquarters on July 4.

Following up the strong plea by the Mayor, Dr. A. F. VanHorn not only endorsed his words, but quoted figures to show the disastrous result of permitting the Fourth of July to be celebrated as in the past. He said that in the past seven years there were 794 deaths in this country from lock-jaw and 154 cases of lock-jaw in 1909 with 125 deaths. Of this number four were in New Jersey, while there were only 128 cases of lock-jaw from other causes than fire-works. He thought it was up to the thinking citizens to act.

In speaking for the ordinance G. W. V. Moy recalled the accident of two years ago when Charles Geer, of this city, lost his hand by the explosion of a giant cracker. He believed it to be time that some of this kind of "patroitism" is bottled up. He said that if he were a member of the Council and should vote against the ordinance and serious accidents resulted, he would feel personly responsible. He said that the Common Council owed it to the community to provide a safe and sane celebration on July 4.

At this point Mr. Holt moved that the ordinance be placed on its second reading and here is where the trouble started. After the first section was read, Mr. Mygatt objected to some of its provisions and proposed a long substitute which would permit the use of fire-crackers three inches long and sky rockets and Roman candles three-quarters of an inch in diameter. He suggested a

CHIEF KIELY RETURNS FROM BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

Chief P. S. Kiely arrived in this city from Birmingham, Ala., this morning bright and early having made the trip from Savannah to New York on the new steamer of the Savannah Line, City of Savannah, in record time. The chief describes the trip as being one of the most delightful he has every taken, and notwithstanding that there were but about two hundred delegates present at the convention, much business of importance to the public at large was transacted.

Several side trips were taken by the delegates to the various industries in and about Birmingham, which proved a revelation to the visitors. The chief is looking and feeling fine after the jaunt and feels that the time was well spent. He was selected a member of the legislative committee to represent the New Jersey police in the Legislature.

ALL IS PEACEFUL IN DUNELLEN AGAIN

Dunellen's Council last night took notice of the petitions of the Board of Trade and the seventy-five property holders asking that Dunellen avenue be extended through the Equator Realty Company's tract from Madison avenue to Gallagher's corner. F. A. Dunham, the borough engineer, was authorized to prepare a survey of the proposed extension.

It was generally expected that the matter would cause some discussion but everything passed off smoothly. The Council was unanimous on the matter, and according to rumor, the body was advised by counsel that it was bound to heed the petitions of the Board of Trade and the citizens in the controversy.

The trolley controversy was also settled satisfactory to the Council and the officials of the company. In the near future the P. S. C. will lay double tracks from Jefferson avenue to Prospect avenue, and next summer the company will extend the double tracks from Prospect avenue to the western limit of the borough.

ACCOMMODATIONS FOR OUT OF TOWN PATRONS.

The performance on both Friday and Saturday nights will be over in ample time for New Yorkers to catch the 11:28 train.

The Montclair Club, which is interested in dramatics, has purchased a bunch of orchestra seat tickets for Friday night and will make the trip here in automobiles. A delegation is also expected from the Elizabeth Country Club on the same night.

Nurse Is Stricken Now.

The appeal made in The Daily Press last week for thirty dollars for the purpose of assisting a poor family in which diphtheria had made its appearance, was responded to immediately. Since the nurse who was engaged to take care of the two little patients has also contracted the disease, it has been found necessary to engage another trained nurse and now there is an added expense. Everything is being done for the relief of the little family that can be done, even the doctor in attendance is furnishing the anti-toxin free. Any others who wish to help along in saving the children as well as the nurse may communicate with Miss Mabelle C. Phillips at the organized charities on West Front street.

HAMBURG TO MERCHANTS

Newark Button Manufacturer Discourses on Country's Business.

THE UNITED STATES LEADS.

Amendment to By-Laws Admits Business Men to Association—A Collation Follows.

Members of the Plainfield Merchants' Association who gathered in large numbers in Coward's hall last night enjoyed a speech delivered by A. V. Hamburg, of Newark. His subject, "Commercialism," abounded in concise and clear cut aphorisms of the trade conditions of today. The speaker traced his subject from the twelfth century.

The regular business of the meeting was disposed of after considerable debate on the amendment to the constitution which now permits the acceptance of business men who are not strictly merchants. The invitation of A. S. Herr for the association to be present at the graduation exercises of the Plainfield Business College which will be held at the Plainfield theatre on June 10 was accteped. Reports were read and President E. A. Force introduced the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Hamburg said that after the invention of the mariners compass, national and international trade relations were established which were the beginning of world-wide trade which exists today among the nations of the earth. At that time England, Holland, Spain and Portugal led in imports and exports.

Following the War of Independence, the speaker said, the United States jumped into the lead and has remained there ever since. In 1795 a tariff law was established and Boston, New York and Philadelphia were the leading ports from which our products were shipped. These three cities still remain at the head.

Religious and civil upheavals retarded the progress of the commerce of the nation for some time, but at the settlement of these questions business grew with leaps and bounds until at the present day this country leads the world not only in its production but in the exportation of its products. The speaker declared that deposits in the banks of the State of New Jersey this year amounted to $438,000,000, and last Saturday the celaring house balance sheet showed $1,600,000,000 of deposits.

Mr. Hamburg declared that prosperity was here and nobody could gainsay it. The same conditions prevail in this State as in every part of the union. Where years ago small partnerships were the thing, great corporations have taken their places and are a natural outcome of trade conditions which require immense capital to meet the requirements of a growing business. The American businessman who can stand the drain on his mentality and physique made necessary by the keen competition of present day methods is the one who succeeds and becomes the finest type of citizen.

Co-operation between employer and employee occupied some of the speaker's time. He declared that this co-operation was an absolute essential to business success. The employe who best looks after the requirements of his position is the one who meets with approval and the employer who has regard for the condition of his employees is the the one who gains the respect of the community at large and exerts the greatest influence for good in the community in which he lives.

Other matters of vital interest to the business men were given attention by the speaker, many of the figures and statistics used being revelations to many of the members present. The hearing had by Mr. Hamburg before the Ways and Means Committee of Congress was referred to, and Mr. Hamburg reiterated here what he said at the hearing—a protective tariff based upon the comparative wages at home and abroad was the only safe medium. Protection is necessary, he said.

Following Mr. Hamburg's speech a collation was served, to which nearly a hundred members and their guests did justice.

EDITOR TALKS ON DRAMA

Dramatists Should Cut Loose from Muck Raking Social Conditions.

SO SAYS MONTROSE MOSES.

Lecturer Deplores Ibsen Influence and Advocates More Healthy Plays by American Authors.

The concluding lecture of the season before the Monday Afternoon Club was given yesterday by Montrose J. Moses at the Hartridge School auditorium. Mr. Moses is editor of "Everyman," and his deep analysis of social conditions influenced by the modern drama held the close attention of his interested hearers, for he said while the drama represents life, it reacts upon life. Mr. Moses gave a historical introduction to his lecture, referring to the miracle plays and the representation of religious subjects in the early drama. With passing mention of Shakespeare and other dramatists, he gave a searching analysis of Ibsen, the Norwegian dramatist, who has weilded a powerful influence on the modern drama.

Mr. Moses deplored the influence of foreign psychology on American dramatists and hoped for a native American drama that instead of reflecting Ibsen's subtelty and gloom would evolve beauty from the common place and the superiority of the American man and woman to surrounding conditions. He suggested that instead of muck raking social degradation, dramatists should do some star gazing into higher conditions and through the sweetness of life search for truth. He said the American is essentially clean at heart and that play is liked the best in which the hero holds the right of way to his own salvation.

The lecture was preceded by interesting reports from the delegates to the State Federation of Women's Clubs held May 6 and 7 at Englewood. With Mrs. Eugene Hately, the president, Mrs. Leighton Calkins attended the federation meetings on May 6 and Mrs. Charles L. Goodrich May 7. They reported the key note of the meetings to be "conservation."

HALLEY'S COMET NOT TO BE HELD RESPONSIBLE

"Gee, what's the matter with my watch, its slow, my oh my, it never went back on me before?"

That was the question that hundreds of Plainfielders asked themselves yesterday and today at noon time. It may not be believed that a majority of people who carry watches regulate their timepiece by the fire gong whistle at noon, but it's so.

The gong has been greatly missed and many Plainfielders who were waiting to hear it toot yesterday blamed their clocks and watches for leading a fast life.

The gong was placed on the Spicer factory this morning and it is expected that it will be ready to perform its duty tomorrow or Thursday. A series of toots early this afternoon, while the whistle was being placed on the tower, caused many of the "fire engine chasers" to report at the dierent fire houses, in the befief that the whistle was tooting for a fire.

COMMISSION GOV'T IDEA

Galveston Plan is Favored by P. P. A. President for Plainfield.

IN FAVOR OF AN INVESTIGATION

Mr. Depew Explains the Form of Municipal Government and He Suggests It Be Invesigated—Officers Chosen.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Protective Association held last night in the Y. M. C. A. hall was productive of some interesting data relative to the administrative affairs of this city and a recommendation of the governing of municipal affairs by a Commission to be elected by the people. The treasury is in splendid shape and a vigorous campaign can now be prosecuted on any project selected by the association.

All the officers who served during the past year were re-elected and are as follows: President, R. Henry Depew; vice-president, George M. V. Moy; secretary, E. W. Bulkley, and treasurer, Champlain L. Riley. The executive committee is composed of A. H. Atterbury, Henry C. White, Charles W. McCutchen, David E. Titsworth, Thomas M. Day, D. M. Van Vliet, H. C. De Knatel and A. V. Heeley.

Treasurer Riley reported a balance of more than $1,300 in the treasury. The report of President Depew, a synopsis of which will be found below, shows the work done by the association on the recent water question and vote and the suggestion that the city be hereafter governed by a commission similar to those in vogue in Galveston, Texas, Des Moines, Ia., and other places. The executive committee will appoint a committee to make an investigation into this form of government and in all likelihood a public meeting will be called to hear speeches on the subject. President Depew's report says:

"No steps have been taken to carry out the suggestion in last year's report for the appointment of a committee to work out the various problems connected with the development of Plainfield, but a careful consideration of the daily increasing burden which is being put upon the Mayor and Common Council suggests that a radical change in the method of administering the affairs of the city is necessary.

"While we have seldom been seriously disturbed by undesirable men in our Council, it will become more difficult to obtain men of the highest standard as the increasing amount of labor absorbs more of the leisure and business hours of the members, with the result that as the growth and expansion of the city requires men of greater talent and patriotism, it will be impossible probably to obtain men of equal standing with those we have today and have had in the past. Already the men of initiative in the Council find it impossible to give careful consideration to all of the business and questions requiring attention and an effective and businesslike handling of the affairs of the city will soon require a change.

"The present is a period of evolution and one development of recent years is the establishment and growth of 'The Commission Form of Government,' which was first established in Galveston after the flood and is now in successful operation in that city, Houston, Des Moines and many others.

"Under this plan three or five men are chosen by the whole city (not by wards) and are employed and paid by the people to devote all of their time to the city and are subject to discharge for neglect or improper performance of their duties.

"If this plan were adopted in Plainfield, some of our paid officials and employes could probably be dispensed with and their salaries applied to the expenses of the Commission. The additional expense involved would probably be much more than covered by the saving effected beside securing results which cannot now be accomplished.

"The citizens would become more interested in public affairs and would be keenly alert to see that they were properly handled. Criticism of paid employes would be freely made, when necessary, though great hesitation is naturally felt about exercising this right toward elected representatives who are giving freely and generously of their time without remuneration.

"Therefore, I recommend that this association begin a careful investigation of this form of government and its results, with the idea of establishing it in Plainfield, and to that end I would suggest the holding of a public meeting in the near future with speakers thoroughly competent to inform us upon this subject."

ADOLPH KOONS FIGURES IN THRILLING RUNAWAY

Adolph Koons, of Harrison avenue, had a narrow escape from being seriously injured in a runaway this morning. Koons was delivering milk on Rock avenue when his horse became frightened at a passing automobile. Koons leaped into the wagon but he was unable to check the speed of the animal, and the horse continued on a run until Clinton avenue and West Front street was reached.

While making a turn toward South Second street, the wagon tipped over, hurling Koons and his cargo of milk into the street. Koons rolled under the vehicle and the rear wheels passed over his body, but luckily he escaped unhurt.

The horse speeded down Clinton avenue until West Seventh street was reached and at that point it was stopped by Jerry Krauss.

ENGAGE AN ENGINEER FOR THE WATER PROBE

Upon the recommendation of the special water commission, of which Councilman F. E. Mygatt is the chairman, James H. Fuertes, of Nassau street, New York city, was engaged by the city at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, as an engineer to conduct the investigation looking toward the acquisition of an adequate water supply. Mr. Fuertes is an engineer of almost world-wide reputation, according to Mr. Mygatt, who presented his references. He has had charge of important work for New York city, Harrisburg, Pa.; Lynchburg, Va.; Philadelphia, Pa., and other large cities, and was one of two engineers engaged from the United States to work with two from Canada in taking charge of important work in Canada.

Through Mr. Mygatt, Mr. Fuertes presented an offer of his services last night on the per diem basis. He said that it would require between three and four months to complete his work, and his charge would be $500 for each calendar month of ten days, and $25 for each day in excess of that. His price includes everything but what might be called outside expenses, such as obtaining data or information from outside sources. His charge for field men will be $10 a day and for draughtsmen $5 a day. Mr. Fuertes estimated the total cost of his work to be between $3,000 and $4,000.

Upon the motion of Mr. Mygatt the offer of Mr. Fuertes was accepted. It is expected that he will begin his work within a short time and push it to completion as rapidly as possible.

Wm. S. Tyler Elected.

At the meeting of the Plainfield Anti-Tuberculosis Society held in the parish house of Grace P. E. church, William S. Tyler was elected president to fill the unexpired term of Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, who resigned at the last meeting. Among other things reported was the expenditure of $73 for plants and flowers for beautifying the grounds about the pavilion. Since the matter of giving the eight patients some little outdoor work to do was mentioned in this newspaper the response with plants and flowers has been generous and they are grateful.

Holy Name Convention Here.

Judging from the sentiment expressed yesterday at the meeting of the Holy Name Society in Elizabeth at St. Patrick's church the next convention of the combined societies will be held in this city next fall. The societies will hold a rally in the fall and it will probably be held in this city, with the religious ceremonies conducted in St. Mary's church.

AS TO VOTING MACHINES

On Corporation Counsel's Advice, There Will Be no Special Election.

CITY FATHERS TO DECIDE

Mr. Marsh Gives Reasons Why Act Is Unconstitutional—Petitioners Can Mandamus the City if They Choose.

The Common Council at its adjourned meeting, last night, decided not to take any action on the petition of voters of the first districts of the four wards relative to calling a special election to abolish the voting machines. This decision was arrived at after the reading of an opinion from Corporation Counsel C. A. Marsh.

Mr. Marsh takes the position that the act is unconstitutional, although the courts have passed on certain provisions of it declaring them to be constitutional. All of the points, however, were not raised in the test case.

Accompanying Mr. Marsh's opinion was a resolution providing for a special election on June 28 in the first districts of the several wards. Mr. Holt moved that the resolution be adopted. After considerable discussion and a twenty minute recess, it was decided not to pass the resolution, but to let the matter go by default. If those who petitioned for a special election, who are mostly Democrats, care to mandamus the city, such action will throw the matter into the courts for a decision and the Common Council will then order an election if the act is upheld, otherwise no election will be held.

Mayor Fisk when given the privilege of the floor, explained that in conversation with Mr. Marsh yesterday, the latter expressed the hope that the Common Council would not pass the resolution, as in his opinion he did not think the act to be constitutional.

In the opinion of Mr. Mygatt the ordering of a special election now might effect future elections, and inasmuch as the general election in November is an important one, he did not think that the Council should do anything to imperil it. However, he explained that mandamus proceedings are not of a serious nature and would only mean that the city would be obliged to show cause why such an election should not be held. That would mean that the courts would have to decide the question.

Mr. Clay thought the law should be obeyed, while Mr. Buxton said, "let them mandamus us if they want to." Mr. Mygatt expressed great faith in the ability of Mr. Marsh and his opinions and he thought it would be wise to let Mr. Marsh have a chance to argue the constitutionality of the act, in case mandamus proceedings are instituted.

Mr. Holt's motion calling for the adoption of the resolution was lost by a six to five vote. Those voting for the resolution were Councilmen Clay, Holt, Frank Randolph, Gloak and Taylor, while Councilmen Buxton, Montgomery, Mygatt, C. C. Randolph, Wilson and Tolles voted in the negative.

Mr. Marsh's opinion follows:

"Respecting the four petitions presented May 2 instant, from voters of the First District of the four several wards of the city protesting against the use of voting machines under Chapter 163 of the laws of 1908, I have already advised the committee on Laws and Ordinances, through its chairman, Mr. Holt, that in form, the petitions comply with the provisions of the statute, and that if the several petitions are in point of fact signed by at least twenty-five per centum of the legal voters of said election districts respectively as shown by the registry list for the last preceding general election, (and I am informed that the city clerk has ascertained that such petitions are so signed), the statute makes it mandatory on the Common Council on or before May 16th instant, to order that a special election be held in said several election districts not less than thirty days nor more than sixty days from May 16th instant, to determine upon the retention or rejection of said voting machines and that the Supreme Court in the case of Mara vs. Bayonne, (17 cases), 71 Atlantic Reporter, 1131, held that the statute was not unconstitutional on any of the grounds presented to that court in that case, and ordered by mandamus that Bayonne proceed to hold the election demanded by the petitioners.

"The case was taken to the Court of Errors and Appeals on writ of error, and that Court in a per curiam opinion filed February 28, 1910, and not yet reported, affirmed the judgment of the Supreme Court. The opinion referred to, however, declared that the Court did not find it

EXCLUSIVE MILLINERY MODELS.

On our second floor we are now showing a vast collection of dainty hats ready to wear, just right for immediate use. This department has elicited favorable comment all this season from the fact that the exclusive models which we have been displaying has appealed to ladies of discriminating taste, and then the price is so very moderate. We respectfully invite you to visit our millinery department and see for yourself the values we are offering.

LADIES' READY-TO WEAR DEPARTMENT.

This department has been forging ahead so fast that we were obliged to double the floor space it previously occupied. Nowhere in this section can such a vast stock of Ladies' Tailored Suits, Coats, Dresses and Waists be found. The time was when ladies were obliged to leave town to purchase ready-to-wear garments. To-day not alone do the majority buy their suits and coats here, but for miles around they flock to the "White Store" for their ready-to-wear garments. We are originators of making Alterations Free of charge, thereby lessening the cost of a garment to you at from $1.00 to $3.50. Come here for your coats and suits and we will save you money.

THE HOUSEFURNISHING DEPARTMENT.

This department is really a store in itself. This entire storeroom is packed with everything needed for household use. We have just received a big supply of Screen Doors and Window Screens, Lawn Mowers, Garden Hose, all kinds of Crockery and Graniteware, Oil Stoves, Bathroom Fixtures, Wire Netting and hundreds of other things that space prevents us from enumerating. A visit to this department will prove both interesting and profitable at the present time.

WESTFIELD.

A large number of town people, together with many from the nearby towns, visited the new building of the People's National Bank Saturday afternoon and evening. The officers of the bank were present and guided parties about the building. Each man was presented with a pencil and holder and each woman with a pin cushion-looking glass.

Farmers of this part of the county are complaining of the long continued cool weather. So far little planting has been done. The only thing that has not suffered is grass, the hay crop promises to be heavy.

SHOOTS WIFE DEAD, THEN KILLS SELF.

Washington, May 17.—Frank Fenton, a race track follower, well known to New York bookmakers, killed his wife in her mother's home here yesterday afternoon and then committed suicide by firing a bullet into his own head. Mrs. Fenton was the divorced wife of "Dick" Taylor, a well known Secret Service man, who for many years served as one of President Roosevelt's personal guards on his trips about the country. Taylor was one of the Secret Service men who was with President Roosevelt when a trolley car hit the Roosevelt coach in Lenox, Mass., killing "Bill" Craig, one of the President's guard.

The shooting yesterday occurred at 1120 New York avenue, the home of Mrs. Mary Riley, who runs a boarding house. Her daughter had been living with her. Fenton had been living apart from his wife, but turned up at the boarding house at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He found his wife sitting with another woman in a beer garden across the street from the boarding house. There were some sharp words between them, and Fenton followed her across the street to her mother's home. As Mrs. Fenton stepped inside the hall he pulled a revolver and shot her. Mrs. Riley, her mother, rushed downstairs and found the husband and his wife lying on the floor. Mrs. Fenton was alive, but died two hours later in the Emergency Hospital.

Jealousy is said to be responsible for the shooting. Fenton left Washington a week ago for New York to get a job in a poolroom. He had followed the races on the tracks in the neighborhood and in Bennings and Pimlico. A. J. Fenton, of New York, a racetrack man, is said to be a brother of the dead man. Fenton was originally a native of New York. Mrs. Fenton leaves a 9-year-old daughter by her first husband.

MRAVLAG WILL NOT SEEK SECOND TERM.

Elizabeth, May 17.—Mayor Victor Mravlag, of this city, yesterday declared that under no circumstance will he again be a candidate for the office.

A statement from Mayor Mravlag has been expected for over a week. He has been frequently spoken of as a candidate to succeed himself on the Republican ticket. It was generally believed that he would accept another nomination. Those closest to the Mayor said today that under certain circumstances he would have consented to again run. What these circumstances were none of them would state.

It is said that a boom for a second term was to be launched for Mayor Mravlag at the Business Men's dinner in Turn Hall Thursday night. When asked about this he said:

"I will tell you frankly I have decided under no consideration to seek re-election. I have considered the question and have concluded that the office is not worth [illegible] I feel satisfied that nothing can be accomplished for the general good and welfare of the city so long as politics, personal feeling, personal interest, prejudice and like impediments stand in the way.

"I will leave the office," continued the Mayor, "feeling that I have done my duty, and that I have always given the city first consideration."

The Women's Home Mission Society of the First Baptist church will hold its monthly session this afternoon. Mrs. Charles Brewin will conduct the devotional exercises and Miss Ida Yerkes will present the paper on Current Events.

Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, of this city, will preach at Hope chapel on Sunday, May 22, and Rev. William A. Holliday, also of this city, will occupy the pulpit on Sunday, May 29, while the pastor, Rev. L. R. Howard, is in Atlantic City.

Between 200 and 250 delegates from the Baptist church at Newark, Jersey City, Elizabeth, Rahway and suburban Baptist churches will attend the annual meeting of the East Association to be held in the First Baptist church on Tuesday, June 7. There will be morning, afternoon and evening sessions.

NEWS AND NOTES
BY GEORGE E. FIRSTBROOK

WARRY M'LAUGHLIN IS PITCHING FINE BALL

Fans who have seen Warry McLaughlin perform in the box this season for the Plainfield nine declare that the veteran never pitched better ball in his career. Warry is certainly furnishing a gilt edged article to opposing batters up to date.

A glance at the records show that the southpaw has fanned a total of 39 batters in the four games played. In the opening game he fanned 7 O. N. T. batters; at Dunellen 10; against Garwood 12, while he had 10 victims at Flemington on Saturday.

McLaughlin is using his drop ball effectively this season. He has an able assistant behind the bat in Walter Nelson who is catching in faultless style. Nelson is throwing to bases splendidly and is due to shine in his future performances.

Local fans who have been inquiring as to the status of Jimmy Emery, the local boy, who is with the York Tri-State League team, may get some enlightenment on the following dispatch from York which appeared in the Philadelphia North American:

"Emery, the Plainfield boy, with the Reading team, will be carried as long as the league rule allows."

This means that Emery is sure of drawing a salary from the Reading club until June 1. At the present time there are fourteen players with the club, but on that date the league rule stipulates that clubs must not carry more than fourteen players.

LAJOIE AND MAGEE LEAD WITH THE STICK

A merry scramble for batting honors is being waged in the American, National and Eastern leagues. Napoleon Lajoie has made a flying start, and the former Cleveland pilot tops the American League with a mark of 419 per cent. Tris Speaker, of the Boston Red Sox, is second with .386, while champion Tyrus Cobb is fifth with .329.

Sherwood Magee, of the Phillies, is leading the procession in the National with a percentage of .426, while Bates, his team-mate, is second. Hans Wagner, "The Terrible," is lost in the shuffle and for the first time in his remarkable career he is not classified with the leaders. Wagner's average is .227. There must be something the matter with the Flying Dutchman's optics.

In the Eastern League, Fitzgerald, of Providence, leads with .380. Bob Ganley, of Newark, and Myron Grimshaw, of Toronto, are next in line.

Following are the individual averages of players batting .250 and better for those who have figured in ten or more games:

The Woman—Certainly not! Why, I'm engaged to marry someone else.

short recess to amend the ordinance.

Mr. Montgomery who apparently did not recall that the ordinance had been before the fire and buildings committee, moved to refer it to that committee. Mr. Taylor in reply, informed the Second ward member that the ordinance had been considered by his committee; also that the question comes up year after year, always with the same result. He added that the members knew full well that if the ordinance should be referred it would mean that nothing would be done this year.

Mr. Clay said that the ordinance had never been before the committee on laws and ordinances, which Mr. Holt said was true because he was requested by the Mayor to present it, and furthermore until the Legislature passed a law in April the Council could not take up such an ordinance.

The remarks of Mr. Clay that he had not had time to examine the reports presented by the Mayor, called forth a sharp reply from Mr. Holt, who said that Mr. Clay had read similar reports every year for years past.

Mr. Mygatt asked the Mayor how the present ordinance regulating fireworks worked last year. Mr. Fisk said that that ordinance was in the nature of a "bluff," that the Common Council at the time had no legal right to provide such restrictions. He further explained that he had the police take up a large number of pistols last year and the guilty parties araigned before him, yet without any authority. The pistols were returned to the owners on July 5. "Last year's celebration was an unusual one," said Mr. Fisk, "and the minds of the people were detracted in a measure from making all the noise possible and endangering the lives of others. I like that kind of a celebration and believe it should be continued. One man came to me recently and pleaded with me not to pass the ordinance this year as he had purchased 500 toy pistols, the kind that are considered dangerous. What is the small profit of a dealer to be compared with the possible injury and loss of life."

The vote was then taken on Mr. Montgomery's motion to refer the ordinance to the committee on laws and ordinances, and it was so referred by a vote of six to five.

Proctor's Good Bill.

There are six "ponies" at Proctor's theatre, this week, and they appear in a clever series of dances, called a ballet. Thes girls are clever in dancing and singing. The trained bull presented by Winonah VonOhl and company, performs some remarkable tricks and the cow-boy scene with rope throwing and expert shooting get a big hand. Tomorrow a stallion will make its first appearance on the stage and the first steps in training a horse will be shown. Rose, Lane & Walker are good in songs and dances, while Harry Montgomery, the story teller and singer, is well received.

Addressed Firemen.

Jacob Gernert, of Somerville, was the guest of the North Plainfield Firemen's Association, at its meeting last night. Mr. Gernert delivered an interesting address to the members of the associations. At the State conventions of Exempt Firemen at Trenton tomorrow, the borough association will be represented by R. G. Adams, John H. Schenck, Louis Feiring, Joseph Ricketts.

P. O. Clerks' Convention.

The annual convention of postoffice clerks will be held in Krueger's auditorium, Newark on Memorial Day and it is expected that the Carriers' Association will convene at the same time in the same city. Many of the clerks and carriers employed in the local postoffice will attend the conventions.

Pension Ordinance Tabled.

An effort was made by Councilman Holt, at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, to secure the adoption of an ordinance which would give that body the right to give Doorman Thomas McCue of the police department a pension. The ordinance only reached the clerk's desk, when a motion to table it prevailed.

Mrs. Charles Steefbold and daughter Ruth, of Trenton, have returned after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blatz, of Somerset street.

A New Meaning.

Somebody had tosed a Boston newspaper overboard, and the lady codfish eagerly seized it.

"Well, well," she cried, "here's something that interests us. Listen Tom."

Her partner swam a little nearer.

"Gasp it out," he said.

"Why, this paper says codfish steaks are selling for 25 cents a pound! I guess 'codfish aristocracy' will have a brand new meaning after this!"

And she haughtily swam away.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

CITY FATHERS CONSIDER SOME ROUTINE MATTERS

Mayor Charles J. Fisk at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, called the attention of the members to a provision of the dog ordinance, which imposes a fine of $3 for the redeeming of dogs at the city pound within seventy-two hours. He recommended that the amount be reduced to $1. The matter was referred to the laws and ordinance committee.

The Mayor also in a communication notified the Council that he had designated three public scales for the weighing of coal, as already published in The Daily Press, and recommended that the question of providing a sealer of weights and measures be considered. The public scales designated are those of Joseph Harrigan, Boice, Runyon & Co. and George O. Stevens.

The Public Service Corporation informed the Council that Tungsten lamps had been installed on East and West Front streets for a month's trial, according to a recent promise.

The members received an invitation to attend the graduating exercises of the Plainfield Business College on June 10, at which time Congressman Charles N. Fowler will speak. A box will be reserved for the President and members of the Council. The invitation was accepted by a roll call, those voting in the affirmative being expected to attend. All the members, except Mr. Montgomery, voted aye.

George H. Burgess and others in a petition asked the Council to macadamize Central avenue to the county line, where it joins Road Ending and the Old Rahway road. The matter was referred. The Public Service Corporation notified the Council that one electric light had been installed on West Front street, between Hunter and Clinton avenues, as ordered.

Mayor Fisk appointed George Nichols a permanent member of the fire department and the same was confirmed. Mr. Buxton reported back the petition of Adam Fritz, who desired to lease the old garbage disposal plant, explaining that no arrangement could be made according to the request. The usual appropriation of $100 was made for the benefit of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., for Memorial Day purposes, in accordance with a resolution by Mr. Buxton. Another resolutions by Mr. Buxton and adopted, provided for the establishment of the city pound at the home of W. H. Kitchen, poundkeeper, at 776 Everitt place, and John C. Traynor was made delinquent tax collector. He will receive fifty cents for serving a warrant, seventy-five cents for making a levy, fifty cents for advertising delinquents, $1 for selling property, fifty cents for making an arrest and 3 per cent. for collections.

Mr. Holt offered an amendment to an ordinance changing the time of making appointments from February to January 1, and section three of the ordinance providing for the appointment of officers and tenure of office, was stricken out, as another ordinance covers that point. The amended ordinance was ordered advertised.

Another ordinance offered by Mr. Holt and adopted, repealed five different ordinances not considered necessary. The ordinances so repealed refer to the assessment and collection of taxes, the designation of the city jail, the regulation of automobiles, the appointment and compensation of the overseer of the poor and the licensing of vehicles and sprinkling of streets, etc.

Chairman Gloak of the street committee introduced an ordinance providing for an addition to the storm sewer in Richmond street, and it was passed on two readings and ordered advertised. He also offered resolutions reconsidering the ordinance calling for an issue of street improvement bonds and changing the interest from 4½ to 5 per cent.; also recalling the ordinance providing for an extension of the sanitary system of sewers so that some changes might be made in the streets to be included in the improvement. The amended ordinance was read and June 6 was fixed as the time for a public hearing.

Danish Lutheran services will be held at the W. C. T. U. rooms tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, with preaching by Rev. Theodore Beck, of Brooklyn.

Borough Clerk Frederick Martin is suffering with an ulcerated tooth.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

Thursday, June 16, will be "Pitman Day" at the old campmeeting town, when all business places will close, and everybody will be guests of Fire Company No. 1 at an all-day entertainment.

Attempting to imitate a circus performer on iron bars at Pyne Poynt Park yesterday, Carl White, six years old, of 722 Raymond street, Camden, sustained a fracture of the right arm and was cared for by Dr. D. F. Bentley.

Sunday school workers from all over Camden Sunday afternoon listened to an address at the Broadway M. E. church by Rev. F. B. Mayer, of London, England, who is on his way to the world's Sunday school convention to be held in Washington, D. C., May 19 to 24.

James Litza, nineteen years old, employed in the Morrisville yard of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, was instantly killed Saturday while walking on the railroad tracks in Trenton. He had alighted from the workmen's train on which he had come from Morrisville, when an express train struck him.

Up to date the figures for the tag day collections for the benefit of St. Joseph's Hospital, Paterson, show that the amounts taken will reach $5,200. But as there are other collections to be taken, it is expected that the amount will total in the neighborhood of $6,500.

As the result of being pushed too hard while in a swing at Regina roost, Edward Sullivan, aged fifteen years, of 89 Spruce street, is a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital, Paterson, where he is being treated for a broken arm.

It was announced at all services in St. John's Episcopal church, Jersey City Heights, Jersey City, Sunday by the rector, Rev. George Daniels Hadley, that the vestry has decided that the congregation shall apply their missionary efforts to supporting a foreign missionary of their own, and they have selected Rev. William J. Cuthbert, of Kyoto, Japan.

Miss Viola Higgins, of Stone street, has been visiting at Weston, Somerset county.

Mrs. George Robson, of Somerset street, who has been visiting at Bound Brook, has returned home.

Miss Humphrey, the trained nurse, has about recovered from an attack of tonsilitis, and is able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Bonny, of Rochester, N. Y., are visiting Mr. Bonny's parents in the borough.

STRONG'S MEN USED IN CRIMINAL LIBEL.

New Brunswick, May 17.—The first day of the trial of Jacob H. Whitfield, Alfred Rastall, Charles H. Morris and Tunis McCauley closed yesterday afternoon, the State having laid the foundation for expert testimony which will be given today by W. J. Kinsley and Mr. Osborn, the typewriting and handwriting experts. The four defendants, all prominent in the Theodore Strong wing of the Republican party, are accused of criminal libel by H. Raymond Groves, formerly county collector and a leader in the Robert Carson wing of the Republican party.

Yesterday Prosecutor Theodore B. Booraem charged that the alleged liabelous circulars had been received in this city Saturday before the fall election; that they were in envelopes which had been mailed in Newark; that Tunis McCauley, one of the defendants, had taken a box to the Newark postoffice that day to mail from Jacob H. Whitfield's office, and that envelopes similar to the ones which had contained the circulars had been addressed in Whitfield's office by Miss Evelyn Kelly, who had been borrowed for two days from the Republican headquarters' office for that purpose.

The State has offered in evidence a typewriter which had been rented to Mr. Whitfield by William R. Reed and which had the letter "P" out of alignment. Today the State expects to show by the experts that the envelopes were actually written on this machine. Miss Kelly swore that she had filled the envelopes which she had addressed with Republican pasters and had sealed them, but the State showed that the way had been open for taking a bunch of her envelopes while she was away from the office without her knowledge.

A letter which Robert Tuite, clerk in the Newark Postoffice, had received, was produced. It was signed by Tunis McCauley's name, and asked Tuite not to say anything about his visit to Newark, as a "great fuss had been raised about Groves' letters." Inspector Intemann testified that his investigation convinced him that McCauley had not sent this letter.

His Luck.

"This paper says that snow never falls on about two-thirds of the earth's surface," said the wife, under the evening lamp.

"Seems too bad that it's my luck to live in the other third," said the man with the frostbitten ears and bent back.—Yonkers Statesman.

The Hahne Comet Is Visible Everywhere--Day & Night

This Comet Brings Good Fortune. It Stands for Good Merchandise.

Go where you will, on railroad train, on trolley cars, on boats, in automobiles, in carriages, in airships, on foot, in whatever direction you choose, as far as Princeton, Morristown, Paterson, Perth Amboy, Jersey City, along the highways and byways, on hillsides and mountains, in valleys, near streams—everywhere you may see the comet—visible day and night the whole year round—not Halley's Comet, but Hahne Comet, which means a great deal more to folks within 50 miles of Newark than a dozen tramp stars, be their tails ever so long and fiery.

The Hahne Comet is familiar to every one—even little children recognize it—even they know what it stands for.

The Hahne Comet has been visible for many years. It has always designated the State's greatest store, the store that more nearly matches metropolitan establishments than any other in Newark, the store that carries the finest, largest and most varied stocks in the State.

The Hahne Comet is brighter than ever today—it is in the ascendency, soaring in loftier heights than ever—it means good fortune for all who follow it.

By All Means See the New Boudoir Player Piano

Now on Exhibition in Our Piano Warerooms

Price $350

Boudoir Player Pianos enjoy the distinction of being in a field entirely of their own. They are the first and only really good player pianos sold at a low price. Slightly smaller than the usual upright, they have the happy faculty of fitting in where it is impossible or inconvenient to place a full size piano.

A Player Piano is played as much each year as the ordinary piano in five years. In designing the Boudoir Player Piano we have kept these things in mind.

We have found from experience that in such instruments the action, keys, hammers, etc., receive such usage as an ordinary piano would never get; for every member of the family will play the Player Piano.

The Boudoir Player Piano is a wonderful little instrument in every respect, architecturally and mechanically correct, musically perfect. Building it originally in response to a demand for a small Player Piano, we found the reduction in size to be the means of a large reduction in price. The reduction in size is accomplished by eliminating only the useless parts of the usual piano, such as the extreme lower bass and high treble notes. The Boudoir has a full-size pneumatic mechanism, pumping pedals and tracker-board, and uses any standard sixty-five note music rolls.

The Pneumatic Mechanism is simplicity itself—in three units: The Bellows, the Motor and the Pneumatic Set. All parts are interchangeable, easy to get at and made to give a minimum of trouble for repairs or adjustment.

The Expression Devices consist of Tempo Lever, Sustaining Lever and Melody Buttons, enabling the operator to absolutely control expression.

The case of the Boudoir Player Piano is doubly veneered inside and out in selected Mahoganny or Quartered Oak; varnished, highly polished or dull art finish if desired.

Piano Scale—6 1-3 full octaves, from D to F, seventy-six notes. Five notes from lowest bass and seven from highest treble omitted from the usual 7 1-3 octave scale. Triple unison throughout, excepting the long overstrung bass of heavy steel-wound wire. The keys are of regulation size.

Piano Action—Special model with Billings brass flange, responsive in touch.

Piano Plate—Patent three-quarter Bell Metal plate of best grade. Exposed birdseye maple pin block built up of five layers of cross-banded rock maple. Nickel plated steel tuning pins.

Sounding Board—A special spherical built-up sounding board of selected spruce seasoned for years; has a tune-sustaining acoustic rim which conserves the full volume of each tone and so modifies it that perfect harmonies result.

Size—Height, 4 feet 2 inches; length, 4 feet 4 inches; depth, 2 feet 3 inches; weight, 555 pounds, boxed, 715 pounds.

Player and Piano Mechanism guaranteed in full for five years.

Boudoir Pianos Are Sold on the Easiest Terms.

54-40 OR Fight

By Emerson Hough

Author of The Mississippi Bubble

Illustrations by Magnus G. Kettner

(Copyright, 1909, by Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

"Quite so," rejoined Mr. Tyler gravely. "The note of my Lord Aberdeen to us, none the less, in the point of its bearing upon the question of slavery in Texas, appears to this government as an expression which ought to be disavowed by your own government. Do I make myself quite clear?" (With John Calhoun present, Mr. Tyler could at times assume a courage though he had it not.)

Mr. Pakenham's face glowed a deeper red. "I am not at liberty to discuss my Lord Aberdeen's wishes in this matter," he said. "We met here upon a purely informal matter, and—"

"I have only ventured to hope," rejoined Mr. Tyler, "that the personal kindness of your own heart might move you in so grave a matter as that which may lead to war between two powers."

"War, sir, war!" Mr. Pakenham went wholly purple in his surprise, and sprang to his feet. "War!" he repeated once more. "As though there could be any hope—"

"Quite right, sir," said Mr. Tyler grimly. "As though there could be any hope for us save in our own conduct of our own affairs, without any interference from any foreign power!"

I knew it was John Calhoun speaking these words, not Mr. Tyler. I saw Mr. Calhoun's keen, cold eyes fixed closely upon the face of his president. The consternation created by the latter's words was plainly visible.

"Of course, this conversation is entirely irregular—I mean to say, wholly unofficial, your excellency?" hesitated Pakenham. "It takes no part in our records?"

"Assuredly not," said Mr. Tyler. "I only hope the question may never come to a matter of record at all. Once our country knows that dictation has been attempted with us, even by England herself, the north will join the south in resentment. Even now, in restiveness at the fancied attitude of England toward Mexico, the west raises the demand that we shall end the joint occupancy of Oregon with Great Britain. Do you perchance know the watchword which is now on the popular tongue west of the Alleghanies? It bids fair to become an American 'Marseillaise.'"

"I must confess my ignorance," rejoined Mr. Pakenham.

"Our backwoodsmen have invented a phrase which runs 'Fifty-Four Forty or Fight!'"

"I beg pardon, I am sure, your excellency?"

"It means that if we conclude to terminate the very unsatisfactory muddle along the Columbia river—a stream which our mariners first explored, as we contend—and if we conclude to dispute with England as well regarding our delimitations on the southwest, where she has even less right to speak, then we shall contend for all that territory, not only up to the Columbia, but north to the Russian line, the parallel of 54 degrees and 40 minutes! We claim that we once bought Texas clear to the Rio Grande, from Napoleon, although the foolish treaty with Spain in 1819 clouded our title—in the belief of our Whig friends, who do not desire more slave territory. Even the Whigs think that we own Oregon by virtue of first navigation of the Columbia. Both Whigs and Democrats now demand Oregon north to 54 degrees, 40 minutes. The alternative? My Lord Aberdeen surely makes no deliberate bid to hear it!"

"Oh fight!" exclaimed Pakenham. "God bless my soul! Fight us?"

Mr. Tyler flushed. "Such things have been," said he with dignity.

At this astounding speech the British minister sat dumbfounded. This air of courage and confidence on the part of Mr. Tyler himself was something foreign to his record. I knew the reason for his boldness. John Calhoun sat at his right hand.

At least, the meaning of this sudden assault was too much for England's representative. Perhaps, indeed, the Berserker blood of our frontier spoke in Mr. Tyler's gaze. That we would fight indeed was true enough.

"At this point, your excellency, the dignity of her majesty's service would lead me to ask excuse," rejoined Mr. Pakenham formally, "were it not for one fact, which I should like to offer here. I have, in short, news which will appear full warrant for any communication thus far made by her majesty's government. I can assure you that there has come into the possession of this lady, whose able services I venture to enlist here in her presence, a communication from the Republic of Texas to the government of England. That communication is done by no less a hand than that of the attache for the Republic of Texas, Mr. Van Zandt himself."

There was, I think, no other formal invitation for the Baroness von Ritz to speak; but now she arose, swept a curtsey first to Mr. Tyler and then to Mr. Pakenham and Mr. Calhoun.

"It is not to be expected, your excellency and gentlemen," said she, "that I can add anything of value here." Her eyes were demurely downcast.

"We do not doubt your familiarity with many of these late events," encouraged Mr. Tyler.

"True," she continued, "the note of my Lord Aberdeen is to-day the property of the streets, and of this I have some knowledge. I can see, also, difficulty in its reception among the courageous gentlemen of America. But, as to any written communication from Mr. Van Zandt, there must be some mistake!"

"I was of the impression that you would have had it last night," rejoined Pakenham, plainly confused; "in fact, that gentleman advised me to such effect."

The Baroness Helena von Ritz looked him full in the face and only gravely shook her head. "I regret matters should be so much at fault," said she.

"Then let me explain," resumed Pakenham, almost angrily. "I will state—unofficially, of course—that the promises of Mr. Van Zandt were that her majesty might expect an early end of the talk of the annexation of Texas to the United States. The greater power of England upon land or sea would assure that weak republic of a great and enlightened ally—in his belief."

"An ally!" broke out Mr. Calhoun. "And a document sent to that effect by the attache of Texas!" He smiled coldly. "Two things seem very apparent, Mr. President. First, that this gentle lady stands high in the respect of England's ministry. Second, that Mr. Van Zandt, if all this were true, ought to stand very low in ours. I would say all this and much more, even were it a state utterance, to stand upon the records of this nation!"

"Sir," interrupted Mr. Tyler, swiftly turning to Mr. Calhoun, "may I not ask you that it be left as a state utterance?"

Mr. Calhoun bowed with the old-time grace habitual to him, his hand upon his heart, but he made no answer. The real reason might have been read in the mottled face of Pakenham, now all the colors of the rainbow, as he looked from one to the other.

"Mr. Calhoun," continued the president, "you know that the office of our secretary of state is vacant. There is no one living would serve in that office more wisely than yourself, no one more in accordance with my own views as to these very questions which are before us. Since it has come to that point, I offer you now that office, and do so officially. I ask your answer."

The face of England's minister now for the first time went colorless. He knew what this meant.

As for John Calhoun, he played with both of them as a cat would with a mouse, sneeringly superior. His answer was couched in terms suited to his own purposes. "This dignity, Mr. President," said he, bowing deeply again, "so unexpected, so onerous, so responsible, is one which at least needs time for proper consideration. I must crave opportunity for reflection and for pondering. In my surprise at your sudden request, I find no proper answer ready."

Here, then, seemed an opportunity for delay, which Mr. Pakenham was swift to grasp. He arose and bowed to Mr. Tyler. "I am sure that Mr. Calhoun will require some days at least for the framing of his answer to an invitation so grave as this."

"I am to Be Married at Six."

"I shall require at least some moments," said Mr. Calhoun, smiling. "That 'Marseillaise' of '44, Mr. President, says 'Fifty-Four Forty or Fight.' That means 'the Rio Grande or fight,' as well."

A short silence fell upon us all. Mr. Tyler half rose and half frowned as he noticed Mr. Pakenham shuffling as though he would depart.

"It shall be, of course, as you suggest," said the president to Pakenham. "There is no record of any of this. But the answer of Mr. Calhoun, which I await and now demand, is one which will go upon the records of this country soon enough, I fancy. I ask you, then, to hear what Calhoun replies."

"I have had some certain moments for reflection, Mr. President," said he, "and I have from the first moment of this surprising offer on your part been humbly sensible of the honor offered so old and so unfit a man.

necessary to adopt in its entirety the reasoning of the court below. The Court of Errors and Appeals did not consider or pass upon any objections except those which were urged in the court below. Two objections only had been so urged, namely: (1), that the title of the act does not express its purpose and object; and (2), that the act is of a private, special and local character and purports to apply only to election precincts or districts within a municipality. Both of these objections were held to be futile.

"In a concurring opinion by Garrison, J., it was said:

"'In voting to affirm this judgment of the Supreme Court directing the plaintiffs in error to order special elections to be held to determine upon the retention or rejection of voting machines under the supplemental act of April 10, 1908, (P. L. 266), I wish to draw attention to the fact that the plaintiffs in error do not make the point that such supplemental act is unconstitutional as a delegation of the law-making power directly to the electors at the polls; hence the question whether such supplemental act is in contravention of the Constitution in the respect pointed out in Paterson vs. Society, 4 Zab. 385, and in the recent case of Atty. Gen. vs. McGuinness in this court is not passed upon or considered in affirming the present judgment upon the errors assigned.'

"Having given the matter careful consideration, I am of the opinion that Chapter 163 of the Laws of 1908, being the act in question, is unconstitutional on the ground indicated by Judge Garrison; and if that objection should not be sustained, on the further ground not taken in the Bayonne case, that the election provided for by the act is not an election by all the legal voters of the "political district,' namely, the municipality in which the election district of the protesting voters is situate, but only by the legal voters of one or more election districts of such municipality. It will be observed that the election in the present instance would be required to be held by a fraction only of the legal voters of this city, that is to say, not even by the legal voters of any one or more entire wards of the city, but by the legal voters of one election district only in each ward, although those election districts comprise all of the election districts of the city in which voting machines are now required by law to be used. The boundaries of these several election districts were not fixed by the Legislature. They were fixed by ordinance of the Common Council. Election districts so fixed are not, in my opinion, political districts within the meaning of those words as defined in any opinion of our Court of last resort which has sustained any so-called referendum statute or any statute delegating legislative powers to municipal corporations; and I am further of the opinion that that Court will not extend the principle of the decided cases so as to sustain a referendum to the voters of a fraction only of a political district.

"Political districts of the State, within the meaning of such cases, are cities, boroughs, towns, townships, counties or other districts the boundaries of which have been fixed by the Legislature and upon the voters within which the Legislature has conferred governmental functions and to some extent, at least, the power of local government. See Taylor vs. Smith, 21 Vr. 101; State, Lydecker, vs. Englewood, 12 Vr. 154; Van Cleve vs. Passaic Valley etc., 42 Vr. 574; Paul vs. Gloucester County, 21 Vr. 585; Booth vs. McGuinness, 7 Atl. 434, and cases cited at page 465.

"Two courses are open to your Honorable Body:

"You are at liberty to decline to order the election called for by the act in connection with the petitions referred to, on the ground that you are advised that that statute is unconstitutional, thereby leaving the petitioners or any other interested parties, if they think the statute is constitutional, to apply to the Supreme Court for writ of mandamus, on the argument of which, the objections on constitutional grounds above pointed out, and which were not considered or decided either by the Supreme Court or the Court of Errors and Appeals in the Bayonne case, would be considered and decided; or you may treat the act as constitutional until some competent court shall have declared it to be unconstitutional.

"If you decide to adopt the former course, no further action is required on your part at this time. If you decide to adopt the latter view, the proper course is to adopt at tonight's meeting the resolutions which I have prepared and forwarded to the chairman of the committee on laws and ordinances.

Shortly stated, the grounds on which I advise that the act in question is unconstitutional are:

"(1). The act attempts to delegate legislative power to be exercised directly by the electors at the polls.

"2). The election districts of the legal voters of which the act attempts to confer the power therein specified are not political districts of the State; and it is not competent for the Legislature to confer such power, whether the act be regarded either as a referendum statute or a statute delegating legislative power, upon any class of legal voters of a political district of the State less than all the legal voters of such political district."

MANHATTAN COLLEGE SCALPS THE P. H. S.

Manhattan College Reserves visited town yesterday and smothered Plainfield High's nine by a score of 13 to 7. Errors and loose fielding were mainly responsible for the defeat of the local nine, as Captain Van Zandt twirled a fine game of ball, striking out ten Gothamites.

Manhattan assumed the aggressive in the opening innings by tallying three runs in the initial round and two in the second and the locals were unable to regain the lost ground. Zeraga and Runyon starred at the bat for the locals. The score:

BAPTISTS WANT $100,000

Denomination's Laymen in This Section Meet Here Tomorrow Night.

PLANS TO RAISE THE FUND.

President F. W. Ayer to Preside and D. G. Garrabrant and Rev. Dr. De Wolf to Deliver Addresses.

For the purpose of devising ways and means for carrying forward the church extension work of the Baptist State Convention, there will be a meeting of laymen at the First Baptist church tomorrow night. The convention desires to raise about $100,000 for this work in the State, and tomorrow night's meeting will be the first of a series to be held at central points throughout New Jersey. The churches to be represented will include Plainfield, Westfield, Scotch Plains, Somerville and New Market.

F. W. Ayer, of Camden, of the Philadelphia firm of N. W. Ayer & Co., as president of the State convention, will preside. He will also make an address. D. G. Garrabrant, of Bloomfield, and Rev. Dr. De Wolf, of Newark, both officers of the convention, will likewise speak.

The convention desires to lend help in the following places: Greenville Heights, Jersey City; Atlantic City, Bethany in Chelsea district; Ridgefield Park, Bergen county; Metuchen; Passaic, Italian; Passaic, Hungarian; Englewood, Swedish; Graylock Manor, north of Newark; Williamstown, Gloucester county; Ocean City, Camden, Trenton, Shiloh, Vailsburg, west of Newark.

Charles W. McCutchen, of the First Baptist church, is a member of the general State committee having charge of this movement and he will doubtless have something to say at the meeting tomorrow night. Dr. De Wolf was in this city yesterday planning for the meeting and conferring with Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire and Rev. J. W. Musson, pastors of the local Baptist churches.

BOARDING HOUSE THIEF GETS $400 IN JEWELRY.

The boarding house conducted by the Misses Hayes in Fanwood was looted yesterday afternoon while the women of the house were absent. Jewelry to the amount of $400 was taken. A missing servant girl is being searched for.

The missing girl goes under the name of Annie Miller and is described as being a woman of 21, slight and five feet two inches tall. She has blue eyes and light brown hair and wore a brown dress with light blue trimmings and a picture hat with two big ostrich feathers in the crown.

Misuse of Commutation Tickets.

The practice of loaning and hiring Central Railroad commutation and fifty-trip tickets, when discovered last summer, resulted in the issuance by the Court of Chancery, of an injunction restraining this practice. That injunction applies not only to the defendants in the suit instituted by the railroad company, but to all persons in the State of New Jersey engaging in such practice. The Central Railroad has given notice that all persons violating this injunction will be proceeded against according to law. ***

Look at Your Tickets.

Persons having reserved seats for Trelawny of the Wells are advised to look at their tickets and see that they have the right date. The dates, either Friday, May 20, or Saturday, May 21, are printed in red ink on the face of the ticket. Friday's tickets will not be good Saturday and Saturday's tickets will not be good Friday. The management has been requested to give a matinee on Saturday evening at popular prices, but so far the question has not been decided.

Planning a Football Team.

The young men of the First M. E. church Sunday school, under the leadership of Harry Little, are planning to organize a football team to represent the school next fall. As soon as the eleven is formed a schedule with other teams will be arranged. Mr. Little was formerly a member of the Holy Cross team and understands the game thoroughly.

Samuel Ayers, of New York, a former resident of Plainfield, spent Saturday in town looking after his property interests. He is a son of the late William C. Ayers, and is principal of one of New York's grammar schools and is also president of the Teachers' Mutual Benefit Association of New York.

SIR WILLIAM WILL CARRY JOHN GILBERT'S SWORD

As Sir William Gower, Knight, the vice chancellor of the realm, in Trelawny of the Wells, Charles H. Lyman will carry a big sword and "thereby hangs a tale." The sword in question is the prized possession of Colonel William R. Cock, who takes the part of Charles, a butler, in the Pinero play to be given on Friday and Saturday night at the Plainfield theatre for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital.

The weapon, which is so big that Manager White entertains the fear that even Mr. Lyman cannot handle it properly, was used by that famous tragedian, John Gilbert, as Falstaff in King Henry the Fourth. It is now a part of Mr. Cock's collection which contains stage properties used by Edwin Booth, Lester Wallack, Edwin Barrett, Mary Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Kendall, the elder John Drew and John Templeton.

Y.M.C.A. GIVES DINNER IN MR. KORFF'S HONOR

Director Martin A. Korff, of the Y. M. C. A. orchestra, was the guest at a dinner given in his honor by the association at its hall last night. Around the festive board were also the other members of the orchestra. The occasion also marked the twenty-fifth year of Mr. Korff as an orchestral director and during the evening the guests extended hearty wishes that he be accorded the opportunity of celebrating a jubilee. In the past season the orchestra gave seven concerts which were attended by more than 2,500 people.

After the dinner had been served remarks were made by Robert W. Barnes, Dr. J. F. Berg and Mr. Korff. Dr. Berg refrained from dwelling on musical lines in his address. Instead he gave an interesting descriution of a recent visit to the old Fredericksburg battle field. Dr. Berg is a veteran of the Civil War and his talk bristled with interesting reminiscences of his association with Lincoln and McClellan in the army.

Dr. Berg declared that McClellan was idolized by the soldiers in the Army of the Potomac. The sound of the general's name on the battle field was always an inspiration to the troops, he added. All of the Union soldiers, Dr. Berg declared, took it hard when "Little Mac" was deposed, and the speaker added that he was confident that history will vindicate the course pursued by McClellan.

The dinner was served by members of the Woman's Auxiliary: Mrs. Nelson Y. Hull, Mrs. C. E. Steiner, Miss Swain, Miss Sharp, Miss Williams, Mrs. George B. Wean and Mrs. L. C. Parker.

THE WEATHER.

McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel. The ceremony was performed at Mr. McKelvey's home and the couple was unattended. An early hour was chosen for the marriage as the couple desired to take the 9:45 o'cloce train. After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Martin will reside on West Fourth street. Mr. Martin is employed here as a machinist.

Chief T. O. SEEKING NO OFFICE, SAYS THE GOVERNOR

In a talk with newspaper men yesterday Governor Fort declared he is not a candidate for any office, but that if he ever does accept another office it will be a judicial one. He would say nothing further as to his candidacy for United States Senator or United States Circuit Judge.

The Governor spoke of criticism aimed at him and also at the President of the United States, and said the people expect too much of the Governor in the matter of obtaining legislation. They should put this matter up to the lawmakers direct, he said.

Governor Fort declared he believed the President was doing everything in his power to give the country a "constitutional administration," and said the Executive was the target of much unjust criticism.

GOVERNOR WON'T REPLY TO MAJ. LENTZ'S ATTACK

Governor Fort yesterday refused to discuss the violent speech made by Major Carl Lentz at a gathering of Germans in Newark, dismissing it with the curt remark:

"You know I would not take any notice of criticism from that source. There is no truth whatever in the allegations of Major Lentz, but I will not engage in any controversy concerning them."

Major Lentz's speech was the most bitter attack he has yet made on the Governor since the latter refused to reappoint him to the State Tax Board.

"All that I said in my speech," said the major yesterday, "is absolutely true, and I, of course, am willing now and at any time to stand by it. Moreover, if the Governor disputes my statements, I stand ready now or any other time to meet him in the forum—at a public meeting or in a court of justice, where I will produce proof of other private and public delinquencies that the Governor has been guilty of."

WHEN WE GO THROUGH COMET'S TAIL TONIGHT

Beginning of contact, 10:50 tonight.

Duration of contact, about two hours.

Diameter of comet's tail, 2,000,000 miles.

Diameter of comet's head, about 200,000 miles.

Bulk of head compared with earth, 15,000 times.

Distance of head from earth at time of transit across the sun, 11 p. m. May 18, 13,000,000 miles.

Hazy light in northern heavens tonight only appreciation here of the transit.

Comet visible in western skies after sunset May 20 and until June 25.

For six hours, beginning at 10:50 o'clock tonight, New York time, according to the best calculations, this earth will pass through the tail of Halley's comet. But whether there will be much or any ocular demonstration of the fact to the ordinary man not well versed in astronomy is very much in doubt.

Accepting the estimate of Director Campbell of the Lick Observatory that the diameter of the comet's tail will be 1,000,000 along the line of the earth's transit, it may be calculated that the earth in the passage will encounter 48,000,000,000 cubic miles of the tail.

Prof. Campbell thinks the tail contains not more than a single solid particle or gaseous molecule to the cubic yard. It is a simple calculation to determine that on this memorable journey we shall encounter 265 sextillions of these particles or molecules.

Bon Fire Sets House on Fire.

Sparks from a bonfire set fire to the roof of an unoccupied house on the Lindsay farm on Mountain avenue yesterday afternoon. The borough fire department was notified by telephone and made prompt response. In the meantime a bucket brigade was formed which held the flames in check until the arrival of the apparatus. On the arrival of the department several chemical streams were used and the blaze extinguished. The loss is estimated at $50.

HIGHER RAILROAD FARE

Commutation Rate Between Here and N. Y. 'Tis Said Will Be $7.85.

ALL ROADS TO MAKE ADVANCE.

Pennsylvania, Lackawanna and Erie With Jersey Central to Make Announcement.

An understanding is current among railroad interests that a general raise of commutation rates among the railroads having large suburban traffic from New Jersey into New York is imminent. There was a meeting of representatives of the roads interested in this short haul traffic in the Trunk Line Association offices in New York last Friday.

It is reported that the Jersey Central will announce shortly a slight increase in its commutation rates. According to the story current here, the monthly rate of $7.60 between Plainfield and New York will be raised to $7.85. As there are at least 2,000 local commuters here this would mean an increased revenue to the company of about $6,000 a year.

General Passenger Agent W. C. Hope said this afternoon that no decision had been reached by the Jersey Central officials. He admitted that the matter of increasing the rates is being considered and announced that within a few days a definite statement would be issued. It is expected that the proposed increase will go into effect on June 1.

In the case of the Erie the advance in commutation rates will range from 85 cents to $1.25. Montclair, for example, will have a rate of $6.35, instead of $5.50 as at present. Paterson's rate will be raised $1.00.

The Lackawanna, the Pennsylvania and the Central of New Jersey are also preparing new schedules, which will be ready soon after the Erie's rates are announced. Advances in the case will be, in effect, approximately those decided on by the Erie. Some of the specific rates which will be charged when the new schedule is adopted the as follows: On the Pennsylvania the increase in rate from New Brunswick to New York will be $1, and $1 extra will be charged by the Lackawanna for its monthly ticket from Summit to New York.

The Trunk Line Association is authority for the statement that the increase will not apply to the Erie alone, but that the Lackawanna, the Pennsylvania and the Central Railroad will all fall in line; that as a matter of fact they had recognized the conditions and arranged a new scale which was not yet officially adopted, but which was sure to go into effect. All of the roads bear expense of operating and maintaining a commuters' service, and all of them say they are finding it unprofitable in a greater or less degree. They profess that they would be satisfied, however, if this part of their business could carry itself.

Erie officials say that the increased taxation in New Jersey is responsible for the raise in rates.

BID FAREWELL TO MRS. JOHN JOHNSON

The Sunday-school class at Hope chapel taught by G. Stuart Simons, held a social at the chapel last night for the purpose of wishing bon-voyage to Mrs. John Johnson, who leaves next week for Christiana, Norway. The affair was largely attended by members of the class and their husbands. This will be Mrs. Johnson's first visit home in fifteen years. She will be away until August. Mrs. Johnson has been a faithful and regular attendant at the chapel. During the evening she was presented with a bouquet of carnations by Mr. Simons.

The class also had as its guests G. Herbert Condict, superintendent of the Sunday-school; Rev. and Mrs. L. R. Howard, Frank Rimmer, the Sunday-school treasurer; James Penny, president of the Men's Club, and the members of the Men's Club, who, holding a meeting in another part of the chapel, were invited to remain at the conclusion of the session.

JULIUS DE NONTO GETS A BLACKHAND LETTER

Julius DeNonto, a Somerset street fruit dealer, is in a high state of fear over the receipt of what he alleges is a Black Hand document. A few days ago DeNonto received a letter with a local postmark written in Italian, demanding $500, with a warning that death would follow if the money was not forthcoming. The missive was signed "Manda Nera."

DeNonto is recognized as one of the well-to-do Italians of this vicinity. He has been a resident of the borough for several years, being engaged in the fruit business. DeNonto recently decided to branch out in the barber business, and is having the premises on Somerset street, recently occupied by Frank Hand, the blacksmith, fitted up as a shop. DeNonto notified the police of the letter this morning.

BELIEVE VAN HORNE TO BE THIEVES' VICTIM

In a lonely spot near the links of the Westfield Golf Club, Louis Van Horne, of 23 Johnson avenue, Cranford, was picked up unconscious by the crew of a Main Line trolley car late yesterday afternoon and taken to Westfield. Van Horne is a collector for the Prudential Insurance Company and had left his home early in the morning. When found he had no money whatever in his pockets. His watch was also missing.

Van Horne was taken to the office of Dr. R. R. Sinclair, Westfield. The doctor said the man was suffering from concussion of the brain. There is a deep cut on his face. Mrs. Van Horne was notified. Half an hour later she took her husband home in a carriage.

Last night Van Horne regained consciousness, but was too weak to tell how he met with the accident. The police are in doubt as to whether the man was held up or if he fell from a trolley car. The absence of money in Van Horne's pockets leads the family to believe he was robbed. He will recover.

GEORGE GAYLE DEAD AT AGE OF 75 YEARS

George Gayle, aged seventy-five years, father of H. E. Gayle, the hardware merchant, and a well-known resident of Somerset county, died at 10:20 o'clock last night at the home of his son, 18 Vine street, North Plainfield. Three years ago he was stricken with paralysis and while he was able to be around more or less he gradually failed, and his death was due to a complication of diseases.

Mr. Gayle was born in New York city, near St. John's Park, and at the age of twenty-one years removed to Somerset county, where for about twenty-five years he taught in a district school, traveling from one place to another. He was successful in this. About thirty years ago he removed to North Plainfield and associated himself with his son, H. E. Gayle in the carpentry business. When the latter gave up his trade and engaged in the hardware business, his father went with him and continued in the business until three years ago when he was stricken by paralysis.

Mr. Gayle was a member of Trinity Reformed church for twenty-seven years and for twenty-four years was the efficient church treasurer. He was a man of strong Christian character and a regular attendant at church services. He was also a great student and had fondness for reading the daily papers, always keeping posted on the happenings of the day.

He is survived by two sons, H. E. Gayle, of this city, and Edward W. Gayle, an architect of New York, and one daughter, Mrs. Charles M. Bennett, of Savannah, Ga.; also a half-sister, Mrs. William J. Allen, of Philadelphia.

The funeral service will be held from the home of the son, H. E. Gayle, 18 Vine street, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, will officiate. The burial will be at Hillside cemetery.

Reviewing the theatrical season just ended, the New York Sun today editorially commends the works of Edward Sheldon, who will appear as Mr. Mortimer in Trelawny of the Wells, to be given at the Plainfield theatre on Friday and Saturday nights. Mr. Sheldon is the brilliant young dramatist who has gained international reputation by his two famous plays The Nigger and Salvation Nell. The former was presented many times during the season at the New Theatre, and the latter made one of the biggest hits of the season both on Broadway and on the road with Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fisk in the title role.

Mr. Sheldon is classed by The Sun among such celebrated playwrights as Maurice Maeterlink, Henri Bernstein and Stephen Phillips. Referring to the American dramatists, the Sun says: "Edward Sheldon demonstrated that he is a most promising force among the younger of them."

WEIRD WINE WRECKAGE

Joy Ride Ends in Disaster on East Front This Morning Early.

PARTY OF SEVEN ARRESTED.

Trip From the Mountains to This City Punctuated by Incidents Which Have Ending in Police Court.

Joy riding under the conduct of Girard Harris, a youth of seventeen, in which a party of seven young men and women were implicated, came to a sudden termination this morning at about 2 o'clock, when Patrolmen Meyer and Dunlap hastened to the scene of a smashup near the corner of Richmond and East Front streets. Here they found a screaming, shouting crowd of excited tourists, with their machine bucked up against a tree with the axle twisted out of shape and a more or less dazed chauffeur making frantic efforts to back the machine out and proceed.

In the city court this morning Judge William Runyon held the driver of the automobile in $500 bonds for the action of the grand jury, and fined the others five dollars each for disorderly conduct. The fines were paid by a gallant lover of one of the two women in the car. It was necessary for the officers to call the patrol wagon to bring the hilarious bunch to headquarters where they remained for the rest of the morning.

Patrolman Dunlap's statement upon which the real story of the occurrence hinged was as follows: "I was standing," he said, "at the corner of Richmond and Third streets at about 1:55 when I heard a loud crash and shouts and screams loud enough to wake up the entire neighborhood. I ran to the point whence the noise came and found an automobile containing seven people trying to scream their hardest. Many windows in the neighborhood were raised and heads stuck out to discover if possible what the row was all about. I called Patrolman Meyer and he assisted in getting the story from the occupants of the car, all of whom were under the influence of liquor."

Patrolman Meyer corroborated the statement of his brother officer and the judge imposed the sentences as noted above.

William Stoneham, who was a witness this morning, stated that noticing the condition of Harris he offered to bring the party back to town to avoid accidents. His offer was indignantly refused with the result that the car ran into a tree.

Two New York girls were the women in the case and they as well as the men appeared to be under the influence of the wine imbibed at a well known road house in the mountain.

It was said this morning that besides the accident to the automobile a surrey belonging to the Plainfield Cab Co. was run into and smashed. Altogether it was a lively affair from beginning to end and the wonder is that no bones were broken.

The arrival of the entire party at police headquarters created a stir among the men on night duty. Miss Gladys Lane, a blonde, became suddenly inflicted with fits, whether of anger or chagrin, the officers do not know, and it took all of the smelling salts to be obtained at that hour in the morning to revive her. What complicated matters most was the arrival on the scene of a lover of the blonde young woman, who insisted upon caring for her. A slap in the face, which this morning was characterized as a joke, settled his hash for the time being and the fits were kept going.

Sympathy would have been wasted on the bunch so they were all locked up. They all admitted, excepting Harris, to have been drinking but maintained that none of them were intoxicated. Judge Runyon believed the officers.

The party consisted of Harris, Edward Carthell, Marcus Schmeyer, Louis Matthews, Alice Searles and Gladys Lane, besides George Warren.

Patrolman Dunlap showed his worth by refusing to be bribed when a bundle of the 'long green' was offered him to allow the party to go from the scene of the accident. The attempt to lay the blame for the antics of the automobile on the tarvia recently laid by the street commissioner hardly affected Judge Runyon.

Judge William Newcorn signed Harris' bail bond and the young man was released.

Elizabeth M. McGarrigle.

MILLIONAIRE OPPOSES PROPOSED BETTERMENTS.

Westfield, May 18.—The matter of public improvements brought forth a large attendance and caused an animated discussion at the meeting of the Town Council Monday night. Fifteen bids for building new sewers were received, but the figures ran so close that the award of contracts was postponed until Saturday night.

The controversy over improvements followed a statement by William G. Perkham, a New York lawyer and millionaire, who owns considerable property in Lawrence avenue, where it is proposed to lower the grade and build gutters and curb. Mr. Perkham objected strongly to this improvement, declaring that Mayor Alpers and the Council were going it too strong. The Mayor attempted to explain, and when Mr. Perkham insisted in catechising him, the Mayor ordered him either to speak on to the question or sit down.

Mr. Perkham, however, was only pacified for a time and later took the floor again.

"I protest," he said, "against the extravagance. The town is spending too much money. This is no time for your honors to be adding to the public debt."

Then the lawyer took a fling at the Mayor's youth. Mayor Alpers told Mr. Perkham that his statements were wrong. He said that the town was never better off financially and that onl ysuch improvements as were absolutely necessary were being put through. He further reminded Mr. Perkham that he had been a "kicker" all the years of his residence in Westfield. Mr. Perkham replied that he was opposed to the improvement program as a citizen and property owner, and added.

"I want it understood I do not want a $125,000 school house built on my Mountain avenue property." He thereupon left the room.

This statement has created much talk, as Mr. Perkham's Mountain avenue property is to be voted upon as a school site at a special election in June.

It is not thought, however, that Mr. Perkham can withdraw his offer as the town already has an option to buy the property within five years.

The extra appropriations for the library were settled at the meeting, the ordinance increasing the amount from $2,300 to $2,500 a year being passed on final reading. Objection had been made to the increase by Councilman Wilson because of the cent-a-day plan, but he withdrew his objection Monday when it was explained to him that the plan did not operate against the free distribution of books.

Sane Fourth at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, May 18.—The "Sane Fourth" law was signed by Mayor Stoy yesterday which limits the size of firecrackers that may be sold and exploded, and forbids the explosion of fireworks anywhere in the city except on lots, on the beach and beyond the built-up sections of the city. Dynamite caps and other explosives which sound like "young cannon detonations" are forbidden. It is the Mayor's intention to have the provisions strictly enforced.

A New Back for an Old One—How It Is Done in Plainfield.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescriable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the lions are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Follow the example of this Plainfield citizen.

Albert Naylor, 519 East Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I was afflicted with a dull ache in the small of my back and sharp pains darted through me when I stooped or lifted. I was told that Doan's Kidney Pills were a sure cure for such troubles and procuring a supply at Randolph's Pharmacy, I began their use. Two boxes of this remedy fixed me up in good shape and I have often recommended it since to other persons suffering as I did."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

HOW CONNIE MACK WORKS HIS PITCHERS.

One reason why the Athletics are safely perched on the top rung of the American League pennant race is the masterful way in which Connie Mack has manipulated his pitchers.

There is no such thing as a regular turn for the pitchers on his staff. Mack picks the clubs against whom he believes his pitchers will do their best, without any regard to rotation. For instance, one man may pitch twice against the club in one series. Often a star pitcher gets a rest of ten days, because the clubs that he is always brilliant against are not about.

Krause has been in the American League for two seasons, but hasn't pitched against every one of the Athletics' rivals. There are some teams that never get a chance to bat against Morgan, Bender, Plank, Coombs or Dygert.

Boston seldom gets a chance against any of Mack's right-handers. Plank, Krause and Atkins pitched against the Speed Boys in the games in Boston, and each came out triumphant. Bad weather cut the series at Shibe Park with Boston to two games. Again Mack used Plank and Krause and they both justified his confidence in them.

When Cleveland played in Philadelphia last week, Mack didn't use a single left-hander. Morgan started the series Tuesday and held the Naps to a twelve-inning tie. Bender pitched his famous no-hit shutout Thursday, and Morgan was again sent against the Naps Friday and obtained an impressive victory.

Ty Cobb has offered to wager that he will not be "chased" by an umpire this year.

Outfielder Ray Demmitt, who was a Highlander for one year, is doing pretty well with the stick for the St. Louis Americans.

JACK MARTIN SETTING WORCESTER ON FIRE

Jack Martin, of the West End, known to all local fans, is setting Worcester and the whole New England League on fire. Is our Jack making good? Well, I guess.

Jack occupied all the space in double column headlines in Worcester papers on Sunday. He executed an electric play which startled the natives of that burg and one that Jesse Burkett declares was never equaled in the National League, while that veteran was one of its stars.

Here is the stunt that Jack performed. Ninth inning, score 3 to 2 in favor of Worcester. Fall River fills the sacks with one out. Conditions precarious for Worcester. The Fall River left fielder smashed a sizzling liner. Martin leaps in the air, spears the sphere, retired the side by doubling up a Fall River runner on second base. According to the account of the game in the Worcester Telegram, Jack was carried to the clubhouse on the shoulders of frenzied fans.

Pitcher Summers of Detroit is a vegetarian. This season he will propel the pellet on energy extracted from vegetables and fruit.

Jimmy Sheckard's wing is in such poor shape that he had to give way to that other veteran, Beaumont, in the Chicago Nationals' left field.

Outfielder Wheat of Brooklyn batted .304 for twenty-six games last year, and his hitting so far this year indicates that he is no false alarm.

Pitcher Pfeister of the Cubs has just purchased an automobile. He wouldn't wait until next fall, when the leading batsman of the league will be awarded a machine gratis.

GOLF.

An attractive program to govern the annual championship tournament of the New Jersey Golf Association, to be held on June 2, 3 and 4 over the links of the Essex County Country Club, has been sent out by Walter C. Shoup, the secretary. This tournament will begin with an eighteen-hole medal play qualifying round, and the sixty-four players making the lowest scores will continue in eighteen-hole match rounds, except the finals, which will be at thirty-six holes. Those making the first sixteen will qualify for the title.

Rules of the United States Golf Association will govern all play, except as they may be modified by the tournament committee, and by the local rules in force on the links. All entries are subject to the approval of the executive committee, which also reserves the right to amend the program before or during the tournament if considered advisable. This tournament is open to all residents of the State of New Jersey, who are members of golf clubs belonging to this association and all non-residents who belong to no other than such clubs. In the qualifying round players may chose their own partners, provided no one shall play with a member of his own club. Those not paired will be given partners by the committee at the first tee.

Coincident with the testing round will be a team match of four men from each club. Total scores will count, and each member of the winning team will receive a prize, while the club represented will be awarded a banner. On the last day there will be an eighteen-hole medal play handicap, allowances limited to eighteen strokes. A gold medal will be presented to the contestant returning the lowest gross score, and there will be a prize for the lowest net.

There is no printed handicap list, but all players who enter for the handicap must have official New Jersey State Golf Association ratings. All clubs in this association have received blanks on which to report the handicaps of their players. These blanks must be sent on or before May 25 to Fred H. Thomas, chairman of the New Jersey State handicap committee, No. 71 Broadway, New York city.

This will make the eleventh New Jersey championship tournament. The first one, back in 1900, was decided over this same course, when Archie Graham, of Paterson, defeated James A. Tyng, of Baltusrol, in the final round. The present title holder is Max Behr, of Morris county. He has not played in tournaments thus far this season, but report has it that he is quietly getting into form to defend his title.

SUNDAY SCHOOL A. L. FIELD DAY JUNE 25

Plans for the annual field day meet of the Sunday School Athletic League were made at a meeting of that organization at the Y. M. C. A. last night. The date selected for the carnival is Saturday afternoon, June 25. The field day last year was such a big success that it is expected that this year's event will eclipse that event by a big margin.

All of the local Sunday schools in the league will be represented by a squad of athletes. The committee in charge of the field day is now engaged at work in arranging the program which will be in readiness for announcement in a few days.

TENNIS.

The championship tennis tournament of the Sunday School Athletic League will be held during July. Thirty-two entries are desired in the singles. Last year there were twenty-two competitors in the singles, but the committee this year is striving to make the entry list thirty-two.

Drawing will be made at the Y. M. C. A. on June 28 at 8 o'clock and entries will close with Physical Director Listman on or before that date. There will be prizes for winners and the Sunday school winning the tournament.

The committee in charge of the tournament consists of F. O. Dunning, A. D. Beers and Harold Todd.

The Harlem regatta committee of New York city has appointed a committee to arrange the handicaps for a senior single sculls handicap event over a one and one-quarter mile course for the May regatta. The scullers will be given a time handicap.

MAYOR'S SON HELD.

Hoboken, May 18.—For refusing to surrender a counterfeit fifty cent piece upon the demand of Thomas J. Callaaghan, a secret service man, Frank Gonzales, son of the Mayor of Hoboken, and Michael Whelan, of the Mayor's restaurant, were each held in $500 bail Monday by the Federal Grand Jury.

Callaghan testified that he received the coin in change in the hotel restaurant and later in the day discovered that is was bogus. He returned to the hotel in the evening, he said, and Manager Whalen gave him two good twenty-five cent pieces for it but refused to give back the counterfeit. Callaghan started to go back to the bar to take possession of the bad coin and was assaulted, he said, by young Gonzales, Police Commissioner Tom Foley, of Hoboken, and two other men. The secret service man pulled a revolver at the outset of the farcas and was locked up after rushing from the place.

Bail was furnished the two defendants by Mayor Gonzales.

SWALLOWED CORSET STAY.

An autopsy performed on Austin S. Young's valuable Holstein cow, which died suddenly yesterday, at German Valley, reveals that the animal had swallowed a corset stay. In spite of his grief and chagrin over the loss, Young, who lives in Milldale, has dropped into poetry and erected a tombstone over the cow's grave, with this epitaph:

This faithful cow we loved so much,
Has gone and passed away;
A corset steel cut short her life—
It was not hers to stay.
The steel was ten inches long and had pierced the cow's heart.

Health Man Has Blood Poisoning.

Phillipsburg, May 18.—Health Inspector Howard Carey, who is also truant officer and a constable in Phillipsburg, has blood poisoning, which developed in his hand and arm from a cut on his thumb. Inspector Carey has had full charge of the scarlet fever epedemic here during the past six weeks and contracted blood poisoning while engaged in fumigating the public school buildings and many homes where the contagion has been prevalent.

Cold Air Fur Storage

IN storing furs it should be borne in mind that the protection of the pelt against heat is of as great importance as the protection of the hair against the ravages of moths.

Do you suppose that a seal, a lynx or a sable if captured and brought here alive would exist through one of our torrid summers?

What is true of the live animal is also true of the skin or pelt, and furs that are stored in warm rooms throughout the stuffy summer months, irrespective of camphor, moth balls and other preparations, do not look as well or wear as well as furs that are placed in cold storage as soon as you are through wearing them.

Our present facilities for the care and storage of furs are unexcelled, and we charge you no more than you have been used to paying for the old-fashioned storage where your treasured furs were literally baked all summer long.

Furs stored with us are thoroughly cleansed by vacuum process, gently combed or whipped with tiny leather thongs and hung on separate racks in a room where an even temperature of 18 degrees is maintained throughout the summer. Your furs will be returned to you in the fall in a more healthy condition than when you sent them to us, and you will be protected against fire, moth and theft as well.

Our charges are very moderate, being only 3 per cent. of the valuation of each article, except such as are held at $25 or less, in which case we make a minimum rate of 75c per article.

'Phone 5100 Market or drop us a line and we will dispatch one of our wagons to your residence without delay.

Plainfield, N. J., May 18, 1910.

No one should miss seeing the performance of Sir Arthur Pinero's Trelawny of the Wells to be given at the Plainfield theatre on Friday and Saturday nights. It is not an exaggeration to say that the cast is the best amateur troupe that has ever presented a theatrical offering here and that its work compares favorably with many professional ones. Moreover, she show is given for a most worthy charity, the hospital, and that fact entitles it to general support. A few good seats for each night are left. Get yours now.

When Francis L. Montgomery, sitting in the Common Council as a member-at-large, voted "no" when the roll was called on the invitation to hear Representative Charles N. Fowler deliver a lecture here, we do not believe that his action greatly surprised any of his colleagues though in our opinion it was a mighty small piece of business. Whatever his personal feelings in the matter might be, the Second Ward man should remember that he is representing the municipality and not himself when occupying the position of a city father.

Held for Grand Jury.

Charles Walpole, the alleged assailant of Fred Skillman, a motorman on the main line trolley, was held in $1,000 bail for the action of the grand jury yesterday afternoon by Judge William N. Runyon in the city court. Skillman and Conductor James Galasifer testified as to the assault. No other witnesses were called. Walpole's father signed the bond.

FINE INTERIOR DECORATING

There is a vast difference between Fine Decorating and merely Paper Hanging and Painting. Our work is of the first order. We are in a position to undertake the execution of the finest decorating work. We are offering you the 15 years experience of a decorator of the highest standing. We employ the best mechanics in the business to carry out your ideas in a thorough workmanlike manner, and the guarantee of this store is back of every job we do. Notwithstanding the above facts, our prices are the lowest in the city. We'll cheerfully furnish an estimate for any work you contemplate having done.

MECHANICS CONQUERING THE MOUNTAIN HEIGHTS.

Instead of preparing an elaborate equipment, providing himself with a guide, and climbing wearily for thousands of feet over dangerous crags and passes to reach the top of the Jungfrau, one of the highest Alpine peaks, the tourist, a few months hence, will take a comfortable seat in a car and be conveyed over a railway to the mighty heights. Two illustrations in Popular Mechanics show how mechanics is conquering the mountain heights.

One shows an elevator, running on strong cables, which carries passengers to the peak of the Wetterhorn, 12,146 feet above sea level. Another illustration shows workmen using an electric drill at a height of 10,000 feet, where a careless backward step would precipitate them 2,000 feet to the base of an abrupt precipice. A 2,650-horsepower dynamo in the valley below, driven by waterpower, furnishes the power to drive the drills and provides the workmen with light and with heat.

The Early Drama.

The First Claimant.

—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His View.

"'Pleasant duty!'" snorted the Chronic Kicker. "There's other ridiculous expression."

"Why so?" demanded the man who had used it.

"Because no duty could really be pleasant if it's actually a duty."—The Catholic Standard and Times.

A Sensible Buffer.

It is an excellent plan, in buying a buffer, to select one provided with an adjustable metal rim. This makes it a simple matter to renew the chamois at a moment's notice.

HINTS FOR AMATEUR NURSES.

Do not allow the patient to remain too long in one position.

Give medicine exactly on time ordered. Do not vary three minutes.

Measure medicine accurately. A few drops extra of some medicine might mean death.

Keep the medicine glass covered. Make a round cover of white paper and lay over the top.

Replace cork in medicine bottle immediately after using.

Don't ask the patient what he wants to eat. Prepare a surprise for him.

Before serving food bathe patient's face and hands and freshen the air in the room.

Be patient and considerate, but firm in carrying out the physician's orders.

Too Late.

Playgoer—I have only one criticism to make of your play.

Playwright—What is it?

Playgoer—You know in the last act where the mill explodes and all of the actors are blown into eternity.

Playwright—Yes.

Playgoer—Well, that scene comes just four acts too late.

Answered.

"I'm afraid I'm catching a cold," said Kloseman, trying to get some medical advice free. "Every once in awhile I feel an itching in my nose and then I sneeze. What would you do in a case like that, doctor?"

"Well," replied Dr. Sharpe, "I guess I'd sneeze too."—The Catholic Standard and Times.

Fine Filler.

Some poets balk at staircase verse.
It has its place.
And we might well get something worse
For filling space.—Exchange.

The Timid Recitationist.

"The boy who stood on the burning deck was a brave lad."

"Yes," replied the school teacher, "he doesn't appear to have been nearly as scared as some of the boys who have since been called on to recite about him."—Exchange.

Just Leaked Out.

"I think I'll introduce a few amendments to the bill," remarked the Senator, who had entered the chamber a trifle late on February 22.

"Cut it out," whispered his colleague. "That was Washington's farewell address."

Ought to Go.

"I have a new scheme for a magazine."

"Unfold it."

"Each page is divided into three columns. Down the middle column runs the love story, and in the other two columns are suitable ads."

Triumph of Medicine.

Mrs. Rattleby—Doctor, why does your profession take the patient's temperature instead of looking at the tongue?

Diplomatic Doctor—In the case of a woman taking the temperature is preferable, as it is necessary for the patient to be quiet.

Practising.

"Just notice how that young actress sips from her glass of water! Isn't that funny? See her throw her head back. Just like a bird, isn't it?"

"Yes. She wants to play the second hen in the English version of the Rostand barnyard drama."

In 1940.

"Aunty, dear, tell us why you never married," said the young children about her knee.

"Well, little ones," she replied, "I thought once that a young man was going to propose years ago, but the high cost of living scared him off."

All in the Fit.

He—Admiring that hat?

She—Yes; but it won't do.

He—Afraid it wouldn't fit you?

She—Oh, the hat would be all right; it's the price that doesn't fit.

Phonetic Symptoms.

Caller—I hear your son is suffering with blood poisoning in his foot.

Mrs. Telisy—Yes, I'm afraid he's got that toe main poisoning we've been hearin' about.

The Cheerful View.

"Does your furnace keep you warm?"

"Not quite," answered Mr. Crosslots, "but the exercise I get struggling with it helps some."—Exchange.

Taking No Chance.

Young Lady—Did you ever try massage for your rheumatism, Mr. James?

She—No; but you should see her magnificent automobile.—Boston Transcript.

Worsted.

The parlor Socialist met the kitchen Socialist and the combat was long and frightfully wordy.

"And what have you ever done for the cause?" the kitchen Socialist demanded.

"I have argued," replied the parlor Socialist.

"And I have cooked," cried the kitchen Socialist.

Whereupon, the parlor Socialist, realizing that many can argue and few can cook, withdrew in reasonably good order and resumed her perusal of "The Titanic Social Crash."

When Giving Medicine.

The label should always be read both before and after pouring out the dose, no matter how many times it may have been read before. The bottle should always be shaken; the dose measured in a graduated glass, never by the number of drops; and internal and external medicines should be kept in different places.

An Atmosphere of Realty.

John—One of your creditors wishes to speak to you, sir.

Master—Well, say I'm away from home.

John—All right, sir. And I'll just light one of your best cigars; he'll be more likely to believe me then.

Made a Hit.

"My Brooklyn aunt has put me down in her will for ten thousand."

"What made you so strong with her all of a sudden?"

"I went into half-mourning when her rubber plant died."

They Sometimes Succeed.

"That young feller is too much of a dreamer. Dreamers never amount to anything, hey?"

"All depends as to whether they build castles in the air or trust companies."

Got Back at Mother.

Peevish Wife—It is nearly 2 o'clock and I have been waiting for you for three hours.

Late Husband—Good! Then you know how I feel while I am waiting for you to dress when we go out.

Prety Fast.

Would Start Her.

"My wife is prolonging her visit. I need her at home, but it seems useless to write suggesting that she return."

"Get one of the neighbors to suggest it."

Husband—You will have to be less extravagant or I'll stop your credit altogether. Do I make myself plain?

Wife (very sweetly)—I always thought, dear, that you were born so.

Second Nurse Girl—Fine! We are right next door to the police station.

STRAWBERRY CROP INJURED BY FROST.

Trenton, May 18.—Franklin Dye, secretary of the State Board of Agriculture, yesterday gave out a statement showing the condition of the crops throughout the State. The statement is based upon reports received from the various directors in the State, and shows that in the middle and southern counties corn and potato planting is about finished; in the northern counties the planting is being hindered to some extent by unfavorable weather conditions. It also shows that the acreage of potatoes has increased from 5 to 35 per cent. over that of last year, while the corn planting is the same as that of last year.

The report indicates that there will be good crops of wheat and rye.

The condition for the harvest of grass for hay is as favorable as last year.

The potatoes, the report shows, are in good condition, and it is expected that there will be the usual yield.

Because of the presence of the San Jose scale in the orchards throughout the State it is feared that the apple crop will fall below that of last year.

The strawberry yield, it is shown, has been injured by frost, varying from 5 to 30 per cent.

The general farm conditions, the report shows, are about two weeks earlier than usual.

ENDEAVORERS CELEBRATE THEIR 21ST ANNIVERSARY

Christian Endeavorers and Epworth Leaguers filled Warren chapel last night joining with the chapel's Christian Endeavor in the celebration of its twenty-second birthday. Invitations had been extended to all of the local societies to participate in the observance and nearly all were represented. The program consisted of musical features, speech making and refreshments.

It was one of the most enthusiastic gatherings of Christian young folk seen in this city for some time. The pulpit and alter was profusely decorated with dogwood and other spring blooms, and in the back ground prominently displayed was the Christian Endeavor emblem and figures 1888-1910, indicating that the society had reached its twenty-second birthday.

J. T. Sproull, of Arlington, State C. E. president, in a short address extended congratulations to the society on its growth, and wished it continued success. Mr. Sproull was introduced by Charles Windham, the retiring president.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, delivered an interesting talk. He dwelt on character bulding in particular. In the course of his remarks the speakers denounced infidels and agnostics and incidentally declared they were dangerous persons for any community. Dr. Anderson interspersed his address by humorious stories and held the close attention of his audience from start to finish.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey and Dr. H. K. Carroll, and the address of welcome was made by Theodore J. Martin, the newly elected president of the society. Officers of the society presented encouraging reports. Miss Nora B. Schenck, treasurer, reported that during the year the receipts were $371.12 and the disbursements $334.04. A total of $75.43 was expended for missionary purposes.

Mrs. Joseph O. McKelvey presented an interesting paper showing the growth and scope of the Juniors' department. During the year the Juniors held thirty-two meetings with a total attendance of 1,304. Mrs. John Schenck, secretary, reported a total membership of thirty-six.

The musical program included the rendition of anthems by the choir. Miss Winifred Carroll, accompanied by Miss Alice Carroll on the organ rendered two contralto solos, and Miss Marguerite Burnet rendered two violin solos. After the service Miss Burnet and Miss Winifred Carroll were presented floral bouquets as a mark of appreciation for their services.

Following the completion of the program refreshments were served by the social committee, of which Miss Harriet Squier is chairman. The anniversary committee consisted of Miss A. H. Kirby, Miss Dollie Bolsterli, Miss Nora B. Schenck, A. J. Everett and W. Kunzelman.

An Eternal Reason.

"You ssem to be awfully bitter against old Busby. What's the cause?"

"Oh, a money reason."

"I didn't know you had any business dealings with him."

"I don't. I hate him because he has more money than I have."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Love Touch.
Head of the House.

"Do you subscribe for a woman's magazine for your wife?" asks the man with the monogram on his vest.

Unmasking After the Ball.

Fat Man—That's the worst of you, Simkins, you will put on such a lot of side.

Simpkins—Well, I'd rather put on side, old chap, than such a deuce of a lot of front.

Clinched.

"I tell yer, I've known him longer than you. I've known him for about twenty years!"

"Oh, yer 'ave, 'ave yer? Why, I knew 'im when 'e used to go to work!"

He—I hear that Totty made a hit last night?

She—Rather! Why she forgot her lines so naturally that everyone thought she was a society actress.

Teacher—Now, boys, tell me how many commandments there are.

Tommy—Please, teacher, ten.

Teacher—Now, if you break one, what then?

Tommy—Please, teacher, there will only be nine.

CONGREGATIONAL WOMEN ELECT THEIR OFFICERS.

The Women's Association of the Congregational church at its meeting yesterday afternoon elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. J. M. Whiton; vice-president, Mrs. Charles L. Goodrich; recording secretary, Mrs. Thad Doane, Jr.; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Thomas West; treasurer, Miss Jessie McIntosh.

The treasurer's report which was one of the most interesting of those read during the afternoon showed that the sum of more than $850 was disbursed during the past year among the activities of the association. The committees appointed by the president for the coming year are as follows:

Social, afternoon, Mrs. Good; entertainment, Miss Ethel Millar; literary, Miss S. A. Clark; music, Mrs. F. A. Weeks; work, Mrs. William Hand; house, Mrs. A. C. La Boyteaux; visiting, Miss Ethel La Boyteaux; flower, Mrs. E. L. Morgan; literature, Mrs. J. P. S. Dunning; communion, Mrs. Weseman.

After the meeting tea was served and a general discussion of the work for the coming year occupied the balance of the afternoon. The association is in a prosperous codition and is planning even a greater work for the coming year.

Cutter, of Sandford avenue, in honor of Miss Elizabeth DeCamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo DeCamp, of Westfield, whose marriage to Stanley Bell, of Passaic, will occur in June. Covers were laid for ten guests, all intimate friends of Miss DeCamp, and there were many delightful features. QUESTION OF ETHICS

"Papa," began Bobby one evening after dinner, "if a feller was to find anything, what's he to do?"

His father looked over the top of his paper and regarded him absently.

"Oh, advertise, I suppose,' he said. "That is, unless the thing he found was already advertised as lost. Why?"

"Oh, nothing," replied Bobby. "I was just wondering. I knew a feller once that found a dog."

"Was it valuable?"

"Not so awful. You see, he was just a common yeller dog, with an awful scraggy tail. He took him home and kept him."

"Maybe some little child cried because her pet was lost," Bobby's father said. "Did he have a collar on?"

"I don't know. Then I knew 'nother feller that found ten cents, and it was my ten cents and he wouldn't give it back. That was Sam, and he says finders is keepers."

"Well, it isn't. If you found anything I should be very much ashamed of you if you didn't take it back at once."

"We got a place in Billy's cellar to play ball," said Bobby, hurriedly. "We want to keep in practice, so we play catch when it's bad weather. Billy's a swell catcher, all right."

"I thought you said you lost your ball."

"Well, this is another one," said Bobby. "The one I had was fine, but it went down a sewer hole. Billy had another, but it rolled under a wagon and got smashed. I would 'a' said it was Billy's fault, but he wanted the driver to pay for it."

"Did the driver pay him?"

"I should say not," Bobby replied, scornfully. "He belongs to the meanest grocery in town, anyhow, that driver. He won't ever let a feller hitch or have a ride, and when Harry Simmons tossed a snowball at him he chased Harry two blocks. And they don't ever put a blanket on the horse."

"I think you would have been glad if some one had brought your ball back to you."

"Oh, but they couldn't," said Bobby. "It was gone for good just as soon as it hit the sewer hole. I don't see why they have those bars so far apart. 'Most anything could fall in. Mamie Kelly knows a woman who lost a solid gold watch down one of 'em. Billy says he bets it was only plated."

"Well is it the watch that has been found?"

"No, sir; they couldn't ever get that without taking up the pipes, could they? Mamie Kelly says it was lost a whole lot of years ago."

"Oh, I thought it was an occurrence in modern history," said his father. "What has been found, then?"

"Well," Bobby began, nervously, "a feller I know found a knife. It's a bully knife, with six blades, and only two broke. It's just what anybody'd want who didn't have one, like me. I don't know why nobody gave me a knife for Christmas."

"That was a serious oversight, I admit," said his father. "Go on."

"Well—now—er—can't the feller keep it?"

"It belongs to somebody. Do you know whose it is?"

"I think maybe I do."

"Well, then, I advise you to tell this boy when you happen to meet him that you know whose knife he found, so that he may take it to the owner."

"Yes—but—" Bobby stammered. "You see, it's Sam's knife, and Sam says finders is keepers. I'd like to know why a feller should act different to Sam than Sam did to me. He kept my ten cents."

"Now, look here, Bobby," said his father, seriously. "Of course you haven't told me who found that knife, but just suppose it was you, what would you do?"

Bobby gave his father a startled look and then gazed at the spot where his toe was digging a hole in the rug.

"Come, Bobby," his father reminded him. "I am waiting."

"Well," said Bobby, slowly, "I guess if it was me, I'd give it back."

"Yes, I think you would."

Bobby reached for his coat, which was conveniently at hand.

"I'll be back pretty soon," he said, hastily. "I'm just going over to Sam's."

London's Sunday Mail Service.

There is no postal delivery in London on a Sunday, but it is possible to send a letter by "express delivery" on Saturday which will be delivered on Sunday on payment of a fairly high mileage rate by the recipient. A new system was introduced last Sunday by which envelopes marked on the outside "for telephone delivery" are opened on Sunday and the contents telephoned to the addressee at 8:30 a. m.

The charge in addition to the ordinary two cents postage is six cents for every 30 words. Thus a 60-word message would cost 14 cents as compared with 60 cents if sent by telegraph, while express delivery might be cheaper if the distance was not great from the receiving postoffice.

Only 42 messages were handled the first Sunday and many of these were sent by newspapers to test the service.

So Soon?

"Is life a blank to you now?"

"Why do you ask such a question as that?"

"You haven't made any entries in your diary for several days."

To Clean Upholstered Chairs.

An upholstered chair can be cleaned of a great amount of dust if an old towel is dampened and placed over the upholstered part and then beaten with a rattan carpet beater. As the towel collects the dust it should be rinsed clean and the process repeated. This is a method of dusting the chair when there is no yard for one to take the furniture into, and it is done to keep the dust from flying over the room, settling on other pieces.

Soft Ginger Cakes.

One cup of lard and butter, one cup of molasses (Orleans), one cup of sugar, one tablespoonful of soda, one cup of boiling water, salt, two eggs, five scant cups of flour, two tablespoonfuls of cinnamon and two of ginger. This batter can be kept for a fortnight and baked in gem pans at the shortest notice, even after the company are on the porch.

Mathematical Merriment.

"I always distrust the statistician who speaks in 'round numbers,'" said the minister of finance.

"Yes," answered the court jester, feebly; "when a man uses round numbers he is usually not figuring on the square."—Exchange.

King Alfonso's Breakfast.

Every morning of his life Alfonso XIII. has a good rump-steak and potatoes for his breakfast, often preceded by eggs and sometimes followed by salad and fruit, says McClure's Magazine. On the other hand, the King never drinks wine and generally confines himself to a tumbler of water and zucharillos, the national beverage, composed of white of egg beaten up with sugar.

Pa's Home Regalia.

Bobbie, along with his mother, was watching a Masonic ceremony in which his father had a leading role.

"Oh, ma," giggled Bobbie, "see pa's apron! Ain't it a skimpy thing? Why don't he wear the big one that you make him put on when he helps you wash the dishes?"

Then "everybody langhed but father."—Sloper's Half-Holiday.

Revenge.

Revenge is a debt, in the paying of which the greatest knave is honest and sincere, and, so far as he is able, punctual. But there is a difference between a debt of revenge and every other debt. By paying our other debts, we are equal with all mankind; but in refusing to pay a debt of revenge we are superior.

Delicacy.

Tub—Old boy, I want to congratulate you on your speech at the banquet last night.

O'Sudds (after waiting a moment)—I know you do, pard, and you're awfully sorry you can't do it truthfully. I appreciate the effort, just the same. Nasty weather, isn't it?—Chicago Tribune.

He Thinks the Divorce Worth It.

"Some men are so queer."

"And are you going to tell me of one particularly queer one."

"Yes. It's Mr. Barberton. His wife used to beg him for nickels and dimes, and now he's cheerfully paying her a hundred a week for alimony."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Jealous Little Pussies.

Ella—There's that cat Nellie Hikiks receiving a bouquet. I bet she buys them herself. Must cost her a bit.

Tella—No, dear. She's had one made of everlasting flowers.

An Ungrateful Wretch.

"Don't you think smoking a disagreeable habit?"

"It is," answered Mr. Groucher, "if you try it with 'Merry Christmas' cigars."—Exchange.

SHOULD SALUTE FLAG ON ALL OCCASIONS.

The American flag should not be hoisted before sunrise nor allowed to remain up after sunset.

At "retreat," sunset, civilian spectators should stand at "attention" and uncover during the playing of "The Star-Spangled Banner." Military spectators are requested by regulation to stand at attention and give the military salute. During the playing of the national hymn at "retreat" the flag should be lowered, but not then allowed to touch the ground.

When the national colors are passing on parade, or in review, the spectators should, if walking, halt, and if sitting, arise and stand at "attention" and uncover.

When the national and state, or other flags, fly together, the national flag should be placed on the right.

When the flag is flown at half staff as a sign of mourning, it should be hoisted to full staff at the conclusion of the funeral.

The national salute is one gun for for every State. The international salute is, under the law of nations, twenty-one guns.

Whenever possible the flag should be flown from a staff or mast, but should not be fastened to the side of a building, platform or scaffolding.

When the flag is used as a banner the Union should fly to the north in streets running east and west and to the east on streets running north and south.

When flags are used in unveiling a statue or monument they should not be allowed to fall to the ground, but should be carried aloft to wave out, forming a distinctive feature during the remainder of the ceremony.

Settling His Doubts.

"I see it says here dat Jim Jeffries traces his family back to de vikings."

"Vikings, eh? Sailors, wer'nt dey?"

"Sure."

"I don't like dat. What do sailors know about jolts an' jabs?"

"Aw, hold on. Dese here vikings were a kind o' raiders. Dey'd light down on de enemy an' trim him close an' den hustle back again."

"Did day always come back?"

"Of course dey did."

"Dat's de stuff. Now I'm sure Jeff will come back all right, all right."

Have You Got Brown Hair?

Blue eyes may accompany light brown hair, and they often do. Such light brown hair is a legacy from a blonde progenitor who has married with one of the brown-haired people. Brown-haired folks are equable, well balanced, not prone to go to extreme, and seldom quick-tempered. Their steady ways will carry them through many a rough place in the world. They go with the multitude and are, as a rule, contented, having no thirst for ambitious things, as often the blacks and blondes of pure type have.

A Pressing Hint.

A woman who understands the art of pressing says that a large bottle, rollingpin, or even a broomstick, will be found most useful to use when pressing seams. Then there will be no shining streak to mark the length, as is the case when seams are pressed upon a flat surface. When using the curved surface only the point of the seam is touched by the iron.

Imported Parasols.

The newest style in imported parasols is of flowered mousseline de soie, with a white ground, stretched tightly over a lining of colored India silk, the tone of the design. Instead of a silk strap to hold the folds in place when the parasol is closed an ivory ring is used. This is fastened to the handle by a cord.

Still Imparting Information.

Mrs. Chugwater (taking off her glasses and wiping them)—Josiah, what does this paper mean when it talks about the "eternal feminine?"

Mr. Chugwater—Lillian Russell, I suppose. Takes too much work to dig out a fact for yourself once in a while, does it?—Chicago Tribune.

Wouldn't Be Overloaded.

Slender Individual—Did I understand you to say, sir, that you got out at the next station?

Stout Party—Yes, I did, sir—and what of it?

Slender Individual (with great relief)—Ah-h-h! The train'll be getting on faster after that!

When the Whip Cracks.

"What made that stout man jump so nervously when the driver cracked his whip?"

"He's used to jumping when the whip cracks."

"Is he in a circus?"

"No, he's in the Legislature."

An Appropriation.

"Do you approve of barefoot dancing?"

"I do," answered Mr. Sirius Barker. "At the present prices of shoe leather I hope it sets the fashion."—Washington Evening Star.

In the Dime Museum.

Lord Belle Vue (savagely)—Well, your face is your fortune, anyhow!

Her Ladyship—Yes, and so might yours be, if you only knew it!

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 22, 1910.

Topic.—What is it to be a Christian?—Acts xxvi, 24-29. (Union meeting with the Juniors.) Comment by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

The question "What is it to be a Christian?" cannot be answered definitely in a single sentence. There are too many phases of the Christian's spirit, life and labors to make it possible to limit them to what we ordinarily call a definition. Webster defines a Christian "as one who professes or is assumed to believe in the religion of Christ, especially one whose inward and outward life is conformed to the doctrines of Christ." This perhaps is as good a human definition as could be given of a Christian in the abstract, but when we come to the Scriptures, instead of finding any one statement that defines a Christian, there are simply various descriptions of the characteristics of a disciple of Christ according to the phase of Christianity which Christ or the apostles desired to set forth. What is it to be a Christian may better, therefore, be summed in these characters and especially as illustrated in one who is a Christian—for instance, Paul, the central figure of the scene before us.

In this scene Paul is on trial before King Agrippa and his queen and Festus. Paul had been arrested at Jerusalem, taken to Caesarea, tried before Festus, then Felix, but had appealed to Caesar, a right which as a Roman citizen he possessed. Meanwhile Agrippa came to Caesarea and desired to hear Paul, and he addressed the king, queen and Festus. In this defense we have one of the greatest addresses in the Bible, and it is little wonder that after a conference of the judges Agrippa said to Festus, "This man might have been set at liberty if he had not appealed unto Caesar." Paul had simply told the story of his conversion and subsequent zeal for Christianity. Festus declared he was mad because of his much learning and zeal. Paul denied it and appealed to Agrippa about the prophets and his knowledge of them. Agrippa said unto Paul (A. V.), "Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian." And Paul said, "I would to God that not only thou, but also all that hear me this day, were both almost and altogether such as I am except these bonds."

What did Paul mean by "such as I am?" He could only mean one thing—a Christian. Paul was a Christian, and in him and his life we see the characteristics of a true Christian.

1. Paul was converted. On his way to Damascus to persecute Christians he saw Christ in a vision and accepted Him as his Saviour. He was not a Christian in the sense that he tried to reform himself by taking Christ as his example. He was inwardly changed by the power of the Holy Ghost. So must every one be who really is a Christian. Regeneration, not reformation by attempted personal efforts, makes a Christian.

2. Paul possessed the spirit of Christ. "I am crucified with Christ. Nevertheless I live. Yet not I, but Christ, liveth in me." This is an absolute essential of a Christian. "He that hath not the spirit of Christ is none of His." The spirit of Christ does not simply mean an inward desire to follow Christ. Christ must through His spirit dwell in us. "Abide in me and I in you." We must be such as Paul was when he said, "Christ liveth in me."

3. Paul's outward life conformed to that of Christ. This necessarily follows the inward possession of Christ. The inward life determines the outward life. If Christ lives in us, if His mind is our mind, His will is our will, we must be like Him in life and character.

4. Paul accepted and believed the great doctrines concerning Christ—His diety, His crucifixion, His resurrection and ascension, His miracles and the doctrine of the atonement in the sense of substitution. He gloried only in the cross and boldly proclaimed that Christ's death there was a vicarious sacrifice for sinners.

5. Paul desired to see all men Christians. "I would to God that not only thou, but also all that hear me this day, were both almost and altogether such as I am (Christians) accept these bonds." Seeking to save others is one of the surest signs that we are saved and are Christians.

His Only Vacation.

In Baltimore the Christian Endeavorers are greatly interested in the work of the Children's Fresh Air society. All of the societies contribute largely to its support, and many of the prominent city Endeavorers are officers in the society.

Some time ago a letter was received at the office of the society which is so good and so full of encouragement for the charity Christian worker that I want to pass it along. Here it is:

Inclosed please find $2 for the work of the Fresh Air society. I remember with much happiness that the only vacation I ever had as a child was given me by this society, and I want to send my mite now to help some other child to get a vacation. I hope the work may go on and that all the children may be sent to the country.

A FRESH AIR CHILD GROWN UP.

So seldom do we get any thanks for the work done among the poorer people, especially work of this kind, that it shows a healthful condition to get such a letter. And, my dear Endeavor friends, it just goes to prove that our Master does not let a single part of our labor spent in His service go without its return.—Alfred S. Day in Christian Endeavor World.

LACE FOR HATS.

White chantilly lace forms the crown and drapes the brim of a white hat from Paris.

Delicate lace veils made of white cotton tulle are bordered with exquisitely patterned edges of duchess lace.

Large round bows, ends of figured lace cut from allover patterns, in black and white, are hemmed and then wired through the hem.

Each bunch of wired bows or loops consist of many single ones. Some of these groupes show almost countless units to make up the whole.

The lace frill, like those worn by Charlotte Corday, has once more been introduced under the hatbrim.

Hats are faced with lace by the yard, and its scalloped edge is turned in toward the crown, or out toward the brim, to your liking.

Silver or bronze paint is not new on the gown, but the milliner has but recently taken it up. The dab of silver paint now takes on a rose-colored tinge.

Delicately woven black, gold or silver lace covers whole turbans of crisp white tulle.

English Plum Pudding.

Two pounds of raisins, stoned; 2 pounds of currants, 1 pound of suet, 1 quart of grated bread crumbs, one-half pound of mixed peel (citron, lemon and orange), one cup of flour, four eggs, two cups of sweet milk, one teaspoon salt, one-half pound of brown sugar, one nutmeg grated, two teaspoons cloves and cinnamon. Steam or boil six hours. This pudding material will make three small puddings or one large one.

Somewhat Suspicious.

"Why do you refuse me an interview, Mr. Gotrox? I only wanted to ask you how you earned your first thousand dollars."

"Excuse me, young man. I thought you wanted to know how I got that last million."

THE MADE-OVER PARASOL.

Fix up last season's parasol in advance, and listen now to a note of the season before you venture on this timely renovation.

Fringe to match or to harmonize is the fresh touch to be added in imitation of the newest.

It is the quaintest looking twisted silk fringe, ranging in width from one to three and a half inches and having a fussy little gimp border, which there is no effort to conceal.

After the parasol has been cleaned with a soft brush or sponge dipped in gasolene (do it in the open air), and allowed to dry, still wide open, the fringe is basted on the edge and sewed by hand with silk to match.

All of the work is done upon the open parasol.

Some slight embroidery, like a row of polka dots, may be done where fringe joins parasol. They are put on in the flat Japanese stitch, and if of a contrasting color there should not be chosen a note that is too strikingly different.

The conspicuous parasol is not necessarily the most beautiful.

The Result.

"I gave that new reporter directions to write a story on the possibilities of profanity in a banana peel."

"Well, what did he do with the banana peel story?"

"Fell down on it."—Baltimore American.

Wouldn't Know the Difference.

"I couldn't get a box."

"Then we shall have to sit in the orchestra?"

"I'm afraid so, my dear. Try it once. You can get just as poor a view of the stage if you sit sidewise."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Case of Color.

"Yes, I was fined $500 for putting coloring matter in artificial butter."

"Well, didn't you deserve it?"

"Perhaps. But what made me mad was that the judge who imposed the fine had dyed whiskers."

LAUNDRY WORK.

For a girl who has no particular aptitude for a professional vocation, but is capable and a good manager, laundry work offers one of the best openings at the present time.

Laundry teachers in the various technical schools command good salaries, and the calling is not overcrowded.

Besides, there are many posts to be had as laundry manageress or laundry matron to charitable institutions, while a woman with sufficient capital to start in business for herself has a good chance for success. For this work a girl, of course, neds to be strong and in sound health, as she must learn to do all the practical work herself before she can teach others, but in these athletic days there are thousands of well educated young women who are physically fit as their hard working sisters.

Has His Troubles.

Mike—There are some disadvantages in being a millionaire."

Jemmy—"For instance?"

"Well, millionaires are continually getting letters threatening them with all sorts of awful fates unless they immediately pay the writers large sums of money."

"That's nothing. I get just such letters every month."

To Fold a Man's Coat.

Lay the coat out perfectly flat with the inside down. The sleeves should be spread out smoothly and then folded back to the elbow until each end of the sleeve is even with the collar. Fold the revers back and then double the coat over, folding it directly in the centre seam, and then smooth it out carefully and lay flat in the drawer.

Too Practical.

"Your wife's new gown is a poem, Mr. Beasley," said Miss Gushington.

"I didn't know," said Mr. Beasley, gloomily, "that there was any form of poetry that buttoned down the back."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

CONVENIENCE FOR THE SEWING ROOM.

Where much sewing is done at home it pays to have a separate sewing room fitted with the latest convenience for cutting, fitting and measuring.

This room should be light and airy, if possible opening on an upper porch, where work can be taken on pleasant days. A one-windowed dark room is both bad for work and worker. Have low side lights or a table with a good student lamp if sewing must be done at night.

Low, straight-backed armless chairs, with or without rockers and several footstools, will prevent stooping at work.

Another convenient furnishing is an old chest of drawers or a highboy, where materials and implements can be neatly kept. If there is no closet in the room use a wardrobe, or put hooks on one side of the wall from a projecting board, across which string a curtain.

There should be a table large enuogh for cutting out, and an ordinary dining-room table with adjustable leaves is invaluable.

Have a good sewing machine. Old ones can often be traded in for those with modern improvements, or modern attachments can be fitted to any make of machine.

Among these is a tubular trimmer for making satin tubing of flat folds; a spool pin that keeps thread from twisting; stocking darners that will repair huge holes in a minute; graduated flat tuckers and a smocker.

Another new devise useful for summer sewing is a fan that is fastened to the wheel that keeps a current of air as one runs the machine.

There are machines with scales and automatic chalk markers for turning up skirts, adjustable skirt and bust forms, a side-plaiting machine that is heated by gas and run by hand; a pinking machine; spool cases, where numerous spools of silk and cotton are kept in convenient layers on a sort of turn-stile.

If running a machine by foot seems to injure the health, invest in an electric or water-power machine. If these are too costly there are several good hand attachments that do not interfere with the threads.

The day of drudgery in sewing is over.

ABRUZZI A MOST REMARKABLE NOBLEMAN.

It has been justly observed that there is no princely figure more sympathetic and attractive than he; we should feel tempted to add that there is none more nigmatic. The Count of Turin, his brother, once said: "My brother, the Duke of Aosta, is the dandy, my brother, the Duke of the Abruzzi, is the learned man, and I am the bon vivant—the gay boy."

Luigi Amedo of Savoy is, in fact, a grave and singular spirit, who has grown up under the spell of the unfathomable mystery of nature, the complex problems of science. Nevertheless, we know that he has not escaped the universal law of sentiment, and that before he attacked the cliffs of far-away mountains he had already passed through the vicissitudes of a sad and romantic love affair.

A learned man he is without a doubt, as his scientific works, his reports of his expenditures, his notes and his reflections demonstrate. Contemplative? One wonders whether he has ever had the time to be so, for he is, above all things, a man of action, a sportsman in the fullest sense of the word, enamored of movement, of change, possessed by a passion for danger and difficulty; he is a voluptuary of a special sort, who delights in the inward joys that peril, faced and conquered, affords him. Add to this that there is no pedantry about his learning; very simple and reserved, he always endeavors to pass unnoticed, and his manners are democratic in the extreme.—McClure's Magazine.

ARTIST WHISTLER ALSO HAD FAITHFUL FRIENDS.

That Whistler, the man of famous enemies, had faithful friends, is recalled by Ford Madox Hueffer, writing of the pre-Raphaelites in Harper's Magazine. Madox Brown had a circular printed drawing the attention of all his old patrons to the merits of Whistler's etchings, and begging them in the most urgent terms to make purchases because Whistler was in indigent circumstances.

The story is that upon one occasion Madox Brown, going to a tea party at the Whistlers' in Chelsea, was met in the hall by Mrs. Whistler, who begged him to go to the poulterer's and purchase a pound of butter. The bread was cut, but there was no money in the house, the poulterer had cut off his credit, and Mrs. Whistler said she "dared not send her husband, for he would certainly punch the tradesman's head."

Knew What Was Coming.

Mrs. Crisp—But why did you refuse to attend Mrs. O'Neill's dinner party?

Mrs. Kandid—I used to have her cook.

Some Head Work Here.

Chollie—But a fellow can't always pick the winnah!

Gussie—Then, bah jove, pick the losahs and bet against them.

FIRE BY BOYS SCATTER THOUSANDS OF RATS.

Summit, May 18.—This city is threatened with an invasion of rats, because boys set afire the city's dumping ground, near Summit avenue, Sunday.

The flames spread and worked deep into the mass of refuse. A force of men, under the direction of Street Superintendent Oaks, fought the flames all day yesterday and resumed the battle this morning. The dump was the home of hundreds of thousands of rats, and the streams of water and the burning waste sent them scurrying in all directions. Several thousand of the rodents were killed. It is feared that not only the city dwellers here, but farmers throughout all this section, will suffer from the invasion of hungry rats, as they are great travelers.

Only a few days ago the authorities were debating on how to exterminate the pests, which were so numerous at the dumping ground as to cause uneasiness because of their prolific increase.

C. R. R. Raises Wages.

Wages were increased in all the branches of the operating department of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, according to the bulletin notice posted at the Communipaw terminal yesterday, and what was more gratifying to the men, the new rates go into effect from May 1, which will mean a substantial increase in the salaries.

DESIGNED BIG UNION STATION.

Charles Hansel, of Elizabeth, the commissioner in charge of the revaluation of the railroad and canal property of New Jersey, was a much pleased man yesterday when he learned that final steps had been taken for the building of the $30,000,000 union railroad terminal in Cincinnati. Mr. Hansel was the engineering expert in making the plans for the terminal, which will be the third largest in the world. The new terminal, Mr. Hansel says, will be self-supporting, without any help from the nine railroads which will use it. In addition to a large office building, it will comprise five blocks of concrete warehouses.

Cemetery Association Elects.

Long Branch, May 18—The Greenlawn Cemetery Association yesterday elected officers and decided to install a water plant and run 1,200 feet of pipe at a cost of $500. The new officers are: President, Edward E. Lacour; vice-president, Charles D. McLean; secretary, L. Henry Cobb; treasurer, David H. Wooley; trustee for three years, L. H. Dennett. The association supports a woman's auxiliary, which built a fence around the cemetery at a cost of $600. The association has 197 plots in its care. George Hampton is superintendent of the cemetery.

Demand No Sunday Baseball.

The Paterson Ministerial Association, composed of ministers of different denominations in that city, has adopted formal resolutions calling upon the Mayor and Chief of Police to put a stop to Sunday baseball playing within the limts of the city, which the ministers assert is "a desecration of the Christian Sabbath, a violation of the highest moral standard of our city, and contrary to the spirit and purpose of the State laws."

LECTURE ON NAPOLEON GIVEN BY CLERGYMAN

Napoleon was the subject of a lecture delivered by Rev. C. S. Wood, of Roselle, in the High School auditorium last night before a big audience for the benefit of the Church of the Heavenly Rest. Mr. Wood's lecture was aided by the apearance of members of the church who impersonated the characters prominent in the history of the "little Corsican." Irving De Hart was Napoleon; Mrs. Juan Babcock, Josephine; Miss Blanche Thorne, Marie Louise; Juan Babcock, Jr., represented Napoleon as a boy; Mrs. W. B. Grannat impersonated the mother; Juan Babcock the Pope and the following represented the court ladies: Mrs. Charles Stace, Mrs. John Drake, Miss Julia Lee, Miss Helen Sutton, Miss Belle Lannon and Lorna Becker.

Albert Harris and Alfred Becker were the cardinals, James Harris, Bishop of Paris, and William J. Ochiltree, John Ludgate and Robert Metler, lords. H. Babcock was the prince of Rome, and several smaller members of the young people's association took the parts of the acolytes, pages, etc.

There were seven scenes—the first representing Napoleon bidding adieu to his mother. The great general as a military student, crowning of Josephine as Empress of the French, the separation between Josephine and Napoleon, the marriage of Napoleon and Marie Louise, of Austria; Napoleon with the Prince of Rome and Napoleon a prisoner at St. Helena.

The lecture was marked by strict attention by the pupils, who were present in large numbers. A tableaux followed the lecture in which the above mentioned young people took part. The lecture was given under the auspices of the church society of which Mrs. Charles E. Borden and Benjamin Harris headed the committee. Music furnished by Mrs Chester Shreve, Miss Susan Bennett, Miss Mary Graves and Miss Laura Long was much enjoyed.

MRAVLAG HAS ENOUGH OF MAYORALTY BERTH.

Elizabeth, May 18.—Mayor Mravlag has announced that under no circumstances would be again consent to run for Mayor of Elizabeth.

The Mayor is dissatisfied with existing conditions in Elizabeth and says that between professional politicians and the churches any person who is elected Mayor of the city will find himself so badly handicapped that he will be able to acomplish very little for the general benefit of the people.

The Democrats, it is said, will probably name as their candidate for the Mayoralty either Alderman Charles H. Moore or General Dennis F. Collins. The latter, however, is said to favor Alderman Moore for the position.

Missing for Three Years.

New Brunswick, May 18.—An effort is being made by George Hubbard, of 110 Paterson street, to find his brother, William Henry Hubbard, who left his home here over three years ago to visit in Newark and has not since been heard from. He was a painter and spent his summers usually at Asbury Park. He had also been employed by Huyler, the confectioner, and inquiry has been made, but they have not employed him for four years. The missing man is about forty-five years old, five feet seven inches tall and weighs 145 pounds. An anchor is tattooed on his left arm. He has brown hair and was unmarried at the time he left this city.

Decision Hits Phillipsburg.

Phillipsburg, May 18—The recent decision by the Supreme Court in the matter of wholesale dealing in intoxicating drinks is causing discussion and comment here. The decision prohibits a wholesale dealer from disposing of his goods outside of the district where his license is granted. Phillipsburg, like other towns and cities along the State line, has been receiving much of its beer and other liquors from Easton, Pa., and even wholesalers and bottlers from the townships in the county, where the license fee is much less than it is in the town, have invaded the town.

Think Missing Girl in Newark.

Jersey City, May 18—The police of various municipalities have been asked to look for Josephine Merriman, fifteen years old, of 172 Fourth street this city, who has been missing from her home since a week ago last Wednesday. The girl's parents believe that she is in Newark.

READ MISSION PAPER ON "EAST AND WEST"

A paper full of interest on "The West and the East" was presented by Mrs. Martin I. Cooley at the meeting of the Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room. Prefacing her paper with the thought that like the course of the sun from East to West, the course of empire, of advancement and achievement had always taken a westward course.

Mrs. Cooley told of the rapid advancement of that part of this country west of the Mississippi River, which for many years was considered mere waste land. She told of the changes effected by railroads and irrigation inviting settlers from every clime and claimed that these stupendous changes in a material way called for equally stupendous efforts for the church of Christ if they would grasp the opportunity for the conquest of the world for Christ. The work of the American Baptist Home Missionary Society was described, and in closing, Mrs. Cooley stated that from the reports of work done, no other modern mission field on earth in seventy-five years had yelleded so large returns for investments therein.

The paper was preceded by a devotional service led by Mrs. C. P. Brewin.

DICKINSON DEFENDS MOTOR DEP'T CHIEF

After many days of preparation, Colonel S. D. Dickinson, Secretary of State, replied yesterday to the charges of State Auditor Drake that the Motor Vehicle Department was conducted in a loose and unbusiness-like manner. J. B. R. Smith, as Assistant Secretary of State, is also the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, and it was for this reason that Governor Fort sent to Colonel Dickinson a copy of the charges, with the request that he take steps to have them remedied.

The Secretary of State's reply is a long document, occupying some thirty-eight typewritten pages, in which all of the charges are gone over in detail. Colonel Dickinson says Mr. Drake's report to the Governor was based on a gratuitous investigation rather than an adult. The Secretary of State contends that the fact that Mr. Drake found no shortage shows that the departmen is being honorably operated. He further says that the only real defect that Mr. Drake found in the department was that the various agencies were not making their reports as regularly as they should. This defect, he says, has been corrected.

Boy Drowned Chasing Hat.

Charles McCann, the four-year-old son of Hugh McCann, of No. 197 Preakness avenue, Paterson, was drowned in Molly You's brook near that city shortly after 1:30 yesterday afternoon. County Physician Armstrong viewed the body and granted a certificate of accidental death. The boy fell into the brook while trying to reach his hat, which had blown into the water.

Funeral of an Infant.

Funeral services of Clarence Downs, the week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Downs, were held from the residence of the parents this morning. The child died yesterday.

"Sir, if I take this office which you offer, I do so with the avowed and expressed purpose of bringing Texas into this Union, in full view of any and all consequences. I shall offer her a treaty of annexation at once! I shall urge annexation at every hour, in every place, in all ways within my means, and in full view of the consequences!" He looked now gravely and keenly at the English plenipotentiary.

"That is well understood, Mr. Calhoun," began Mr. Tyler. "Your views are in full accord with my own.

"What, then, is the answer of John Calhoun to this latest call of his country?"

That answer is one which is in our history.

"John Calhoun accepts!" said my master, loud and clear.

CHAPTER IX.

A Kettle of Fish.

Few disputes exist which have not had their origin in women.—Juvenal.

I saw the heavy face of Mr. Pakenham go pale, saw the face of the Baroness von Ritz flash with a swift resolution, saw the eyes of Mr. Calhoun and Mr. Tyler meet in firmness. An instant later, Mr. Tyler rose and bowed our dismissal.

Mr. Pakenham drew apart and engaged in earnest speech with the lady who had accompanied him; so that meantime I myself found opportunity for a word with Mr. Calhoun.

"Now," said I, "the fat certainly is all in the fire!"

Mr. Calhoun took snuff.

"You don't know women, my son, and you don't know men, either." The thin white skin about his eyes wrinkled.

"Certainly, I don't know what arts may have been employed in Mr. Calhoun's office at half-past two this morning." I smiled frankly now at my chief, and he relaxed in turn.

"We had a most pleasant visit of an hour. A delightful woman, a charming woman, and one of intellect as well. I appealed to her heart, her brain, her purse, and she laughed, for the most part. Yet she argued, too, and seemed to have some interest—as you see proved now. Ah, I wish I could have had the other two great motives to add to my appeal!"

"Meaning—?"

"Love—and curiosity! With those added, I could have won her over; for believe me, she is none too firmly anchored to England. I am sure of that, thought it leaves me still puzzled. If you think her personal hold on yonder gentleman will be lessened, you err," he added, in a low voice. "I consider it sure that he is bent on her as much as he is on England. See, she has him back in hand already! I would she were our friend!"

"Is she not?" I asked suddenly.

"We two may answer that one day," said Calhoun enigmatically.

Now I offered to Mr. Calhoun the note I had received from his page.

"This journey to-night," I began; "can I not be excused from making that? There is a very special reason."

"What can it be?" asked Calhoun, frowning.

"I am to be married to-night, sir," said I, calmly as I could.

It was Calhoun's turn now to be surprised. "Married? Zounds! boy, what do you mean? There is no time to waste."

"I do not hold it quite wasted, sir," said I with dignity. "Miss Elizabeth Churchill and I for a long time—"

"Miss Elizabeth! So the wind is there, eh? My daughter's friend. I know her very well, of course. Very well done, indeed, for you. But there can be no wedding to-night."

I looked at him in amazement. He was as absorbed as though he felt empowered to settle that matter for me. A moment later, seeing Mr. Pakenham taking his leave, he stepped to the side of the baroness.

"Mr. Trist," said Mr. Calhoun, "I beg you to hand the Baroness von Ritz to her carriage, which will wait at the avenue." We were then standing near the door at the head of the steps.

So now I took the lady's sunshade from her hand, and we two, making adieux, passed down the shaded walk toward the avenue.

"You are a good cavalier," she said to me. "I find you not so fat as Mr. Pakenham, nor so thin as Mr. Calhoun. My faith, could you have seen that gentleman this morning in a wrapper—and in a red worsted nightcap!"

"But what did you determine?" I asked her suddenly. "What has my chief said to cause you to fail poor Mr. Pakenham as you did? I pitied the poor man, in such a grueling, and wholly without warning!"

"Monsieur is droll," she replied evasively. "As though I had changed! I will say this much: I think Sir Richard will care more for Mexico and less for Mexicans after this! But you do not tell me when you are coming to see me, to bring back my little shoe. Its mate has arrived by special messenger, but the pair remains still broken. Do you come to-night—this afternoon?"

"It would be my delight, madam, but there are two reasons—"

"One, then."

"I am going to Montreal to-night, for one."

She gave me a swift glance, which I could not understand.

"So?" she said. "Why so soon?"

"Orders," said I briefly. "But perhaps I may not obey orders for once. There is another reason."

"And that one?"

"I am to be married at six."

I turned to enjoy her consternation. Indeed, there was an alternate white and red passed across her face! But at once she was in hand.

"And you allowed me to become your devoted slave," she said, "even to the extent of calling upon a man in a red nightcap; and then, even upon a morning like this, when the birds sing so sweetly and the little flowers show pink and white—now you cast down my most sacred feelings!"

The mockery in her tone was perfect. I scarce had paused to note it. I was absorbed in one thought—of Elizabeth.

"I might have told you," said I at last, "but I did not myself know it until this morning."

"My faith, this country!" she exclaimed with genuine surprise. "What extraordinary things it does! I have just seen history made between the lightings of a cigarette, as it were. Now comes this man and announces that since midnight he has met and won the lady who is to rule his heart, and that he is to marry her at six!"

"Then congratulate me!" I demanded.

"Ah," she said, suddenly absorbed; "it was that tall girl. Yes, yes, I see, I see! I understand! So then! Yes!"

"But still you have not congratulated me."

"Ah, monsieur," she answered lightly, "one woman never congratulates a man when he has won another! What of my own heart? Fie! Fie!" Yet she had curious color in her face.

"I do not credit myself with such fatal charms," said I. "Rather say what of my little clasp there. I promised that to the tall girl, as you know."

"And might I not wear it for an hour?"

"I shall give you a dozen better some time," said I; "but to-night—"

"And my slipper? I said I must have that back, because I cannot hop along with but one shoe all my life."

"That you shall have as soon as I can get to my rooms at Brown's hotel yonder. A messenger shall bring it to you at once. Time will indeed be short for me. First, the slipper for madam. Then the license for myself. Then the minister. Then a friend. Then a carriage. Five miles to Elmhurst, and the train for the north starts at eight. Indeed, as you say, the methods of this country are sometimes hurried. Madam, cannot you use your wits in a cause so worthy as mine?"

I could not at the time understand the swift change of her features. "One woman's wits against another's!" she flashed at me. "As for that"—she made a swift motion to her throat. "Here is the trinket. Tell the tall lady it is my present to you. Tell her I may send her a wedding present—when the wedding really is to happen. Of course, you do not mean what you have said about being married in such haste?"

"Every word of it," I answered.

"Has she fortune?"

"I do not know."

"Have you fortune?"

"God knows, no!"

"You have but love—and this country?"

"That is all."

"It is enough," said she, sighing. "Dear God, it is enough! But then"—she turned to me suddenly—"I don't think you will be married so soon, after all. Wait."

"Ah, then you forbid our banns?"

"If you challange me," she retorted, "I shall do my worst."

"Then do your worst!" I said. "All of you do your joint worst. You cannot shake the faith of Elizabeth Churchill in me, nor mine in her. Oh, yes, by all means do your worst!"

"Very well," she said, with a catch of her breath. "At least we both said—'on guard!'"

"I wish I could ask you to attend at our wedding," I concluded, as her carriage approached the curb; "but it is safe to say that not even friends of the family will be present, and of those not all the family will be friends."

She did not seem to see her carriage as it paused, although she prepared to enter when I opened the door.

What sat on her face was perplexity, wonder, amazement, and something else, I know not what. Something of her perfect poise and confidence, her quality as a woman of the world, seemed to drop away. A strange and childlike quality came into her face, a pathos unlike anything I had seen there before. She took my hand mechanically.

"Of course," said she, as though she spoke to herself, "it cannot be. But, dear God! would it not be enough?"

I did not understand her speech. I stood and watched her carriage as it whirled away. Thinking of my great need for haste, mechanically I looked at my watch. It was one o'clock. Then I reflected that it was at 11 of the night previous that I had first met the Baroness von Ritz. Our acquaintance had therefore lasted some 14 hours.

J., at eight o'clock P. M., on Monday, the sixth day of June, A. D. Nineteen Hundred and Ten, at which time and place prior to the adoption of said ordinance, said ordinance will be considered by the Common Council, and all persons interested may be heard before the Common Council with reference to the proposed ordinance.

By order of the Common Council.

JAMES T. MacMURRAY,
City Clerk.

Plainfield, N. J., May 2, 1910.

AN ORDINANCE

to authorize the issuing of municipal bonds for the purpose of obtaining money from the sale thereof for the permanent improvement of streets and highways of the City of Plainfield, pursuant to Chapter 200 of the Laws of 1898, during the year 1910.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That for the purpose of obtaining money from the sale thereof for the permanent improvement of the streets and highways of said City during the calendar year 1910 with permanent and durable material of a kind to be determined in each instance by the Common Council before the work is commenced, to an amount not exceeding fifteen dollars per capita for each of the Inhabitants of said City according to the last official census, but not for more than the amount limited by law, the Common Council of said City do hereby, pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of said State entitled "An Act to authorize the improvement of streets and highways in cities of this State, and to provide for the payment of the expense of the same, and for the assessment of the benefits of such improvement upon the land and real estate benefited thereby," and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, authorize the issuing of thirty coupon municipal bonds of the City of Plainfield of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) each, and amounting in all to Thirty Thousand Dollars ($30,000), which bonds shall be dated July 1st, 1910, and shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum (5 per cent.) per annum, payable semi-annually, and be payable three years from the date thereof, with the option to the City to redeem or pay off the said bonds, or any one or more of them, at any time after one year from the date thereof and before three years from the date thereof, on giving personal notice to said holders of said bonds or thirty (30) days notice by advertisement in the official newspapers of the City of the intention to make such redemption or payment, which bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and bear the corporate seal of the City and be attested by the City Clerk, and may severally or collectively when ordered by resolution of the Common Council be sold for an amount not less than par value; and there shall be raised by tax in each year hereafter such sum of money as may be necessary to pay the interest on all outstanding bonds and the principal of such bonds as may mature during that year, and the money derived from the assessments upon the property benefited shall when collected be held as a fund toward the payment of said bonds.

Sec. 2. That before any improvement shall be authorized pursuant to the Act of the Legislature referred to in Section 1, it shall be necessary to enact an ordinance designating the street or streets or parts thereof to be improved, together with the kind of pavement proposed to improve them, and all work shall be given out upon contract to the lowest responsible bidder and only after bids therefor have been solicited and received, the Common Council to have the right to reject any and all of such bids.

Sec. 3. That streets or parts of streets to be improved with durable macadam pavement shall be so improved in accordance with the following specifications, that is to say, durable macadam pavement with bituminous binder, shall be laid to a depth running from six (6) inches in the center to four (4) inches at the side, as shown on plan entitled "Plan showing standard cross-sections of streets of the City of Plainfield, N. J., filed in the office of the City Clerk April 30th, 1910," said macadam pavement to be in every respect equal to the macadam with bituminous binder on Union Street between Arlington Avenue and Stelle Avenue in said City. The ordinance specially designating said streets or parts of streets shall also designate in each instance the width to which said macadam shall be laid.

Sec. 4. That after said improvements shall have been completed, the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively, by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax; no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actually derived from said improvements. 5 18 2 w

CHAPTER X.

Mixed Duties.

Most women forgive a liberty, rather than a slight.—Colton.

When I crossed the White House grounds and found my way to the spot where I had left my horse, I discovered my darky boy lying on his back, fast asleep under a tree, the bridle reins hooked over his upturned foot. I wakened him, took the reins and was about to mount, when at the moment I heard my name called.

Turning, I saw emerge from the door of Gautier's little cafe, across the street, the tall figure of an erstwhile friend of mine, Jack Dandridge of Tennessee, credited with being the youngest member in the house of representatives at Washington—and credited with little else.

Dandridge had been taken up by friends of Jackson and Polk and carried into congress without much plan or objection on either side. Since his arrival at the capital he had been present at few roll-calls, and had voted on fewer measures. His life was given up in the main to one specialty, to-wit: the compounding of a certain beverage, invented by himself, the constituent parts of which were bourbon whisky, absinthe, square-faced gin and a dash of eau de vie.

Jack Dandridge, it may be said, was originally possessed of a splendid constitution. Nearly six feet tall, his full and somewhat protruding eye was as yet only a trifle watery, his wide lip only a trifle loose, his strong figure only a trifle portly. Socially he had been well received in our city; and during his stay east of the mountains he had found occasion to lay desperate suit to the hand of none other than Miss Elizabeth Churchill. We had been rivals, although not enemies; for Jack, finding which way the wind sat for him, withdrew like a man, and cherished no ill will. When I saw him now, a sudden idea came to me, so that I crossed the street at his invitation.

"Jack," I exclaimed, grasping him by the shoulder, "you are the man I want. You are the friend that I need—the very one."

"Certainly, certainly," he said; "but please do not disarrange my cravat. Will you have a Dream with me? I construct them now with three additional squirts of the absinthe." He locked his arm in mine.

"You may have a Dream," said I; "but for me, I need all my head to-day. In short, I need both our heads as well."

Jack was already rapping with the head of his cane upon the table, to call an attendant, but he turned to me. "What is the matter? Lady, this time?"

"Two of them."

"Indeed? One apiece, eh?"

"None apiece, perhaps. In any case, you lose."

"Then the names—or at least one?"

I flushed a bit in spite of myself. "You know Miss Elizabeth Churchill?"

He nodded gravely. "And about the other lady?"

"I cannot tell you much about her," said I; "I have but little knowledge myself. I mean the Baroness von Ritz. I must be quick. I have in my possession—on the bureau in my little room at my quarters in Brown's hotel—a slipper which the baroness gave me last night—a white satin slipper—"

Jack finished the remainder of his glass at a gulp. "Good God!" he remarked.

"Quite right," I retorted hotly. "Accuse me! Anything you like! But go to this address with it"—I scrawled on a piece of paper and thrust it at him—"then get a carriage and hasten to Elmhurst drive, where it turns in at the road. Wait for me there, just before six."

He sat looking at me with amusement and amazement both upon his face, as I went on:

"Listen to what I am to do in the meantime. First I go post-haste to Mr. Calhoun's office. Then I am to take his message, which will send me to Canada, to-night. After I have my orders I hurry back to Brown's and dress for my wedding."

The glass in his hand dropped to the floor in splinters.

"Your wedding?"

"Yes, Miss Elizabeth and I concluded this very morning not to wait. I would ask you to help me as my best man, if I dare."

"You do dare," said he. "You're all a-fluster. Go on; I'll get a parson—how'll Dr. Halford do?—and I'd take care of the license for you if I could—Gad! sorry it's not my own!"

"You are the finest fellow in the world, Jack. I have only one thing more to ask"—I pointed to the splintered glass upon the floor— "Don't get another."

"Of course not, of course not!" he expostulated. His voice was just a trifle thickened. We left now together for the license clerk, and I intrusted the proper document in my friend's hands. An instant later I was outside, mounted, and off for Calhoun's office at his residence in Georgetown.

At last, as for the fourth time I flung down the narrow walk and looked down the street, I saw his well-known form approaching. He walked slowly, somewhat stooped upon his cane. He raised a hand as I would have begun to speak. "You will take the railway train at eight. You will be joined by Dr. Samuel Ward, who will give you a sealed paper, which will contain your instructions and the proper moneys. He goes as far as Baltimore."

"You would be the better agent," he added presently, "if this love silliness were out of your head. It is not myself you are serving, and not my party. It is this country you are serving."

"But, sir—" I began.

His long thin hand was imperative. "Go on, then, with your wedding, if you will, and if you can; but see that you do not miss the train at eight!"

CHAPTER XI.

Who Giveth This Woman?

Woman is a miracle of divine contradictions.—Jules Michelet.

On my return to my quarters at Brown's hotel I looked at the top of my bureau. It was empty. My friend Dandridge had proved faithful. The slipper of the baroness was gone! So now, hurriedly, I began my toilet for that occasion which to any gentleman should be the one most exacting, the most important of his life's events.

Elizabeth deserved better than this unseemly haste. Her sweetness and dignity, her adherence to the forms of life, her acquaintance with the elegancies, the dignities and conventions of the best of our society, bespoke for her ceremony more suited to her class and mine.

I told none about my quarters anything of my plans, but arranged for my portmanteaus to be sent to the railway station for that evening's train north. I hurried to the Bond's jewelry place and secured a ring—two sizes, indeed; for, in our haste, betrothal and wedding ring needed their first use at the same day and hour. I found a waiting carriage which served my purpose, and into it I flung, urging the driver to carry me at top speed into Elmhurst road.

As we swung down the road I leaned forward, studying with interest the dust cloud of an approaching carriage. As it came near I called to my driver. The two vehicles paused almost wheel to wheel. It was my friend Jack Dandridge who sprawled on the rear seat of the carriage! That is to say, the fleshy portion of Jack Dandridge. His mind, his memory, and all else, were gone.

"There Lacks One Thing, a Bride."

I sprang into his carriage and caught him roughly by the arm. I felt in all his pockets, looked on the carriage floor, on the seat, and pulled up the dust rug. At last I found the license.

"Did you see the baroness?" I asked, then.

At this he beamed upon me with a wide smile.

"Did I?" said he, with gravity pulling down his long buff waistcoat. "Did I? Mos' admi'ble woman in all the worl'! Of course, Miss 'Liz'beth Churchill also mos' admi'ble woman in the worl'," he added politely, "but I didn't see her."

The sudden sweat broke out upon my forehead. "Tell me, what have you done with the slipper?"

He shook his head sadly. "Mishtaken, my friend! I gave mo' admi'ble slipper in the worl', just ash you said, just as baroness said, to Mish Elizabeth Churchill—mos' admi'ble woman in the worl'!"

"Did you see her?" I gasped. "Did you see her father—any of her family?"

"God blesh me, no!" rejoined this young statesman. "Feelings delicacy prevented. Washn't in fit condition to approach family mansion. Alwaysh mos' delicate. Sent packazh in by servant, from gate—turned round—drove off—found you."

My only answer was to spring from his carriage into my own and to order my driver to go on at a run. At last I reached the driveway of Elmhurst, my carriage wheels cutting the gravel as we galloped up to the front door. My approach was noted. Even as I hurried up the steps the tall form of none other than Mr. Daniel Churchill appeared to greet me. I extended my hand. He did not notice it. I began to speak. He bade me pause.

"To what may I attribute this visit, Mr. Trist?" he asked me, with dignity.

"Since you ask me, and seem not to know," I replied, "I may say that I am here to marry your daughter, Miss Elizabeth! I presume that the minister of the gospel is already here?"

"The minister is here," he answered. "There lacks one thing—the bride."

"What do you mean?"

He put out his arm across the door.

"I regret that I must bar my door to you. But you must take my word, as coming from my daughter, that you are not to come here to-night."

I looked at him, my eyes staring wide. I could not believe what he said.

"Why," I began; "how utterly monstrous!"

A Sad Story.

New York is to have a thirteen-story all night restaurant.

And the penniless diner who puts himself outside a good dinner on the thirteenth floor is going to consider it mighty unlucky.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

HE WANTED AN AUTO

Goitt is a man of impulses. The other night he dropped his paper, did some figuring on the back of an envelope and then announced suddenly to Mrs. Goitt: "Well, I've about decided to do it."

"Do what?" asked Mrs. Goitt, looking at him queerly; "have the plumbing fixed in the bathroom? I really think it's about time. I haven't been able to get any hot water for two weeks."

"Oh, no, no, no," corrected Goitt, with a slight frown of annoyance. "I'm not thinking about little trifling things. I'm having thoughts now on a big, broad basis. An automobile!—that's what I'm going to buy. Yep, I've been riding around with some of my friends lately, and blamed if I haven't caught the fever. Things are looming up pretty good for me in a business way, considerin' that the panic's so recently over with, and I've just about made up my mind that we might as well have one of the things as anybody else. There's just this about it, though—if I buy an auto it's going to be one of these big ones about the size of a railway coach. I want a great big one that'll make people clear out same as when a passenger train's coming along, or else none at all. That's me. None of this half way business in mine."

The next night after Goitt's surprising announcement he came home and told Mrs. Goitt they would hike down to the automobile show—said he wanted to get a line on the prices.

They went. Goitt walked clear around the armory twice and then stopped in front of the most impressive, pompous appearing machine he'd found and asked the man how much it would come to, including a good tire pump, monkey wrench, oil can and screwdriver. The man, in that nonchalant tone auto agents use in quoting prices, told him how many thousand dollars it would be and offered to wrap up and deliver it right at the front door without extra cost.

"Do you know," he remarked to Mrs. Goitt, in a low tone, "I'm not sure that we wouldn't be making a mistake to get one of these great big 40,000-horsepower cars. The more I look around here, the more I get into the notion that the car to buy is one of those long slim boys like that'n over yonder." He pointed to a machine with a drab abdomen, built along the lines of a flyupthecrick and called a chassis because people can be chased out of the way with it just as well as with a larger machine. Goitt sauntered over and asked how much a man had to let go of to add one of these to his chattels. The man told him. Goitt's face fell with a crash.

"Honestly," Goitt said to Mrs. Goitt a minute or so later, "the more I think about it, the nearer I come to the conclusion that the handiest little car for a man like me who isn't an expert mechanic, is one of these real neat little runabout boys that you can buy for a mere trifle. I don't seem to care for these larger cars so much now that I've made a careful examination of the working parts and talked to people that've owned 'em and had experience with 'em."

They walked down to the other end of the building and Goitt put interrogatives to a man who had a trim little car that he would sell for only a few hundred dollars.

Goitt looked at the little car once more, twirled his watch charm three or four times and drifted along with the crowd. "By Jingo," said he to his wife, "did you read what that doctor said the other day in one of the papers about people not walking enough? I'm a son of a gun if I don't believe he's right. That's one trouble with automobiles. If a man owns an auto he'll want to ride in it, and won't walk enough to get sufficient exercise to insure proper digestion and good health. I've heard several doctors say that same thing and I believe there's a lot of truth in it. Why—"

"But," interrupted Mrs. Goitt, "these automobile agents and the rest of the folks that ride in machines and never walk a step don't look very unhealthy. They're the ruddiest, healthiest looking lot of people I ever saw. I've just been noticing them this evening."

"Well," replied Goitt, "these doctors that say people don't walk enough must know what they're talking about or else they wouldn't say such things. Why would a doctor tell people to take more exercise and get big and husky and full of good health if it wasn't so? Well, seems to be about time for 'em to close up here. Better hustle up street and catch our car before the crowd all gets out of here."

On the car Goitt added two or three supplementary observations. "After all," says he, "street car riding has its advantages. Here we sit free from responsibility, with a motorman out there in front to have all the bother of looking out for other cars ahead and vehicles at cross streets, and all such like. Must be a pretty tiresome job to sit up behind a steering wheel and drive an automobile all day long. 'Tisn't near as much of a cinch as sitting here with a newspaper in your hand and letting somebody else do all the work."

Mrs. Goitt was sitting back silently tapping her lips with a little wad of a handkerchief the size of a Red Cross stamp and looking more and more like a woman who nourished a great secret sorrow.

But when he got home Goitt said mebbe he'd slip down and take another look.

Woman's Opinion of Her Lawyer.

A woman accused at Kent Assizes of obtaining credit by false pretenses was defended at the request of the court by one of the junior members of the bar. Asked in cross-examination why she had not put certain questions to one of the witnesses for the prosecution, she replied: "I have counsel appearing for me, or I should simply have pulverized the witness. I mean no disrespect to this young gentleman (indicating her counsel), and I believe he will be a very clever man presently." She was acquitted.—London Evening Standard.

War and Automobiles.

If war is hell, so are automobiles driven by a drunken or fool man. War hath her sublime victories; autos, too. All through nature some kind of deadly war has been the main method of selecting the fittest for survival. Religion and love may in the future be the greatest raisers of the world, but speaking of the past, war has done most of all, for war has killed off a lot of savage men who would have held civilization back.—N. Ready.

Lord Granard was once visiting some of his tenants. One of the farms he visited contained a large assortment of live stock in a more than usually healthy state, and halting before a sty he said to the owner: "Those pigs of yours are in very fine condition." "Yes," agreed the proud farmer, "if we were all as ready to die as them, my lord, we'd do."

Something to Be Thankful For.

It's pretty tough to be poor, not to use a stronger expression; but when one reads of the many accidents by land and sea in which so many are sent to sudden death a man ought to feel thankful sometimes that he is out in the country pulling the bell line over old Balaam.—Sylvania Telephone.

WANT IMPROVEMENTS IN SCHOOL BUILDINGS

Board of Education Hears Demands of the Parent-Teachers Association as to Three School Structures.

That the Parent-Teachers' Association does not intend to let up in its work to improve the existing conditions in the public schools in the center of the city was manifested at the meeting held on Tuesday night when George W. V. Moy, representing the parents of the 1,100 children pupils in the Franklin, Whittier and Stillman schools, demanded that proper ventilation and other sanitary remedies be applied.

Howard Williams, Mrs. S. H. Voorhees, G. Stuart Simons, Louis J. Ellis and Mr. Moy compose the committee which met with the members of the Board of Education. This is the same committee which so strongly advocated the improvements necessary after their investigation of the conditions found by them in the three schools mentioned.

The meeting was held for the purpose of discussing the representations of that committee and President Lovell called the meeting to order, declaring the reasons for the session. Mr. Williams read an abstract of the minutes of the previous meeting, held on May 2 and the whole committee was received with courtesy. It was brought to the attention of the board that two absolute factors were confronting the board—First, the unsanitary condition of the Franklin school, and second, the lack of proper ventilation in the others.

"I have had the knowledge of the existing conditions for ten years," Superintendent Maxson is reported to have said, "but knew they were wrong." Mr. Moy continued the little speech he had started when interrupted and continued to show where the entire blame could be placed. "We find no fault with building new schools, but why should all the money placed at the disposal of the Board of Education be used in building and equipping new schools, when a small proportion of it could be used to such great advantage in improving the conditions of the old ones? Must the children be put to a continual annoyance because the apportionment of the funds is not made in accordance with the necessities of the situation? Why should the 1,100 children of the schools in the center of the city suffer for the special benefit of the schools on the rim of the city? The lack of sanitary accommodations is a crying shame and while it may not seem proper to the present board, some of whose members are new, to publish the facts, yet I believe that the greater the publicity the better the results."

According to present day light on sanitary subjects and the possibilities of propagating disease germs revealed by knowledge acquired by investigation the opinion appears to be unanimous among the members of the association that the present state of affairs in the three schools mentioned should receive the greatest publicity.

While no direct reference was made to the fact that thirty-nine children in the kindergarten of one of the schools are compelled to drink from a single cup the inference was taken that the condition in this particular instance could have been remedied long ago if proper supervision of the school in question had obtained.

After hearing the complaints and listening with patience to the speakers for reform in public school matter, Mr. Lovell told the committee that "the Board will take the matters presented under consideration and will make such repairs as they deem necessary." The meeting was characterized by a quiet and serious consideration of all the questions brought up and it is not unlikely that some measures looking to the improvement of the conditions objected to will shortly be made.

IS HALLEY'S COMET TO BLAME FOR THIS?

Whether the comet had a direct influence upon some of the people who occasionly indulge in intoxicants or whteher the quality of the booze consumed was of the variety known as "chain lightning," will never be known perhaps, but the fact remains that whatever the cause it was potent enough to have three representatives of Bacchus up before Judge William N. Runyon this morning, all of whom had either been struck by the comet's tail or had overindulged.

Samuel Goff, a peddler, was so overcome yesterday afternoon, that he annihilated the entire conservatory of Mrs. Sarah Reed, of East Sixth street; said conservatory consisting of five pots of plants which reposed charmingly on Mrs. Reed's front stoop. Cabbage and strawberries was the medium used by Goff to gain access to Mrs. Reed's premises. The price of cabbage was too high, but Goff thought differently, and when he could not persuade the woman to purchase his offerings he took the revenge which netted the court $5.

Theodore Anderson and Joseph Trainor also fell victims to the malevolent influence of Halley's celestial visitor, but in their cases a lack of aggravating circumstances impelled Judge Runyon to be lenient and they both escaped with suspended sentences.

NEXT SUNDAY TO BE SUNDAY SCHOOL DAY

Local Sunday schools will observe Sunday school day next Sunday and Sunday schools all over the world will also participate in a like celebration. A special order of service has been prepared as an opening exercise preceding the study of the regular lesson. The order of service has been issued by the executive committee of the World's Sunday School Association, which will hold its annual convention in Washington this week.

As an essential part of the plan for the observance of World's Sunday School day ministers of the gospel in all lands are earnestly requested by the association to preach a sermon emphasizing the claims of the Sunday school as a factor in the development of Christian character, the importance of training the children and youth in the knowledge of the scriptures, and including in their prayers a petition for the blessing of Almighty God upon Sunday schools everywhere, and especially upon the World's Sunday School convention, which at that time will be in session in the city of Washington.

The order of service as outlined by the Sunday School Association opens with the singing of "Onward, Christian Soldiers," which is to be followed by the responsive reading of Psalm No. 148. The next number is the singing of "The Morning Light is Breaking," which will be followed by a responsive reading, including a petition for a blessing upon Sunday schools throughout the world. The closing of the program is the singing of "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun."

Who Owns This Rig?

Two weeks ago today at about 9 o'clock at night a young man, probably twenty-two or twenty-three three years of age, drove into the stable of the Plainfield Cab Co. and left a buggy and a good horse, telling the man on the job that he was a personal friend of James Davis, night manager for the Cab company. This morning the Cab company informed the police that the horse and buggy were yet uncalled for and they are anxious to hear from the owner.

FOWLER TO HURL A BOMB

Consternation in Enemies' Camp Expected When it Explodes Monday.

BATTLE LINES TO FORM.

Bitter Campaign to Result When Congressman's Declaration of War is Declared in His District.

Congressman Charles N. Fowler will open the campaign in the Fifth Congressional district in New Jersey next Monday afternoon, when he will publish a letter through the newspapers dealing with his owp effort to be returned as a member of the United States House of Representatives, and dipping into the United States Senatorship fight in this State. Mr. Fowler would not divulge the contents of the letter last evening, when asked about it, because he said he intended to give it to the press of the entire country. It would not be fair, therefore, as he said, to give any of it out in advance.

The letter referred to, however, was said by Congressman Fowler to be of some length. It will contain from 4,000 to 5,000 words, or nearly a page in a newspaper. It is also known that Congressman Fowler has been at work on the letter for some time, and that it will go very thoroughly into the issues of his own campaign and also into that of United States Senator Kean.

Those who have heard the letter read say that it is one of the most sensational political documents which has appeared in many years in this section of New Jersey. It is said to hint at a plot to defeat Mr. Fowler in which Senator Kean, State Treasurer Voorhees and Speaker Cannon are alleged to have a part. County Chairman Frank H. Smith is mentioned in rather unconsoling words for the part he plays in local politics.

The Fowler letter is probably the most bitter attack which has ever been made upon Senator Kean and those identified with him in State politics.

After the letter has been placed in the hands of the newspapers it will be sent out, it is said, to the voters direct. Thousands of copies are to be printed for campaign use.

PETERSON LODGED IN JAIL FOR CONTEMPT

Henry Peterson was committted to the Union County jail at Elizabeth by order of Judge Newcorn in the District Court this morning. Robert Newton Crane, representing Wadleigh and Goodenough, to whom Peterson owed a bill asked for a rule to show cause why Peterson should not be apprehended for contempt of court on his refusal to pay Wadleigh and Goodenough the sum of three dollars a week on account of the bill as ordered by the court.

Peterson failed to put in an appearance this morning and Mr. Crane had a civil warrant issued for his arrest. Constable Manley arrested Peterson and brought him before Judge Newcorn. The latter decided that Paterson was twice guilty of contempt and committed him to the county jail to remain until the judgment and costs are satisfied.

SILZER FOR GOVERNOR BOOMED BY SULLIVAN

Democrats at Dinner Also Hear Nugent and Lippincott Tell What Should Be Done to Insure Party Victory.

Plainfield's Democracy fired its first gun of the 1910 campaign at the first annual dinner of the West End Democratic Club which was held at Hotel Kensington last night. The fuse was ignited by Assemblyman Mark A. Sullivan, of Hudson, leader of the minority in the last Assembly, when that brilliant young orator declared that Senator George A. Silzer, of Middlesex, was the logical candidate for Gubernatorial honors next fall.

Assemblyman Sullivan's sentiments struck a popular chord among local Democrats and Silzer's candidacy was hailed with a spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm which lasted several minutes. The words that thrilled the banqueters were:

"The people did exactly what was right when they arose in 1893 and kicked the Democratic party out of power. The grafters and dishonest men who carried the party to defeat in that year are not the dominating influence in the Democratic party today. To bring New Jersey back into the ranks of Democracy, the party must nominate a young man, one who is honest, and who has red blood running through his veins.

"He must be a man of the stamp of Senator Silzer, he is the kind of a man we must nominate, a man who is not tainted with the old crowd and one who has made a record for himself in the State."

The dinner was a complete success and every chair around the table was occupied. The dining-room was adorned with American flags and music was furnished by Professor Meissner during the eating period. Calvin E. Brodhead, after being introduced by P. J. Reville, chairman of the committee, acted in the role of toastmaster. The speakers were James R. Nugent, of Newark, chairman of the State Democratic Committee; Senator George A. Silzer, of Middlesex; Assemblyman Mark A. Sullivan, of Hudson; Police Commissioner Job Lippincott, of Jersey City, and T. R. Russell, editor of the Evening Times of Elizabeth. Mayor H. Otto Wittpenn, of Jersey City, who was scheduled to make an address, was unable to attend. A telegram, however, was received from him, in which he stated his regrets at not being able to be present.

James E. Martine, Plainfield's favorite native son, loyal Democrat, and the hero of scores of political battles, was not on the program, but Democracy's old warrior, when he entered the dining hall, was greeted by a volley of applause, which eclipsed the greetings accorded to the other notables. It's really unusual not to hear "Farmer Jim" exhort at a Jeffersonian gathering, but he was heard when he moved that a vote of thanks be tendered to the visiting orators.

Mr. Nugent, the first speaker of the evening, confined his remarks chiefly to organization. The State chairman assumed an optimistic attitude and predicted a sweeping Democratic victory in the State and nation next fall. "I don't know what defeat is," said Mr. Nugent, "there is no such word as defeat to me. Democrats of the State two years ago chose me as their general, and I am going to ask all to follow me to victory next fall. The Democratic party of the State is entitled to the support of young men. If the young men will work in Plainfield their efforts will be crowned with success. Plainfield is not too Republican to be made Democratic. Newark ten years ago gave a Republican majority of 20,000 and afterward gave a 10,000 majority for the Democratic ticket."

Voting machines also came in for a bit of attention from Mr. Nugent. He contended that local Democrats were justified in protesting against the further use of voting machines. Without doubt, he said, they were unconstitutional. "Now," he said, "if you are not satisfied in the treatment received from the machine you are privileged to have the abuse obliterated by going to the courts. That is what the courts are for."

"Honest Elections and Good Government" was the theme of Senator Silzer, in which he directed considerable criticism against tactics used in the last Legislature by the Re-

HIS WILL WAS NOT A WILL

Martin Brennan's Testament Looked Like One But It's No Good.

COURT REFUSES PROBATE.

Widow and Daughter Practically Cut Off—Victory Won for the Children by Craig A. Marsh.

Martin Brennan, of Dunellen, who died a few months ago thought that he left a will. The paper looked like a will; it was called a will; and it had the red seal and the subscribing witnesses and all the other formalities. But the Middlesex Orphans' Court has just decided that it is not Martin Brennan's will. The court says that the paper was the result of undue influence exerted by the executor who drew the will. The court, therefore, denies probate.

When the will was read after Mr. Brennan's death, it was found that it cut off one daughter and one son with only $100 each and the widow with $500, besides legacies of $25 each to some grandchildren, and left the bulk of the estate, estimated to be worth about $5,000, to the favorite son of the testator.

Craig A. Marsh was retained by the dissatisfied children and Codington & Swackhamer by the widow. Ex-Assemblyman Hicks, of New Brunswick, appeared in support of the will.

On the cross examination of the executor, it was brought out that the testator wanted to cut off his wife without a dollar, but the draftsman said he would not draw such a will and that the testator had to leave her one-third of his real estate. Later on the testator wanted to make the widow's share $300, but again the draftsman declined to draw the will. It took several interviews before the testator was willing to make the will the way the draftsman thought was right, and then the will was drawn and executed with all the required formalities.

Contestants' counsel argued that these facts proved that the will was the product of undue influence exerted by the dominating mind and will of the executor over the mind and will of the testator, and it was na answer to say that the executor was an honest man and acted with good motives. The court sustaained this view and held the will to be invalid.

SCHOOL APPROPRIATION BUDGET TO BE APPROVED

The Board of School Estimate will meet at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Mayor's office to pass upon the school budget for the coming year. The board will ask for a considerable increase over last year's appropriation, the amount desired from the city being $67,030, exclusive of the estimated State tax apportioned to this school district.

The amount apportioned to Plainfield by the county superintendent of schools is $85,800, but at present it is not known what the State apportionment will be for this district.

The total amount thought to be needed for the local schools for the coming year is $160,000, as against $148,290 for 1909. The Board of School Estimate realize that considerable in the way of repairs must be made next year, and outside of this the item of salaries for the superintendent and teachers is the largest in the budget. If the board passes on the above figures today, they will be reported to the finance committee of the Common Council and then to the Common Council for approval.

Seventeen musical numbers comprised the program offered by the pupils of the Misses Jeanie May and Florence Nicholl at the Seminary yesterday afternoon. The program was a varied one and introduced some of the most versatile pupils of the city. It was considered to have been the most recherche entertainment in the history of the school which aims to produce efficient and artistic pupils.

After the final number the guests, of which there were nearly a hundred, remained to inspect the sketches and water colors executed by the students and enjoy refreshments. This exhibit was one of which the teachers could be justly proud. Miss Mira Edson is in charge of the art department. Following is the musical program:

SPECIAL SERVICES AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

No more enthusiastic nor spiritual meeting was ever held in the parlors of the Congregational church than that of last night when a song service of fifteen minute duration was followed by short speeches on the topic "The Voices of Jesus," in which E. S. Suffern James McClymont, A. C. La Boyteaux, Thomas West and Mrs. Neilson took part.

The congregational music, which was one of the features of the evening's devotion, was added to by the singing of a duet by Charles L. Lewis and James McClymont. All the hymns sung bore directly upon the topic of the evening and the entire service was effective and impressive. The church parlors were filled.

MURDERED A LABORER

Black Hand Victim's Body Found at Lonely Spot Between South Plainfield and New Market.

BY PRISONER'S CONFESSION.

Patrick Kildare Killed on May 10 by Luigi Cerefica, Who Is a Prisoner at Newark—Robbery the Motive.

Body Hidden Under Debris.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Patrick Kildare, or Collins, who disappeared on May 11, was cleared up this afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock when the body was discovered lying under a pile of debris midway between South Plainfield and New Market. Chief Kiely with a corps of assistants followed up the clue furnished by Captain John Brown, of the Second precinct, of the Newark police.

The revelation came about through the arrest of Luigi Cerefica, who had been apprehended yesterday afternoon by the Newark authorities. Cerefica was put through the third degree by Captain Brown and instead of extracting the information they wanted regarding some black hand threats they listened to a tale of murder which has its only counterpart in the "barrel mystery" which puzzled the New York police for two years.

According to the facts elicited from Cerefica this morning he murdered in cold blood the man Kildare or Collins, a farm hand, in the employ of one Samuel Layton, of South Plainfield. The crime was committed on the night of May 10 and the body was hidden under a pile of debris and dirt on the farm adjoining.

There is a nest of Italian houses or shacks adjoining the farm where the young Irishman worked, and according to the confession of the Italian in the Newark jail, Kildare was murdered because he refused to contribute the larger part of his wages to the gang which has been carrying on a systematic series of black hand outrages upon the innocent dwellers in that neighborhood.

Chief Kiely accompanied by Detective Sergeant Flynn and the county physician unearthed the body in the spot indicated by the Italian Cerefica in his confession.

Detective Sergeants Cardoni and Tenore, of Newark headquarters, accompanied Captain Brown to this city this afternoon to aid in clearing up the mystery which surrounds the committal of the series of crimes of which the Italian gang is accused. Later developments will show the extent of the gang's criminal operations.

Kildare, or Collins, is described as being thirty-two years old, fair and one of the most peaceable of the South Plainfield farmers, and has never been known to have been implicated in any trouble with the foreigners.

It is indeed a pleasure to contemplate with what eagerness the public responds when a sale of this character is announced. It shows that our advertisements are read, and that the people place confidence in our merchandise and prices. Did you ever notice that in every city there is always a store that stands out prominently for liberality, efficiency and satisfaction. Such is the aim of the "White Store," and the fact that we have closely adhered to these principles is largely due the great business that has arisen on the foundation of public satisfaction, best service, large assortments and lowest prices. Any good suggestion for the betterment of our service will be appreciated and adopted if found practical.

Whenever a customer feels displeased with her purchase, we stand ready to exchange it, or refund the money.

An extra special delivery wagon has been added so that if you are in a hurry, your parcel can be sent out without delay.

Telephone communication has been adopted to the various departments, with a switch board at the main office, where you can talk from your home direct to the department you want, avoiding any unnecessary delay.

Our Aim Always-- to serve you best, and if continued energy, enterprise and advanced ideas in your behalf count, then indeed are we ready at all times to study your every want, so that even your child can come here and receive the same courteous treatment that you would expect. Expect it here—put us to the test—let us prove our good service to you.

THE RUG AND DRAPERY DEPARTMENTS.

Perhaps you are not aware that we have the largest floor space in this section devoted exclusively to Rugs, Floor Coverings of all kinds, Draperies and Trunks. You do not have to go outside your own city to buy these things. We carry the stock, we have the facilities for displaying them, and we have the prices, three factors that has been largely instrumental in building such a magnificent trade in this department.

WINDOW SHADES.

You can have your window shades made to your order in any size, as we have competent men in charge who thoroughly understand every detail in this connection. We would be pleased to figure on your shade work. Absolute satisfaction guaranteed in every particular.

EXCLUSIVE MILLINERY MODELS.

On our second floor we are now showing a vast collection of dainty hats ready to wear, just right for immediate use. This department has elicited favorable comment all this season from the fact that the exclusive models which we have been displaying has appealed to ladies of discriminating taste, and then the price is so very moderate. We respectfully invite you to visit our millinery department and see for yourself the values we are offering.

LADIES' READY-TO WEAR DEPARTMENT.

This department has been forging ahead so fast that we were obliged to double the floor space it previously occupied. Nowhere in this section can such a vast stock of Ladies' Tailored Suits, Coats, Dresses and Waists be found. The time was when ladies were obliged to leave town to purchase ready-to-wear garments. To-day not alone do the majority buy their suits and coats here, but for miles around they flock to the "White Store" for their ready-to-wear garments. We are originators of making Alterations Free of charge, thereby lessening the cost of a garment to you at from $1.00 to $3.50. Come here for your coats and suits and we will save you money.

THE HOUSEFURNISHING DEPARTMENT.

This department is really a store in itself. This entire storeroom is packed with everything needed for household use. We have just received a big supply of Screen Doors and Window Screens, Lawn Mowers, Garden Hose, all kinds of Crockery and Graniteware, Oil Stoves, Bathroom Fixtures, Wire Netting and hundreds of other things that space prevents us from enumerating. A visit to this department will prove both interesting and profitable at the present time.

BOROUGHITES BOW TO SOMERVILLIANS

Hailey-cometized, 4 to 3, by Somerville High. That was N. P. H. S.'s fate on Hyde Oval yesterday afternoon. The battle was of the rip snorting brand that bristled with speedy fielding stunts and some tall timber smacking that kept the N. P. H. S. students on their tip toes from beginning to end.

Somerville has a great school nine but the borough lads made an excellent showing although defeat was their lot. The umpiring, well, ("nuf ced," as Professor Krebs did the Tim Hurst act).

The visitors outdid the locals in the slugging line by a small margin. This was due to the fact that the N. P. H. S. clouters were unable to get more than six bingles off "Sorrel Top" Brunt, the visiting slabist, two of them being doubles and a triple that were credited to Percival Bailey, or demon swatter. Dunning also performed well with the stick having two safeties to his credit. Brunt's southpaw delivery bothered the boroughites all through the game and ten times did the auburn haired athlete from the county seat confer the strikeout degree.

The playing of the Moore Brothers, colored, on the visiting aggregation is worthy of special mention. This pair of ebony-hued athletes performed in fancy style at the bat and in the field. W. Moore distinguished himself by some terrific stickwork. The three wallops he registered brought all of Somerville's runs across the plate. In view of this stupendous stunt in can be conscientiously recorded that Mistah W. Moore "brought home de bacon."

There was no scoring until the third inning when both teams recorded tallies. With one down Halstead paved the way for the Somerset athletes by smashing the pellet to left for a single. A wild pitch advanced him to second and when Davenport flied out to Conroy, W. Moore dispatched a single to left, which permitted Halstead to mark up the initial tally. Hensler ended the inning by polling to Dunning.

Dunning opened North Plainfield's third by banging the ball to right which netted him a base. Advancing to second on Townley's sacrifice, he scored on Stine's drive to right field.

Somerville forged ahead in the fifth when two runs were posted against N. P. H. S. Brunt was an easy out. Woodruff singled to center and beat out Smith's throw of Halstead's grounder to second. With two on the sacks Davenport sacrificed and then W. Moore brought the pair home on a wallop to right.

Two runs were chalked up by the boroughites in the sixth which tied the score. Stine fanned for an opener. Pierson Bailey gained first base on Halstead's muff, and Conroy singled. C. Smith forced Bailey out at third. Percival Bailey came forth with the prize clout of the day, a triple to right field, which scored Conroy and C. Smith. Bailey died on third as Taylor was retired on an easy tap to Brunt.

Somerville registered her winning tally in the seventh. Woodruff reached first on balls, advanced to second on Halstead's sacrifice. After Davenport was easily retired W. Moore smote the ball again safely which dispatched Woodruff across the rubber. The score:

Brunt executed some splendid work in the fourth and fifth innings. In the fourth he fanned two and in the third he "poked out" three in a row.

Halstead made an artistic throw in the seventh when he nailed Townley at the plate on Stine's hit to that territory.

Percy Bailey covered the initial sack in faultless fashion, handling all of his fourteen chances without an error.

C. Smith did not pitch the boroughites to victory, but his work was first class. He distinguished himself by his brilliant fielding of hit balls. In all he accepted nine chances.

Hensler was obliged to retire in the eighth owing to an injury to his hand. Halstead replaced him and pitcher Henderson, who was warming the bench, was delegated to left field.

Stine handled himself well behind the bat. Without doubt he is one of the fastest high school backstops in the State.

Pitcher Brunt fielded magnificently. He grasped seven opportunities.

N. P. H. S. will have its hands full on Saturday afternoon when Montclair will be on Hyde Oval for a game.

THINK IT OVER!

Here is a supposed case. The Common Council by due advertisement invites the citizens to express their views on a proposed ordinance. In compliance with this invitation, representative taxpayers gather at the public hearing. Able arguments in favor of the passage of the proposed measure are advanced. Not one single voice is raised in protest. The chief executive of the municipality, himself, pleads for favorable action. Letters setting forth the views of mayors of many Jersey cities, heads of hospitals, police departments and physicians as well as of local civic bodies are submitted. All of these express one opinion; it is that such an ordinance would be a protection to life, limb and property. The sentiment at the hearing is unanimous for the enactment of the local law.

Now, if you were to decide on this supposed case what would you do, assuming that you were a city father who sat to hear the expressions of the taxpayers' opinions? You would vote to pass that proposed ordinance; of course you would. That's why you voted for a public hearing—to ascertain public sentiment. Well, what did the city fathers do? The records kept by the city clerk show that by a vote of six to five these city fathers killed the measure for the time being at least by consigning it again to a committee. That means that the desirable measure is pigeonholed for a year at least.

N. B.—All this actually happened. The ordinance in question was that for a "safe and sane Fourth." Think it over!

MONTCLAIR WOMEN ASK VOTE.

Fear Plan to Beautify Town Will Be Defeated by Non-Property Holders.

Montclair women are urging that they be allowed to vote at the special election which will be held at Montclair Thursday, May 26, to determine whether or not Montclair shall adopt the provisions of the "town plan and art commission act." The women who favor the plan to improve Montclair assert that many of them are property holders who want the town beautified, but who have no vote on the issue.

On the other hand, they claim, there is a large foreign element in the town which does not own property and has no particular interest in the community who will be privileged to vote, and probably aid in defeating the proposition to beautify and improve Montclair. The women believe they should be permitted to vote to offset this disadvantage to the town improvement plan.

YOUNG AMERICA HEARS JAS. E. MARTINE ORATE

James E. Martine entertained the pupils of Stillman school this morning with a speech about New Jersey, in which he told of its splendid position among the States of the union and its pre-eminence as a source of patriotism and its unfailing resources. Mr. Martine is never better at home than when dilating upon the virtues of Jersey, Jerseymen and the soil, and this morning was no exception to the rule. Upward of three hundred pupils gave the speaker their closest attention and greeted him with round after round of applause at the conclusion of the lecture.

Among the other interesting things which rivetted the attention of the pupils was the story of the first telegraph which Morse made here and the material from which the "Savannah," the first steamer to cross the Atlantic also came from the foundry of Alfred Vail at Morristown.

The sympathetic chord among young people was struck when Mr. Martine told of the prominent part taken by New Jersey in the early struggles of the patriots. He emphasized the fact that New Jersey was one of the original thirteen States to break away from the yoke of the oppressor, King George III, and said that our beautiful and productive State reminded him of a bag tied in the middle with a string while she sheds her bounties from both ends.

Referring to riparian rights, conservation of resources which today occupy so much of the time of the thoughtful people of the country he urged the boys to think seriously on these things so that in days to come they would be able to look back and say that they had a hand in helping the State, the community and the nation to keep what God intended them to have for their children and their children's descendants.

Mr. Martine paid his respects to the suffragettes and what he termed their imaginary grievances; told the boys to be partisans for anything that was good and would bear inspection of their own consciences and ended by thanking the pupils for their close attention. He referred to Julius Links, the president of the class for his introductory remarks and incidentally told of having trundled Master Linke on his knee. The entire hour was voted as having been well spent by the pupils.

Mrs. E. K. Thompson, soprano soloist at the chamber concerts at the Waldrof-Astoria Hotel, New York city, is the guest of Dr. Nell S. Wilcox, of Crescent avenue. She will remain here for several days.

BOY FIGHTER FINED $500.

Referee of Fatal Ring Combat Must Also Pay Equal Sum.

Frank Keiser, eighteen years old, of Garfield, whose ring fight with Gilbert Trehon, of the same town, on the evening of April 5, resulted in the latter's death on April 8, was yesterday arraigned before Judge Milton Demarest in the Bergen County Court at Hackensack and pleaded non vult. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and costs.

"I have investigated this very serious and unfortunate affair, and I don't blame you as much as I do the older men who planned this fight and urged on you boys," said Judge Demarest to Keiser in pronouncing sentence. "I realize that you did not maliciously strike down your opponent, and that he was equally guilty of breaking the law. Nevertheless you are here held for his death, and as a warning to you and others the court must inflict a punishment."

James Dwyer, the referee, was severely criticised by Judge Demarest, after a plea of non vult had been recorded.

"If it hadn't been for you this fight would never have taken place and this young man would not be here for causing the death of his young friend," said the judge. "You are as guilty as Keiser, and the court's sentence is that you pay a fine of $500 and costs."

William McAlpine, August Scheuerman, Israel Lewis, Henry Vivian, Henry Knacksteadt and John Dwyer, the young men who acted as time keepers and seconds at the fight, were each fined $100 and costs.

Edward Lewis, Harry Kelly, James McAlpine, William McArthur, Henry P. Gerritsen, Cornelious Newhouse, Oswald and George Kornhoff, Samuel West, Leonard, Rudolph and Marinus La Buer and John Dwyer, spectators, were each fined $25.

All were placed in charge of Probation Officer James Bratt and have a year's time in which to pay their fines.

LEWIS FOR GOVERNOR: EDGE FOR THE SENATE.

Atlantic City, May 19.—That Vivian M. Lewis, of Paterson, State commissioner of banking and insurance, will get the support of Atlantic County Republicans for the nomination for Governor was taken by some persons as assured Tuesday night, when the Second Ward organization, of which Commodore Louis Kuehnle, Republican leader, is president, unanimously indorsed his boom.

It is declared that the move, which has the approval of Congressman Gardner, assures Commissioner Lewis a solid delegation from Atlantic in the Gubernatorial convention.

The ward organization also indorsed Congressman Gardner, and named Assemblyman Walter E. Edge for Senator and Councilman Isaac Bacharach for Assembly.

State Senator Edward A. Wilson, who has been ruled out of the fight, declined to comment upon the action of the leaders.

The Atlantic County Republican League, it is said, will indorse the same slate tonight.

This is the first formal indorsement Lewis' candidacy has received, although he is said to be the choice at this time of leaders of the Republican State organization.

FORGES THE NAME OF MGR. STAFFORD.

Jersey City, May 19.—Charged with having forged the name of Mgr. John A. Stafford, rector of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church, 16-year-old John Rawon, of 559 Communipaw avenue, was held yesterday for further examination by Judge Queen in the Second Criminal Court.

The alleged forgery of the monsignor's name is to a letter to Albert Datz, of 87 Railroad avenue. Monday Datz received a letter ordering twenty-five letter heads to be printed with "St. Patrick's Church" at the bottom "Rev. Monsignor Stafford."

It said that the letter heads would be called for Tuesday. Datz thought something was wrong and reported the matter to the police. When Rowan called for the letterheads he was accompanied by another boy, George Whitley, of 212 Orient avenue. Rowan was arrested.

The boys said a man had sent them and that they were to meet him at Bergen and Communipaw avenues and get a dollar from him for the errand. Later Rowan confessed the forgery and said he wanted the letterheads in order to forge a birth certificate to enable him to get into the United States navy.

NEW LINE

FROM

PLAINFIELD to NEW-YORK Via

ELIZABETH-TOWN POINT.

The subscriber has commenced running a two horse Stage Daily between Plainfield and New-York by the way of Elizabeth-Town Point, to leave his Public House in Plainfield at 5 o'clock in the morning, so that Passengers may go by the 8 o'clock Boat to the City, and leave New-York in the three o'clock Boat in the afternoon—so as to arrive at Plainfield just at the close of the day.—FARE, 75 cents,—way Passengers in proportion.

The subscriber intends to continue running every day so long as he can obtain Passengers enough to justify the expence. If any change is made timely notice will be given.

On this Plan there will be 5 hours to do business in New-York, and return home the same day. The subscriber will drive his own Stage—Or, when he may not,—will employ a trustworthy person, for whom he will be accountable—they will go into the City, and attend to any errands or Business entrusted to them for a moderate compensation. Believing such a line as this will be a great accomodation to many—and intending to exert himself to give entire satisfaction, the subscriber hopes for general patronage, and especially that of the citizens of Plainfield, & their friends in New-York.

☞ He will take charge of letters or parcels from the pupils in either of the Plainfield Seminaries, or from their Parents and friends in the City.

VINCENT BARKLEW.

Plainfield, July 28, 1835.

ISAAC COLE, Printer, near Plainfield, N. J.

In July, 1835, there were circulated around the then village of Plainfield and vicinity posters, of which the above is a facsmile, notifying the public of a new stage line from Plainfield to New York by the way of Elizabeth Town Point. The route of the line was from Plainfield to Scotch Plains, to Westfield, to then called Elizabethtown, there were no intervening villages between Westfield and Elizabethtown. The headquarters for the stage line in Plainfield was at the corner of Front and Somerset street now occupied by Gloeckner's saloon.

Plainfield at that time contained about one thousand inhabitants and places of worship as follows: one Baptist, one Methodist, one Presbyterian and two Friends' meeting houses. There were also two seminaries and one academy. The academy was located on the spot now occupied by Leal's School. The building was partially burned in the year 1835, what remained of the building was moved across the street; was built over and is now two small stores.

There are now over thirty-five places for worship in the city and borough. Between Scotch Plains and Sebring's Mills there was one bridge that crossed Green Brook and that was the stone arched bridge at Somerset street. At the present time there are over fifteen iron and cement bridges crossing the same stream.

Plainfield contained two hotels, and a third hotel was opened about 1839 on the corner of Main street and Uncle Reuben Ayers' lane, now corner of Front street and Park avenue. It was operated by John Ayers and was called the Railroad Hotel Reuben Ayers' lane ended at Second street before the railroad entered the village. The stage line was in operation about three and one-half years until the Elizabethtown and Somerville Railroad entered Plainfield on Thanksgiving day in the year 1838.

ACCUSED OF THEFT.

Elizabeth, May 19.—Charged with stealing $45 from a woman in Philadelphia, Gustave Spader, formerly of this city, was arrested late Tuesday afternoon in Jersey City by Pennsylvania Railroad detectives, and later was turned over to the Elizabeth police authorities. Spader's mother two years ago eloped from Elizabeth with a boarder in the house and took with her $700 of her husband's money and also three of their children. The elopers are now living together, the police say, in Chicago.

The deserted husband went to Philadelphia to work, taking his son Gustave with him. The latter managed to learn where the boarding mistress kept her money, and, it is charged, seized it and fled from the city. On his way to Jersey City he picked up another youth, Peter Kantz, and the pair were buying tickets for Chicago when they were arrested. They will be held here pending a requisition from the Philadelphia authorities. Young Spader has a reputation as a gas meter thief in this city, and has served time in the county jail.

POPE GIVES AUDIENCE TO BISHOP O'CONNOR.

Rome, May 19.—The Pope yesterday gave private audiences to Rt. Rev. John J. O'Connor, bishop of Newark.

Bishop O'Connor sailed from New York for Europe, April 17. He was accompanied by Rev. Eugene P. Carroll, rector of St. Bridget's church, this city.

The visit of the bishop to the Vatican was for the purpose of submitting the customary official report of the conditions of the church in the Catholic diocese of Newark.

SILZER FOR GOVERNOR

publicans. The Senator also declared that the people of New Jersey hasn't had much good government in ten years. There is hardly a day passes that evidence of bad government doesn't crop out. A new phase of misgovernment is apeparing every twenty-four hours, and almost every day, one department in the State is uncovering the other.

"But the people want change and there is going to be one next fall," added Mr. Silzer. "Here's a sample of Republican misrule and extravagance. When the Democrats were shorn of their power the annual expense in running the State government was $1,800,000, now it is $8,000,000 per annum. At the last session the Republicans 'economized' by taking $544,000 from the public school monies, instead of taking it out of the pockets of the office holders."

Mr. Silzer also reviewed the Democratic record in the Legislature during the last session. In giving local Democrats a line of advice he said: "If the Democrats can prevent the purchase of votes in Plainfield at elections they will be surprised. If the Democratic party can get a square deal in the State this fall it will surely win. Get back to Jeffersonian principles. It's a good foundation. Organize the young men and consult with the old men for advice. There's a spirit of unrest all over the country. It means success. If we are successful let us keep up to all promises we shall make it our platform."

Assemblyman Mark Sullivan was accorded an enthusiastic greeting when introduced. He dwelt on doings in the Legislature in which he criticised the Republican committees for the alleged smothering of measures which would be of direct benefit to the people-at-large if passed.

"The Republicans smothered every decent bill that was introduced," declared Mr. Sullivan. Anything that is dishonest fears the light, and the darkest place to kill a bill is in committee.

"The dishonesty in the Republican party today," said the speaker, "is ten times as great as the dishonesty and graft in the Democratic party seventeen years ago. There is no such thing as a Republican or Democrat when it comes to stealing money, he is a criminal or he is an honest man. Let us organize for common decency and honesty." At this point Mr. Sullivan introduced the boom of Senator Silzer as the next candidate for Governor.

Police Commissioner Job Lippincott urged that all young Democrats organize for the impending campaign in his remarks, and Editor T. R. Russell gave an able talk on the tariff question.

The menu served by Proprietor Alexander Riley was an excellent one.

The committee in charge of the banquet was composed of P. J. Reville, chairman; Frank J. Shattle, secretary; Edward Fluck, treasurer; Thomas Monsell and John A. Connolly. The guests were:

Callonby Loves His Wife

By KENNETT HARRIS

Mrs. Callonby had been pensively silent for nearly half an hour. Her husband, who was occupied with his papers, was beginning, sub-consciously, to realize that she had been long silent, when she spoke.

She was quite calm about it. There was no tremor in her voice. She spoke deliberately and in accents of conviction.

"James," she said, "you don't love me any more."

Callonby started. "Great Scott! How you scared me!" he exclaimed. "You've been so still I'd forgotten you were in the room. What's that you were saying?"

"I said that you didn't love me," repeated Mrs. Callonby, in the same unemotional voice.

"My dear," said Callonby, "I adore you. I'm simply crazy about you."

"You make light of it," said his wife, "but I know perfectly well that you don't. I'm not going to make any fuss about it, but I've been thinking seriously, and I'm convinced that whatever love you had for me is dead."

"I'll put the paper right down and talk to you," said Callonby, contritely. "Tell me what you have been doing to-day. What time did the girl go out? Have they got Miss Broton to promise to teach the kindergarten? Tell me, quick."

"My girlish beauty has faded," said Mrs. Callonby, sadly, diregarding her husband's jocular manner.

"You never notice what I have on or whether it's becoming, or anything."

"Nothing that you wear could be unbecoming," said Callonby. "The worst combination of color that was ever brought together would harmonize if you wore it. Haven't I told you so, often?"

"Yes, if I ask you and pin you down you generally say something foolish," said Mrs. Callonby. "But you aren't really interested. James Callonby, you would notice another woman quick enough."

"Never!" declared Callonby, with emphasis. "All other women are to me as shadows. I have eyes only for you."

"And as soon as you come home you stick your nose into your paper and there's no getting anything out of you for the rest of the evening. I'm not complaining. I suppose it's quite natural and what a woman has to expect, but there was a time when you didn't want to read when you you were with me. You really seemed to enjoy my society."

"I should say so!" her husband declared. "But not nearly as much as I enjoy it now. When you sit opposite to me, as you were doing a little while ago, I can't think of anything more delightful. When two people understand each other as we do speech is unnecessary. Our souls commune, as it were, in silence. I know exactly what you would say if you spoke, even while I am reading my paper. I feel your presence and it fills me with inexpressible joy and content."

"Especially if I don't talk."

"My own," said Callonby, "your voice is music to my ear. When I'm away from you I miss it more than you would suppose. Honest, Mag!"

"You don't love me, anyway."

"Didn't I confess my love only a few minutes ago Don't be unreasonable, darling."

"Do you really?"

"Honest to Moses."

"You're just saying it because I ask you," said Mrs. Callonby. "It's got so that I never know whether you're telling me the truth or not."

"I always tell the truth," Callonby said. "I haven't said a word this evening that wasn't as true as truth itself. Except once," he added. "I told you that you looked well in anything. In a sense that's true, but it did occur to me that your blue evening frock was getting a little tacky the other night. I think that perhaps you'd better get a new one. But, my dear, please don't be harder on me than you can help."

Mrs. Callonby clasped her hands. "Do you mean it, Jim?" she cried, ecstatically. "And a hat to go with it?"

Callonby's face fell a little. "Well, I suppose so," he said.

His wife threw her arms around his neck and kissed him. "You're the dearest, kindest, sweetest thing in all the world," she said. "James, I will take everything back that I said."

"Good!" said Callonby. "Now, are you going to let me read my paper?"

Fences of Ivory.

"Ivory is cheaper to-day than it ever was. More ivory is being imported than ever. It isn't true that we are in danger of exhausting our supply."

The speaker, an ivory dealer, patted a tusk as big as a girl of 14.

"This tusk," he said, "is from an ivory palisade about an African king's palace. In the interior of Africa there are innumerable kings and chiefs whose palisades are of ivory. For consider—since the world began there have been tusks and these tusks for centuries have been preserved by native potentates. It will be long enough before we exhaust that supply.

"The price of ivory? Well, I'll give you $4 a pound for the best tusk, suitable for billiard balls. That is 40 per cent lower than the price was ten years ago—and what better proof is there than that of the abundance of the supply?"

Natural Mixup.

A little while since, Pasadena was very much excited over the question of municipal water, one of the phases of the situation being the stand taken by the mayor, who by peculiar coincidence was named Waterhouse. Edwin, aged five, had taken a lot of it in, and his association of ideas was not at all illogical when asked, a little later, if he could tell the name of the mayor, he very promptly replied: "Oh, yes; it is Mr. Reservoir."—Los Angeles Times.

Widowhood in China.

According to the laws of good society in China, young widows should not remarry. Widowhood is, therefore, held in highest esteem, and the older the widow grows the more agreeable her position becomes. Should she reach fifty years she may, by applying to the emperor, get a sum of money with which to buy a tablet, on which her virtues are inscribed. The tablet is then placed over the door at the principal entrance of her house.

Baby's Health.

If the mother who can possibly afford it will have her baby observed during its first few months by a good nurse or physician, the mother will be saved much anxiety and the baby stands a better chance of health. This does not mean to be a crank on health. It does mean advise your doctor of every appearance of pain or distress; then heed his advice.

Singer and Orator.

"If I had my way," Dr. Macnamara once confessed to an interviewer, "I should be singing in 'Carmen' instead of making speeches from the treasury bench. But, unfortunately, the British public thinks a great deal more of a man who can make a bad speech than a man who can sing a good song."—Westminster Gazette.

The Query Box.

Dear Sir—When a man slips does he slip up or down?—Victim. It depends altogether where he lands. If he finishes on the ground he slips down. But if his momentum carries him to the roof of a second-story building, then he slips up. (No charge.)

Girls.

No one but a girl can do some things. For instance, a girl can wear an auto veil with the air of just having stepped from her own machine, when her present possessions and future prospects couldn't be cashed for $10.—Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

Jennie Was Posted.

The teacher had been telling the class about the rhinoceros family. "Now, name some things," said she, "that are very dangerous to get near to, and that have horns." "Automobiles!" replied little Jennie Jones, promptly.

The Test of Sober Thought.

If an idea that seemed so brilliant as you smoked your good night cigar still looks good when you crawl out in the cold the next morning, there's usually something in it.—Kansas City Times.

Busy.

Pete Kinby (beside the stove, to upbraiding wife at the washtub)—Who yo' done callin' an idler? Ah'm busy all night trying t' git asleep, an' Ah'm busy all day tryin' t' keep awake.—Puck.

Style in Ailments.

"Well, here I am," announced the fashionable physician in his breezy way. "And now what do you think is the matter with you?" "Doctor, I hardly know," murmured the fashionable patient, "What is new?"

Her Only Fault.

We have admired a certain woman 25 years, except when she puts on her company manners. Then she acts foolish and unnatural.—Atchison Globe.

The Carat in Business.

The weight of a carat is four grains troy, but the value of a diamond carat is an uncertain quantity, depending on the quality, purity, cutting and size of the stone.

Handy.

"This wireless is a great thing." "It is, indeed. Now an actress sailing for Europe can quarrel with her impresario all the way across."

An Absolutely Honest Man.

"Is he a man to be trusted?" "Absolutely. You may even have a cigar exposed in your vest pocket and he won't reach over and grab it."

Ancient Toothpicks.

The Romans had toothpicks of wood and quills. The wealthier of them had toothpicks of silver and gold.

Most of us are extremely wise when it comes to knowing what other people ought to do.—New York Times.

It is not so much what we do as what we are that tells in this world.—Home Chat.

54-40 OR Fight

By Emerson Hough

Author of The Mississippi Bubble

Illustrations by Magnus G. Kettner

(Copyright, 1909, by Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

A step sounded in the hall behind him, and he turned back. We were joined by the tall clerical figure of Rev. Dr. Halford, who had, it seemed, been at least one to keep his appointment as made. He raised his hand as if to silence me, and held out to me a certain object. It was the slipper of the Baroness Helena von Ritz—white, delicate, dainty, beribboned.

"Miss Elizabeth does not pretend to understand why your gift should take this form; but as the slipper evidently has been worn by some one, she suggests you may perhaps be in error in sending it at all." He spoke in even, icy tones.

"Let me into this house!" I demanded. "I must see her!"

There were two tall figures now, who stood side by side in the wide front door.

"But don't you see, there has been a mistake, a horrible mistake?" I demanded.

Dr. Halford, in his grave and quiet way, assisted himself to snuff. "Sir," he said, "knowing both families, I agreed to this haste and unceremoniousness, much against my will. Had there been no objection upon either side, I would have undertaken to go forward with the wedding ceremony. But never in my life have I, and never shall I, join two in wedlock when either is not in that state of mind and soul consonant with that holy hour."

All at once I felt a swift revulsion. There came over me the reaction, an icy calm.

"Gentlemen," said I slowly, "what you tell me is absolutely impossible and absurd. But if Miss Elizabeth really doubts me on evidence such as this, I would be the last man in the world to ask her hand. I have no time to argue now. Good-by!"

They looked at me with grave faces, but made no reply. I descended the steps, the dainty, beribboned slipper still in my hand, got into my carriage and started back to the city.

CHAPTER XII.

The Marathon.

As if two gods should play some heavenly match, and on this wager lay two earthly women.—Shakespeare.

An automaton, scarcely thinking, I gained the platform of the station. There was a sound of hissing steam, a rolling cloud of sulphurous smoke, a shouting of railway captains, a creaking of the wheels. Without volition of my own, I was on my northward journey. Presently I looked around and found seated at my side the man whom I then recollected I was to meet—Dr. Samuel Ward.

"What's wrong, Nicholas?" he asked. "Trouble of any kind?"

So, briefly, I told him what little I knew of the events of the last hour. I told him of the shame and humiliation of it all. He pondered for a minute and asked me at length if I believed Miss Elizabeth suspected anything of my errand of the night before.

"How could she?" I answered. "So far as I can recollect, I never mentioned the name of the Baroness von Ritz."

Then, all at once, I did recollect! I did remember that I had mentioned the name of the baroness that very morning to Elizabeth, when the baroness passed us in the east room!

Dr. Ward was keen enough to see the sudden confusion on my face, but he made no comment beyond saying that he doubted not time would clear it all up; that he had known many such affairs.

"But mind you one thing," he added; "keep those two women apart."

"Then why do you two doddering old idiots, you and John Calhoun, with life outworn and the blood dried in your veins, send me, since you doubt me so much, on an errand of this kind. You see what it has done for me. I am done with John Calhoun. He may get some other fool for his service."

"Where do you propose going, then, friend?"

"West," I answered. "West to the Rockies—"

Dr. Ward calmly produced a tortoise shell snuff-box from his left-hand waistcoat pocket, and deliberately took snuff. "You are going to do nothing of the kind," said he calmly. "You are going to keep your promise to John Calhoun and to me. Believe me, the business in hand is vital."

"I care nothing for that," I answered bitterly.

"But you are the agent of your country. You are called to do your country's urgent work. All life is only trouble vanquished. I ask you now to be a man; I not only expect it, but demand it of you!"

His words carried weight in spite of myself. I began to listen. I took from his hand the package, looked at it, examined it. Finally, as he sat silently regarding me, I broke the seal.

"Now, Nicholas Trist," resumed Dr. Ward presently, "there is to be at Montreal at the date named in these papers a meeting of the directors of the Hudson Bay Company of England. There will be big men there—the biggest their country can produce; leaders of the Hudson Bay Company, many public men even of England. It is rumored that a brother of Lord Aberdeen of the British ministry will attend. Do you begin to understand?"

Ah, did I not? Here, then, was further weaving of those complex plots which at that time hedged in all our history as a republic. Now I guessed the virtue of our knowing somewhat of England's secret plans, as she surely did of ours. I began to feel behind me the impulse of John Calhoun's swift energy.

"It is Oregon!" I exclaimed at last.

Dr. Ward nodded. "Very possibly. It has seemed to Mr. Calhoun very likely that we may hear something of great importance regarding the far northwest. A missed cog now may cost this country 1,000 miles of territory, 100 years of history."

In spite of myself, I began to feel the stimulus of a thought like this. It was my salvation as a man. I began to set aside myself and my own troubles.

"You are therefore," he concluded, "to go to Montreal, and find your own way into that meeting of the directors of the Hudson Bay Company. There is a bare chance that in this intrigue Mexico will have an emissary on the ground as well. There is reason to suspect her hostility to all our plans of extension, southwest and northwest. Naturally, it is the card of Mexico to bring on war, or accept it if we urge; but only in case she has England as her ally. England will get her pay by taking Texas, and what is more, by taking California, which Mexico does not value. She owes England large sums now. That would leave England owner of the Pacific coast; for, once she gets California, she will fight us then for all of Oregon. It is your duty to learn all of these matters—who is there, what is done; and to do this without making known your own identity."

I sat for a moment in thought. "It is an honor," said I finally; "an honor so large that under it I feel small."

"Now," said Dr. Ward, placing a gnarled hand on my shoulder, "you begin to talk like a Marylander. It's a race, my boy, a race across this continent. There are two trails—one north and one mid-continent. On these paths two nations contend in the greatest Marathon of all the world. England or the United States—monarchy or republic—aristocracy or humanity!"

"Good-by," he said, as we steamed into Baltimore station. I turned, and he was gone.

CHAPTER XIII.

On Secret Service.

If the world was lost through women, she alone can save it.—Louis de Beaufort.

In the days of which I write, our civilization was, as I may say, so embryonic, that it is difficult for us now to realize the conditions which then obtained.

We had several broken railway systems north and south, but there were not then more than 5,000 miles of railway built in America. All things considered, I felt lucky when we reached New York less than 24 hours out from Washington.

Up the Hudson I took the crack steamer Swallow, the same which just one year later was sunk while trying to beat her own record of nine hours and two minutes from New York to Albany. She required 11 hours on our trip. Under conditions then obtaining, it took me a day and a half more to reach Lake Ontario. Here, happily, I picked up a frail steam craft, owned by an adventurous soul who was not unwilling to risk his life and that of others on the uncertain and ice-filled waters of Ontario. With him I negotiated to carry me with others down the St. Lawrence. One delay after another with broken machinery, lack of fuel, running ice and what not, required five days more of my time ere I reached Montreal.

I could not be called either officer or spy, yet none the less I did not care to be recognized here in the capacity of one overcurious. I made up my costume as that of an innocent free trader from the western fur country of the states, and was able from my earlier experiences, to answer any questions as to beaver at Fort Hall or buffalo on the Yellowstone or the Red. Thus I passed freely in and about all the public places of the town, and inspected with a certain personal interest all its points of interest.

As I moved about from day to day, making such acquaintance as I could, I found in the air a feeling of excitement and expectation. The hotels, bad as they were, were packed. The public places were noisy, the private houses crowded. Gradually the town became half-military and half-savage. Persons of importance arrived by steamers up the river, on whose expanse lay boats which might be bound for England—or for some of England's colonies. The government—not yet removed to Ottawa, later capital of Ontario—was then housed in the old Chateau Ramezay, built so long before for the French governor, Vaudreuil.

Here, I had reason to believe, was now established no less a personage than Sir George Simpson, governor of the Hudson Bay Company. Rumor had it at the time that Lord Aberdeen of England himself was at Montreal. That was not true, but I established without doubt that his brother really was there, as well as Lieut. William Peel of the navy, son of Sir Robert Peel, England's prime minister.

I was not a week in Montreal before I learned that my master's guess, or his information, had been correct. The race was on for Oregon!

All these things, I say, I saw go on about me. Yet in truth as to the inner workings of this I could gain but little actual information. I saw England's ships, but it was not for me to know whether they were to turn Cape Hope or the Horn. I saw Canada's voyageurs, but they might be only on their annual journey, and might go no farther than their accustomed posts in the west. In French town and English town, among common soldiers, voyageurs, innkeepers and merchants, I wandered for more than one day and felt myself still helpless.

That is to say, such was the case until there came to my aid that greatest of all allies, Chance.

CHAPTER XIV.

The Other Woman.

The world is the book of women.—Rosseau.

I needed not to be advised that presently there would be a meeting of some of the leading men of the Hudson Bay Company at the little gray stone, dormer-windowed, building on Notre Dame street. For myself, it was out of the question to gain admittance.

In those days all Montreal was iron-shuttered after nightfall, resembling a series of jails; and to-night it seemed doubly screened and guarded. None the less, late in the evening, I allowed seeming accident to lead me in a certain direction. Passing as often as I might up and down Notre Dame street without attracting attention, I saw more than one figure in the semi-darkness enter the low chateau door. Occasionally a tiny gleam showed at the edge of a shutter or at the top of some little window not full screened. As to what went on within I could only guess.

I passed the chateau, up and down, at different times from nine o'clock until midnight. The streets of Montreal at that time made brave pretense of lighting by virtue of the new gas works; at certain intervals flickering and wholly incompetent lights served to make the gloom more visible. None the less, as I passed for the last time, I plainly saw a shaft of light fall upon the half darkness from a little side door. There emerged upon the street the figure of a woman. I do not know what led me to cast a second glance, for certainly my business was not with ladies, any more than I would have supposed ladies had business there; but, victim of some impulse of curiosity, I walked a step or two in the same direction as that taken by the cloaked figure.

Careless as I endeavored to make my movements, the veiled lady seemed to take suspicion or fright. She quickened her steps. Accident favored me. Even as she fled, she caught her skirt on some object which lay hidden in the shadows and fell almost at full length. This I conceived to be opportunity warranting my approach. I raised my hat and assured her that her flight was needless.

I Walked a Step or Two in the Same Direction as That Taken by the Cloaked Figure.

She made no direct reply to me, but as she rose gave utterance to an expression of annoyance. "Mon Dieu!" I heard her say.

I stood for a moment trying to recall where I had heard this same voice! She turned her face in such a way that the light illuminated it. Then indeed surprise smote me.

"Madam Baroness," said I laughing, "it is wholly impossible for you to be here, yet you are here! Never again will I say there is no such thing as chance, no such thing as fate, no such thing as a miracle!"

She looked at me one brief moment; then her courage returned.

"Ah, then, my idiot," she said, "since it is to be our fortune always to meet of dark nights and in impossible ways, give me your arm."

I laughed. "We may as well make treaty. If you run again, I shall only follow you."

"Then I am again your prisoner?"

"Madam, I again am yours!"

"At least, you improve!" said she. "Then come."

"Shall I not call a caleche?—the night is dark."

"No, no!" hurriedly.

We began a midnight course that took us quite across the old French quarter of Montreal. At last she turned into a small, dark street of modest one-story residences, iron-shuttered, dark and cheerless. Here she paused in front of a narrow iron gate.

BATTING AVERAGES OF Y.M.C.A. PLAYERS

Batting averages of Y. M. C. A. players compiled by Manager G. L. Listman gives Evans the post of honor with a percentage of .750 per cent. for two games. The logical leader, however, is Johnny Fritts, who has batted at a .412 clip in four games. Evans recently broke his wrist in a game and will be unable to participate in future games. Evans place on second base has been filled by Taylor. The averages follow:

GOLF.

According to conditions sent out from the secretary's office last night, the annual open championship tournament of the United States Golf Association will be continued along lines similar to previous fixtures of this kind. The competition, which will be held on the links of the Philadelphia Cricket Club on June 17 and 18, will consist of seventy-two holes of medal play, divided equally between the two days. There will be ten prizes, as follows:

First, $300 and a gold medal; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $80; fifth, $70; sixth, $60; seventh, $50; eighth, $40; ninth, $30, and tenth, $20.

The winner will also have the custody of the championship cup, but he must, if required, give security for its safekeeping. In case an amateur wins any of the prizes the equivalent in plate will be given.

So as to avoid unnecessary delays and congestion, it has been decided that contestants whose scores at the finish of the first day's play exceed by fifteen strokes the tenth place shall not continue in the competition. All entries are subject to the approval of the executive committee of the United States Golf Association, and any player who fails to appear at the first tee within fifteen minutes of the time is called shall be disqualified unless reasons satisfactory to the committee in charge of the tournament are given.

This will make the second time within three years that the Philadelphia Cricket Club has had this tournament. The course is on the Chestnut Hill branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at St. Martin's station, within eleven miles of the Broad street station in Philadelphia. The links overlook the Whitemarsh Valley to the northwest and the hills of Roxborough beyond Wissahickon Creek.

Originally laid out as a nine-hole circuit in 1895, the course was extended to eighteen holes the following year. It has undergone many improvements since then, and recently, under the direction of Willie Anderson, the professional in charge, many additional hazards have been put in. The club buildings destroyed by fire two years ago have been replaced.

OUR NATIONAL GAME.

"The raw American citizen," says Ellis Parker Butler in Success Magazine, "who takes his seat at a ball game for the first time feels as he would should he drop into the Metropolitan Opera House and find himself hearing Wagnerian opera from a seat in the midst of seasoned German operagoers. He hears a language that is new to him. The man at his right can tell more about the first baseman's peculiarities than he could tell about the manners of his own wife. The man at his left has trouble remembering the size collar he wears, but he can name every man in every club of both the major leagues, tell the age of each, give the complete table of batting records offhand, and recite, item by item, every feature of every game played on the home grounds during the last five years. That is why baseball is our national game. We love the game, not because we are Chicagoans and the Chicago nine wins, nor because we are Pittsburgers and the Pittsburg nine is winning, but because we are educated in baseball and like to see a good game played by the best men in their field that can be found in the world."

P. H. S. NOTES.

P. H. S. freshmen are playing a fast game this season. Up to date they have not lost a game in the interclass series. The standing is as follows:

	W.	L.
Seniors	1	1
Sophomores	0	3

A keen battle is anticipated when the Freshmen and Seniors cross bats on May 31 in their last game.

Grisley is pitching fine ball for the Freshies and Guttridge is speedy behind the bat.

Rosenson is doing brilliant work at shortstop and Ricketts is the leading hitsmith.

Weber is playing fast ball around the third sack and Lowrie, the Dunellen boy, is doing fancy stunts in center field right along.

Kustan is making a big hit by the capable style in which he has been covering the initial sack this season.

BRIDGE IS WRECKED BY TRACTION ENGINE.

The Union and Somerset county line bridge on the Valley road, near Mountain avenue, Scotch Plains, was wrecked yesterday afternoon by a traction engine used for drilling wells. The engine weighs ten tons and when the middle of the bridge was reached the whole structure collapsed, allowing the engine to drop a distance of almost ten feet and upset.

The accident was reported to the freeholders of both counties and arrangements have been made to erect a temporary structure until a new bridge can be built. Considerable difficulty is being experienced in raising the engine and it may be a day or two before this is accomplished.

Was This a Halley Comet Joke?

John Goodwin, and other residents of Manning avenue, were disturbed last night by the continued barking of a dog. Investigation showed that somebody, presumably a Halley Comet joker, tied a canine to Goodwin's gatepost. The dog barked so incessantly that police headquarters was notified by telephone and Marshall Pope responded by arriving on the scene and taking the canine to the police station.

WANT THE FLAG HONORED

Tuesday, June 14, Will Be 133rd Anniversary of Its Adoption.

AN APPEAL IS ISSUED.

National Flag Association Makes An Address to the People Through Patriotic Societies.

The Mayor and the officers of local patriotic societies have been sent circulars by the American Flag Association, a National organiaztion, calling attention to the fact that Tuesday, June 14, will be the 133d anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as the flag of the United States. The association urges co-operation to secure the widest possible observance of the day this year.

The circular reads:

"On the 14th day of June, 1777, Congress enacted: 'That the Flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white, in a blue field, representing a new constellation.' The number of the stripes having been increased by the admission of new States, the possibilities of the Nation's future development dawned upon our fathers, and the original thirteen stripes were unchangeably restored by act of Congress on April 4, 1818, when it was enacted: 'That from and after the fourth day of July next, the Flag of the United States be thirteen horizontal stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be twenty stars, white, in a blue field, and that on the admission of a new State into the Union, one star be added to the Union of the Flag; and such addition take effect on the fourth day of July next, succeeding such admission.' Since 1818 twenty-six stars or sovereign States have been added to the Union, making forty-six in all.

"The Flag has become more and more the symbol of a mighty Nation. Carried to the utmost parts of the earth, it has been thrown to the breeze proclaiming liberty, and Americans cannot fail of a feeling of pride and satisfaction, nor restrain the swelling of patriotism when we contrast the meaning, in far distant lands, of ours and other Flags displayed together.

"We respectfully appeal to the Governors of all States of our land and to the Mayor of each American city, to herald the coming and celebration of Flag Day, June 14, 1910, by proclamation; we call upon every public officer, every teacher of the youth of our land, the editors of all newspapers, the daily instructors of the youth of our land, to call public attention; to arouse enthusiasm, and to provide for public exercises and general celebration of the day.

"We earnestly exhort our citizens to join in making Flag Day an event, and its celebration in 1910 a great event. Let us, from one end of our land to the other, fling the Stars and Stripes to the breeze on June 14, 1910. May it greet the rising and salute the setting sun, and float all day long from every church edifice, school and building, public and private and however humble, throughout the entire land."

The association suggests the following program for the salute to the flag in the public schools:

"At a given hour in the morning, the pupils are assembled and in their places in the school. A signal is given by the principal of the school. Every pupil rises in his place. The flag is brought forward to the principal or teacher. While it is being brought forward from the door to the stand of the principal or teacher, every pupil gives the flag the military salute, which is as follows:

"The right hand uplifted, palm upward, to a line with the forehead close to it. While thus standing with palm upward and in the attitude of salute, all the pupils repeat together slowly and distinctly the following pledge:

"'I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands,

One nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.'

"At the words, as pronounced in this pledge, 'To my flag,' each one extends the right hand gracefully, palm upward, toward the flag until the end of the pledge affirmation. Then all hands drop to the side. The pupils, still standing, all sing together, in unison the son 'America' —'My Country 'Tis of Thee.'

"In the primary departments, where the children are very small, they are taught to reepat this instead of the pledge as given for the older children:

"'I give my head and my heart to God and my country.
One country, one language, one flag.'

"In some schools the salute is given in silence, as an act of reverence, unaccompanied by any pledge. At a signal, as the flag reaches its station, the right hand is raised, palm downward, to a horizontal position against the forehead, and held there until the flag is dipped and returned to a vertical position. Then at the second signal the hand is dropped to the side and the pupil takes his seat.

"The silent salute conforms very closely to the military and naval salute to the flag.

"Principals may adopt the 'silent salute' for a daily exercise and the 'pledge salute' for special occasions."

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF PRESBYTERIANS

The General Assembly of the Presbyterian church began its ten days' session at Atlantic City this morning with a sermon by the Rev. James M. Barkley, of Detroit. Last year Dr. Barkley was the moderator and has represented the church at conferences, social unions and in consultation with the boards of the church; today he preached a sermon summing up his observations gained from his year of experience and then became the chairman of the most important committee of the present session, whereupon he will have the pleasure of seeing his name in the minutes along with a hundred and more leaders of the denomination who have been similarly honored.

The question of the hour is, who among the nine hundred commissioners in the assembly will succeed Dr. Barkley in the arduous duties which are associated with the office? Among the clergymen whose names are being disucssed are the Rev. Dr. George Alexander, of New York; the Rev Dr. Zenos, of Chicago; the Rev. Ethelbert D. Warfield, of Easton, Pa., and the Rev. Rev. Dr. Charles Little, of Wabash, Ind.

It is possible that other names will be presented this afternoon, but the choice would seem to lie, from present indications, among the four men mentioned, with Dr. Alexander as a favorite.

Rev. F. D. Tildon, pastor of Bethel chapel, this city, is the clerical delegate from the Presbytery of Elizabeth. A. F. Bouton, of Elizabeth, is the lay delegate. In addition to lay delegates from each congregation, these pastors are representing the Plainfield churches: Crescent Avenue, Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie; First, Rev Dr. C. E. Herring; Warren, Rev. J. O. McKelvey; Hope, Rev. L. R. Howard; Bethel, Rev. Mr. Tildon.

The history of this case in brief is this: Some students were licensed by the New York Presbytery after a second examination, the one at first not being satisfactory, owing to some theological difference held by the young men, including a brother of Professor Hugh Black, of Union Seminary. A minority of the presbytery complained against their licensure, and especially against the ordination of Mr. Black, who is now a successful pastor in The Bronx.

The Synod dismissed the complaint after a full hearing, and the complainants then decided to carry the case to the assembly, technically, not from the presbytery, but from the Synod, which had sustained the lower court. Dr. John Fox, one of the secretaries of the American Bible Society and a member of the board of foreign missions; the Rev. Dr. Walter D. Buchanan, pastor of the Fourth Avenue Presbyterian church the Rev. Dr. Daniel S. Gregory, editor of "The Bible Student," and the Rev. Dr. F. E. Shearer are four of the complainants, who feel that in justice to their own ordination vows they must compel the church, represented in the general assembly, to pass upon the questions the answers to which exception was taken by them and their associates when the young men were under examination.

Dr. William Henry Roberts, the stated clerk of the general assembly, and also its treasurer and also the chairman of several committees of the assembly and the secretary of all the committees, does not seem specially disturbed by the efforts made by the Blairville Presbytery, of Pennsylvania, to drive him from the office of treasurer. The advisory committee appointed to consider this question at issue, while expressing the belief that the interests of the church are best served by having Dr. Roberts act as stated clerk and treasurer, will report to the assembly the suggestion that the duties of the treasurer, heretofore carried by him, should henceforth be perofrmed by a trust company.

The board of foreign misions, the evangelistic committee, the college board and other agencies of the assembly held meetings yesterday which were largely attended. Last evening the board of education, of which Dr. Joseph W. Cochran is secretary, gave a university dinner at the Chalfonte.

POLICE NOW SEARCH FOR BURIED PLUNDER

After Finding Victim's Body, Hunt is Made for Black Hand Spoils.

IT WAS AN ATROCIOUS KILLING.

Murderers Shot Cahill in Back, Crushed in His Skull and Buried the Body—Victim Was Employed Here.

The murder of Patrick Cahill, the aged mechanic, whose corpse was unearthed yesterday afternoon, reveals one of the most atrocious crimes committed by the Black Hand society since their operations began in this State. Cahill was an inoffensive man and had but the one bad habit of going on a spree occasionally. And for this reason his non-appearance for a few days was not questioned by the neighbors, mostly Italians. A resume of the findings of the police officials is that Cahill refused to deliver one-half of his salary to the pair of extortionists and for refusing was shot to death. To make sure that their victim was dead the murderers (it is believed that there were two of them) crushed Cahill's head in with blows from a club or an axe.

The story in The Daily Press yesterday afternoon was substantially correct. The name of the victim was confused because of misunderstanding over the telephone. Cirecici, the self-confessed murderer, revealed the grewsome details of the crime to Captain Brown, of the Second precinct of the Newark police. In his confession he did not implicate others, but it is believed by the authorities that the crime was the outcome of persistent demands for money made by the black hand society and that Cirecici was the treasurer of the gang.

Working on this theory the Middlesex county authorities are making a thorough search of the premises occupied by the Italian and it is expected that sums of money will be dug up which will represent the income of the band for months past. Chance was a big factor in the discovery of the murder. Cirecici had been apprehended by the Newark detectives on a charge of being implicated in recent black hand outrages in and near that city. While awaiting the arraignment before the police court on the charge of conspiracy the murderer sent for Captain Brown saying that he desired to make a confession because of his conscience. When Captain Brown heard the story he thought it was merely the result of the workings of a disordered mind and did not think there was any need for special investigation. However, the thing impressed him after a while and he notified Chief Kiely of the story and an investigation was at once begun here.

Colef Kiely accompanied by Detective-Sergeant Flynn went to the scene of the supposed murder in time to be present at the unearthing of the body by Detective Richard Pelletier, of New Brunswick, who was acting under instructions from Prosecutor Berdine. The body was taken to New Brunswick, whence it will be buried in the Catholic cemetery. Cahill's wife, it is said, is in jail at New Brunswick charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

The old couple had six children. John, the eldest son, is an employe at Mackey's greenhouse at New Market. Then there are three married daughters, Mrs. Mary Hibbard, of this city; Mrs. Richard Biddle, of Neshanick; Mrs. Catherine Lovett, of Albany, N. Y. Two unmarried daughters, Miss Agnes Cahill, of Neshanick, and Miss Helen Cahill, of this city.

When John, the son, viewed the remains yesterday afternoon, he seemed to be unconcerned over the fate of his father and remarked, "accidents will happen to the best of us." Coroner E. V. Hubbard, who viewed the body and performed the autopsy, declared that Cahill had come to his death from two pistol shot wounds, either one of which would have proved fatal. The wound on the head was evidently inflicted after the pistol shots had taken effect and was only a means of making death sure.

John Pinetti, a seventeen-year-old youth who did the interpreting for the census enumerator, recently, said

HEARD KING PROCLAIMED

Former Plainfielder Also Saw George V. on His Way to Take Oath.

DESCRIBES HIS IMPRESSIONS.

Francis E. Powell Writes Graphically of Historic Incidents Following Death of Edward VII.

Charles S. Powell, of Mercer avenue, has received an interesting letter from his brother, Francis E. Powell, a director in the Anglo-American Oil Company, located at 22 Billiter street, London, in which there is a graphic description of the ceremonies attending the death of KKing Edward, and the taking of the oath of allegiance by King George V.

Part of Mr. Powell's letter is quoted below: "On Saturday we went to St. James Palace and saw the new king drive out from Marlborough House to the garden entrance of St. James' where he took the oath of office before the Privy Council. He was dressed in the uniform of an Admiral and looked, I thought, a little better than usual. He had only two attendants and no escort. A pretty incident was that of the appearance of the little princes at the windows of Marlborough House just opposite where we were standing. They seemed greatly interested in the crowds and remained there fo some time.

"After remaining there for an hour the King drove out by the garden exit and this time we saw him quite plainly. Just at that moment the artillery which had been firing the sixty-eight gun salute in memory of the dead king, went by on its way to Knightsbridge barracks. We then went around by the Ambassadors' gate and saw many of the dignitaries leave, among others Sir Samuel Evans. Lady Evans was not admitted, in fact, I do not think any of the ladies were at the ceremony.

"This morning we came to town and stood in the Quadrangle of St. James' Palace to hear the proclamation of the new King read by the Garter King of Arms. There was a dense crowd. The roadway was lined with the famous Grenadier Guards and inside was a cordon of policemen. The colors of the Guard and the instruments of the band were draped in black, while a troop of Horse Guards were stationed at the foot of St. James' completely blocking the road and aproaches. Pall Mall was lined with troops, in fact, I understand that all the way to the city was lined with soldiers.

"Although we could not hear the proclamation read we saw the Royal Heralds and the fanfare of trumpets both before and after the ceremony. Following this came the 'God Save the King,' played by the oand and every head in the grsat crowd was uncovered. A moment later through the crowd came the strains of the anthem, borne by many voices. The music was taken up by the crowd all around us. It was most impressive. The guns in the Park began to boom. There were a few cheers, but only a few as the crowd was most orderly and deferential."

Board Passes School Budget.

The Board of School Estimate met yesterday afternoon at the Plainfield High School and passed on the school budget for the coming year, as stated in The Daily Press of yesterday. The local amount to be asked for is $67,000, and the total amount thought to be necessary for the coming year is $160,000. The increase is due chiefly to $5,000 needed for the furnishing fund at the Jefferson School, and $4,500 increase for teachers salaries, it being necessary to employ additional teachers.

BAPTISTS RAISED $8,000

Their State Mission Movement Inaugurated Here Last Night.

ONE CONTRIBUTION FOR $5,000.

Dr. Chambliss and Representatives of Baptist Convention Made Stirring Addresses.

Eight thousand dollars was subscribed toward the $100,000 fund to be used in state mission work at a meeting of Baptist laymen in the First Baptist church last night. The meeting was the first one of a series to be held in different sections of the State and the projectors of the movement are highly encouraged over the splendid showing made at the first meeting. All of the local Baptist churches were represented at the meet, also the congregations of Westfield, Scotch Plains and New Market.

The meeting opened with a prayer by the Rev. F. K. Matthews, of Scotch Plains, and former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph was selected chairman. In addresses made by visiting clergymen and laymen the scope of the proposed work was interestingly described to the audience.

Rev. Dr. Dewolf, corresponding secretary of the Baptist State Convention in his address showed the enormous growth of population in New Jersey, especially by foreign emmigration, and the destitution in many localities of religious privileges.

A discussion followed in which remarks were made by Rev. J. K. Folsom, of Atlantic City, G. Garrabrant, of Bloomfield, N. W. Ayer, of Camden, Rev. Dr. J. C. Buchanan, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, L. V. F. Randolph and others.

Each speaker emphasized the point that the object of the effort is evangelization and not simply to multiply Baptists, that the money raised would not be used to plant Baptist Churches in communities already well supplied with church privileges by other Christian denominations.

Dr. Chambliss in his remarks declared he felt highly honored that the first meeting of the series was held here and the movement inaugurated in Plainfield. In future years he stated that he and members and local Baptists will be proud to look back and see it recorded in history that the work started here, and that former Mayor Randolph, a Plainfielder, was the chairman of the first meeting, and the person to offer the first subscription.

Dr. Chambliss declared he was glad that the officers of the movement had emphasized the word "evangelization" and that he, and others entertained opinions, that Baptist churches should not be established in communities which are fully ocupied by other Christian workers of different denominations.

The local pastor also stated that there are many territories in New Jersey, and surprising as it may appear, of wide and populous districts which are destitute of evangelical opportunities, and added that he was glad that the aim of the work is primarily to meet the demand to spread the gospel to these religious Saharas.

When Dr. Chambliss asked all those who were present, who were willing to give assistance to the movement, almost the entire audience responded to the appeal by rising.

Subscription were received payable in annual installments of five years and the $8,000 was speedily pledged. Some of those who are among the largest givers to benevolences in the local congregations were unavoidably prevented from attending the meeting, but later contributions from the absent ones are expected to swell the total amount subscribed last night. Among those who made the largest gifts last night were Mr. Ayer who subscribed $5,000 and Mr. Garrabrant who gave $2,000.

The State convention already has a Church edifice fund of $25,000 which is used in directing and aiding smaller churches and chapels in the State. The demand for assistance is so great that it was found necessary to increase the fund to $100,000, and the liberal spirit displayed last night, presages success to the movement.

ONE DAY'S RECORD FROM POLICE BLOTTER

Frank Owens, of East Front street, received a suspended sentence this morning from Judge William Runyon and he was lucky. Owens was drunk yesterday and caused a disturbance at his boarding house. It appeared to be his first offense and in explaining how it happened said he had been ill and took just a little liquor to stop the pain.

Theodore Anderson, a coachman, who yesterday morning was allowed to go free on a charge of being helplessly drunk, hardly had time to imbibe enough liquor to render him helpless again within half an hour after being released, but such was the fact. Patrolman McDonald found Anderson leaning up against the Armstrong drug store at a little after 11 o'clock absolutely unconscious of his surroundings. Judge Runyon gave him thirty days in which to think it over.

Frank Perrine, another East End man, was fined $8 with the alternative of spending the next twenty days in the Elizabeth jail for an offense similar to the two others. Perrine's abusive and profane language aggravated the case against him and it took all of Doorman Thomas O'Gorman's persuasion and strength to land Perrine in the cooler.

Daniel Johnson, of 20 Sycamore avenue, was fined ten dollars for disorderly conduct. He was arrested by Detective Sergeant John Flynn at midnight last night upon the complaint of a servant girl. The young woman declared that Johnson had kissed her and was otherwise impolite.

MRS. HOWARD COLBY QUEEN OF THE MAY

Preparations for the coming May pageant in aid of the public playgrounds are going forward with alacrity and the Misses Florance, who have the setting of the different scenes in charge are greatly encouraged over the results of recent rehearsals. The first scene will be a tableaux in the garden with a terrace and a pergola in the background, decorated with electric lights scintillating from blocks of Persian marble. The stage will be on the second terrace and here is where the magnificent scenic dances will take place.

On this terrace, the proscenium of which fronts the scene of activities, the gathering guests of the entertainment will witness an aggregation of costumes of the time of Louis XIV. Here also will be played the games of the period including the ceremonies attending the arrival of the queen. Mrs. Howard Colby will impersonate the May Queen and will be accompanied by the Lords and Ladies in Waiting. Mrs. Lewis G. Waring will lead the ladies and Mrs. William B. Tyler will be the chaperon.

Besides Pierrots and Columbines and the other characteristic appurtenances of the Court splendors there will be a gavotte danced by the Ladies and the final scene will include the Rose dance, supposed to be one of the most artistic efforts of the entire cast. Tyrolean dances led by Mrs. Harry W. Marshall, in which the costumes will be exact duplicates of those worn in the Alps will be a feature which no one should miss.

Tickets for the entire three days' festival may be purchased at Armstrong's drug store. In case the weather should interfere with any of the performances the tickets will be exchanged for following performances. The program will have its initial performance on Thursday night next and will continue on Friday and Saturday nights, May 26, 27 and 28.

EMPLOYES GET DAMAGES

Three Verdicts Against S. W. Rushmore Under Ackerman Liability Law.

FOR INJURIES AT THE PLANT.

Total Amount Awarded by Jury $5,186—C. A. Marsh Counsel for Plaintiffs—An Appeal To Be Taken.

The trial of the damage suits which terminated at Elizabeth yesterday in verdicts against S. W. Rushmore for $5,186, was remarkable in two respects. Three cases, the plaintiffs being Jim Di Nizio, Michael Topack and John Tobin, were tried together at the same time and by the same jury, and the suits were brought under the Ackerman Employers' Liability Act.

The accident, as reported in The Daily Press at the time, occurred October 9 last in the Rushmore Dynamo Works. It was caused by an explosion of a gas producer or the water top which is the cover of the producer, and resulted in flame and gas being blown about the faces, hands and forearms of the three men who were engaged in cleaning the furnace of the producer. The three men were taken to Muhlenberg Hospital. Most of the skin of their faces, ears, hands, wrists and arms where burned sloughed off and and new skin formed, leaving a few scars on their faces and ears and considerable discoloration on the skin of the hands and wrists.

Each of the three men retained Craig A. Marsh. Mr. Rushmore retained Vredenburgh, Wall and Van Winkle, of Jersey City. The trial occupied three days before Judge Vail. The questions in the case were whether Mr. Rushmore had exercised proper care to provide a safe place for the men to work in and a reasonably safe gas producer; whether he or his superintendent failed to exercise proper care in keeping the apparatus inspected; whether the men were guilty of contributory negligense, or were injured in consequence of an obvious risk which they assumed when they accepted their employment, and whether it was an inevitable accident for which no one was liable. There was the usual conflict of evidence. It was shown that Mr. Rushmore had paid the men eight or nine weeks' wages after the accident and had paid their hospital bills, he claiming all the while that he was not liable and was acting from motives of kindness to his men.

The main difference made by the Employers' Liability act in these cases was that the defendant would be liable even if the negligence proven was that of defendant's representative, who had the duty of seeing that the plant was kept in proper condition, whereas under the old law, the doctrine of fellow servant might defeat the plaintiff in that case.

The jury listened intently to the arguments of counsel and the court's charge, apparently realizing that their duties were of three-fold importance, and in a short time after retiring rendered verdicts in favor of the plaintiffs in all three cases, giving Topack, $1,130; Tobin, $2,000 and De Nizio, $2,056.

Mr. Rushmore announced today that his counsel would take an appeal.

Assistant Cashier Resigns.

As soon as a successor to Mr. Rowley can be secured his wish will be granted. Mr. Rowley is especially well fitted for the duties at the bank and the directors regret that he feels compelled to relinquish his position as he has made many friends.

SEVEN NURSES GRADUATE

Annual Commencement of Muhlenberg Hospital Training School.

DR. VANHORN THE SPEAKER.

Percy H. Stewart Presents Diplomas and Mayor Charles J. Fisk the Pins—W. H. Wherry Also Speaks.

Seven young women were graduated from the Muhlenberg Hospital Training School for Nurses last night, when interesting exercises were held at the Hratridge School Auditorium. The auditorium was well filled with relatives and friends of the graduates, and all the honors possible were conferred on the young women who have completed the prescribed course.

Those in the graduating class were Miss Nellie Wilbee and Miss Josephine Culberson, of this city; Miss Maude Davidson, of London, Ont.; Miss Clara E. Charlton, of Meadowvale, Ont.; Miss Sophia Scherpeltz, of Koln, Germany; Miss Florence MacDonald, of Elizabeth, and Miss Iva Alpaugh, of Califon. They occupied special seats reserved for them directly in front of the stage.

The auditorium was appropriately decorated for the occasion, especially the stage, where there was a handsome display of the American flag, the Canadian flag and a large Red Cross flag, together with palms and flowers.

Percy H. Stewart, representing the Board of Governors; Mayor Charles J. Fisk, W. H. Wherry and Dr. A. F. Van Horn, the last named representing the medical board of the hospital, occupied seats on the stage. During the evening there were instrumental selections by L. M. Hummer's orchestra of three pieces. At the close of the exercises an informal reception was held by the graduates, then followed dancing and the serving of refreshments.

William H. Wherry was the first speaker, after the invocation by Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, and he referred briefly to the importance and value of the profession of nursing, recalling the great work performed by Florence Nightingale during the Crimean War, and others who have since brought honor to the profession. He congratulated the members of the graduating class upon their achievements and wished them success as they now begin their life work.

The address of the evening was by Dr. A. F. Van Horn, and he held the close attention of the large audience as he treated his subject, one bearing directly on the profession of nursing and tending to show the progress made in recent years. The first part of his talk was devoted to a description of the early days of the practice of medicine and surgery and he then compared this with present-day methods.

Continuing Dr. Van Horn said: "Training schools were very few in the early days, the teaching most elementary and the nurse was hardly trusted to give a hypodermic injection unless a physician was present. Nurses had scarcely any part in an operation, for they were not considered, nor were they, competent to assist in this work. But the dawn of a brighter day wa breaking and during my last year in the medical school antiseptic methods were coming into vogue.

"Having briefly reviewed things as we have seen them, we will turn to a brighter picture, and tell you how things are done in Muhlenberg Hospital today, and the part that our nurses take in the work.

"We will first give you a scant outline of the work of the nurse during her three years of training. When a pupil nurse enters the training school, she is on probation for the first two months, if her work is satisfactory and she successfully passes her examination she receives her cap and is a pupil nurse. During the probationary period she is taught the elementary branches of her profession, such as the making of beds, bathing patients and the general hygiene of the ward.

"As the nurse advances in her training her duties are enlarged and more responsibility is placed upon her, but during the first year she is always under the supervision of a more experienced nurse. The nurse has twelve hours on duty and as many more as the exegencies of the work may require, often she is on duty until eleven or twelve o'clock at night or may be called at any time during the night to assist in some emergency case or operation.

"Besides the twelve hours on duty she is required to attend lectures given by various members of the medical staff or superintendent. During the second and third years she

DEMOCRATS DECIDE TO MANDAMUS CITY

Engage Counsel to Compel Common Council to Order Special Election.

ON THE VOTING MACHINE.

Claim that the Act is Mandatory and that Only the Court May Decide Its Constitutionality.

That mandamus proceedings will be brought against the Common Council to compel it to abide by the provisions of the law providing for a referendum on the use of the voting machine was learned today by a representative of The Daily Press. This action was invited by the city fathers when they summarily disposed of a petition filed by the required number of voters by referring the petition back to the laws and ordinances committee. The unusual disposition of the petition means that it will be pigeon-holed unless the petitioners themselves resort to the courts to compel obedience to the statute.

According to several prominent Democrats, George W. V. Moy has been retained to bring the proceedings and he will lose no time in doing so. Mr. Moy, when seen today, declined to either confirm or deny the report, but it is a certainty that he will be the counsel for the complainants. The action it is reported will be brought in the name of LeRoy J. Ellis, chairman of the Democratic City Committee, and a prominent resident. The claim is made that the Act of 1908, chapter 163, makes it mandatory upon the governing body to order a special election on the voting machines when twenty-five per cent. of the voters so petition. The required number of signers, it appears, were obtained, but the Common Council decided not to take any action but rather to permit the petitioners to mandamus the city if they deemed proper.

This action was the result of the reading of an opinion given the Common Council by Corporation Counsel C. A. Marsh in which he said that according to his interpretation parts of the act in question are unconstitutional:

"Shortly stated," said the corporation counsel, "the grounds on which I advise that the act in question is unconstitutional are:

"(1). The act attempts to delegate legislative power to be exercised directly by the electors at the polls.

"(2). The election districts of the legal voters of which the act attempts to confer the power therein specified are not political districts of the State; and it is not competent for the Legislature to confer such power, whether the act be regarded either as a referendum statute or a statute delegating legislative power, upon any class of legal voters of a political district of the State less than all the legal voters of such political district."

Concerning the action of the Common Council, James E. Martine today sent this communication to this paper:

"Editor, The Daily Press:

"Is there anyone who doubts that there is a machine that dominates the politics of Plainfield? To such I ask that they look up the fate of the petition to abolish the voting machine in this city. These machines were foisted on the city by the Legislature without the request of the voters. Owing to their inaccuracy and complication they became unpopular.

"A recent Legislature passed a law that when a certain proportion of the voters petition the governing body of a municipality it is mandatory that such body order an election that the people might decide as to the retention of the machines. In every instance the popular verdict has been against the machines.

"It has always been considered a safe position that a law is constitutional until it has been declared otherwise. Then why should not our Common Council obey the law. Why resort to legal opinions and subterfuges to deny the people their right. The reason is too apparent—it is to deny and defy the law by legal barriers. But the end is not yet—the people will seek redress from such narrow decrees.

GOLF.

A meeting of the Eastern Professional Golfers' Association was held in the Astor House this week. Through Alec Smith an offer was received from the Wykagyl Country Club with regard to the next championship tournament of the association. Wykagyl will give its course and in all probability subscribe a purse of $300, although Smith could not speak positively as to the exact amount of money. The Eastern tournament a year ago was held over the links of the Scarsdale Golf Club.

Under the circumstances it was voted to defer final action as to links and date until the annual meeting, which will be held on June 6. At that time the "pros" will also determine whether to continue running off the tournament along the usual lines of seventy-two holes, medal play, or change to the match game.

Cards have been received by members in the association from the secretary asking for expressions of opinion. Although less than half have thus far responded, the majority favor match play. If it is determined to make the change, the plan is to qualify in three eights, with an eighteen-hole stroke round, contestants to classify themselves according to the merit of their scores.

Those making the first eight would earn the right to continue on at match play, the first round to be held that same afternoon, the semi-final round the next morning and the final in the afternoon. So as to give all a chance, it is also proposed to have a purse for those defeated in the first match rounds in the various divisions, as well as all who fail to qualify. They would have a chance to compete in a thirty-six-hole medal play round on the second day.

In accordance with the custom, a nominating committee was appointed. This committee, consisting of Jack Hobens, Jack Jones and George Low, will select a ticket to be presented for the approval of the members at the annual meeting.

Two new members were elected—George Fernie, the recent importation from Troon, Scotland, who is now at the Richmond County Country Club, and Joe Mitchell, the homebred connected with the Upper Montclair Country Club.

Great Sale of Girls' Wash Dresses

It took us by surprise Monday. We planned on an enormous scale, and thought we prepared amply for the demand, but we could have sold twice the number, for long before closing the lots were depleted. This unprecedented result proved that the values were there—and suggested that another opportunity would be welcomed by Newark's shrewd and thrifty buyers. So we got busy and secured another lot—and here is is. And the assortment is even greater than we offered Monday; ginghams, plain stripes and checks and plaid and percales, lawns and linens, repps; thousands of dresses have been and are now selling at 50c to $1.00 more than our prices; low necks, high necks, Dutch necks, yokes, Russian, sailor and other effects; also the last Yankee Girl and U. S. N. dresses. We cannot promise another lot of dresses this season of this calibre—so don't fail to take advantage.

CHIEF BENDER IS HAVING BIG SEASON.

It is a wonderful thing for a pitcher to keep a hard hitting big league team from getting a safe hit in nine innings of play, but that was what Chief Bender, the Indian, did against Cleveland last Thursday for the Athletics.

In this game only one man reached first base and he was quickly thrown out trying to steal. Both Cy Young and Ad. Joss have done a trifle better than that. They shut out their rivals without a single man reaching base.

But Bender's performance is good enough to suit any ordinary fan. To hold such mighty hitters as Lajoie, Stovall, Turner and Easterly powerless for nine innings is nothing short of phenomenal.

Bender is of a type of pitcher who seems to improve with age. He has been on the Athletics seven years and pitched some high-class baseball in that time, but it was left to him to make his most brilliant performance last week.

Up to date Bender has won six straight games without a single defeat to mar his record. He is blessed with fine physical condition this year, something that he has not always had in the past.

Big and strong, with a good head to back up sharp curves and terrific speed, Bender should be among the leading pitchers of the league this season.

He will, of course, benefit from the extraordinary team that he has behind him this year.

Bender is a credit to baseball and his friends are glad that he is winning such conspicuous honors.

FLEMINGTONS PLAY HERE TOMORROW

Flemington's baseball team will visit Crescent Oval tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when N. P. H. S. will tackle the Montclair High nine, probable winner of the N. J. Interscholastic championship. Smith, in all probability, will twirl against the Essex county aggregation.

Fans will have an opportunity to see Jimmy Emery perform at New Brunswick on Sunday afternoon when the Plainfield boy will play shortstop for Reading against the Brunswicks.

After winning thirteen straight the Athletics' winning streak was smashed by the Detroit Tigers yesterday by the score of 14 to 2.

No flies on the Highlanders this season. Stallings has remarkable "young talent" aggregation and it will surely have a lookin for pennant honors.

Laporte is doing great work with the Yanks with his bat. 1910 appears to be the farmer's banner season.

"Tough luck McGraw" was bumped again yesterday. Cincinnati, 8; Giants, 7.

Newark's lead is being reduced in the Eastern League race. The Indians dropped a game at Toronto yesterday, reducing their margin to 54 points over Buffalo.

The Puritan B. B. C. of Perth Amboy, will be the attraction at South Plainfield next Sunday. Either Conshay or Franklin will be in the box for South Plainfield and the rest of the lineup will be the same as usual. The team is putting up a fine article of ball this season and is drawing record breaking crowds. Manager McDonough has some of the fastest teams in the State booked and considering the way the team is playing he is confident of a successful season.

Fred Harter will protect third sack and Carstrom, the fast Elizabethian, will guard shortstop.

The Y. M. C. A. nine and a host of admirers will trolley to Dunellen where the Listmanites will tackle the unbeaten Dunellen A. C. nine. Jimmy Montross will be in the box for the suburbanites and young Slocum, who has been doing some wonderful pitching stunts this season, will hurl the sphere for the locals. To beat Dunellen Y. M. C. A. will have to go some.

What should be a crackerjack school game is slated to take place on Hyde Oval tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when N. P. H. S. will tackle the Montclair High nine, probable winner of the N. J. Interscholastic championship. Smith, in all probability, will twirl against the Essex county aggregation.

Fans will have an opportunity to see Jimmy Emery perform at New Brunswick on Sunday afternoon when the Plainfield boy will play shortstop for Reading against the Brunswicks.

Voting Machine Petition's Fate.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Will you kindly permit me the use of your columns to solve the following mystery: At the meeting of the Common Council, held Monday evening, when action was to have been taken on the petitions from the voters for the removal of the voting machines, Mr. Mygatt passed the following opinion. (If he is quoted correctly by the press), that the ordering of a special election now might effect future elections, and inasmuch as the general election in November is an important one, he did not think that the Council should do anything to imperil it. Now will he kindly explain why the removal of the voting machines and the giving back to the voters of the good old free paper ballot (which is no hidden mystery) is going to imperil the chances of the Republican party. I would like to know his reasons and I think there are a few more who would.

Yours sincerely,
F. J. SHATTLE.

He received injuries to his back and stomach, but did not believe them to be serious enough to call a physician.

Fire Gong for Police.

The fire gong which is being installed in police headquarters will probably be finished today. The electricians were at work this morning and it is hoped that the final work will be completed this afternoon. The installation means that the policemen on duty whether at night or during the day, will be apprised of any fires occurring in the city. It will be a distinct advance over previous conditions.

POLICE SEARCH FOR PLUNDER

that on Saturday, three days before the crime was committed, a couple of Italians came to the home of Cirecici and together they went into the garden where they dug up a bunch of money which was distributed between the trio. He also said that after Cahill had been missed and on the pretence of assisting in the search for the old man, Cirecici accompanied the neighbors through Cahill's house and the surrounding grounds, apparently eager to help in finding the old man.

Cahill had been employed in the Pond Machine Tool Works for years and was steady, as a rule. Occasional lapses from strict sobriety was the only thing against him and he was known as a jovial, happy and contented man. Cirecici's dwelling, which is a mere hovel, is surrounded by a garden and in the part to the south of the house there are pig pens and chicken houses and the outhouse behind which the body was found. A Mrs. Wagner, a neighbor of Cahill's, said yesterday that strange things had been going on in the Italian's shack for some time and that she herself had been accosted on the road between the Italian settlement at Samptown and her own home and subjected to demands for money. Further investigations are being made by the Middlesex county officials today and it is quite likely that other facts pertaining to the workings of the black hand will be evolved.

COWS AND A HORSE REPORTED MISSING

Marshal James Benson, of Dunellen, telephoned to local police headquarters this morning that a rig had been stolen from the stables adjoining Taylor's hotel last night and the only description given of the alleged thief was that he "was a young man attired in a gray suit of clothes." No such outfit has been seen in this city up to 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Another theft of cattle, to be exact, twelve cows, was reported stolen from the farm of John Farback, of South Bound Brook, last night. Mr. Farback stated to Chief of Police Kiely that the cows were run off his pasture last night shortly after midnight. No trace of the missing animals has been found in this city.

Recovered Stolen Gun.

Al Calloway yesterday went to New York and obtained a gun which was stolen from him last December. The gun was the property of George Wyckoff, of this city.

DR. CANNON CELEBRATES EIGHTY-NINTH BIRTHDAY

Dr. Henry R. Cannon, of Elizabeth, who is the oldest member of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M., of this city, and who was the first county clerk of Union, is today celebrating the eighty-ninth anniversary of his birthday at his home in Elizabeth. He received many souvenir postal cards and letters of congratulation during the day.

One card was from J. J. VanDoren, aged ninety-one years, the oldest member of Washington Lodge, F. & A. M., who has known Dr. Cannon over a half-century, when he was a practising physician in Somerset county. Both have been members of the Masonic fraternity more than fifty years, Dr. Cannon being a past master of Jerusalem Lodge, this city. He became a member of the fraternity in 1843 and two years later conducted Masonic funeral services for Col. Allen, a Revolutionary soldier, who was also a member of Jerusalem lodge.

Col. Allen exacted a promise from Dr. Cannon that when he died his Masonic funeral services should be conducted by Dr. Cannon. It was an impressive funeral and Free Masons were in attendance from Elizabeth, Newark, New Brunswick and elsewhere.

During the anti-Masonic excitement of a half-century ago, Jerusalem Lodge suspended operations and its property was taken by Col. Allen and stored on his farm on the Watchung mountains. Dr. Cannon is an invalid and has been confined to his home the past year. He has lived in Elizabeth more than a half-century and in 1868-'69 was grand master of Free Masons of this State.

SON LEGALLY DEAD, HIS MOTHER GETS BENEFITS.

May's Landing, May 20.—Her son, John Pine, a sailor, having been declared legally dead by the court, Amy Pine was awarded death benefits of $635 from the Supreme Circle, Brotherhood of America, before Judge Allen B. Endicott, in Circuit Court yesterday.

Eight years ago Pine sailed on the steamship A. S. Strong and wrote to Mrs. Pine from Liverpool, England, telling her he would be home for Christmas. The holidays arrived, but Pine did not return, and an investigation has failed to throw any light on his disappearance.

A strange feature was the disappearance about the same time of his wife, from whom he was separated. Mrs. Pine had kept up her son's dues in the lodge ever since he left home.

Miss Sarah E. Fleckner, of Bergen street, Brooklyn, N. Y., spent the day with her cousin, Miss Lillian A. Force, of 82 Duer street.

is given more and more advanced work as she is fitted for it and must keep up with her study and lectures."

Dr. Van Horn then described in detail the countless duties performed by a nurse during an operation and in the treatment of other kinds of cases. Addressing the graduates, Dr. Van Horn said:

"Young ladies of the graduating class of 1910: As I stand here tonight and see you facing your chosen career, it carries me back to the time when in the first flush of my young manhood I stood on the threshold of my life work, wondering how the world had gotten along without my help in its affairs and thinking that now things would move more swiftly and smoothly, that I was on the scene.

"I had my ideals then and although they have received many a hard knock and show the effects of contact with the world, they are my ideals still and where they are battered on one side they are smoothed out on another so that they have not lost all their symmetery. You too have your ideals and tonight I want to advise you to 'hitch your wagon to a star.' As the years go by the wagon will get many a jolt as it flies over the cobblestones and mountains that impede its progress, here and there a spoke will be missing from the wheels, the bright paint will be marred and scratched but still it will be your wagon and the star will not have lost any of its brilliancy when your shadows fall toward the east and the sunset of life is near.

"If I were asked what I considered the essential qualifications for a successful nurse my reply would be that the most important are, capability, adaptibility and dependability.

"First, capability. It is an assured fact that you are capable of taking up the duties of your profession or these exercises would not be held tonight. You have had precept and example before you in the work and teachings of Miss Hughes and Miss Jadwin from the first day of your probation until now and we know that you are perfectly capable of doing any work that may come to you, but you must realize that with all the time and care that have been spent upon your instruction only the foundation has been laid and now it is for you to put upon this foundation a building that will be an honor to yourselves and your alma mater. The advances in medicine and surgery are so rapid that it is only by strict application to study that the doctor or nurse can keep in touch with what is going on in their line of work and it is for your interest that you so apply yourselves that you will remain as capable as you are today.

"One year's relaxation from study and you will find yourselves behind, so let me urge upon you the necessity of constant study that you may not fall by the wayside and be numbered among the has-beens.

"Second, adaptibility. As you leave the hospital with its routine work, its certain hours for doing certain things and take up nursing in the private home, you will find in order to be successful you will be obliged to adapt yourselves to different conditions. You cannot have set hours for doing things now, for, perhaps, at just the time you think you will give your patient a bath or do some other needed thing she may be having the only sleep that has come to her in the twenty-four hours and everything must wait until the needed rest is obtained.

"As you enter a home, while you maintain your dignity, you must adapt your life to that of the home, and not expect to have the whole household change their plans to suit you or your ideas. You will meet grouchy patients and while you must keep your work well in hand you will have to use your diplomacy to meet their whims.

"You will also meet grouchy doctors and should you ever get up against the combination of a grouchy patient and grouchy doctor the prayer of the old minister when he invoked a blessing upon New Jersey in the following words: 'Oh, Lord, we pray for thy especial blessing upon New Jersey, with New York upon one side and Philadelphia upon the other,' will apply to you, for you will need an especial measure of Divine grace if you are placed between a crank for a patient and a bigger crank for a doctor.

"Our third and last essential is dependability. A nurse may be fully capable, may be able to adapt herself to any conditions and still be a failure if she cannot be depended upon to use all the faculties and powers with which she has been endowed. The nurse that enters the profession with the idea that when she has done just what she is paid for, and no more, she his discharged her full duty, had better never take up the work, for, unless she is perfectly willing to throw her whole soul, mind and strength into her work and be depended upon to do all that comes to her hand to do she can never succeed. I would not be understood as saying that the nurse must tax herself beyond reason or yield to unreasonable demands upon her, still she must be endowed with an abnormal conscience and an enthusiasm that will enable her to sink self for the good of her patient. From this time on you must depend upon your own judgment to guide you, no more will *you have the superintendent to set*tle matters with your own conscience and you must act upon your own responsibility.

"You have proven yourselves dependable while you have been in the training school, for never have you failed to respond to any demand made upon your time and strength, never have you been found lacking when the call same for a serious emergency night or day, and the medical board desires to thank you for your willing and cheerful response to any and all calls that have been made upon you and wish you success and honor in your profession."

Following Dr. Van Horn's admirable address, Mr. Stewart spoke briefly, touching upon the work of the hospital and the self-sacrifice of the superintendent, Miss Josephine Hughes, and the nurses. He said that the great work of the hospital is only possible through the self-sacrifice of the leading physicians of the city. He spoke praise-worthy words for the training school and its high standard of efficiency and said that all were proud of the nurses who have been graduated from the institution. Mr. Stewart then presented the graduates with their diplomas.

The exercises closed with the presentation of the pins to the nurses by Mayor Charles J. Fisk, who spoke in a happy vein. He congratulated the graduates told them to be jolly and cheerful and if they continued to be good nurses they would honor the badge they are to wear. He also told them to remember that Muhlenberg Hospital and the training school are the best in the United States and to always speak a good word for the institution. Frequent, hearty applause greeted the remarks of the speakers and altogether the affair was one of the most pleasant in the history of the hospital.

ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN AT MONROE AVE. CHURCH

Before an adience of 150 people an entertainment of merit was presented by the Standard Bearers of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church last night in the church auditorium. The program included two one-act playlets, a dialogue, piano duets and solos. Mrs. McNeill Hopcraft was the soloist, rendering two songs with much expression and feeling. The Misses Helen Pierce, Mildred Barnes and Gertrude Gray played a number of classical selections on the piano.

The playlet, "Tangles," was presented, and the antics of 'Enry Jenkins, alias X. Y. Z., Bill Tracy's valet (Louis Berger) caused convulsions of laughter. He was uncommonly good in his part. Miss Bessie Gunzleman, as Elsie, the maid, showed a natural aptitude for acting and she played her part with great effect. These were in the cast: Harold Miner, Stella Rink, Louis Mulford, Morris Warrick, Louis Berger, Bessie Gunzleman.

A humorous dialogue, "Two Wandering Jews," was given by Louis Mulford and Harry Ludeg. The playlet, "Gertrude Mason, M. D.," was presented by seven young women. These were in the cast: Miss Ethel Rink, Minnie Gunzleman, Irene Sawyer, Louise McCormick, Marian Praed, May Stafford.

The proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to the missionary work to which the Standard Bearers are pledged. The committee consisted of Miss Mary Matthews, Miss Minnie Gunzleman and Miss Alice Ludie. The coaches were George H. Fisher and Charles Lewis. Mr. Fisher was also the electrician and property manager with John McCormick.

Held Social and Entertainment.

Edward Frieland, of Bound Brook, reecived the $5 gold piece at the affair held in the Young Men's Hebrew Association hall, Wednesday night. Jacob Abrams was chairman of the committee in charge of the soical and entertainment. There were piano solos by the Mises Lillian Shrager, Gertrude Baum and Marion Sacher. TRINITY REFORMED HOME DEP'T SOCIAL Encouraging reports and interest-addresses, combined with social features, made the Home department social at Trinity Reformed church, last night, a delightful occasion. There was a large attendance of the department members as well as officers and teachers who were invited to participate in the affair. Mrs. Henry VanName, as superintendent of the Home department, was in charge of the program. Each member of the department was distinguished by a small orange colored badge.

The exercises opened with the singing of the Home department hymn and prayer by Rev. John Y Broek, pastor of the church. The quarterly report was then read by F. E. Smith, superintendent of the Sunday school. This showed that eleven new members had been received, four withdrawn and two joined the Sunday school. On April 1, the membership was 342 and at present it is 390. There are thirty-two visitors and three officers. Of the membership 299 reported and 172 studied every lesson. The whole number of lessons was 2,955.

The address of the evening was by Philip Lindsley, of Raritan, who is Home department superintendect for Somerset county. He spoke on the topic, "What the Home Department Stands For," and his remarks were listened to with great interest, providing a source of much encouragement. He congratulated the department of Trinity church for its fine showing during the past quarter and wished it success in the future.

After the address, Rev. John Y. Broek made a few remarks appropriate to the occasion and conducted a round table, which proved of great benefit to the Sunday school work. Following a closing hymn, there was a social hour and refreshments were served. A feature of the program were mandolin and piano selections by Mr. and Mrsfl William Townsend, and a recitation by Alfred Willett.

These were the committees in charge: Refreshment—Mrs. T. R. VanZandt, chairman; Mrs. F. P. Storr, Mrs. Emma A. Stewart, Mrs. George Freiday, Mrs. Philip Vroom, Mrs. Charles Dutcher, Mrs. J. G. Pratzner, Mrs. H. A. Humbert, Mrs. Gunagan, Mrs. Werner Heidloff. Decorating—Mrs. A. T. Runyon, chairman; Mrs. David Krymer, Mrs. Charles M. Dolliver, Mrs. E. Fanny Stires. Badge—Mrs. Joseph Angerbauer, chairman; Mrs. Alburtus Swalm and Mrs. William Townsend.

CHARGES OF GRAFT TO BE INVESTIGATED

New Brunswick, May 20.—An investigation of graft charges is to be made by Common Council, a committee consisting of Aldermen Ridgeway, Goodwin and Miller, new members, being named by President Freedrick Weigel Wednesday night to make the probe.

Mayor John J. Morrison asked that such an investigation be made. He referred to the statement made by a member at a recent meeting that a representative of a paving company had declared "his company had to settle in getting a contract in 1906 and $4,000 could have been saved had there not been so many grafters."

"Personally," said the Mayor in his letter, "as a member of Common Council at that time I did not see any evidence that would warrant such a statement by any contractor. But this statement by a member of Common Council cannot be ignored. It is plainly a case for action by Common Council and should be thoroughly investigated and, if evidence warrants, by the county prosecutor.

"In conversation with those who were members of Common Council at that time they invite and will insist on an investigation by your body. And this city or its citizens who desire to see New Brunswick well governed, with well-paved streets and at the lowest possible figure, cannot afford to allow the above statements to pass without an investigation."

Alderman Kinney insisted that the investigation be thorough. There was talk he said about the purchase of two fire engines some time ago and there should be a general housecleaning. They should not stop with the streets. Since 1906, the police, he had been told, had taken up a collection or sold tickets on a $5 gold piece, the proceeds from which had been used to help defray the election expenses of a candidate. He thought all this should be inquired into.

Alderman Feaster moved that a special committee be appointed for that purpose. In 1907 he was a member of the Fire Committee when the engines were purchased.

"I demand an investigation," he declared, "and if it can be shown that any of us got five cents that did not belong to us let it be shown."

Miss M. E. Adams, of this city, will be among the passengers sailing tomorrow on the Steamship Princess Irene, of the North German Lloyd line, from New York for Naples and Genoa, via. Gibraltar.

Hammering the Billboards.

It is said that during a strike of the billposters of Chicago a number of theatre managers made exclusive use of newspaper advertising to announce their attractions and found that they were drawing bigger houses during that period than when they were making free use of the billboards. Our cities have had hard times trying to abolish the billboard nuisance. Perhaps a general realization that billboards are unprofitable as well as unsightly would help a lot in having their use discontinued. —Success Magazine.

MAYOR CHARLES J. FISK PRAISES MORRISTOWN

With enthusiasm Charles J. Fisk, Mayor of this city, in speaking before the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian church, Morristown, Wednesday night on town improvements, declared Morristown to be an ideal spot and possessing a cultured population. Then he told how it was possible to bring about improvements, asserting that the only way was to first know what improvements were wanted, and then get the people interested. By the people, Mr. Fisk said, he meant all the people, and not a few well-to-do citizens or a club.

Digressing from this subject, the speaker stated that northern New Jersey is growing into a large suburb of New York. Cheap and rapid transportation was necessary to make it so, he said, as well as trolley lines connecting cities and towns. He said

"In obtaining town improvements it is necessary first to go at it in a systematic way. If things are not what they ought to be, find out what is wanted just the same as would be done in any business proposition. You want to find out, too, whether your city government is run as it should be; whether the money of the taxpayers is spent in the right direction. There are certain fixed charges in running the government, such as the fire, police, street, school and health departments. See that they are running right and then come down to the point of making improvements.

"To do this first get the people with you. You can't do anything if you haven't. Get the women interested and they can do a good deal toward getting the men interested. After this you are ready to start. Then study your improvements. In taking up streets, look after the main streets or business street first. It's better to fix up the poor streets before taking up the best streets.

"As to the laws regulating towns, we have altogether too many. There are more laws on the statute books in regard to cities than any one can keep in his head. We want the right to do something without going down to the Legislature to have a law passed. We came very near getting such a bill through the last Legislature, but it was knocked out by the Public Service Corporation. The Public Service objected to a clause in the bill which gave the towns the right to 'abate a nuisance.' The president of the corporation didn't like the bill and he brought his influence to bear and it never got through."

Mr. Fisk declared also that the Legislature should pass a law limiting the amount of debt of a town or city could involve itself. In that way, he stated, the municipality's credit would be raised.

Mayor Theodore Ayers, of Morristown, introduced Mr. Fisk to the members of the chruch club. In doing so Mr. Ayres referred to a movement throughout the country for municipal improvements.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Doesn't Inspire Confidence.

The Democratic Union of New Jersey announces as its purpose "a revival of the Democratic faith and the principles of government laid down by Jefferson and indorsed by Jackson and Lincoln."

In an effort to bring about this revival the union proposes to have a number of "distinguished men" address the citizens of New Jersey.

The first meeting is announced for tonight, the place is Krueger's Auditorium and the speakers are Senators Bailey, of Texas; Hughes, of Colorado, and Johnston, of Alabama.

It must be confessed that if the union is sincere in its profession of principles it is unfortunate in its choice of orators.

The Hon. Joseph W. Bailey's connection with Standard Oil is malodorous. In the Senate he is classed with the corporation Senators and there is nothing in his record to demand a reclassification.

The Hon. Charles J. Hughes is Senator from Colorado by grace of the Guggenheim interests. His affiliations with the combined corporation interests in both parties has been fully detailed by Judge Lindsey in Everybody's Magazine. Senator Hughes posing as a reformer, an exponent of the principles of Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln, is a joke.

The Hon. Joseph Forney Johnston is Senator from Alabama. He is a fossil. If it is desired to show the people of Newark an example of the befoh-the-wah Bourbon Democracy, it is doubtful if a better selection could be made. If, however, the union desires to present Progressive Democracy, which has learned something in the past forty years, Senator Johnston will be as much out of place as a presiding elder at a dog fight.

In its initial performance the Democratic Union is in bad. It announces among those who have been invited to speak Senators Gore and Owen, of Oklahoma. Unfortunately, however, neither of these will appear at the first meeting. There is little in common, except party name, between the Oklahoma Senators and those named above. Gore and Owen are Progressives, the others are standpatters.

If the union hopes to attract Republicans who are disgusted with the leaders of their own party, it has gone the wrong way about it. As between Aldrich, Kean, Lodge, Smoot and their ilk on the one side and Bailey, Hughes and their like on the other, it is merely a difference in name and not of kind. There is nothing to be gained by taking the government from the hands of one crowd of corporation servants labeled Republican and giving it to another crowd of the same kind labeled Democrats.—Newark News.

"CHANTECLER'S" FAVOR IN PARIS CAUSES SURPRISE.

More than one surprise has been caused by the success of "Chantecler" with the Parisians. Not the least of these lies in the fact that, despite the ample opportunity which the play affords for introducing risque situations and lines, without which it has been more or less truthfully said Frenchmen cannot enjoy a play, "Chantecler," absolutely clean, has won out. It is about the only play now in Paris that has not some objectionable feature, yet all other plays are being neglected by the public for it.

Again, it has been affirmed that Parisians detest fantasy; and, to prove the truth of this, critics point to the utter and discouraging failure of "Peter Pan," which last year was produced in Paris with winsome little Pauline Chase as Peter, says Leslie's Weekly. The delightful whimsicality of Barrie's fantasy bored the worldwise boulevardiers to distraction, and Paris enjoyed no end of laughs at the expense of the English, who like "Peter Pan" so much that the play has run in London for several years and is still on the boards.

It is to marvel, then, that "Chantecler," with its approach to clean pantomime in some acts and its philosophic sobriety in others, has caught the fancy of the erotic Parisians.

Miss Cumback, formerly of this city, but now of Detroit, is visiting friends here for a time.

Might Do.

"Immortal poetry is only written in a garret."

"And we have no garret," sighed the sweet girl. "I wonder how it would do if I fitted up a den in the cellar?"

Linear Observations.

"I have a long line of ancestors," said the noble suitor.

"Yes," replied Mr. Cumrox, looking at him over the tops of his glasses. "I've been reading about their doings in war and statecraft. It's a long line, all right, but it's also a rather crooked line."

Race Suicide?

Wife—The landlord was here today, and I gave him the rent and showed him the baby.

Hubby—Next time he comes around, suppose you show him the rent and give him the baby.—Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

Revenge.

"You didn't get an invitation to Wilkin's party?"

"No, but I'm going to get even with them for the slight."

"How?"

"I shan't go!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Rehearsal

After gazing at Trilling's six feet of height, and taking in his broad shoulders and his massive jaw, a casual observer would say that nothing short of a dynamite explosion could startle him, and that really frightening him was quite out of the question. However, few persons knew about his infatuation for Eudora Carpenter.

Eudora was not quite up to his shoulder when she stood on tiptoe, and she had a mild and gentle eye, yet Trilling was instantly a victim of paralysis, tied tongue, enlarged hands and feet and brain fag when he entered her presence. In spite of this he was not happy unless she was in sight. It was a joyful sort of misery, or a miserable sort of joy, that had possessed Trilling for some time. Knocked dumb and senseless as he always was when near Eudora, he simply couldn't tell her of his emotions and get the agony over.

He had brooded over the situation helplessly until he was ready to seize at any straw that promised rescue. In his case the straw appeared one evening when he was agonizing at Eudora's house and painfully pretending he was quite happy and even greatly enjoying himself.

Eudora had turned on the phonograph. It was a very good one, so her action was justifiable.

"I just love it," Eudora told Trilling. "Often when I am alone I amuse myself for hours with it!"

"Do you?" inquired Trilling, fatuously. And just then he saw daylight.

He went home in a trance of excitement, for while he couldn't face Eudora Carpenter and propose to her he could think of a dozen ways to tell her of his adoration when he was away from her.

There was a very good phonograph at his home. So what would be easier than to fill a blank record with his impassioned declaration, send it to her and thus break the news? It would be far better than stammering out a mangled proposal face to face. She would be much more likely to listen favorably to an address of well-chosen, graceful yet fervent phrases.

Altogether Trilling was vastly pleased with his unusual idea.

With some maneuvering he got the members of his family away the next evening. He inserted the blank record, and then gazing into the insensate maw of the phonograph horn, he promptly experienced a cold chill. For a minute it was as disquieting as gazing into Eudora's eyes. Then he opened his lips, coughed, opened them again and, whirling on his heel stalked away with a muttered exclamation.

Mopping his brow he stared into the mantel mirror. Trilling was forced to confess that he felt like a fool. There was nothing of the actor in Trilling, and the task of making violent love to a tin horn suddenly loomed monumental and overwhelming.

He shook himself and tried it again. "Eudora," he began faintly. Then, bracing himself, he repeated her name more loudly. "Eudora, I—er—love you. Eudora, will you be my wife?"

He wailed instantly: "Hang it! That won't do! It's too cold, too formal!"

He paced the room muttering endearing phrases. He tried leading up gradually to the declaration. He tried the serio-comic, the thrillingly grave, the pleading and likewise the tragic.

None of them sounded right. There was an artificiality, a hollowness about all of them that was repellent. Something vital seemed lacking.

Every time Trilling made the turn at the end of the room the phonograph horn yawned at him primly, demonlike. Once he picked up a newspaper, wadded it and hurled the missile at the taunting machine.

Still, there was an odd pleasure in putting his secret hopes and wishes into actual words. It made them more real somehow and he extracted a strange and thrilling excitement from the sound of his own voice. He found it possible to say "Eudora!" in exactly ten different ways and to convey the idea that he wanted to marry Eudora a full dozen ways. Each time he proposed to the empty air Trilling's chest inflated a trifle more and presently he was actually swaggering in his walk. Finally he stopped and regarded the phonograph thoughtfully.

Disgust at its insensateness rose within him. Then, without pausing to think, Thrilling jammed on his hat, leaped into his coat and hurried over the intervening blocks to the Carpenter house.

The girl of his dreams opened the door.

"Eudora," Trilling burst out, still under the spell of his evening's hard work, "it's just dawned on me that I'm a double-dyed idiot! I've been working like a nailer for two hours proposing to a phonograph that hasn't got any hand to hold and I can say it in 12 different, perfectly good ways and I want you to listen, quick, and pick out the way you like best!"

"You'd better take off your coat and sit down and tell me all about it," said Eudora, soothingly. Eudora always had a head for emergencies.

So, having got started, Trilling told her all about it.

"I don't see," Trilling remarked to himself some time later in the evening from the comfortable heights of the man who has dared and won, "I don't see what I was so dreadfully frightened about."

Fellow workmen were surprised to learn that Keers had not been dangerously injured.

Fire in the little village of Haleyville, Cumberland county, early Wednesday morning, burned to the ground the residence of Captain Edward Robbins and the Methodist Episcopal parsonage and threatened the postoffice and several other buildings. It started in a cookhouse on the Robbins property.

Because of advanced age, Abel Smith has resigned as secretary of the Society to Protect Children from Cruelty in Camden after nearly forty years of efficient service, and D. H. Robert was elected his successor.

Stricken with apoplexy while attending to his duties as a flagman at Ferry and Mt. Ephraim avenues, Camden, Wednesday, Herman Gruber, forty-five years old, fell across a trolley track and was discovered by George Smith, a motorman, who stopped his car just in time to save the stricken man from being injured and probably killed. Gruber will recover.

Contract for the construction of a sewage disposal plant at Bridgeton was awarded last night by Council to the Hudson Terminal Construction Company, its bid being $40,670.10. The building of the plant follows an order from the New Jersey Board of Health forbidding the pollution of the Cohansey River.

"HELLO, CENTRAL! I WOULD LIKE TO HEAR 'KELLY.'"

Phonographic Music by Telephone a Popular Innovation.

Phonographic music, carried over the wires from central telephone exchange to the homes of the subscribers to this unique service, is a novelty tried out with such succes in Wilmington, Del., that the idea may spread to other cities. Popular Mechanics tells how the service is arranged for.

"At the central telephone exchange is a music room which contains a number of phonographs, and an operating board to which the wires of the music subscribers are attached. Each subscriber to the music service is supplied with a special directory giving names and numbers of records. When music is desired the subscriber calls the music department on the telephone, asks for a certain record, and screws the horn in position. The music operator plugs up a free phonograph to the line, slips on a record and starts the machine. At the conculsion of the piece the connection is pulled down, unless more records have been requested.

"When several subscribers call for the same piece all the wires can be connected to the one phonograph. The telephone company requires each musical subscriber to guarantee $18 per year. The rate of charge for the service is 3 cents for ordinary records and 7 cents for grand opera.

"Queen of Magic" at Proctors.

Mme. Herrmann & Co., in the "Queen of Magic," is the big headliner at Proctor's theatre this week, presenting some of the most wonderful illusions and magical tricks that have been witnessed here. She presents her latest illusion, "The Electric Chair," from which a woman disappears. Mildred Sora, an English comedienne, is a clever singer and story-teller. Burke & Finn present a sketch, "Fun in a Gymnasium," which is a scream. Weadick and LaDue, expert lasso manipulators, are good. The pictures are better than ever.

REV. ROYAL A. STOUT SEMINARY GRADUATE

Rev. Royal A. Stout, of New Brunswick, was among the young men graduated from the New Brunswick Theological Seminary held last night in the First Reformed church, New Brunswick. Rev. Dr. W. J. Leggett presided at the exercises. An address was delivered by Rev. Dr. John Hart, of Neshanic, the retiring member of the board, and addresses were also given by three members of the graduating class, Mr. Stout, Joseph R. Sizoo, of Chicago, and John A. Van Zanten, of Beaver Dam, Mich. Certificates were presented by Rev. Dr. J. P. Searle.

Rev. Mr. Stout will appear before the Classis of Newark, in special session at Newark, tomorrow for examination for ordination, and he will be ordained at the Netherwood Reformed church, of which he will be the pastor, on Friday night, May 27, when the Classis will meet here for that purpose. There are nine members of the graduating class and all but one have accepted calls.

WILKINSON PRESIDENT OF STATE C.P.A. BOARD

The State Board of Public Accountants met in Elizabeth, yesterday and completed its organization for the ensuing year. Governor Fort has appointed William T. Sawyer, of Elizabeth, a member of the board and has re-appointed George Wilkinson, of this city, for another term of three years. The duty of the board is to hold periodical examinations of candidates seeking the degree or professional designation, of "Certified Public Accountant," which was established in this State in 1904.

There are now twentythree States having enacted laws establishing this professional designation of "C. P. A." The New Jersey State Board has taken offices in Broad stret, Elizabeth. The next examination will be held in October. It has been learned that many young men throughout this and other States are preparing themselves by careful study for the "C. P. A." examination.

These officers were elected yesterday: President, George Wilkinson, Plainfield; secretary, John E. Cooper, Cranford; treasurer, William T. Sawyer, Elizabeth.

Will Purchase Handsome Robes.

Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the olden Eagle, has placed an order for the handsome new robes for the initiatory team. They will be the only set of robes of the kind in this country. Mercer Castle, of Trenton, had a similar set, but it was recently destroyed by fire. The entire set will cost about $500.

The condition of Corra Ryno, of Codington avenue, who has been ill for about ten days, is encouraging and his complete recovery is now assured by the attending physician.

54-40 OR Fight

By Emerson Hough

Author of The Mississippi Bubble

(Copyright, 1909, by Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

"Madam," I said, "you represent to me one of the problems of my life. Why does your taste run to such quarters as these? This might be that same back street in Washington!"

She chuckled to herself, at length laughed aloud. "But wait! If you entered my abode once," she said, "why not again? Come."

Her hand was at the heavy knocker as she spoke. In a moment the door slowly opened, just as it had done that night before in Washington. My companion passed before me swiftly. As she entered I saw standing at the opening the same brown and wrinkled old dame who had served that night before in Washington!

For an instant the light dazzled my eyes, but determined now to see this adventure through, I stepped within. Then, indeed, I found it difficult to stifle the exclamation of surprise which came to my lips. Believe it or not, as you like, we were again in Washington!

I say that I was confronted by the identical arrangement, the identical objects of furnishing, which had marked the luxurious boudoir of Helena von Ritz in Washington! The tables were the same, the chairs, the mirrors, the consoles. On the mantel stood the same girandoles with glittering crystals. The pictures upon the walls, so far as I could remember their themes, did not deviate in any particular of detail or arrangement. The oval-backed chairs were duplicates of those I had seen that other night at midnight. Beyond these same amber satin curtains stood the tall bed with its canopy, as I could see; and here at the right was the same low Napoleon bed with its rolled ends. The figures of the carpets were the same, their deep-piled richness, soft under foot, the same. The flowered cups of the sconces were identical with those I had seen before.

"You are good enough to admire my modest place," said a laughing voice at my shoulder.

I turned to her then, pulling myself together as best I could. Yes, she too was the same, although in this case costumed somewhat differently. The wide ball gown of satin was gone, and in its place was a less pretentious robing of some darker silk. No pale blue fires shone at her white throat, and her hands were ringless. But the light, firm poise of her figure could not be changed; the mockery of her glance remained the same, half laughing and half wistful.

In some way which I did not pause to analyze, I felt perfectly sure that this strange woman could, if she cared to do so, tell me some of the things I ought to know. She might be here on some errand identical with my own. Calhoun had sent for her once before. Whose agent was she now? I found chairs for us both.

An instant later, summoned in what way, I do not know, the old serving-woman again reappeared. "Wine, Threlka," said the baroness; "service for two—you may use this little table, monsieur," she added, turning to me, "I am most happy to make even some slight return for the very gracious entertainment offered me that morning by Mr. Calhoun at his residence. Such a droll man! Oh, la! la!"

"Are you his friend, madam?" I asked bluntly.

"Why should I not be?"

I could frame neither offensive nor defensive art with her. She mocked me.

In a few moments the weazened old woman was back with cold fowl, wine, napery, silver.

"Will monsieur carve?" At her nod the old woman filled my glass, after my hostess had tasted of her own. We had seated ourselves at the table as she spoke.

"I did not expect you would come to Montreal."

"Then you know—but of course, I told you."

"Have you then no question?" she went on at last. Her glass stood half full; her wrists rested gently on the table edge, as she leaned back, looking at me with that on her face which he had needed to be wiser than myself, who could have read.

"May I then?"

"Yes, now you may go on."

"I thank you. First, of course, for what reason do you carry the secrets of my government into the stronghold of another government? Are you the friend of America, or are you a spy upon America? Are you my friend, or are we to be enemies to-night?"

She flung back her head and laughed delightedly. "That is a good beginning," she commented.

"You must, at a guess, have come up by way of the lakes, and by batteau from La Prairie?" I ventured.

She nodded again. "Of course. I have been here six days."

"Indeed?—you have badly beaten me in our little race."

She flashed on me a sudden glance. "Why do you not ask me outright why I am here?"

"Well, then, I do! I do ask you that. I ask you how you got access to that meeting to-night—for I doubt not you were there?"

She gazed at me deliberately again, parting her red lips, again smiling at me. "What would you have given to have been there yourself?"

"All the treasures those vaults ever held."

"So much? What will you give me, then, to tell you what I know?"

"More than all that treasure, madam. A place—"

"Ah! a place in the heart of a people!" I prefer a locality more restricted."

"In my own heart, then; yes, of course!"

She helped herself daintly to a portion of the white meat of the fowl. "Yes," she went on, as though speaking to herself, "on the whole, I rather like him. Yet what a fool! Ah, such a droll idiot!"

"NOBLESSE OBLIGE"

By VICTOR ROUSSEAU

That's French, and means that if you're a big skate, or got money, or blue blood, you've got to act up to it, and not do anything cheap. It was mother used the words about the Turnleys.

You see, we're all Turnleys of Virginia, and though we've lived in New York twice as long as I've been born, we aren't allowed to forget it. There's only one family comes up to the Turnley standard, and that's the Waynes.

Of course, like all old families, we're all awfully poor, and I guess that's how sister got engaged to Mr. Tripp.

Everbody always thought that she was going to marry Freddy Wayne, because they had been engaged ever since they had been born.

Naturally, when Mr. Tripp proposed to sister, and she accepted him, everybody was surprised.

That was just after father lost all his money in the bank wreckings, and Mr. Tripp had millions, and I was in the library and heard mother speaking to sister about the honor of the family, and duty to her parents, and presently sis came out crying and wrote a letter to Mr. Tripp.

It was just three nights before the marriage when sister and I were sitting alone in the library, talking over things. All at once there was a snorting outside and a big auto came chugchugging up to the window, and it opened from the outside and Freddy Wayne came in.

He must have scared sister, coming in that way so late. He seemed to be asking her to come for a ride, and he got hold of her hand and wouldn't let go, and I'll swear I smelled whiskey on him, though sister said afterward it must have been the gasoline got into his clothes.

They argued and argued in a low tone, and presently sister burst out crying and told Fredy he must never see her again, and then they kissed each other good-by, and just at that moment the door opened and Mr. Tripp came in with mother.

Mr. Tripp stood watching them as if petrified into stone, only his breath came quick and short, like the automobile puffing outside, and mother put up her glasses and stared at Freddy in the real Turnley way. Then Mr. Tripp bowed.

"Miss Turnley," he said, quite dignified like, "I have just informed your parents that I have lost all my money in the bank wreckings, and I am now a poor man, and I have the honor to release you from your engagement."

Then sister began to tremble, and she kept twisting her ring round and round upon her finger, and just then Freddy Wayne butted in and said, sneering like:

"My dear Mr. Tripp, I have already had the pleasure of conveying that information to Miss Turnley."

"In that case," said the miserable Tripp, "permit me to wish you all a very good evening."

"My dear man, please don't wish us any thing so ridiculous," said mother, raising her eyebrows and looking at him in the real Turnley way.

Mr. Tripp didn't seem able to understand, and stood there trying to tell her how he'd lost everything he had in the world, and how he'd always known he wasn't up to the Turnley standard, and how glad he was to release sister from her engagement.

Sister looked at him in astonishment, and she advanced a few steps and said:

"Mr. Wayne, when gentlemen call on me in the evening, I like them to come through the front door. When you come that way, I shall always be glad to welcome you, and so will my husband."

Mr. Tripp didn't know what to make of that, and he stood fingering his hat, so sister went up to him and put her arms 'round his neck and looked at him in the way that makes a fellow feel cheap when he's the third party. I guess that's the way Freddy Wayne felt, anyhow, for he just walked out without saying a word.

Then mother turned to Mr. Tripp and said, patting his arm:

"Now let's all go into supper."

Gee! sometimes I do feel glad that I'm a Turnley, after all.

No Beggars in Copenhagen.

Copenhagen is a city of 500,000 inhabitants. During a week's stay I have seen no seller of matches or bootlaces, no gutter merchant, no blind or other afflicted persons about the streets asking for alms—not one single sign of distress due to poverty. I have explored the artisans' quarters by day and late at night. There is not a single spot in the whole of Copenhagen that could be compared even remotely to the slums in our large towns. There are no unemployed hanging about the street corners, no unkempt women standing idly at the doors, no ragged and dirty children playing in the gutter. There are no dirty houses, with broken windows, mended with bits of paper, and a ragged apron or a torn bedcloth doing duty for a curtain.—Denmark Letter, in London Express.

Had to Resign Office.

Mrs. Philip Lydig, a prominent society woman of New York, started out very bravely to help the Equal Franchise society, of which Mrs. Clarence Mackay is the president, by actual service, and was elected treasurer. Recently she found the work increasing at such a rate that she was obliged to resign, although she still continues in office.

Few individuals possess this faculty. It is very doubtful whether any individual of your acquaintance possesses it. How much better, therefore, to appoint an institution as executor or trustee which, like the Fidelity Trust Co., has demonstrated its experience, capacity and judgment to work for your interest.

CHANCE AIDS DETECTIVES

Cahill's Slayer Betrays Himself to the Newark Officials.

SOME TREASURE UNEARTHED.

Suspects in Other Black Hand Crimes Under Arrest—Gang Broken Up—No Threats of Violence Here.

What is probably the most amazing circumstance in the revelations Thursday surrounding the slaying of Patrick Cahill near New Market, ten days ago, was made public by the police yesterday. It is an instance of where luck played into the hands of the authorities in a most unusual way.

The prisoner, Luigi Cirefice, as told in the Press, was arrested in the belief that he was a man wanted on suspicion of having been connected with the bomb outrages in the Second Newark Precinct. He supposed, however, that the police had discovered the killing and confessed all, telling how he concealed the body in the rear of the shack in which he lived on the road between New Market and Plainfield.

It now develops that in arresting Cirefice Detectives Cordano and Tenore had mistaken him for the man they were really looking for in connection with the Newark case. Cirefice was entirely ignorant of any "Black Hand" crimes, and but for the "error" of the detectives the tragedy of New Market might never had been discovered.

So the manner in which the detectives stumbled across the man, and the conditions under which he revealed the fact that a murder had been committed, all go to make up one of the most remarkable stories in local police annals.

The confession was made voluntarily to Detectives Cordano and Tenore, and was true in eevry detail, as was afterward found out by the police, who yesterday afternoon dug up the body of Cahill, whom the man stated he had killed on the night of May 11 in the shack on a lonely road near New Market. He had then, so he informed the two detectives, dragged the body to the back yard and buried it under some cornstalks.

According to Tenore and Cordano, when they came upon Cirefice Wednesday night, he was leaving his shack with a jug to go after cider.

"Come here, we want you," demanded the two officers, and in the usual police manner they started to inform Cirefice how they had it all on him, and that there was no use of his trying to wriggle out of it as he would only be punished more severely. However, the two detectives failed to state to the man what the crime was. It was a forutnate oversight on the part of the two officers.

Both were sure from the prisoner's manner that he was guilty of being implicated in the "Black Hand" outrages. They did not question him further, but started on their trip back to the station. While walking the tracks, Cierfice suddenly blurted out:

"Well, what would you do if a man came to your house at night, and broke open your door, and threatened to kill you if you did not give him money?"

"Kill him," promptly responded Tenore, not knowing what the man was talking about.

"Well, that's just what I did," responded Cirefice to the two amazed detectives.

Fearing to question him further lest they betray their ignorance of what he had revealed, the two detectives took him to the Second Precinct, and before Captain Brown, where he openly told of the details of the crime to the three.

Cirefice's confession was to the effect that Cahill had called at his house on the night of May 1, and knocked on the door, stating that he wanted some money.

The prisoner said that he refused to admit him, and the man then became angry and threw large stones against the door of the dwelling, which soon gave way. Believing Cahill meant to harm him, Cirefice declares, he shot him twice in the head, and struck him with an axe. Becoming frightened at what he had done he dragged the body to the rear of the shack, buried it in the yard and threw cornstalks over it.

Chief Kiely and Detective Sergeant Flynn arrived at the scene of the disinterment in time to make effective witnesses in case their testimony should be needed. The Daily Press reporters were also on the ground and questioned some of the neighbors regarding the previous conduct of the self-confessed murderer.

Quite in keeping with the theory that Cirefice was the treasurer of the

HERBERT HAND FINED FOR ASSAULTING BOY

Herbert Hand, son of Charles Hand, the real estate dealer of Watchung avenue, was fined ten dollars this morning by City Judge William N. Runyon and Henry Rummel, a German, who was a passenger on a main line trolley car, and who was coupled with Hand in the complaint to the police, received a suspended sentence.

Herbert Hand, the young man who attempted to throttle twelve-year-old Benny Weintrob, presented a sorry sight when ararigned before Judge Runyon this morning. His eyes were blackened and several cuts decorated his face. The story of the fight in which young Hand was worsted was graphically told by Mr. Rummel. He said that while passing through the city at about 5:30 he noticed a big fellow pounding the head of a little boy on the sidewalk and thinking that the big fellow was more than enough for the prostrate boy decided in a flash to stop the cruelty.

Mr. Rummel also declared that when he interposed and attempted to stop the raging conflict, that young Hand, called him a vile epithet and attempted to strike him with a rock. "Then," Mr. Rummel said. "I struck the young man two or three times and made him desist. But after it was all over he came over where I was standing holding a rock in his hand, threatening to kill me with it. I made him let the rock drop and I was ready to board the car when arrested."

Judge Runyon heard the stories of the boy who was assaulted, also the testimony of an eye witness and decided that young Hand was the aggressor and find him accordingly. The scrap arose over the loss of a dime which young Weintrob lost while playing a game of mumbletypeg on the vacant lot opposite Hand's real estate office. Young Weintrob exhibited several black and blue marks which he claimed were due to the rough handling he received from Hand. Weintrob's father declared that the little fellow had been under treatment all night for his wounds and had been really ill from the maulings he received.

DUTCH ARMS ENTERTAINED BY LITCHFIELD TRIO

The Neil Litchfield Trio entertained the members and women friends of the Dutch Arms in Trinity Reformed Sunday-school room last night and those present will remember with pleasure their two hours of enjoyment. Mr. Litchfield's monologue was a source of continued merriment, but with his wife and daughter, Miss Florence Litchfield, added, the combination is irresitible.

Mrs. Litchfield performed wonders with the violin, the most striking feature being the story of the "Volunteer Organist.' In telling this exceptional tale Mrs. Litchfield imitated the organ chords of "Nearer My God to Thee" with the four strings of her instrument. The story was well told and the music charming.

Mr. Litchfield among other things recited Rudyard Kipling's "Gong Djeen" and did it well. His monologue and the recitation of "The Old Red Cradle" together with some clever impersonations occupied two hours, every minute of which was enjoyed.

The Litchfield Trio were obtained through the efforts of Harvey Thorn, who unfortunately could not be present to hear them. The members entertained their friends after the exit of the professional people and a general social time was had.

MR. KELLY SURPRISED ON HIS BIRTHDAY.

Robert Kelly, of East Front street, was tendered a surprise party last night in honor of his forty-ninth birthday. The affair was arranged by his daughter, Mrs. William J. Firstbrook, and was a success in every detail. Forty guests were present from this city, Newark, Elizabeth and Jersey City. Mrs. Firstbrook was assisted in arranging the celebration by Mrs. George McVoy.

Music and games furnished unlimited enjoyment for the guests. Mr. Stevens entertained with songs and recitations; Mrs. Edward Kelly rendered piano selections, duets were rendered by Mrs. Firstbrook and Mrs. McVoy, and Mrs. Edward Shearer rendered violin and piano solos. The interior of the parlor was decorated in red and white. At midnight refreshments were served.

Jersey Central Road Formally Announces Commutation Increase.

WILL BE $7.85 A MONTH.

The Increase to Be General in this State—Jersey Central Authorities the Last to Make a Higher Rate.

As told exclusively in The Daily Press on Wednesday, the Jersey Central Railroad has followed the action of the other members of the Trunk Line Association in raising its commutation rates. The figures given then as the new rate, $7.85, was announced to be correct by General Passenger Agent Hope who telephoned his congratulations to this paper on its exclusive and accurate story.

It transpires, according to reliable report, that the Jersey Central fought against any increase in rates when the matter was discussed by the association despite the fact the increased taxes on its main stem and higher wages for all its employes have made a heavy drain on its resources. The raise on commutation on the Jersey Central, as told in this paper on Wednesday, is less than one-half that made by the Pennsylvania, Erie and Lackawanna.

This order was issued today by the Jersey Central:

The Central Railroad of New Jersey announce that unless further changes are made, beginning with the month of July, the monthly commutation fares between New York and points in suburban territory will be as follows:

Elizabeth	$6.00

"TOMMIE" AT PROCTOR'S THEATRE MONDAY NIGHT

The Best People on Earth—the B. P. O. E.—will attend the performance at Proctor's theatre in a body on Monday night, Manager Sanderson having announced that Thomas M. Muir, one of Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, will make his first appearance in professional vaudeville at this playhouse on Monday. Tommie is booked for original monologues and songs for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, both matinees and nights.

Offers have been made to Mr. Muir who was assistant city editor of The Daily Press when he was stricken blind a year ago, by prominent vaudeville booking houses. He has been asked to appear at Elizabeth, Perth Amboy, Jersey City and Trenton. His plans, however, will prevent his acceptance for the present at least.

All good Elks are requested to meet at their hall at 7:30 on Monday night.

NARROW ESCAPES FOR THESE TWO CHILDREN.

Two little coal pickers, Hazel Hankinson and Albert Curry, of South Second street, have to thank their lucky stars that they are not now being mourned over by their parents and friends. The two youngsters were caught between the fence palings on the Watchung avenue bridge at about 4 o'clock last evening when the 4:18 express passed through here going at sixty miles an hour.

The two colored boys were hemmed in between the fence rails and two trains. One going west and the express east. Rather than take a chance of being hurled into eternity they both laid down pressing their little bodies up against the outside rails and emerged unharmed from their predicament.

WANT MAYOR TO RESIGN

Sanford's Attitude in Equitable Land Co.'s Controversy Brings Forth Criticism.

DUNELLEN IS ALL STIRRED UP.

Board of Trade Pledges Its Support for the Establishment of a Public Library—Philanthropist to Aid.

Mayor William A. Sanford, of Dunellen, is in a peck of trouble, a result of the controversy between the Board of Trade and citizens of that place and the Equator Realty Company over the extension of Dunellen avenue on a straight line from Madison avenue to Gallagher's Corner.

No surprise will be occasioned, it is reported, should the Mayor be asked to resign from office within the next week. At a committee meting, which preceded the regular session of the Board of Trade last night, it was suggested that a petition be prepared and presented to the Mayor, asking for his resignation, but it was decided to lay the matter over until next week.

At the meeting last night the Board of Trade appointed a committee consisting of F. D. Baerman, George Sumner Smith and Wilson S. Frederick, to aid in the movement to have Dunellen avenue extended as intended. Unless the Realty Company change their present plans mandamus proceedings will be instituted in the courts.

F. D. Baerman, chairman of the committee, in a speech criticised Mayor Sanford for the attitude he has assumed in the matter. "Mayor Sanford," said Mr. Baerman, "has never done anything to advance improvements in Dunellen, and his only object in advocating bonding the borough for $10,000 for street improvements, was for the purpose of using the money to drain the Sanford plot which was recently purchased by the Equator Company.

"While the Board of Trade," continued Mr. Baerman, "has made many suggestions on various lines of public improvements, Mayor Sanford has never lent a helping hand, although he is the creator of that organization."

It was announced at the meeting that a Dunellen philanthropist had recently announced his willingness to donate a substantial contribution toward the establishment of a Free Public Library in the town. A resolution was adopted by the board endorsing the idea and pledging its support.

MRS. WILLIAM ABBOTT, ILL A YEAR, IS DEAD

Mrs. William Abbott died at her home, 1100 West Seventh street, at 9:30 o'clock last night, following an illness of about one year. Throughout her long suffering she was patient and never complained. She spent nearly seven months in the Adirondacks, but the change did not prove as beneficial as hoped for and she recently returned home.

Mrs. Abbott was the daughter of Mrs. Catharine L. and the late Sylvester F. Randolph. She was born on West Eighth street and was twenty-nine years of age. She had always lived here where she had a host of friends and acquaintances. She was a member of the First Baptist church and when able a faithful attendant at the services.

Beside a mother, Mrs. Abbott is survived by a husband and one son, J. Norman Abbott, a sister, Mrs. C. D. Manning and two brothers, Edward S. F. Randolph, of Westfield, and Richard F. Randolph, of this city.

The funeral will be held from the late home Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss and Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring being in charge. The burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

Plainfield High defeated Bayonne High on Crescent Oval this morning by the score of 7 to 5. Terry and Lidgate did fine battery work for the locals. The batting of Nash was also a feature.

CITIZENS' MASS MEETING

Petitioners for Special Election on Voting Machine's Use to Act.

AT Y. M. C. A. FRIDAY NIGHT.

Mandamus Proceedings to Follow the Indignation Meeting—The Formal Call Is Issued Today.

Twenty-five per cent. of the voters, irrespective of party affiliations, will compel the governing body of the municipality to order a special election on the voting machine's fate as told exclusively in The Daily Press yesterday. As related the mandamus proceedings will be brought against the Mayor and Common Council but legal action will not be taken until the voice of the people as to the city fathers' action will be heard at a mass meeting. This indignation meeting is scheduled to take place at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium.

It transpires that a majority of the petitioners, whose formal request was dismissed by consigning the petition to the laws and ordinances' committees' desk are Republicans. Among them are some of the most prominent residents.

The formal call for the mass meeting follows:

The undersigned being among those who signed the petition from the respective districts wherein voting machines are located, requesting the Mayor and Council to order an election to determine whether the voters in those districts desire to continue the use of voting machines and the Mayor and Council having refused to act on said petitions as the law and justice require hereby, call upon all voters of Plainfield to attend a mass meeting to protest against the conduct of the Mayor and Council in this matter and determine upon a course of action to be pursued. The meeting to be held Friday, May 27, at 8:15 p. m. in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, Watchung avenue and East Front street."

FUNERAL SERVICES OF GEORGE GAYLE HELD

The funeral services of George Gayle were held at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the residence of his son, H. E. Gayle, on Vine street. Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, of which Mr. Gayle was a member for twenty-seven years, conducted the services. He spoke from the text, Hebrews 4: 9, "There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God."

Pastor Broek spoke of the long Christian life of Mr. Gayle, of his devotion to his church and his long and faithful service as treasurer of the church, referring also the fact that he was very patient throughout his suffering. Mr. Broek concluded his remarks by reading two beautiful verses, "Servant of God, Well Done," by James Montgomery.

There were many beaptiful tributes, including a wreath from a sister, Mrs. William J. Allen, of Philadelphia; also numerous bouquets and bunches of flowers from family relatives and friends.

The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the pall-bearers were Horace J. Martin, Sr., Philip A. Vroom and J. P. Laire, elders of Trinity Reformed church, and Frank Schuck, Peter Doeringer and Michael Kohler, neighbors of Mr. Gayle.

SOME SIDE LIGHTS ON MR. SHELDON'S WORK

No matter what the disguise the man assumes there is no possible chance of his value and ability escaping the experts. Of course this refers to one of the people in the cast of "Thelawny of the Wells," who performed at the Plainfield theatre last night.

Edward Sheldon, who took the

part of Mr. Mortimer, which, by the way is one of the parts which demands but little exertion on the part of the actor, was the recipient of several salvos from New York managers, three of which are reproduced here.

The first bouquet came in the form of a telegram from Abe Erlanger and read as follows: "Will give you fifty per cent. of my bookings commissions to retain your services as actor." Close upon the heels of this flattering enconium came the touching message from Louise Strasser Hall who said, "Control the desire to act. Implore you check it, with your hat." Then came the planted game of securing Mr. Sheldon's services for the coming year for the inimitable Sam Shubert. His message conveyed some thoughts which even Mr. Sheldon had failed to "can" before he left the environment of his early upbringing. Here it is: "Will you consider starring tour as Falstaff North Dakota Winter Months. Our exclusive territory." The signature was that of Sam and Lee Shubert.

Whatever Mr. Sheldon thinks of the three tributes to his histronic ability the certainty is that his silent part in the second representation of Mr. Mortimer will be hailed with delight tonight.

Mr. Sheldon is the author of "Salvation Nell" and "The Nigger."

COST HIM FIFTEEN DOLLARS TO THREATEN FOREMAN

William Ryan, a discharged employee of the Pond Machine Tool Works, was fined fifteen dollars with the alternative of spending twenty days in the county jail for attempting to assault Thomas Bowman, a foreman in the foundry of the works. William Adair and Michael McNamara, two other employes, testified as to the circumstances of the fracas. The alleged assault took place on last Monday morning.

Two coachmen in the employ of the Plainfield Cab Company were araigned before Judge William N. Runyon this morning for defying the police after the performance at the Plainfield theatre last night. Charles Sharp was given a suspended sentence while Alexander Cuff, whom Sergeant Higgins declared used vile language to him, was fined five dollars.

Manager James W. Davis, of the cab company, in speaking for his men, both of whom are colored, declared that Sergeant Higgins used vile language in speaking of the two coachmen after the incident had passed. Chief Kiely tersely informed Mr. Davis that if he had any grievance against the officer there was a tribunal before which charges of this kind should be properly brought.

Mr. Davis declared that it was not his intention to bring charges against Higgins.

Farewell to Mrs. Giebeler.

Mrs. Charles Giebeler, of 656 South avenue, was given a farewell surprise party, last night, prior to sailing today on the White Star Liner Lapland for Germany. She is accompanied by her daughter, Helen. She will be abroad four months.

H. Russell Voorhees, who has been away on a business trip for several months through California, the Pacific coast and entire Western country, has returned.

PINERO PLAY PRESENTED

Trelawny of the Wells Produced by Amateur Thespians.

FOR BENEFIT OF THE HOSPITAL.

An Excellent Performance at the Plainfield Theatre Drew Large Audience—It Will Be Repeated.

The fine English comedy, "Trelawny of the Well," by Pinero, was presented at the Plainfield theatre,

Charles H. Lyman
As Sir William Gower.

last night by local talent, and without question it was the most pretentious undertaking in aamteur circles here and by far the greatest achievement. There was not even a semblance of the amateur about the production and it was given with a finish that would do credit to a Broadway performance. The cast was so uniformly good that every member shared in the honors of the evening. There was a capacity audience and the enthusiasm displayed suprred the members of the cast to do their very best, which they certainly did in every detail.

The getting of the play was true to the story, including two handsome oil paintings and a hand-organ from the original production, loaned by Charles Frohman. Not a single detail was omitted in the costuming typical of the early sixties, the period of the play.

The whole play centers about "Rose Trelawny," the part assigned to Miss Louise Saunders and to say that she was unusually good in the role, but mildly expresses the work of this talented young woman. She scored heavily throughout the entire performance and she together with other members of the cast were repeatedly recalled at the conclusion of each act. Miss Saunders seems to have reached a point in her career that leaves nothing to be desired in her work in amateur theatricals.

The part assigned to Miss Saunders in this play is that of an actress, somewhat of the gypsy type, and she is given unlimited opportunity to display a care-free spirit that was so delightful. She fitted the role perfectly. Accustomed to the life of an actress, which she inherits from her parents, nothing appeals to her but the desire to appear before the footlights.

The play opens at Mr. and Mrs. Telfer's lodgings, at No. 2 Brydon

WESTFIELD.

Since the change in the source of water supply from the wells at Netherwood to the reservoir in Clark Township, the residents of Westfield are again agitating the question of a local water plant. The idea is meeting with greater favor among the people now than it has since the time when the water company laid its pipes through the town. A public meeting is soon to be called to discuss the matter.

The question of better postal service and a night telegraph service was discussed at a meeting of the Board of Trade Thursday night. There was not a large attendance, but the general opinion was that the town is entitled to better service, both as to mails and telegraph.

GOLF.

Mrs. N. P. Rogers, of this city, entering from the Baltusrol Golf Club, of which she is an active member, played a fine game of golf on Thursday in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association tournament at the Richmond County Country Club. She finished ninth with a score of 101, 4-97. Mrs. J. Roberts, of this city, returned a score of 123, 18-105.

Despite the fact that the use of the Schenectady or mallet-headed putter has been bared by the rules of golf committee of St. Andrews, Scotland, Robert C. Watson, secretary of the United States Golf Association, says that no such action will be taken in this country.

In an official communication sent out from the secretary's office last night Watson stated that on May 18 he sent a cable message to Captain Burns, of the rules of golf committee, which read as follows:

"Has your rules of golf committee barred use of Schenectady putter?" In reply to this Watson yesterday received the brief answer. "Yes," signed "Burns."

Mr. Watson's exact comment on the situation is as follows: "Although they have taken this action abroad, I wish to state that no action has been taken by the United States Golf Association as yet, and this putter will not be barred over here."

In case the parent organization on this side of the water concurs with St. Andrews a great many of the prominent amateurs and not a few of the professionals would be affected. W. J. Travis and Jerome D. Travers both use Schenectady putters, and so does Alec Smith, the metropolitan open and Eastern professional champion.

SECOND BASEMEN ARE HARD HITTERS

Second basemen have been the best average batters in the big leagues for more than a decade. It is the popular belief that the outfielders are the sluggers. So they are in many cases, but there are three fielding jobs to one second base position.

Take almost any squad and you will generally find the second baseman as high a hitter as any two of the gardeners, and in some instances better than all three. This has come to be such a uniform fact that all keystone players are falling into line.

One of the greatest batters of the last ten years is Nap Lajoie, of Cleveland. When he was with the National league, he was renowned as a slugger and the same is true since he has joined Cleveland. He probably is the best known of the hard-hitting second basemen, having led the batters in certain years.

It seems that the better a fielding second baseman the man is the better hitter he is. Johnny Evers, of the Cubs, ranks among the leaders of the former world champions. He has hit well over .300, and always is feared by the opposing pitcher. For a slight chap, he is a demon batter.

Take Collins, of the Athletics. He was one of the sensations of the last season, both in hitting and in fielding. He is one of the latest examples of the rule, and a fine one to boot. He gives promise of even greater things. Then there is Delehanty, of the Detroit Tigers.

It was in a large measure due to his work toward the fag end of the season that the Detroits copped the American League pennant. His batting and fielding boosted the stock of the Michigan bunch. When he was the star batter with Johnson, the pitcher, they formed the best pair the Nationals possessed.

Speaking of Delehanty, who was formerly with the Browns, brings to mind the fact that there are other St. Louis players who have been or are now with the Browns or Cardinals, who illustrate the fact that second sackers are usually handy with the stick. The latest example is furnished by the Cardinals, who have secured Miller Huggins from the Cincinnatis.

Not long ago, when Miller was in his prime, he took off his hat to nobody as a hitter or a fielder. The Red fans would bet their last cent on him. He should have many more years of usefulness in him, and his presence should go a long way toward gingering up the Cardinals. Then there is Ferris, who formerly played second with the Boston Pilgrims, and who more recently has been let go to Mineapolis by the Browns. Hobe always was a powerful fine hitter, and a no less prominent man on covering his position.

He did not do well when he was switched to third sack, which may be taken to mean that a second baseman once is a second baseman always. Williams was a cracking good man when he was with the New York Highlanders. He always was up with the best of the New York batters. He also hit well for the Browns for a while after going to St. Louis.

Miller, of the Pirates, is no slouch, and his work helped them win the world's championship not long ago from the Tigers. He also is of the new school, so-called. All of which goes to prove the point.

"Germany" Schaefer," who was traded to Washington for Delehanty, has a reputation past and present for batting. He made one home run against the Sox a few years ago that was the second longest hit ever recorded at the South Side park. The longest was that batted by Jake Stahl last season, which landed in the right centre tier of seats on the fly. Schaefer not only is a hard hitter, but he fields his position in a grand fashion.

Then there is Doyle, of the Giants, a rattling good hitter and second baseman. When he went to New York from the Three-I league he set the fans crazy with his continual hitting prowess. His presence has been a stimulus to the other Giant players. It is not known right now who will play second for the White Sox, but in past days when Frank Isbell was there, he was one of the finest hitters of the club. His four two-baggers against the Cubs one day in the world's series will never be forgotten.

Few fans of today remember Pitcher Hudson, and fewer have seen him. But Hudson's record shows him to be one of the greatest pitchers who ever drew breath. He twirled for Comiskey when the St. Louis team won the world's championship, and still later was several years with the Detroits. His last game was played in 1889. Hudson had a fanning bee with Comiskey a day or so ago, and during the course of the conversation it was shown how a ball player is sometimes "discovered."

"I remember one day when we lost our best pitcher," remarked Comiskey. "Carruthers left me, and I was in a quandary who to get to fill his shoes on the old Browns. Well, I was having a shave in a barber shop in this city, and happened to be telling the barber that I was shy a twirler and was up against it."

"Why, Commy," said the barber, "I can tell you where the best pitcher in the world lives, and the funny part of it is, he lives across the street from you."

"Well," said Comiskey, "you've got me. Who is it?"

"He is a young chap named Hudson, and he's now pitching out in Denver. Ask your brother about him; he also thinks he is the finest pitcher in the world."

"I took the hint," exclaimed the master of the Browns. "I inquired from my brother, and Hudson certainly got a boost there. So I went ahead and signed up the young chap, and he was as fine a pitcher as I have ever seen."

Hudson at present is an election commissioner in Chicago. He has lost track of the trend of baseball, and only sees a couple of games a year. He had even forgotten the scores of the games he won for Comiskey during the famous world series a score of years ago. But he still believes he can strike out a batter and that he can lift out a single himself, despite his gray hairs.

PLAYING AVERAGES OF PLAINFIELD TEAM

Adam Shott, "the hitless wonder," is the logical leader of the sticksmiths on the Plainfields. Shott doesn't top the list but he ranks second with a percentage of .333. Benbrown, the former shortstop, who was let out on account of his poor fielding, claims the high mark in the three games he played with a mark of .385. Carlstrom, Brit Martin and Walter Nelson are also in the 300 circle.

In gleaning over the records it is seen that Charley Boyd is the star run getter of the team. Boyd in four games has crossed the rubber eight times. In the performances to date Boyd has displayed speed and headwork in base-running. Next in line in the run getting is Martin and Nelson who have four tallies each to their credit.

Warry McLaughlin has a perfect mark of 1,000 per cent. in fielding, and the records show that Barnes and Nelson are doing splendidly in their respective positions. The individual batting and fielding averages follow:

Look out for those Yankees. Stallings aggregation reigns as a big favorite in Gotham since the slump of the Giants. The Highlanders are holding second place by a "comfy" margin.

"Doc" Zacher, who was not speedy enough for the Giants, and whom Manager McGraw sold to St. Louis, is making good with the Cardinals. Zach is fielding and batting at a fast clip.

It has often been questioned as to the number of baseballs used annually by the sixteen league clubs. Secretary-treasurer John A. Heydler, of the National League, in a recent statement, declared that the eight clubs in that league used 800 dozen balls last season. Judging that American League clubs used the same number, it is figured that about 20,000 balls are used annually in the two leagues. That means that clubs spend about $1,000 each for the globules, rating the baseballs at a price of 80 cents each.

New Brunswick fans are in the midst of a redhot baseball squabble over the action of the Amusement Company in bouncing Dave Driscoll and the clique who attempted to hold up the company for more money. The club treated its players fair last season on the salary question. This season Driscoll and five of his band "struck" and the Amusement Company retaliated by putting an entire new team on the field. Fair-minded fans are giving their support to the Amusement Company's officials in the controversy.

Jones Helps to Win Race.

Joseph H. N. Jones, graduate of the Plainfield High School, Class '06, but now a senior at Oberlin College, became famous on Monday in a track meet at Oberlin by winning the relay race when the score was a tie, 52-52. Oberlin snatched a victory over Western Reserve and finished ten points ahead of the Cleveland team. The final score was: Oberlin, 63½; Reserve, 53½. Jones, a little colored sprinter and "Whit" Morrison, of basketball fame, were the two men who saved the Oberlin team from defeat.—Cleveland News. Jones will graduate from Oberlin in June.

CHANGE AIDS DETECTIVES

Black Hand are the revelations of the searchers yesterday afternoon. It was said this morning that sums of money of various denominations had been abstracted from different locations in the earth surrounding the shack in which Cirefice lived. The amounts thus recovered have not yet been made public, but it is believed that it is a considerable sum.

The finding of the treasure bears out the statement of the boy, John Pinetti, who while acting as interpreter for the census taker, noticed the digging up of money which he declared was divided between Cirefice and his two companions. The Newark police art hot on the trail of other conspirators in the Black Hand game and it is quite probable that the "system" will be put out of business in this State.

The recent disclosures of threats against residents in this city have not been borne out by circumstances, although the excitement has not entirely disappeared.

THE FORUM.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Scene, any court in New Jersey. Imagine a case before the court. The lawyers having finished their pleas, the judge deliver his charge reciting the evidence and defining the law. A juror rises in his place and states that he will not find a verdict for either plaintiff or defendant, "because he believes the law to be unconstitutional." Would not the judge promptly inform the said juror that that was none of his business, that the law was a good and constitutional one until it had been declared otherwise by the Supreme Court. Application of the above is respectfully referred to the majority of the Plainfield Comon Council on their action with reference to the voting machine. The councilmen who voted to stifle and defy the law, as written on our statute books are:

BUXTON,
MONTGOMERY,
MYGATT,
C. C. RANDOLPH,
WILSON,
TOLLES.

Southern Old-Style Biscuit.

The old way was to beat the biscuit dough with an ax, and to give it 300 blows by actual count. The well-bastinadoed substance was then made into small round cakes with the hands—a cutter is an insult to true beaten biscuit—each about one-half inch thick. The top of each one is then picked three times with a fork, and they are then baked in a moderate oven forfrom twenty to thirty minutes. After you have once eaten them you are hardly surprised at their favor with the natives.

Sam and the Bear.

Two negros were out in the woods walking when they came to a cave. Sam said his companion, "You go in and see what's dare, and I keep watch." While Sam was watching a large bear came along and started to go into the cave. Sam grabbed him by the tail and pulled with all his might.

As the light was shut out, his companion said: "Sam, what dark de hole?"

Then Sam replied, "If dis tail pu'l out you find what dark de hole."—From Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

WILLIAM L. SAUNDERS.

Former Mayor Saunders is responsible for the presentation of Sir Arthur Pinero's Trelawny of the Wells last night and tonight at the Plainfield theatre for the benefit of the hospital. He acts as the general manager for and takes a part in the play.

Crescent, Clerkenwell, England, in May and here surrounded by her many friends, "Rose Trelawny" is betrothed to "Arthur Gower," Fred C. Patterson. William L. Saunders is capital as "James Telfer," and while seated around the table, he gives a fine bit of acting in announcing that "Rose Trelawny" is to leave the stage and eventually become the wife of Mr. Gower. The latter tries to make a speech, but fails and sits down amid wild applause.

Miss Saunders is then called upon for a speech and she interpreted the lines so well that round after round of applause greeted her. In this first act the appearance of Judge William N. Runyon as "Tom Wrench," is made, and the audience was quick to show its appreciation. The part is so different from anything in which he has appeared before, but he scored a hit from the start. He is perfectly natural and his interpretation all that one could desire. As a playwright trying to produce plays he has his troubles. No one wants to undertake the task of backing him, but he feels sure he will succeed.

After the betrothal of "Rose Trelawny" to "Arthur Gower," she goes to the home of "Sir William Gower," in Cavendish Square, where she is to be received by his family. The change does not appeal to her and Rose finally invites her gypsy friends to come and see her. A merry time follows and "Sir William Gower," Charles H. Lyman, and his household are awakened to find that Rose is entertaining her friends in a way that is displeasing. He drives them from the house in a terrific thunder storm that has been raging for sometime.

Rose is still dissatisfied with her change of position and the constant fault-finding of "Sir William Gower," decides to separate from her lover and go back to the stage, and here she is again given a fine opportunity to display her talent.

The third act finds Rose and her friends again in Brydon Crescent in December. Rose having become so cultured by her visit to Sir William Gower's house that she no longer displays her ability to act and is finally dismissed from the Wells' theatre. This is a great disappointment to her, but the visit of Sir William Gower to her home brings about a better understanding between them. Just prior to the visit of Sir William Gower, Imogen Parrott, of the Royal Olympic, Mrs. Lemuel W. Serrell appears with a proposition to produce one of Tom Wrench's plays and there is great excitement. Another disappointment is in store for it is learned that the man who is to back the production died. Sir William Gower overhearing the plans, decides to lend his aid and back the production. This announcement is received with great joy by Tom Wrench.

Sir William Gower now believes that he has judged Rose wrongly and takes a liking to her, but has not quite decided whether he wants her to marry his grandson, Sir Arthur Gower, whose present whereabouts is not known.

However, it is decided to put on the play and the fourth act shows a stage rehearsal, and the climax of the play is reached. Rose is to take a leading part in the play and Tom Wrench has arranged to have Sir Arthur Gower take an important part with her, using this as a means for bringing the two lovers together.

Sir William Gower comes to the rehearsal and while there is dumb-founded when he sees his grandson walk on the stage and assume a part in the play. He learns that his grandson has been on the stage and he finally consents to his marriage to Rose, and everything ends happily.

Mr. Lyman, as Sir William Gower, is delightful in the part and he shares the honors with Rose in a way that wins the audience. He is so natural as the vice-chancellor, that one can scarcely realize that the role is being played by an amateur.

Others who scored in their several parts were Mrs. Alston M. Abbott, as "Avonia Bunn;" Alston M. Abbott, as "Ferdinand Gadd;" William L. Saunders, as "James Telfer;" Mrs. Laurens H. Van Buren, as "Mrs. Mossop," a landlady; Mrs. Henry C. White, as "Mrs. Telfer;" Miss Louise Curtis, as "Clara de Foenix;" Mrs. Harry L. McGee, as "Miss Trafalger Gower;" Laurens H. Van Buren, as "Augustus Colpoys;" Hugh S. Jarvis, as "Mr. Ablett;" a grocer; Mrs. Lemuel W. Serrell, as "Imogen Parrott;" Miss Ray Hooley, as "Miss Brewster," and a maid, and William R. Cock, as a butler.

The appearance of Edward Sheldon in the play as "Mr. Mortimer," was of double interest. This noted dramatist and playwright was seen in the last act, where he is assigned a part in Tom Wrench's play, and the audience was quick to recognize him as he came on the stage. As "O'Dwyer," prompter, William T. Pelletier was capital and he convulsed the audience with his mirth-provoking lines. His identity was so concealed that scarcely anyone recognized him at first.

The play is just filled with comedy parts and is delightfully acted. It was produced under the direction of Fred C. Patterson, of New York, and under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital and for the benefit of the hospital. Those whose efforts added largely to the success of the production include Henry Crofut White, stage manager; Lemuel W. Serrell, in charge of stage settings; Mrs. Charles H. Lyman, prompter, and William L. Saunders, general manager.

The complete cast:

Abbott; Mrs. Mossop, a landlady, Mrs. Laurens H. Van Buren; Imogen Parrott, of the Royal Olympic, Mrs. Lemuel W. Serrell; Mrs. Telfer (Miss Violet), Mrs. Henry C. White; O'Dwyer, prompter at the Pantheon, W. T. Pelletier; Vice-Chancellor, Sir William Gower, Kt., Charles H. Lyman; Arthur Gower, Fred C. Patterson; Clara de Foenix, Miss Louise Curtis; Miss Trafalgar Gower, Mrs. Harry L. McGee; Captain de Foenix, Clara's husband, Harry L. McGee; Mr. Ablett, a grocer, Hugh S. Jarvis; Charles, a butler, W. R. Cock; Miss Brewster, maid, Miss Helen Ray Hooley; Mr. Denzil, Maxwell Evarts Perkins; Mr. Mortimer, Edward Sheldon; Mr. Hunston, William T. Glenney.

At the conclusion of the play, members of the cast were generously remembered with floral gifts by their many friends in the audience. The presentation of the flowers was reserved to the end so as not to interrupt the progress of the play. The second and last production of the play will be given tonight when an-

The Fox and the Straps.

Once upon a time there was a fox who boarded a street car and looked about in vain for a seat. At length he espied above his head several bunches of fine straps. He tried to reach them but could not. He tried again and again, but they always eluded his grasp.

Finally he gave up. "Oh, very well," said he, with some heat, "I don't care. They're probably germ-laden anyway."

Accordingly he got off, notwithstanding he wanted to catch a train and had already paid his fare.—Success Magazine.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

F. L. C. Martin.

New Jersey possesses a real live wire in F. L. C. Martin of the automobile company which bears his name at Plainfield, Newark, Trenton and other places. He is an able business man, and for many years was in the bicycle trade in Newark as a member of the Keer & Martin Bicycle Company. When he obtained the agency for the Mitchell for New Jersey he secured a good line, and has prospered with it. He next took hold of that most wonderful of little cars, the Hupmobile—known as the "Ponk Packard" or "Toy Packard." This little car startled the east last year with its performances at Brighton Beach, and Mr. Martin recently got away with two clean scores—in the Trenton run, and again in the run around Jersey last Tuesday and Wednesday, when the two cars came through in great style. It is a make that has been sold in great numbers and is filling a "long felt want." There is nothing else like it.—New York Globe.

Unreturned Favors.

A farmer was asked to assist at the funeral of his neighbor's third wife, and, as he had attended the funeral of the two others, his wife was surprised when he declined the invitation. On being pressed to give his reason he said with some hesitation: "You see, Mirandy, it makes a chap feel a bit awkward to be always accepting other folks' civilities when he never has anything of the same sort of his own to ask them back to."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Signs.

"What was the bridge of sighs?" asked the woman who was looking at the picture book.

"I suppose," replied Mrs. Flimgilt, "that it is one of those games in which you are obliged to make it spades every time."—Washington Evening Star.

During the recent raid of alleged speakensies at Williamstown, Constable Carter confiscated two bottles as a barber shop. He thought it of bay rum taken from a room used was the "real stuff."

Mayor Adamson, of Paulsboro, has given public notice that he is in a position to get a trolley line from Woodbury to Paulsboro, or from National Park to that place. All that is needed is the right of way.

Charged by Carl Reida, a Philadelphia barber, with having drugged his beer and then robbed him of eight razors, George Walker, a Camden huckster, was Thursday held under $500 bail by Recorder Stackhouse.

Having been unable to come to any amicable settlement for the loss of a large quantitiy of fertilizer shipped on the barge Lockport to Salem, the Fogg & Hires Company has brought suit and United States Marshal Olcott will sell the boat on May 24.

The chemical engine of the Camden fire department struck a telegraph pole while rounding the corner of Haddon avenue and Line street Thursday afternoon and was wrecked. Harvey Wingate, the driver, was severely hurt and one horse was killed instantly.

While feeding cord wood into a steam power saw Thursday, Elmer Gould, of Bridgeton, narrowly escaped instant death. The saw, becoming clogged, was torn from the boxes and whirled through the air slashed the vest from Gould's body and terribly lacerated his arm.

Indentified by means of an uncashed pension check which he carried in his pocket, James Whittle, seventy-five years old, of 434 Trenton avenue, Camden, died from apoplexy Thursday afternoon as he was being carried into the Homeopathic Hospital. He was stricken at Fifth and Stevens streets.

Candles were used during the celebration of the opening of the new $8,000 pipe organ in St. James' P. E. church, Atlantic City, Wednesday night after a defective fuse had blown out and left the big audience in partial darkness. Church officials procured the candles and the service, which included a recital on the organ, was completed without trouble.

With ten campaigning days yet remaining, the fund for a new Homeopathic Hospital at Camden now stands at $66,467.38. Only a few of the big manufacturing companies have thus far subscribed, and, with scores of large industrial concerns yet to hear from, the trustees do not expect any trouble in raising the desired $100,000.

Gandy were moving it, in an effort to properly spread the parlor carpet, Mrs. Minnie Adams, twenty-eight years old, of 1725 South Fourth street, Camden, suffered a fractured arm and dislocated elbow. Before Mrs. Adams could be freed it was necessary to call in some neighbors to assist in righting the piano. She was taken to Cooper Hospital. Mrs. Gandy sustained severe sprains of the back.

May Get Aviation Meet.

New Brunswick, May 21.—Several aeronauts and members of the New York Aero Club journeyed into New Jersey Thursday looking for an available site for holding the 1910 international aviation contest. The most prominent spot was found near Stelton, near this city, where a large tract may be had accessible to the Pennsylvania Railroad and the principal automobile road between New York and Philadelphia. Prevalent winds and inadequate railroad service are regarded as the most objectionable features of the several places talked about on Long Island. The selection will be finally made next Tuesday.

The endorsement to which Mrs. Mottley refers was given on August 26, 1905, and was substantially as follows: "About two months ago I was seized by a severe backache and dull pains in the top and back part of my head. I could not rest well and had no strength or energy to do my housework. Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at Randolph's drug store, gave me prompt relief and I am convinced that they are a first-class remedy."

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Another Voting Machine Test.

There is little doubt but that Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, of Plainfield, is right in his opinion that the law providing for a referendum on the retention or rejection of the voting machines in election districts is unconstitutional. One of his reasons follows in the line of Supreme Court Justice Garrison's memorandum accompanying the decision of the Court of Errors in connection with the voting machine referendum in Bayonne. Justice Garrison made it plain that he considered the act in question invalid for the reason that "such suplemental act is unconstitutional as a delegation of the law-making power directly to the electors at the polls."

Still another reason why Mr. Marsh considers the act unconstitutional is that the election districts, whose voters are permitted by the act to pass on the use of the voting machines, are not political districts of the State, but are only portions of such districts, and the Legislature has no power to confer the right to vote on only a part of the voters of a political district.

Plainfield's Common Council has accepted Mr. Marsh's opinion, and has refused to comply with the petitions calling for a special election. The result is that the petitioners, if they persist, will have to begin mandamus proceedings to compel the Council to order an election, and the case will be fought through to the court of last resort once more.

While it is important to secure a final decision as to the constitutionality of the voting machine referendum act, the propriety of the method of bringing about such a test is questionable. No administrative body is justified in considering an act of the Legislature unconstitutional until the law has been passed upon by the courts. The position of the Plainfield Common Council is a dangerous one to assume. On the same grounds, any municipal body might refuse to obey a law that was objectionable to its members, and would be able to justify itself by securing an opinion from a lawyer that the act was unconstitutional. Such a course is a usurpation of the powers and prerogatives of the judicial branch of the State government.

There is precedent for this action however. Jersey City and Hudson County authorities refused several times to obey laws on the advice of the late Allan L. McDermott that the acts were invalid. Bayonne's Common Council also did the same thing in the voting machine matter. These precedents, however, are not sufficient to warrant the action taken in Plainfield.

Neverthless, when the test is made, it will be of widespread importance in the State. If the stand taken in Justice Garrison's memorandum is concurred in by the Court of Errors, then every referendum held on the voting machines throughout the State will be nullified and the machines can be returned to use in the districts from which they have been ousted. With certain modifications and improvements on the device that result might do away with a lot of false counting, ballot-box stuffing and corruption.—Newark News.

TO HEAR ORATORIO.

Seventy-five Voices to Sing in Costa's "Eli."

Flemington, May 21.—The oratorio, Costa's "Eli," will be presented in the Flemington Presbyterian church Thursday evening, June 16. There will be seventy-five voices in the chorus, representing the choirs of the local churches. The soloists will be Miss Anna L. Case, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, soprano; Miss Adah C. Hussey, of New York, contralto, and Frank Croxton, of New York, bass. The name of the tenor has not been announced. Professor Norman Landis, organist of the church, will direct the choir.

Miss Grace Leeds Darnell, organist for the Baptist church, will officiate at the organ, accompanied by Miss Bertha W. Vosseller, on the piano. Special trains will be run from Lambertville, Somerville and other points. The choir has given one of the larger oratorios in the church annually for eleven years.

SKEETER AMAZES MANILA.

Model of Jersey Pest Wins Second Prize.

Jersey City, May 21.—New Jersey came in for honors at the annual carnival in Manila, Philippine Islands, last month. A great parade on the Mardi Gras order was a feature of the festival and the New Jerseyites in Manila got together and decided to have a float emblematic of their State in the procession.

They determined to show the Manilaites what sort of a bird a New Jersey mosquito was and a fine and large one, ample enough to command expressions of wonder from the population, was entered in the floral contest. It captured second place on the honor list and the New Jersey Association of Manila feels justly proud of the distinction earned.

Sergeant A. L. Gillon, of Batallion Second, U. S. Field Artillery, has written to friends here to tell of the affair. The sergeant is a native of Jersey City.

"How so, madam?" I expostulated. "I thought I was doing very well."

"Yet you cannot guess how to persuade me?"

"No; how could that be?"

"Always one gains by offering some equivalent, value for value—especially with women, monsieur."

She went on as though to herself. "Come, now, I fancy him! He is handsome, he is discreet, he has courage, he is not usual, he is not curious; but ah, mon Dieu, what a fool!"

"Admit me to be a fool, madam, since it is true; but tell me in my folly what equivalent I can offer one who has everything in the world—wealth, taste, culture, education, wit, learning, beauty?"

"Go on! Excellent!"

"Who has everything as against my nothing? What value, madam?"

"Why, gentle idiot, to get an answer ask a question, always."

"I have asked it."

"But you cannot guess that I might ask one? So, then, one answer for another, we might do—what you Americans call some business—eh? Will you answer my question?"

"Ask it, then."

"Were you married—that other night?"

So, then, she was woman after all, and curious! I pulled myself into control and looked her fair in the face.

"Madam," I said, "look at my face and read your own answer."

She looked, searching me, while every nerve of me tingled; but at last she shook her head. "No," she sighed. "I cannot yet say."

I raised my kerchief over my head. "A truce, then, madam! Let us leave the one question against the other for a time."

"Excellent! I shall get my answer first, in that case, and for nothing."

"How so?"

"I shall only watch you. As we are here now, I were a fool, worse than you, if I could not tell whether or not you are married. None the less, I commend you. I admire you, because you do not tell me. If you are not, you are disappointed. If you are, you are eager!"

"I am in any case delighted that I can interest madam."

"Ah, but you do! I have not been interested, for so long! Ah, the great heavens, how fat was Mr. Pakenham, how thin was Mr. Calhoun! But you—come, monsieur, the night is long. Tell me of yourself. I have never before known a savage."

"Value for value only, madam! Will you tell me in turn of yourself?"

I saw her dark eyes study me once more. At last she spoke again. "At least," she said, "it would be rather vulgar if I did not explain some of the things which become your right to know when I ask you to come into this home, as into my other home in Washington."

"In Heaven's name, how many of these homes have you, then? Are they all alike?"

"Five only now," she replied, in the most matter-of-fact manner in the world, "and, of course, all quite alike."

"Where else?"

"In Paris, in Vienna, in London," she answered. "You see this one, you see them all. They serve, they suffice. This little scheme it has pleased me to reproduce in some of the capitals of the world. It is at least as well chosen as the taste of the prince of Orleans, son of Louis Philippe, could advise."

This with no change of expression. I drew a long breath.

She went on as though I had spoken. "My friend," she said, "do not despise me too early. There is abundant time. Before you judge, let the testimony be heard."

"I am not your judge, madam, but it will be long before I shall think a harsh thought of you. Tell me what a woman may. Do not tell me what a secret agent may not. I ask no promises and make none. You are very beautiful. You have wealth. I call you, 'madam.' You are married?"

"I was married at 15."

"At 15! And your husband died?"

"He disappeared."

"Your own country was Austria?"

"Call me anything but Austrian! I left my country because I saw there only oppression and lack of hope. No, I am Hungarian."

"I should guess then perhaps you went to Paris?"

"Of course," she said, "of course! of course! In time reasons existed why I should not return to my home. I had some little fortune, some singular experience, some ambitions of my own. What I did, I did. At least, I saw the best and worst of Europe."

"I have heard vaguely of some such things, madam," I said. "I know that in Europe they have still the fight which we sought to settle when we left that country for this one."

She nodded. "So then, at last," she went on, "still young, having learned something and having now those means of carrying on my studies which I required, I came to this last of the countries, America, where, if anywhere, hope for mankind remains. Washington has impressed me more than any capital of the world."

"How long have you been in Washington?" I asked.

"Now you begin to question—now you show at last curiosity! Well, then, I shall answer. For more than one year, perhaps more than two, perhaps more than three!"

"Impossible!" I shook my head. "A woman like you could not be concealed—not if she owned a hundred hidden places such as this."

"Oh, I was known," she said. "You have heard of me, you know of me?"

I still shook my head. "No," said I, "I have been far in the west for several years, and have come to Washington but rarely. Bear me out, I had not been there my third day before I found you!"

"Value for Value, Madam!"

We sat silent for some moments, fixedly regarding each other.

"It was rumored in diplomatic circles, of course, that you were in touch with the ministry of England," I ventured. "I myself saw that much."

"Naturally. Of Mexico also! At least, as you saw in our little carriage race, Mexico was desirous enough to establish some sort of communication with my humble self!"

"Calhoun was right!" I exclaimed. "He was entirely right, madam, in insisting that I should bring you to him that morning, whether or not you wished to go."

She chuckled at the memory.

"How did he receive you, madam?" I asked. "I never knew."

"Why, took my hand in both his, and bowed as though I indeed were queen, he a king."

"Then you got on well?"

"Truly; for he was wiser than his agent, monsieur. He found answers by asking questions."

"For instance, he asked—"

"What had been my ball gown that night—who was there—how I enjoyed myself! In a moment we were talking as though we had been friends for years. The grand vizier brought in two mugs of cider, in each a toasted apple. Monsieur, I have not seen diplomacy such as this. Naturally, I was helpless."

"You told him somewhat of yourself?"

"He did not allow me to do that, monsieur."

"But he told you somewhat of this country?"

"Ah, yes, yes! So then I saw what held him up in his work, what kept him alive. I saw something I have not often seen—a purpose, a principle, in a public man. His love for his own land touched even me, how or why I scarcely know. Yes, we spoke of the poor, the oppressed, of the weary and the heavy laden."

"Did he ask you what you know of Mexico and England?"

"Rather what I knew of the poor in Europe. I told him some things I knew of that hopeless land—my own land. Then he went on to tell me of America and its hope of a free democracy of the people. Believe me, I listened to Mr. Calhoun. Never mind what we said of Mr. Van Zandt and Sir Richard Pakenham. At least, as you know, I paid off a little score with sir Richard that next morning. What was strangest to me was the fact that I forgot Mr. Calhoun's attire, forgot the strangeness of my errand thither. It was as though only our minds talked, one with the other. I was sorry when at last came Grand Vizier James to take Mr. Calhoun's order for his own carriage, that brought me home—my second and more peaceful arrival there that night."

"Then I did not fail as messenger, after all! You told Mr. Calhoun what he desired to know?"

"In part at least. But come now, was I not bound in some sort of honor to my great and good friend, Sir Richard? Was it not treachery enough to rebuke him for his attentions to Dona Lucrezia?"

"But you promised to tell Mr. Calhoun more at a later time?"

"On certain conditions I did," she assented.

"I do not know that I may ask those?"

HALLET & DAVIS PIANO COMPANY TO HAVE NEW FACTORY

AS THE PLANS SHOW THE NEW PLANT OF THE HALLET & DAVIS COMPANY, WHICH IS TO BE BUILT AT NEPONSET AT A COST OF BETWEEN $500,000 AND $600,000.

Boston is soon to have an immense new factory for the construction of high-grade pianos, as the Hallet & Davis piano company has just awarded contracts for an extensive plant to be constructed on the banks of the Neponset river at Neponset.

The site for this new piano factory is probably one of the finest for its purpose to be found in the country. It is within 20 minutes ride of Boston city hall, less than five minutes walk from the Neponset station and only about four minutes walk from the Adams-sq trolley cars. The building will be on a branch of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, and the Hallet & Davis piano company has a spur track of more than 1000 feet in length on its own property there. It will also have fine dock facilities, where coal and other supplies may be brought by vessel and unloaded upon its own land.

It is the purpose of the company to make this new piano factory one of the finest and the best-equipped of such establishments in the world, if not the very finest. The plans call for an expenditure of from $500,000 to $600,000. The buildings will be of reinforced concrete, with all interior appointments of the finest character.

Through its engineers, French & Hubbard, the company has let the contract to J. Fred Lines company of Meriden, Conn, and work is to begin at once. The first building will be about 200 feet by about 80 and five stories. It will be as well lighted and as airy as such a structure can possibly be made. On this building there will be an expenditure of over $250,000. The interior fittings will be of the best quality and of fine appearance. An underground passage will be made connecting with the engine and boiler house, which will be equipped with the most modern plant of its kind, including everything necessary for manufacturing its own electricity for power, lighting and heating.

In this factory all the machinery will be driven by individual motors, and every sort of known labor-saving device will be installed, so that the new establishment in this respect will be one of the most modern in existence.

The factory will give employment to more than 600 men.

Boston has always enjoyed a reputation for the building of fine pianos and the construction of this great modern manufacturing plant will be a long step toward maintaining the standing of the city as the home of high-grade instruments of this type.

The Hallett & Davis company first started manufacturing pianos in Boston in 1839 and from a very small beginning has steadily grown until it has come to be recognized as one of the largest piano manufacturers in the world. When it decided to remain in Boston the officials of the company began to look around for a suitable site and finally secured 12 acres on the banks of the Neponset river.

The firm which will construct the vast factory is known as one of the largest contractors in Connecticut, and with orders calling for the issue of the best materials and the best kind of workmanship, is expected to construct a piano factory which shall bring to Boston the distinction of having the finest and most modern plant of the kind to be found in the entire country.

W. H. Ham of the firm of Hallett & Davis, who has the matter of the construction of this new factory under his personal supervision, says that just as soon as this first building is completed it is planned to start work upon a second structure, which is to be a part of the great whole.

In the nearly 75 years the company has been in existence it has always striven for superiority of construction and tone. In that time it has been awarded 129 gold medals and competitive awards and has received innumerable letters of approbation from world-renowned musical composers and artists, while aside from these its wonderful growth is pointed out with pride by members of the company as evidence that its aims have been attained and recognized by the public.

ATHLETES SHOW PROWESS

Gesang and Turn Verein Gymnasts Display Cleverness in Exhibition.

HONORS FOR FRED BECKER.

Bert Hansen, Louis Menzenbach and Anton Madsen Star in Specialties—Dance Followed Exhibition.

Nearly two score of athletes of the Turning Section of the Gesang and Turn Verein exhibited their prowess before a large audience at Saengerbund Hall last night. It was the annual exhibition of the physical culture pupils of Director Fred Becker and those who witnessed the feats of the performers pronounced it as one of the finest exhibitions of its kind ever presented in the hall.

The exercises included marches and drills, calisthenics and bar work. One of the popular numbers on the program was the pyramid act in which seventeen members participated. In the senior events Bert Hansen's tumbling acts and bar work found favor with the audience. Louis Menzenbach's giant swing on the horizontal bar and Anton Madsen's balancing acts also scored big hits. In the boy's events August Meyer and Fred Becker performed creditably.

Owing to an accident on Thursday night in practice in which he fell and injured his arm, Anderson, one of the star giant swingers of the Section, was unable to perform. The participants displayed much cleverness in all of the events and were liberally applauded for their efforts.

Physical Director Fred Becker came in for a lot of praise for the splendid showing of his pupils and at the completion of the program he was presented with a cut glass lemonade set in appreciation of his services from the society. The presentation speech was made by President Stephen Schleif. The gift was an agreeable surprise to Mr. Becker and in accepting the token he congratulated the pupils on their splendid showing and thanked them for their faithful attendance at the classes. Those who participated in the exhibition are as follows:

Senior division—Physical Director Fred Becker, Bert Hansen, Fred H. Becker, Ernest Luthman, Nelson Luthman, George Staggard, Charles Kreutzfeld, Herman Klinsman, Jr., Clark Hammil, Anton Madsen, Charles Meyer, Jr., Louis Menzenbach, Howard Post, Jack Alster, Charles Allen, Augustus Bremmer and Bert Ayers.

Junior division—Raymond Becker, August Meyers, George Luthman, Andrew Greves, Harry Schleif, "Booby" Schleif, Hyman Abrams, August Bohren, John Wirth, Jr., Harold Denlinger, Leroy Taynor and Herman Fass.

Following the athletic exhibition dancing was enjoyed. The committee in charge was composed of officers of the section, as follows: Herman Klinsman, Jr., Charles Kruetzfeld, Nelson Luthman, Fred Becker, Bert Hansen.

PANHANDLERS ADOPT CODE OF OPERATIONS

A regularly organized gang of pandhandlers which operates on systematic lines, known officially as Plainfield Chapter 2,333, Benevolent and Protective Pandhandlers, has adopted a new code of rules. (Police please take notice.)

Section No. 1 will report on the Somerset street bridge on the westerly side of that thoroughfare at 7 a. m. daily for the purpose of "touching" New York commuters of the borough.

Section No. 2, will station itself on the northeasterly corner of Front and Somerset streets to solicit "dues" from citizens who escape the vigilant eyes of the members of Section No. 1.

Section No. 3 will guard the Grove street bridge during the exodus of commuters.

Section 4 will hold down the Madison Avenue bridge for the same purpose.

Section No. 5 will guard all territory in the vicinity of East Fourth street and Watchung avenue leading to the approach of the Plainfield station.

After the departure of the 8:30 express to New York, Sections No. 1 and and No. 2 will take a position in the corner of Front and Somerset streets, and squads Nos. 3, 4 and 5 will congregate on Park avenue and Second street.

"Sugar" Cane, president of the local chapter who was a noted "tightwad" in the days of prosperity, recently instructed members not to accept less than a three cent piece from "philanthropists" except on rainy days.

PLAINFIELDERS WIN HONORS AT RUTGERS

The annual exhibition drill of the Rutgers' College batallion was held on Neilson Field, New Brunswick, yesterday. A large crowd witnessed the drill, which consisted of successive formations, skirmish drills and flank manouverings.

A sham battle featured the celebration, two companies taking part in the "fight." The drill closed with dress parade and the announcement of promotions for the ensuing year. Frederick M. Smith, of this city, received commission as captain and adjutant. Arthur B. Titsworth was appointed sergeant, and G. Stanley Robins was advanced to corporal.

In the evening the military ball was held in the Ballentine gymnasium. The affair was largely attended, including a large representation of Plainfielders.

Frederick Smith was recently elected vice-president of the Civil Engineering Club. This is an honorary organization consisting of juniors and seniors of the civil engineering course.

J. De Lancy Ferguson has been winning prizes this year. He recently took the John Parker Winner Memorial prize, valued at $25, and also the Wall Targum prize, valued at $10.

KING'S DAUGHTERS CIRCLE ELECT NEW OFFICERS

The election of officers, presentation of various reports, including those from thirteen of the fourteen circles, and other business, combined to make the annual meeting of the City Union of the King's Daughters at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, yesterday afternoon, one of unusual interest. Mrs. Frank W. Jones, president of the union, was in the chair. The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. C. L. Goodrich, of the Congregational church, who also made a few encouraging remarks.

The report of the treasurer showed a balance of $1,454.89, which includes $1,133 received from "Tag Day." The report for the past six months showed that the city nurse had made 666 visits, and the report from The Day Nursery showed that 2,100 children had been cared for there during that time. It was stated that many repairs to The Day Nursery, as well as the baby camp will be necessary this summer. The expenses of the City Union are $250 a month and it means hard work to raise this amount. The baby camp will be opened in July for the reception of sick babies.

The following circles reported these pledges for the coming year: Benevolent Band, $250; Charity Circle, $200; Cheerful Workers, $100; Daughters of the Cross, $200; Whatsoever Circle, $25; Brightside Circle, $30; Golden Rule, $25; Cup Bearers, $75; Silver Cross, $100; Loyal Daughters, $200; in His Name, $50, making a total of $1,255. The Emanuel and Unity Circles have not held their annual meetings and they will report later. One circle, it was stated, raised over $1,000 last year, but in adition to its pledge did many charitable acts with the balance.

After the regular business meeting the trustees met and elected these officers:

President, Mrs. Frank W. Jones; vice-president, Miss Anna Garrigues; treasurer, Mrs. Anna Most; recording secretary, Mrs. F. W. Butler; corresponding secretary, Mrs. L. C. Laggren. The board of trustees comprise one member from each of the fourteen circles.

At the conclusion of the meeting there was a tea, in which the members of the Cup Bearers' Circle, of which Miss Alice Titus is president, served. The social features were greatly enjoyed.

KENNEL CLUB OFFICE TO BE OPEN NEXT WEEK.

The Plainfield Kennel Club will keep its office open at 212 Park avenue on Tuesday and Thursday evenings next week, May 24 and 26, to receive entries and Mr. Rushmore will be on hand to answer any questions relative to the forthcoming dog show.

Charles E. Faber, one of the board of governors of the club, announced this morning that while all possible curtesies will be extended to those who wish to enter their dogs it must be remembered that the American Kennel Club, the parent organization, exacts a fine for entries accepted by clubs after the limit date posted. This fine means twenty-five dollars for each entry made after the specified time. So it behooves those who are desirous of entering their animals in the coming exhibition to get their entries in early.

Automobile Buyers Are of Two Kinds

Those who want the best car for the least money.

Those who want the best car regardless of price.

THE CHALMERS CAR is the one car that appeals to both classes of buyers. That accounts for its wonderful popularity.

It is easy to show the man who wants a "cheap" car how much more value he can get in the CHALMERS by paying a little more.

It is easy to prove to the man who wants automobile satisfaction regardless of price that CHALMERS cars compare favorably at every point with the highest priced cars.

WM. W. PEARSON IS DEAD

Retired Lawyer Passes Away After a Long Illness, Aged 68 Years.

WAS A CIVAL WAR VETERAN.

Member of Masonic and Royal Arcanum Orders—Funeral Services on Wednesday Afternoon.

William W. Pearson, aged sixty-eight years, who has been a well-known resident of Plainfield for a quarter of a century, died at his home, 825 West Fifth street, at 6 o'clock yesterday morning, following a long illness from locomoto ataxia. Although he was practically helpless and had been so for years, he was able to go out frequently in his wheel chair and in his automobile and enjoyed fairly good health. The last time he was out was on Tuesday last and after that it was noticed that he grew rapidly worse. He passed away peacefully with the members of his family present.

Mr. Pearson was born in Brooklyn and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Pearson, of that city. At the age of fourteen years, after attending the public schools for a short time, he entered the offices of Tracy, Olmstead & Tracy, in Wall street, New York, for the study of law. While there the Civil War broke out and Mr. Pearson enlisted as a private in Co. G, 13th Regiment, Volunteers, of Brooklyn, and served a considerable time in the South. He was finally sent North from Virginia on a transport, and en route the transport was wrecked and Mr. Pearson narrowly escaped with his life. His long illness which proved fatal dated from that time.

After returning from the war he resumed the practice of law with a friend named Mr. Shedlock, under the firm of Pearson & Shedlock. This firm continued for five years, after which Mr. Pearson opened offices for himself and for fifteen years practiced law and with great success.

It was about twenty-five years ago that Mr. Pearson removed to this city and for the most part of that time lived in retirement. He was known as one of the most ardent baseball fans in this vicinity, being a member of the old Crescent Athletic Club. He never missed a game, his familiar figure being noticed at every contest, whether in Plainfield, Westfield, Somerville or elsewhere.

Mr. Pearson was a member of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M., and Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, and the Masons will have charge of the funeral services to be held from the late home, 826 West Fifth street, Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. John Y. Broek, of Trinity Reformed church, will officiate, and the burial will be at Hillside cemetery.

Mr. Pearson is survived by two sons, Charles O. Pearson, with whom he lived, and Wallace H. Pearson, of Philadelphia; also four grandchildren.

"Talked on Pagoda Lands."

Rev. Sumner R. Vinton, a returned missionary from India, gave a delightful lecture on "Pagoda Lands," at the First Baptist church last night, with the aid of stereopticon and motion pictures. Mr. Vinton's family for four generations have been engaged in mission work in Burmah, he himself being born there, and his description of the work, as well as the forms of worship on the part of the natives, was unusually interesting. The views were among the finest displayed here and Mr. Vinton is an exceptional talker. A good collection was received for his work at the service.

Mrs. Whitehead's Funeral.

The funeral service of Mrs. William J. Whitehead was conducted at her late home on West Third street on Saturday afternoon by the Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel. There were many beautiful floral tributes, including a set piece from the Plainfield Association Football Club, of which organization the husband is a member. Interment was made in the eMthodist cemetery, the bearers being Thomas and Fred Cross, George Gray, James McInnes, Andrew Cowley and Alex. Campbell.

Graduates Leave Hospital.

Miss Davidson and Miss Scherpeltz, members of the '10 graduating class of the Muhlenberg Hospital Training School, have left the school and are now located in this city for the present. TO ORDAIN MR. STOUT ON NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

The ordination and installation of Royal A. Stout as pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church by the Classis of Newark, will take place at the church, Friday night at 8 o'clock. Mr. Stout successfully passed a creditable examination before the Classis in special session in Newark, on Saturday.

The provisional arrangements for the ordination are as follows:

Rev. W. Warren Giles, of East Orange, president of Classis, will preside and read the form; Rev. Dr. Philetus T. Pockman, of New Brunswick, will preach the sermon; Rev. H. J. Vyverberg, of Hurley, N. Y., will charge the pastor and Rev. Geo. S. Bishop, D.D., of East Orange, will charge the people, and the quartette choir and organist of Trinity Reformed church will render the music.

Rev. Dr. Pockman has been invited to preach the sermon, owing to the fact that he has been Mr. Stout's pastor for the past twenty years.

KNIGHTS OF GOLDEN EAGLES HEAR SERMON

Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagles, attended divine service at the Temple Baptist church last night where the pastor, Rev. J. W. Musson, preached an instructive sermon to the lodge. Mr. Musson selected his text from Luke 1: 15, "He shall be great in the sight of the Lord."

The preacher spoke of the desire to achieve greatness, by all, and showed the value of aspiration to impel us to live useful and nobles lives.

He then showed that aspiration in itself was not sufficient, for many who had been impelled by it, and who had achieved their heart's desire, had made shipwreck of life. So that, while it is important for each of us to strive to make the most of life, it is of supreme importance that we understand what constitutes true greatness.

Mr. Musson then used the life of the Forerunner of Christ as an example of true greatness, for the text was a prophecy that "He should be great in the sight of the Lord." In addition to this, Jesus said of him: "Of them that are born of women, there has not arisen a greater than John."

The preacher pointed out three things in the life of the Herald of the Christ that showed his greatness. First. He regarded the eternal things, such as truth and righteousness, as of supreme importance. He put first things first. No one, said he, can be called truly great who regards the secondary, or temporal things, as of supreme importance. He sighted the lives of a number of the heroes of the Bible to show that their greatness was due to the fact that they regarded the eternal things of supreme importance.

Second. The second element of greatness in the life of the Forerunner was seen in this. He had the courage of his convictions. He lived up to what he believed. He stood with an immovable firmness upon the principles which he knew to be right.

Third. And the third element of his greatness was his spirit of self-sacrifice and self-renunciation. His humility was very marked. When tempted to become jealous because of the increasing popularity of Jesus, he said: "He must increase, but I must decrease."

In closing Mr. Musson congratulated the Knights upon having as the motio of their order the three words which set forth these three elements of true greatness: "Fidelity, Valor, Honor." He urged them to be faithful to the highest and noblest duties of life. To be courageous in the performance of their noble service. And to find their highest honor in humble and self-sacrificing helpfulness to others.

HE DRAWS A LESSON FROM THE HALLEY COMET

Taking his text from the Eighth Psalm, v. 3, "When I Consider Thy Heavens," Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, delivered an impressive and instructive sermon in which the career of Halley's comet played a most significant part. This celestial visitor which has had the entire universe gazing heavenward for so many days, is one of the glories of God, so many of which are manifest in the firmament. Mr. Goodrich dwelt at length on the history of the comet, tracing its various appearances for centuries before Christ and drew from it three lessons.

He declared that two marvels are prominent in the study of the subject; first, the comet itself and, second, that man understands it so well now.

"Astronomers today, although the celestial traveler is 14,000,000 miles away, can tell its shape, size, composition and its rate or travel, as well as the space it will go through before its return. This," he said, "is a sure indication that man is the son of God, for his attributes are similar and from his understanding gives evidence of God's special care of him. Among the people of olden time, superstition held the upper hand and each recurring visit of the comet caused consternation and apprehension. But let us be thankful for the great advance in human knowledge. What a reason there is for gratitude to God that man should rise to such a height. It should give us greater faith in God and a greater reverence for His works.

"An increasing knowledge of God's world does not detract from our Christianity, but rather should fasten more securely our belief in the word of God as given in His book. Scientific discoveries do not alter the truths of the Bible, the differences being merely in the abstract. Bigness is not a test of value. The greatness of Christ did not prevent Him from taking little children in His arms. The comet, however big, is not as great as the love of God for man. It is more than all this to know God Himself who made the heavens and the earth."

FREEHOLDER BOARDS FAVOR IMPROVEMENTS

At a joint meeting of the Somerset-Union county Boards of Freeholders at Blatz's Hotel on Somerset street, this afternoon it was voted to erect a new bridge over Green brook on the Washington Valley road, near Scotch Plains. It will be a steel structure, with a concrete floor and is to cost about $1,800. Bids will be received at the office of County Engineer J. F. Hubbard in this city up to June 3.

The old bridge which was of the old wooden type, collapsed last Wednesday, when Henry Lewis, of Scotch Plains, attempted to drive over the structure with his ten-ton traction engine.

As a result of the accident, the old bridge is down. Lewis' machine is in the bed of the brook and the road is blockaded. Work was started this morning in tearing down the remains of the old bridge and raising the traction engine.

A damage suit is likely to ensue from the accident. Lewis, the owner of the machine, it is understood will institute a suit against both counties for damages rendered to his machine.

The freeholders were served with preliminary papers this afternoon in a damage suit begun against them by Borough Councilman William L. Smalley, Jr., for damages to his residential property on Saturday as the result of the heavy rain. The papers set forth that when Greenbrook road was rebuilt this year proper drains were not installed at Greenbrook road and West End avenue, and in consequence Mr. Smalley's property was greatly damaged on Saturday. The freeholders inspected the Smalley property this afternoon.

Among the Union county representatives at today's meeting were Freeholders S. P. T. Wilbur and J. Hervey Doane and County Engineer F. J. Hubbard.

Drink Responsible.

Charles C. Long, a wagon driver, was arrested by Patrolman Vandeweg Saturday evening on East Front street and this morning he was fined $5 by City Judge Runyon. Long was helpless from drink.

Henry A. Spier, of Watchung, has returned from a visit to his brother in Virginia.

TOSSED BY LOCOMOTIVE

Man, Woman and Four-Year-Old Child Escape Sudden Death.

AT PARK AVENUE CROSSING.

Walter Greenwood Lost Three Fingers, But Mrs. Langdon and Her Baby Defy Lehigh Valley Locomotive.

An accident which beats any of the records of fiction and whose results are the most astonishing recorded in this part of the State occurred Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the Park avenue crossing of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. A carriage containing Walter Greenwood, Mrs. Lizzie Langlow and her four-year-old boy were struck by a train just after the horse drew the vehicle across the rails. The three occupants were thrown out and Mr. Greenwood was thrown under the wheels of one of the coaches. His left hand was caught by the wheels and three fingers amputated. The woman and child were thrown a distance of twenty feet, suffering little injury. The child had a cut on the back of its head and Mrs. Langlow suffered from several slight bruises. It was necessary to back the train down in order to release Mr. Greenwood. All three were brought to Muhlenberg Hospital where their wounds were dressed. After being attended to at the hospital Mrs. Langlow and her child were sent home on the trolley.

The surrey in which the three were riding was reduced to kindling wood and the horse ran away in the direction of Metuchen. Mr. Greenwood lived at 176 New street, New Brunswick, and Mrs. Langlow is also a resident of that city.

That Mr. Greenwood was not killed outright is the marvellous part of the occurrence. When the carriage was struck the three occupants were hurled in different directions, but Mr. Greenwood was thrown directly under the trucks of a passenger coach and nobody who witnessed the accident will ever be able to tell just how he got there and survived. The train when backed up so that the crew could remove what they expected would be a dead body, had to go almost its full length. The imprisoned man was perfectly conscious and exhibited the bleeding stump of his hand.

The blame for the accident is still unsettled but it is believed that the driver of the carriage did not hear the warning toot of the engineer or that the flagman at the point was derelict in his duty.

TRELAWNY SCORES AGAIN BEFORE CROWDED HOUSE

The second and final performance of "Trelawny of the Wells" on Saturday night proved conclusively that no performance by amateur actors ever given in this city had ever even approached the effort. With the exception of the noise created by late arrivals every moment of the play was given serious attention and the players accorded their meed of appreciative applause.

There seemed to be a feeling of confidence exhibited by both audience and players which went far toward a successful presentation. Again was the house packed to its limit. The beautiful costumes of the women added lustre to the scene. Balcony and gallery crowded with students and teachers from the High Schools and the main auditorium jammed with society folk, the view from the stage must have inspired the cast with the enthusiasm with which they filled their respective parts.

Further details of the play here are unnecessary as a full account of it was given in Saturday's Daily Press. However, something must be told of the closing scenes, particularly the huge mass of flowers which found their way to the stage after the third act. They were piled five feet high on one of the property tables and caused "Imogen Parrott, of the Royal Olympic," to hastily retreat, as she realized that the floral offerings were not alone for her, although one person was heard to say after the incident, "she deserved most of them, anyway."

Without exception the various characters fulfilled their parts splendidly, but it must be chronicled here that six people stood out from among the others of the cast, for particular brilliance—Miss Saunders, as "Rose Trelawny;" Mrs. A. M. Abbott, as "Avonia Bunn;" Mrs. H. L. McGee, as "Miss Trafalgar Gower;" Harry L. McGee, as Captain de Foenix;" Judge William N. Runyon, as "Tom Wrench;" and Mrs. Serrell. These, perhaps the most difficult characterizations, were above the ordinary. An old first nighter present declared on the way out that "If I hadn't known it to be an amateur performance, I could easily have persuaded myself that I had witnessed something great at the New Theatre in New York." And as a matter of fact it was great.!

FUNERAL SERVICES OF JAMES B. SMITH HELD

James B. Smith, whose death occurred on Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Benjamin Mills, 315 Springdale avenue, East Orange, and who was buried in Hillside cemetery today, was a well known resident of Plainfield a quarter of a century ago, when he was engaged in business here as a tailor. He was the only man known to have received a bullet wound like that which Guiteau inflicted on President Garfield and yet survived.

Mr. Smith got precisely such a wound in the storming of Fredericksburg by the Union troops in 1862. Later he was found to be still breathing and was taken to Mt. Pleasant Hospital, where he was nursed back to life.

Mr. Smith was a resident of Newburg, N. Y., until the death of his second wife at that place three weeks ago. Left with no relatives in his eightieth year, he made his home with his daughter at East Orange, but the shock of his wife's death was so great he succumbed on Friday.

Mr. Smith was shot through the body, the ball passing through the right lung and liver and coming out of the back. At the time President Garfield was shot, Mr. Smith's case attracted world-wide attention. The burial today was beside the wife of Mr. Smith. Mrs. Mills, her three sons, Harold, Clarence and Herman and Mrs. Richard L. Tobin, all formerly of Plainfield, survive.

CONGRESSMAN MAKES A BITTER ATTACK ON U. S. SENATOR AND STATE TREASURER

"Unspeakable Impulse" of John Kean, "Political Poodle Dog," Held by the Hon. Charles N. Fowler Responsible for "Despicable Plot" to End His Self-Confessed Brilliant Political Career.

BRANDS F. H. SMITH AS "KEAN'S ECHOING PARROT BOSSLET."

Ackerman's Vote for State Treasurership, He Discovers, Was Bartered—His Former Lieutenant, Voorhees, and Kean Are the Men Who Swap the People's Votes as They Would Trade Hogs—Admits His Own Political Virtues.

In a six column statement issued today, which he entitles a "letter from Hon. Charles N. Fowler on Two Political Bosses Addressed to the Republicans of the Fifth district of New Jersey," Congressman Fowler bitterly attacked United States Senator John Kean and State Treasurer Daniel S. Voorhees. Incidently he scores Republican County Chairman Frank H. Smith; denounces the records of John Kean, lauds his own records and tells the voters who, in his opinion, would make fit candidates for the United States Senate.

First of all, Mr. Fowler charges a conspiracy with Speaker Cannon of the House of Representatives as one of the plotters. For the first time in many years, he says, State Treasurer Daniel S. Voorhees, Republican leader of Moris County, failed to make a New Year's call this year. To his amazement, Mr. Fowler goes on, he has seen the termination of an almost lifelong friendship with the present State Treasurer. It is charged that Voorhees was bound to the Kean machine by the delivery of the three Union countly Assemblymen and Senator Ackerman of Union to him on the occasion of his re-election as State Treasurer in joint session of the last Legislature.

It is related that "Uncle Dan" Voorhees called upon Fowler in Washington two months or more ago and apparently the question of the State Treasurership was discussed, for Fowler says Voorhees said there was no other candidate for his office before the Republican Legislative caucus.

After leaving him, Mr. Fowler dramatically goes on to state, State Treasurer Voorhees during his Washington visit was "ushered into the presence of Cannon" and there "rivveted" to an agreement to put him (Fowler) out of business.

The Fifth District Congressman pays his respects to Chairman Frank H. Smith, of the Union County Republican Committee. He says that Smith not long ago declared there was no opposition to Fowler, but that he had now "discovered" very serious opposition. County Chairman Smith is designated as the "me too political lapdog' of Senator Kean, and Senator Kean is declared to be the "me too" of Aldrich, with whom, Fowler says, the Jersey senior Senator voted 128 times during the consideration of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law.

If Senator Kean didn't have such a "fat checkbook," Mr. Fowler hazards the opinion that he couldn't be elected to anything. Votes have been secured by Kean, insinuates the ready letter writer, through his contributions to campaign funds of Republican candidates for Senate and Assembly. He suggests that if Hamilton F. Kean, the Senator's brother and political lieutenant, would lock up his check book Senator Kean will not be re-elected. Mr. Fowler says harsh things about the odor of the money outside interests will put up for Kean's campaign.

But Senator Kean will find this year, asserts the Congressman in his most vitriolic style, that he cannot deal in votes as he deals in gallons of water sold by his corporations and cubic feet of gas dispensed by his gas companies.

The cream of the Fowler letter follows:

'Ever since I entered public life, from my first nomination down to this present despicable plot—the chief ambition of Senator Kean seems to have been to defeat me. For wat reason I do not know, unless it be envy, jealousy, hate, malice, or some other unspeakable impulse that is unworthy of any true man.

The present scheme is a simple and complete transaction—one boss trading the people of one country to another boss for the people of another country. But there has been one of the most amusing, interesting and suggestive incidents connected with deal that has come under my political observation.

It will be readily recalled that while nine months ago, in the opinion of certain people my political career was ended, very recently indeed, within the last three weeks,

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The work of raising the heavy well driving machine belonging to John Lewis, which fell through the bridge over Green brook on the Valley road Thursday of last week, was started today by Louis B. Coddington, who has the contract. It is expected that it will take at least three days to raise the machine, as it is a heavy affair and the work will be slow. An examination of the bridge shows one of the girder beams was rotted almost entirely through on one end. The bridge will be replaced by the counties with a modern iron and concrete one.

Unless some of the public spirited citizens come forward with the money, it looks as though the Decoration Day exercises would have to be cut down to the simple decorating of the soldiers' graves. The Township Committee appropriated $10 several weeks ago. This is not enough, it is said, to defray the expenses, which will amount to about $30.

The game Saturday afternoon between St. Mary's team of Stony Hill, and a scrub local team, was called at the end of the fourth inning on account or rain; score 2 to 2.

Why We Did It

We reproduce below a card which we have been running for the past two weeks in the cars of the McAdoo Tunnel System.

Of Course You're Tired

New York shopping Is a wearisome task. With this great establishment right in the heart of Newark there's really no occasion for a New Jersey shopper using this train. Find out more about the State's Most Popular Department Store. It will pay you.

L. BAMBERGER & CO., NEWARK.

This card has occasioned a Great Deal of Comment and we have been asked repeatedly Why we were using the tube cars for advertising purposes and If We Were Afraid Trade Was Going to New York.

We will tell you Why we used the above card and why we propose using Others on the same subject.

We are Not afrain of our Old Customers going to New York because we think They Know the Value of Home Shopping, but we Do believe that there are many newcomer in this vicinity who have Never Visited the local stores and consequently do not know what splendid mercantile establishments we have in Newark or how much Better one can do Here than in New York. It is to those people that we wish to talk—it is the New and not the Old trade that we are endeavoring to reach through the medium of these tunnel cards.

We believe this new advertising campaign of ours will do us a great deal of good and we Hope It Will Benefit the Other Newark Stores as Well. We want Jersey people to trade in Newark—At This Store if Possible, but if not here, at any of the other Good Shops. We want Jersey people to Stay at Home—we want them to patronize The Industrial City. We want Jersey people to trade at home and mark what we say—We Are Going to Make This Such a Good Store That In the Future People Won't Want To Go To New York.

AMERICAN MANUFACTURER IN "CANADIAN INVASION."

Many Industries There Controled by U. S. Citizens.

The exodus of American farmers into Western Canada has caused so much comment that the movements of the manufacturers have passed almost unnoticed. Yet they are over there in force. In a tour of 4,000 miles, wherever I found industries, there I would find American money. In Fort Williams, Port Arthur, Winnipeg you come upon it at every turn. One whole factory surburb is given up to American firms in Calgray. There and in Edmonton the largest plants are owned by men from the States. In British Columbia, it is notorious that the copper mines are controlled from over the line, and that American lumbermen aredoing the larger half of the lumber business.

The Americans are certainly in Western Canada. They may be divided into three classes—first, those who are already established in the United States and were forced over by the tariff and patent laws; second those who, like the first class, were established at home, but went north, attracted by the quantities of material and opportunities offered in their own line, and, third, those who "just happened," says Leslie's Weekly.

Most of the first class are to be found in the older industrial centres in the East, but a few of these Eastern firms are establishing branches west of the lakes, to save transportation.

In the metal industries that are being developed at Fort Williams and Port Arthur there is American capital of this class. The duties on manufacturers of iron and steel run from 25 to 35 per cent., and as soon as a start is made in Canada in the making of certain articles, this duty forces the American manufacturer of those articles to cross the line if he wishes to hold his Canadian trade. So the new car-wheel foundry at Fort Williams, employing five hundred men, is an American enterprise. It is rather difficult to find out exactly which firms are American, so many well-known concerns masquerade under Canadian names.

NEW YORK IS WORLD'S SECOND ITALIAN CITY.

New York is the second Italian city in point of population in the world. Even the great city of Naples contains but a few thousand more Italians than does our nation's metropolis. These astonishing facts signify to some extent the magnitude of the immigration question of the metropolis. There are many social forces at work to solve these problems, but one of the most remarkable is the work done by the Italian House, a social settlement institution in the midst of the Italian colony in New York.

The first complete story of the work of this institution is told by Henry V. Andrews in Leslie's Weekly. It is a remarkable story of results obtained and methods employed in building an upright and useful American citizen of the Italian immigrant.

All Run Down.

'Tis heavy stuff we read
In winter time.
About this months we need
A little rhyme,
And so the kindly poets bring
Their roundelays concerning spring.

The warlike news we find
Within the press
Has preyed on every mind;
We need a rest.
A mental tonic cures the blues
And now we want some baseball news.

Utilizing the Squeal.

"I understand you utilize even the squeal of an animal that passes through your slaughter house."

"Yes," answered the Chicago meat packer. "We're aranging to lease that to the ultimate consumer for use when he wants to make a holler."

Thinking About the Tickets.

"I was completely transported by the grand opera," said Mrs. N. Thuzer.

"And did your husband enjoy it?"

"No; his mind is always on business. He says transportation rates are too high."—Exchange.

Hard to Please.

"Did Bliggins enjoy himself at the banquet?"

"I'm afraid not. He was scared all evening at the possibility of being called on for a speech, and when it was over resented the fact that he was overlooked."

Instructions to Wifey.

"So I have got to meet you in a department store, have I?"

"Yes, hubby."

"In that case would you mind wearing your hat tilted back a little for means of identification."

For Settlement.

"That fellow seems to take himself very seriously."

"Yes; he thinks his personal squabbles are weighty enough to be referred to the Hague."

Mrs. C. W. Smith, of Willow avenue, the borough, who has been visiting at Syracuse, N. Y., has returned.

PLAINFIELD HIGH IS VICTOR OVER BAYONNE

Plainfield High's baseball aggregation conquered Bayonne High Saturday morning on Crescent Oval by the score of 7 to 5. The game was called at the conclusion of the seventh inning, owing to the late arrival of the visiting nine.

Nash starred in the third round for the local school boys when he boosted Doane and Lidgate on a triple which dropped into left field territory. In the fourth round Terry smashed out a pretty double. The fifth inning was enlivened by a smart double play executed by Maloney and Schwartz. The former clutched Lidgate's hot liner and chucked Riffert out at the middle station.

Terry pitched splendidly for Plainfield and his teammates accorded him excellent support. The lineups:

P. H. S.—Riffert, ss; Doane, cf, Lidgate, c; Nash, 1b; Runyon, lf; Carty, rf; Van Zandt, 3b; Terry, p; Bristol, 2b.

Bayonne—Schwartz, 2b; Sharkey, 1b; Maloney, ss; Chase, rf; Magner, c; Smith, 3b; Herman, cf; Eisenberg, p; Jack, lf.

The youngsters of the leagues who are making the best impression are: Wheat of Brooklyn, Zeider of the White Sox, Roach of the Highlanders, young Gardner of the Boston Americans, Josh Devore of the Giants, Daubert of the Brooklyns, Collins of the Boston Nationals, and Campbell of the Pirates.

Bescher, the Cincinnati base-running wonder, bids fair to lead the National League again in pilfering sacks. Seventeen is his total to date. In the American Ty Cobb has stolen 14, and Eddie Collins of the Athletics 12.

In the American League Washington has made use of the fewest number of players so far this season, the Senators' total being 20. New York and Boston top the list with 25.

Milan of Washington has scored 24 runs in 29 games, yet has stolen only 4 bases.

PLAINFIELDS DOWN FLEMINGTON AGAIN

Plainfield showed Flemington the way again on Saturday by the score of 3 to 1. The contest was halted at the close of the seventh round owing to the interference of Jupiter Pluvius.

The locals outbatted and fielded the visitors. Although thirteen hits were made off Warren the locals were unable to score more than three tallies. McLaughlin was in speedy form and had the Hunterdon athletes guessing all the way, holding them to a pair of lonely hits and striking out seven batters.

The failure of Joe Harter to show up necessitated a shift in the lineup, Boyd going to third base, and O'Loughlin playing in center garden.

A couple of hits and some loose fielding enabled Plainfield to tally three runs in the opening round. Martin smashed a single to left and Boyd followed with an infield tap in the direction of P. Hart. Hart made a wild chuck to first base which permitted Martin to score and Boyd to reach third. After Barnes flied out, Carlstrom bunted, and Boyd tallied. Carlstrom stole second and scored when Hampton dropped Warren's throw of McLaughlin's easy grounder.

Some weird playing took place in the second when the visitors recorded their tally. Chatten was safe on O'Loughlin's muff, but he was later forced out at second by Warren. Warren's successful attempt to steal second drew a bad throw from Nelson. The ball dropped into center field and O'Loughlin continued the circus by executing a wide throw to Boyd. In the meantime Warren kept on running around the bases and scored. McLaughlin retired the side by fanning Parker and Brewer. The score:

Nap Lajoie has made more hits than any player in either league. He has hit safely 42 times, but he has scored only 8 runs, 2 of these being homers. Lajoie stole a base in the first game of the season, April 14, but has not pilfered since then.

Two outfielders Jim McGuire of the Clevelands relied upon to help him out have failed to make good. They are Krueger and Graney. Birmingham, the ex-Cornell University player and veteran Nap outfielder, is back in the game. He cannot hit, either.

Y. M. H. A. ENJOYS SPLENDID MUSICAL TREAT.

The Y. M. H. A. at their hall last night gave an entertainment which surpassed in excellence anything heretofore attempted by the organization. Several first class musical artists from New York took part in the musical program and Judge William Newcorn delivered an address, having for his topic "The Y. M. H. A. as a Local State and National Factor."

Space today precludes giving the program in detail but it must go on record that the musical offerings were above the ordinary and the audience if 150 people were charmed with the excellence of the performances. The committee having the concert in charge were: Mrs. William Newcorn, Samuel Rothberg, Jacob Abrams, Arthur Richards and Henry Rosenbaum. One of the features was the violin solo, "Traumerie," rendered by Alexander Haeckel, a member of Walter Damrosch's symphony orchestra of New York. Jockers Brothers, Mrs. Newcorn and Miss Netta Newcorn together with the impersonations of Albert Jockers, did much toward the pleasure of the audience.

Y. W. C. A. Outing.

Members of the Y. W. C. A. who started on the regular Saturday afternoon walk only got half way to their destination. Jupiter Pluvius halted the march at the half way mark and the young women were obliged to seek shelter in a farm house. Lunch was enjoyed and the return trip was made in the 'bus line car. The next jaunt will be taken on Decoration Day when Chimney Rock will be the destination of the pedestrians.

Gesanger's May Walk.

The annual May walk of the Gesangand Turn Vehein to the mountains was held yesterday. About thirty members of the organization participated in the jaunt and an enjoyable time was had. The committee in charge was John Retzer and the Messrs. Bentz and Kuntz.

RECEIVERS' SALE of TRUNKS

Men's Trunks

Wom'n's Trunks

At the recent big auction sale of the stock of T. B. Peddie & Co., we secured some very choice bargains, which go on sale to day the same way we bought them, at a saving of from $1.50 to $5 on a trunk. The Peddie Co. was one of the oldest and best trunk manufacturers in the country, and in order to wind up their business they put up their entire stock at auction. These trunks are all new goods, not shopworn in any way and this sale takes place at a very opportune time, with Decoration Day right upon us and Fourth of July close at hand then the vacation season. All of them make trunk buying a necessity. Come to the sale early, while there are 156 trunks in the lot, they won't last long at the prices named and then again early buyers get first choice.

SPEEDY PACERS TO RACE ON JUNE 4

The 1910 racing season will be inaugurated at the Plainfield Driving Park on Saturday afternoon June 4, with a card of four races. The stellar attraction will be a match race between James Lawless' Bion Girl, driven by George Gatlin, and H. Brautigan's Dick Welsh, driven by Johnny Osborne. The race will be for $200. Both of the horsemen interested in this contest hail from Metuchen.

In addition to the special match race there will be three trotting and pacing events for local horses. One event is carded for 2:20 trotters and pacers and the other two races will be for trotters in the 2:25 and 2:30 classes.

On July 4 the Plainfield Driving Club has arranged for its annual star meet. Purses of $200 are offered and some of the speedies horses in the State have been entered for the meet. Entries are being received by Thomas P. Quinn, secretary, Plainfield.

REGIMENTAL TEAMS FOR NAT. GUARD MATCH.

Officers and enlisted men who will compose the regimental teams for competition in the New Jersey National Guard Trophy match at Sea Girt on Monday, May 30, are as follows:

Major William B. Martin, Captain Charles F. Sylvester, Lieutenant Albert I. Littell, Company K; Lieutenant Marcus S. Farr, Company L; Sergeant James R. Daab, Company C, Sergeant Albert C. Mayer, Company A; Sergeant George C. Apgar, Company K; Sergeant Charles R. Bonn, Company I; Sergeant George W. P. Sylvester, Company L; Sergeant Charles R. Ogden, Company K; Private Anthony Walker, Company L; Private J. R. Wilcox, Company E, and Private William R. Hixson, Company K.

Thus it will be seen that Company K, of this city, has four men on the teams which are held in high esteem by the inspector of small arms practice and judging from the improvement made during the past year the men are sure to give a good account of themselves at Sea Girt on Decoration Day. Company K now stands second in the State being led by less than nine points by Company L.

P. H. S. NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Best gave the Senior Class a reception and dance at the High School auditorium on Saturday night. This was the annual reception which the principal gives the graduating class and the young people enjoyed themselves until a late hour. After the tenth dance refreshments were served.

The great P. H. S. senior and faculty baseball game will take place on Wednesday instead of Saturday as on the schedule. This is one of the pleasing features of the baseball season every year at the High School and everybody expects a great time. The faculty have a fast team and it is expected that they will give seniors a hand rub. Mr. Best will pitch and show some of the seniors a few of his old college curves.

FOWLER'S BITTER ATTACK

they all with one accord had announced that there would be no opposition to my renomination, apparently because they felt that public sentiment was favorable to me, more particularly on account of my opposition to Cannonism.

Again there seemed to be another reason for temporarily withdrawing their opposition to me and that was that under the particular circumstances it would be unwise; for their lord and master, Senator John Kean, was beginning to realize that his chances for succeeding himself were rapidly waning.

Almost simultaneously, Frank H. Smith, the Kean echoing parrot "bosslet" of Union county, who is always here or there—wherever the wind bloweth or listeth, or the long green is ready for distribution—privately stated and publicly announced that there would be no opposition to me. And Daniel S. Voorhees declared in my office at Washington during the very last days of April that all candidates in the district now mentioned would disappear as usual before the convention arrived.

From my office Mr. Voorhees went to see Senator Kean, and Senator Kean took Mr. Voorhees to see Joseph G. Cannon. Presto, all was changed. Senator Kean proceeded immediately to foreclose his mortgage on Voorhees, presumably at the dictation or suggestion of Cannon. This is the story of the crime up to date, so far as I can read and interpret the evidence.

Now let us step over the boundary of the Fifth Congressional District into the State and note a fact or two.

Of all the subservient, truculent, literal "me-too's" and perfect cuckoos, of all the political poodle dogs that Senator Aldrich prized most highly, undoubtedly Senator Kean wears the blue ribbon. He never gets off the Aldrich reservation, right or wrong, and on the tariff bill gave 128 votes out of 129 to Mr. Aldrich, if my recollection is correct, rebelling only to insist that polo ponies should go on the free list.

If Senator Kean should lock up his political check book until after the election in November, lock it up even now, and his brother, Hamilton F. Kean, should lock up his political check book too, even now, and Senator Kean should content himself with going about the State and trying to tell the people why he should be returned to the Senate, is there one single person in the whole State who honestly believes that Senator Kean would be re-elected? Then what a sad commentary the present practise and political immorality of the State are upon the intelligence, independence, self-respect and character of our citizenship, simply because the attention of the people has not been called to them and an appeal made to their sense of moral obligations as men, and civic duties as members of society.

Convinced from all the facts in the case that John Kean and Daniel S. Voorhees entered into a corrupt political deal, either expressed or implied in all its parts, I deem it my duty under the circumstances to state the facts and point out my position on several public questions for a more complete and perfect understanding between the people of the Fifth Congressional District and myself.

The corrupt contract which I have been compelled to conclude was entered into by John Kean and Daniel S. Voorhees was quadrilateral, or consisted of four distinct propositions.

One—Voorhees wanted to be elected State treasurer and therefore bargained for the four votes from Union County.

Two—John Kean wanted to cut my political career short, and therefore bargained for the delegates from Morris County to consummate this purpose by defeating my renomination.

Three—John Kean wanted to succeed himself as United States Senator, and therefore bargained that the Assemblymen and Senator from Morris County vote for him for United States Senator.

Four—John Kean was willing and anxious to pay the "freight," whatever it might amount to; in other words, to spend whatever money was necessary to be re-elected.

Part of the goods have been delivered—John Kean delivered the votes of Union County to Voorhees for State treasurer; and now the second act in the drama, the delivery of the Morris County delegates to anybody to beat Fowler, has been undertaken.

John Kean and Daniel S. Voorhees are place-mongers, pure and simple. They are office brokers. They are political merchants. But these two self-constituted proprietors of the voters of Union and Morris counties call themselves leaders. Leaders in what? In the moral growth, progress, advancement and elevation of the people, which is the very soul of our national life, must depend upon such leadership as theirs, God help the republic!

I challenge Senator Kean to name a single appointment made by him during the twelve years he has been in the United States Senate in which he has demanded, asked for, or even recognized the recommendation of any Republican organization.

I challenge him to name a single boy that he has recommended to the Military or Naval academies that has not been for the sole purpose of building up a personal political machine.

I challenge him to quote a single sentence that he has ever uttered, or a single paragraph that he will swear that he ever wrote, that will be worth the paper upon which he makes it public.

I charge him with having considered and treated the great office of United States Senator as private property, to be used and prostituted to his own personal political advantage, instead of a sacred political trust to be executed for the benefit of the whole people and the advantage of the Republican party organization, unless he claims that he is himself the Republican party.

It is a matter of no particular importance whom your choice for United States Senator may be this fall, if only you shall select him by your votes. You may vote for the

REPUBLICAN LEADERS AMUSED BY FOWLER

None of the local political leaders had seen the Fowler statement this morning and when a dozen or more of them were asked for an expression of their views they stated that they preferred to wait until they had read the document in full.

County Chairman Frank H. Smith let loose a hearty laugh when told of the references made to him by the statesman.

"I have nothing to say just now," said he significantly. "No, not one word. By the way have you seen the Halley comet; how does it strike you?"

When State Senator Ackerman was approached he was rather amused as The Daily Press representative told him how, in Mr. Fowler's opinion, Senator Kean had influenced his vote, or rather, bartered it to Mr. Voorhees when a candidate for the State treasurship in exchange for the latter's support.

"Senator Kean has never asked me to vote for any apointment in his life. Hamilton Kean, like many other men, has talked with me about some particular bill. That is his right as my constituent. I have never supported any measure, however, simply because some man favored it. I have always acted according to what I considered was right and was best for the people.

"As to my vote for Mr. Voorhees for State Treasurer, I made a thorough investigation of Mr. Voorhees qualifications. Twenty bank presidents and many other men able to judge as to his ability praised him in the highest terms in letters to me. That's why I voted for him; I am not ashamed of that vote."

"I do not understand why Mr. Fowler should attack me. I have always felt friendly towards him and I admire many of his qualities. I have expressed the opinion only recently that I did not favor a fight against Mr. Fowler."

City Clerk MacMurray, Mr. Fowler's local lieutenant, had not seen the Fowler letter and he left town this morning before it was issued.

HE KNEW HIS FACTS

"John," she said, "I will be a sister to you, but—"

"So it's a throwdown, eh?" asked the young man with the rosebud in his buttonhole.

"Yes," she admitted, frowning. "If you want to talk about it that way, I suppose it is."

"All right," he said, "don't get warm. Wait a bit."

He arose to his feet and consulted a slip of paper which he took from his pocket. Immediately thereafter he threw his shoulders back, shot his cuffs and made a comprehensive gesture.

"Madam," said he, "are you aware that according to the last government census there was, in the state of New York, an excess of 65,000 females? Do you know that if every single male was married to-morrow there would be 65,000 females left over? Were you aware of this?"

She tapped her little foot upon the carpet, but answered him not.

"And you, madam!" he cried, wiggling his index finger at her, "What guarantee have you that you would not be one of the 65,000?"

She sniffed the air, but that was all.

"Madam!" he continued. "Are you aware that when a woman has reached the age of 25 her chances of matrimony grow less and less each year until they disappear altogether? Did you know this?"

He pointed his finger at her again.

"And you, madam!" he cried. "What ground have you for supposing that your chances are better than those of the girl next door or the girl across the street?"

"Twenty-five, eh?" she asked.

"Yes, '25!'" he said, eyeing her sternly.

"Twenty-five, eh?" she sniffed.

With an impatient movement he returned to his oratorical manner.

"Do you know," said he, "that on account of the unprecedented rise in rents, food and clothing, the number of marriages is falling off daily? That every day a woman's chance of matrimony grows distinctly less, to say nothing of the decrease in her chances on account of the increase in her age? Have you been advised of this?"

He pointed his inexorable finger at her and cried—

"And you, madam! What right have you to suppose that you are an exception to the rule?"

She tried to pass it off with a laugh, but nevertheless she batted her eyes in a thoughtful manner.

"Do you regard an honorable proposal of marriage as an every-day occurrence?" he declaimed. "Do you know that there are thousands of old maids in this broad land to-day, lonely and in despair, each of whom would give ten years of her life to recall her light refusal of the first and only proposal she ever received?"

He folded his hands behind him and leaned forward impressively.

"And you!" he solemnly exclaimed. "Could you make oath that you will ever receive another proposal of marriage?"

He straightened himself with an abrupt motion and shot his cuffs again.

"Do you know," he demanded, "that there are more than 1,000,000 old maids in these United States and that the number is increasing every day? Ah, think of them! Think of them with pity!"

He leaned forward again impressively, almost tenderly.

"What girl knows," he whispered, "but that she will be one of these millions? Do you?"

Was it a tear that glistened in her eye?"

"Do you know," he continued with a gentle mourfulness, "that the number of old ladies' homes is increasing in geometrical progression? That every day, every hour, lonely spinsters are obliged to seek the refuge offered by these fast-growing institutions?"

He sat down beside her.

"Mary," he whispered, "are you aware that the average adult male's income is less than nine dollars a week—that I am getting $40. Don't cry, little girl! It's all right. I—I'll have you."

And when mother, wondering at the silence, looked in a few minutes later he was measuring her for the ring in a lordly sort of way.

No Entrance There.

There is one door in the big State, War and Navy building which is sacred to the presence of one cabinet officer. He alone gets in and out of it; every other person connected with the United States navy or with the government of the United States has to go around.

The door leads into the office of Secretary of the Navy Meyer. He enters through it and leaves by it, but all other times it remains locked.

One day Mrs. Meyer visited the department. She was in a hurry, and as soon as she reached the corridor in front of her husband's office she headed for the sacred door.

Mrs. Meyer tried the door; she twisted the knob, and then knocked. She knocked again. The answer came from Private Secretary Taylor's door in the form of a big colored messenger. He spoke to Mrs. Meyer, and she followed him through the circuitous path which leads to her husband's desk.

Fifteen minutes later she came out; this time she used the private door of Secretary of the Navy Meyer.

The Rare Gift of Courtesy.

Courtesy includes not merely social kindness, graces of speech, absence of rudeness, but honorable treatment of all business associates, and of all the fellow citizens with whom a man of affairs may have business to transact. It is not American to keep one citizen waiting all day at the door because he is poor, and to grant another citizen an interview because it is believed he is rich. Wisdom is not confined in a purse, and frequently much wisdom may be learned from a poor man.

The Wisdom of the Serpent.

The serpent tempted the woman not because she was the weaker, but because she was the leader; not because of her subordination, but on account of her superiority. She was the stronghold of the fortress, and to win her was to win all. She held the key to the situation. She was the keeper of the castle. Where she led for good or evil the man would follow! —From a Sermon by Rev. Mr. Kerr of Chicago.

Thirst for Novelties.

The curse of modern life—the thirst for the new, the rage to get out of the old skin—is the blight on our literatre, our art, our drama, our manners—even our morals. It is passion without aim, or conviction, or feeling—a mere restless itch to get free from old habits and to get into something uncommon,—it hardly matters what, if only it can announce itself as "unconventional."

Spot for Lady Godiva.

"Talk about vanity!" exclaimed the woman who keeps her eyes open. "I passed a big new building the other day—big enough to be a school or a theater—and what do you suppose it was to be devoted to? Hair—hair! Puffs and braids and swirls and switches and curls and rats and things for women to pin on their heads and make believe belong to them. A building full of hair!"

Eating Oranges on Trains.

If you take the children on the train and wish to feed them oranges, which tend to quench the thirst, prepare the fruit at home and wrap the sections in waxed paper. It is tedious to pare them on the train, and one is liable to soil the clothes in doing so.

To Add Interest.

A little boy was killed on a viaduct in a certain Texas city. A father was trying to describe him to his little son. The child tried to recall the dead child, and, failing, said sorrowfully to his parent, "I wish it had been Patty O'Hagan—I know him."—Delineator.

Life and Strife.

The law of the worthy life is fundamentally the law of strife. It is only through labor and painful effort, by grim energy and resolute courage, that we move on to better things.—Theodore Roosevelt.

Russian Mendacity.

Russian ethnologist concludes that "the highest type of humanity in the new world existed in northwestern America." No consolation in this for New England.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Listen at Him."

"Father's trip abroad did him so much good," said the self-made man's daughter, "He looks better, feels better, and as for appetite—honestly, it would do your heart good to hear him eat!"—Everybody's.

Uplift for Farmer's Daughter.

Writing names and addresses on eggs is a great pastime with country girls and just now is leading to many marriages in rich families.—Buffalo News.

The Diplomat.

"And, oh, mother," said the little girl, "Lucy Jones had such an awful hat on. So Annie gave her an 'int; she said, 'I wouldn't wear a thing like that.'"—Manchester Guardian.

Italian Method of Taxation.

Italy levies a graduated income tax as well as a direct tax on land and houses. Small incomes are exempt from taxation.

The Two Classes.

All the people are divided into two parts—those who wait for the mid-season bargain sales and those who can afford not to.—Life.

A Great Truth.

"Lots of men smoke the cigars their wives give them for Christmas," says the Philosopher of Folly, "and then laugh at the men who wear rubbers."

The Philosopher of Folly.

"The man who throws money to the birds," says the Philosopher of Folly, "has a lot of nerve to pose as a lover of dumb animals."

Gives It Another Aspect.

Enthusiasm often dwindles considerably when we try to convert it into hard cash.

A Way to Success.

You will succeed in life if you resist doing things you know you shouldn't do.—Atchinson Globe.

Love.

Love is the art of hearts and the heart of arts.—From "Festus," by Philip James Bailey.

"You would be surprised if I told you the truth? What I required of Mr. Calhoun was permission and aid still further to study his extraordinary country, its extraordinary ways, its extraordinary ignorance of itself. I have told you that I needed to travel, to study, to observe mankind—and those governments invented or tolerated by mankind."

"Since then, madam," I concluded, stepping to assist her with her chair, as she signified her completion of our repast, "since you do not feel now inclined to be specific, I feel that I ought to make my adieux, for the time at least. It grows late. I shall remember this little evening all my life. I own my defeat. I do not know why you are here, or for whom."

"At what hotel do you stop?"

"The little place of Jacques Bertillon, a square or so beyond the Place d'Armes."

"In that case," said she, "believe me, it would be more discreet for you to remain unseen in Montreal. No matter which flag is mine, I may say that much for a friend and comrade in the service."

"But what else?"

She looked about her. "Be my guest to-night!" she said suddenly. "There is danger—"

"For me?" I laughed. "At my hotel? On the streets?"

"No, for me."

"Where?"

"Here."

"And of what, madam?"

"Of a man; for the first time I am afraid, in spite of all."

I looked at her straight. "Are you not afraid of me?" I asked.

She looked at me fairly, her color coming. "With the fear which draws a woman to a man," she said.

"Whereas, mine is the fear which causes a man to flee from himself!"

"But you will remain for my protection? I should feel safer. Besides, in that case I should know the answer."

"How do you mean?"

"I should know whether or not you were married!"

CHAPTER XV.

With Madam the Baroness.

It is not for good women that men have fought battles, given their lives and staked their souls.—Mrs. W. K. Clifford.

"But, madam—" I began.

She answered me in her own way. "Monsieur hesitates—he is lost!" she said. "But see, I am weary. I have been much engaged to-day. I have made it my plan never to fatigue myself. It is my hour now for my bath, my exercise, my bed, if you please. I fear I must bid you good night, one way or the other. You will be welcome here none the less, if you care to remain. I trust you did not find our little repast to-night unpleasing? Believe me, our breakfast shall be as good. Threlka is expert in omelets, and our coffee is such as perhaps you may not find general in these provinces."

Was there the slightest mocking sneer in her words? Did she despise me as a faint-heart? I could not tell, but did not like the thought.

"Believe me, madam," I answered hotly, "you have courage, at least. Let me match it. Nor do I deny that this asks courage on my part too. If you please, in these circumstances, I shall remain."

"You are armed?" she asked simply.

I inserted a finger in each waistcoat pocket and showed her the butts of two derringers; and at the back of my neck—to her smiling amusement at our heathen fashion—I displayed just the tip of the haft of a short bowie-knife, which went into a leather case under the collar of my coat. And again I drew around the belt which I wore so that she could see the barrel of a good pistol, which had been suspended under cover of the bell skirt of my coat.

She laughed. I saw that she was not unused to weapons. I should have guessed her the daughter of a soldier or acquainted with arms in some way. "Of course," she said, "there might be need of these, although I think not. And in any case, if trouble can be deferred until to-morrow, why concern oneself over it? You interest me. I begin yet more to approve of you."

"Then, as to that breakfast a la fourchette with madam; if I remain, will you agree to tell me what is your business here?"

She laughed at me gaily. "I might," she said, "provided that meantime I had learned whether or not you were married that night."

I do not profess that I read all that was in her face as she stepped back toward the satin curtains and swept me the most graceful courtesy I had ever seen in all my life. I felt like reaching out a hand to restrain her.

Then I recalling my mission: and I remembered what Mr. Calhoun and Dr. Ward had said. I was not a man; I was a government agent. She was not a woman; she was my opponent. Yet, but then—

Slowly I turned to the opposite side of this long central room. There were curtains here also. I drew them, but as I did so I glanced back. Again, as on that earlier night, I saw her face framed in the amber folds—a face laughing, mocking. With an exclamation of discontent, I threw down my heavy pistol on the floor, cast my coat across the foot of the bed to prevent the delicate covering from being soiled by my boots, and so rested without further disrobing.

In the opposite apartment I could hear her moving about, humming to herself some air as unconcernedly as though no such being as myself existed in the world. I heard her presently accost her servant, who entered through some passage not visible from the central apartments. Then without concealment there seemed to go forward the ordinary routine of madam's toilet for the evening.

At last she called out to me: "Monsieur!"

I was at my own curtains at once, but hers remained tight folded, although I heard her voice close behind them. "Eh bien?" I answered.

"It is nothing, except I would say that if monsieur feels especially grave and reverent, he will find a very comfortable prie-dieu at the foot of the bed."

"I thank you," I replied, gravely as I could.

"And there is a very excellent rosary and crucifix on the table just beyond!"

"I thank you," I replied, steadily as I could.

"And there is an English Book of Common Prayer upon the stand not far from the head of the bed, upon this side!"

"A thousand thanks, my very good friend."

I heard a smothered laugh beyond the amber curtains. Presently she spoke again, yawning, as I fancied, rather contentedly.

"A la bonne heure, monsieur!"

"A la bonne heure, madam!"

CHAPTER XVI.

Dejeuner a la Fourchette.

Woman is a creature between man and the angels.—Honore de Balzac.

A government agent, it seems, may also in part be little more than a man, after all. In these singular surroundings I found myself not wholly tranquil. . . . At last toward morning, I must have slept. It was some time after daybreak when I felt a hand upon my shoulder as I lay still partly clad. Awakened suddenly, I arose and almost overthrew old Threlka, who stood regarding me with no expression whatever upon her brown and wrinkled countenance. She did no more than point the way to a door, where presently I found a bath-room, and so refreshed myself and made the best toilet possible under the circumstances.

"Were You Then Married?" She Asked.

My hostess I found awaiting me in the central room of the apartments. She was clad now in a girdled peignoir of rich rose-color, the sleeves, wide and full, falling back from her round arms. Her dark hair was coiled and piled high on her head this morning, regardless of current mode, and confined in a heavy twist by a tall golden comb; so that her white neck was left uncovered.

The little table in the center of the room was already spread. Madam filled my cup from the steaming urn with not the slightest awkwardness, as she nodded for me to be seated. We looked at each other, and, as I may swear, we both broke into saving laughter.

"I was saying," she remarked presently, "that I would not have you think that I do not appreciate the suffering in which you were plunged by the haste you found necessary in the wedding of your jeune fille."

But I was on my guard. "At least, I may thank you for your sympathy, madam!" I replied.

"Yet in time," she went on, gone reflective the next instant, "you will see how very unimportant is all this turmoil of love and marriage. That torch of life!" she mused. "See! It was only that which you were so eager to pass on to another generation! That was why you were so mad to hasten to the side of that woman. Whereas," she mused still, "it were so much grander and so much nobler to pass on the torch of a principle as well!"

"Do not philosophize with me," I said. "I am already distracted by the puzzle you offer to me. You are so young and beautiful, so fair in your judgment, so kind—"

"In turn, I ask you not to follow that," she remarked coldly. "Let us talk of what you call, I think, business."

"My dear lady," I began, "my relation to the affairs of the American republic is a very humble one. I am no minister of state, and I know you deal with ministers direct. How, then, shall I gain your friendship for my country? You are dangerous to have for an enemy. Are you too high-priced to have for a friend—for a friend to our union—a friend of the principle of democracy? Come now, you enjoy large questions. Tell me, what does this council mean regarding Oregon? Is it true that England plans now to concentrate all her traders, all her troops, and force them west up the Saskatchewan and into Oregon this coming season? Come, now, madam, is it to be war?"

Her curved lips broke into a smile that showed again her small white teeth.

"Were you, then, married?" she said.

I only went on, impatient. "Any moment may mean everything to us. I should not ask these questions if I did not know that you were close to Mr. Calhoun."

She looked me square in the eye and nodded her head slowly. "I may say this much, monsieur, that it has pleased me to gain a little further information."

"You will give my government that information?"

"Why should I?"

"Yet you spoke of others who might come here. What others? Who are they? The representatives of Mexico? Some attache of the British embassy at Washington? Some minister from England itself, sent here direct?"

She smiled at me again. "I told you not to go back to your hotel, did I not?"

I got no further with her, it seemed. "You interest me sometimes," she went on slowly, at last, "yet you seem to have so little brain! Now, in your employment, I should think that brain would be somewhat useful at times."

"I do not deny that suggestion, madam."

"But you are unable to analyze. Thus, in the matter of yourself. I suppose if you were told of it, you would only say that you forgot to look in the toe of the slipper you had."

"Thus far, baroness," I said soberly, "I have asked no special privilege, at least. Now, if it affords you any pleasure, I beg you, I implore you, to tell me what you mean!"

"Did you credit the attache of Mexico with being nothing more than a drunken rowdy, to follow me across town with a little shoe in his carriage?"

"But you said he was in wine."

"True. But would that be a reason? Continually you show your lack of brain in accepting as conclusive results which could not possibly have occurred. Granted he was in wine, granted he followed me, granted he had my shoe in his possession—what then? Does it follow that at the ball at the White House he could have removed that shoe? Does monsieur think that I, too, was in wine?"

"I agree that I have no brain! I cannot guess what you mean. I can only beg once more that you explain."

"Now listen. In your most youthful and charming innocence I presume you do not know much of the capabilities for concealment offered by a lady's apparel! Now, suppose I had a message—where do you think I could hide it; granted, of course, the conditions obtaining at a ball in the White House?"

"Then you did have a message? It came to you there, at that time?"

She nodded. "Certainly, Mr. Van Zandt had almost no other opportunity to meet me or get word to me."

"Van Zandt! Madam, are you indeed in the camp of all these different interests? So, what Pakenham said was true! Van Zandt is the attache of Texas. Van Zandt is pleading with Mr. Calhoun that he shall take up the secretaryship. Van Zandt promises us the friendship of Texas if we will stand out for the annexation of Texas. Van Zandt promises us every effort in his power against England. Van Zandt promises us the sternest of fronts against treacherous Mexico. Van Zandt is known to be interested in this fair Dona Lucrezia, just as Polk is. Now, then, comes Van Zandt with his secret message slipped into the hand of madam at the ambassador's ball—madam, the friend of England! The attache of Mexico is curious—furious—to know what Texas is saying to England! And that message must be concealed! And madam conceals it in—"

She smiled at me brilliantly. "You come on," she said. "Should your head be opened and analyzed, yes, I think a trace of brain might be discovered by good chemistry."

I resumed impatiently. "You put his message in your slipper?"

She nodded. "Yes," she said, "in the toe of it. There was barely chance to do that. You see, our skirts are full and wide; there are curtains in the east room; there was wine by this time; there was music; so I effected that much. But when you took the slipper, you took Van Zandt's note! You had it. It was true, what I told Pakenham before the president—I did not then have that note! You had it. At least, I thought you had it, till I found it crumpled on the table the next day! It must have fallen there from the shoe when we made our little exchange that night. Ah, you hurried me. I scarce knew whether I was clad or shod, until the next afternoon—after I left you at the White House grounds. So you hastily departed—to your wedding?"

Automobile Buyers Are of Two Kinds

Those who want the best car for the least money.

Those who want the best car regardless of price.

THE CHALMERS CAR is the one car that appeals to both classes of buyers. That accounts for its wonderful popularity.

It is easy to show the man who wants a "cheap" car how much more value he can get in the CHALMERS by paying a little more.

It is easy to prove to the man who wants automobile satisfaction regardless of price that CHALMERS cars compare favorably at every point with the highest priced cars.

SOUTH PLAINFIELDS HUMBLES PURITANS

South Plainfield forged another link in its winning chain yesterday by defeating the Puritans, of Perth Amboy, by the score of 9 to 3. Franklin's pitching arm was never in better shape. In the game he allowed the Amboy aggregation just one solitary bingle and fanned seventeen batters. Quinlan the Amboy twirler was touched freely by the 'Southerners.'

South Plainfield started operations in the first round. With two down, Franklin walked, and scored on Captain Mullen's double. The Southerners scored one run in each inning thereafter excepting the fifth and sixth sessions.

In the eighth inning Billy Mullen electrified the spectators by making a fancy stop. Next Sunday South Plainfield will tackle the Franklins of Perth Amboy. The score:

N.P.H.S. AND MONTCLAIR IN A DRAWN BATTLE

N. P. H. S. played its fastest game of the season on Hyde Field Saturday afternoon when it played Montclair High to a 0 to 0 score in six innings. The game was cut short by the downpour of rain. C. Smith, was in great form, the borough twirler holding the Monclairites to two hits, and Raymond the first sacker of the visitors goth both of the bingles. Meyer, the visiting twirler, was also in fine fettle, and the locals were limited to three hits.

The catching of Stine was the stellar feature of the game. Stine's throwing wing operated in fine style and during the game six ambitious base stealers from Montclair perished at the middle station. The score:

Arthur Devlin's hot pace, which was good enough to lead the National batsmen in the first ten days of the race, has faded away to a .229 gait.

SATURDAY COMPETITIONS AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

The summer-like weather on Saturday attracted a large field of golfers to the Plainfield Country Club. It was the first real warm weather of the season and the players took advantage of it, but when the terrific thunder storm appeared during the middle of the afternoon it drove the members to shelter in quick order. There were a few that braved the storm and completed the round of the course.

In the morning the weekly competition, boys' handicap, was continued. The winners had fat handicaps and there will be a generous slicing before another week rolls around. The leading scores:

J. P. Stevens, Jr., 139, 60-69; S. D. Wood, Jr., 156, 80-76; E. A. Walbridge, 103, 0-103; L. S. Church, 104, 0-104.

In the weekly competition for the Spring Handicap cups, Classes A and B, R. G. Morse, Leighton Calkins and W. Lester Glenney were the point-winners in Class A, and George S. Clay, T. W. T. Maxwell and E. A. Cruikshank those in Class B. All the scores were quite low as follows:

Class A—R. G. Morse, 88, 13-75; Leighton Calkins, 85, 8-77; W. Lester Glenney, 82, 4-78; Julius E. Erickson, 94, 15-79; E. P. Goodwin, 94, 15-79; W. T. Glenney, 86, 6-80; Arthur Murphy, 90, 8-82.

Class B—George S. Clay, 100, 25-75; T. W. T. Maxwell, 101, 25-76; E. A. Cruikshank, 101, 20-81; S. D. Wood, 104, 22-82; L. H. Gates, 109, 27-82; A. E. Barclay, 105, 21-84.

LOW SCORES ARE RETURNED AT THE PARK GOLF CLUB.

The weekly competition for the President's and golf club cups was continued at the Park Golf Club, Saturday afternoon. The links were crowded with players and the sport was thoroughly enjoyed. The honors were divided among S. St. John McCutchen, C. B. Morse, and W. R. Faber. The leading scores:

S. St. John McCutchen, 92, 20-72; C. B. Morse, 98, 19-79; W. R Faber, 101, 22-79; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 96, 1680; W. V. Byard, 106, 25-81; R. B. Titsworth, 104, 19-85; A. M. Morrell, 112, 26-86.

BASEBALL.

The Class A nine of the Irving School, was defeated by the Junior League team of Monroe Avenue church, on Saturday morning by the score of 15 to 13. The feature of the game was the batting of E. August, H. Rockfellow and E. Dorflinger for the Juniors, and W. Carl, D. Hyland and W. Ross for the Irving School nine.

Bound Brok shut the National Turners out by the score of 7 to 0 on Saturday. Bruggy caught his first game for Bound Brook. In the eighth inning he slammed out a home run off Mills, the Newark twirler.

A "scrub" nine from Scotch Plains and the St. Mary's nine, of Stony Hill, played a 2 to 2 tie contest on Saturday afternoon. Rain stopped the game in the fourth inning.

The Stone street A. C. defeated the Antler A. C. by the score of 37 to 8 on Saturday. The Stone street agrgegation was composed of Higgins, Vroom, Calder, Daly, Conshay, L. Johns, E. Calder and Smith.

In the National Brooklyn has used the fewest men, 22, and Boston the most, 26. New York has used 25, Pittsburg, Philadelphia and Cincinnati, 24, and St. Louis and Chicago, 23.

Wagner is the only one of the big hit-smiths who is not crowding to the front. Lajoie, Cobb, Speaker, Lord, Crawford, Miller, Mitchell, Chase, Seymour, Chance, Doyle, Magee and the other lesser lights are well to the fore. Eddie Collins of the Athletics has been in a slump, but is coming up.

Hans Lobert seems to have regained his batting eye. For the last ten days he has been among the steadiest hitters in the big leagues.

The Fairview Cycle Club's crack nine defeated the Highland A. C. on Saturday by the score of 8 to 1.

Struck by Auto.

Edward Crone, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Crone, of College place, while riding a bicycle, collided with Dr. N. S. Wilcox's automobile at Park avenue and West Second street, early this afternoon. The lad was bowled over and had a short ride on the machine, while the front wheel of his bicycle was wrecked. The boy escaped with a few slight cuts on the leg. According to the boy's admission he was at fault. He was riding on the left side of the avenue going toward Front street.

Miss Elsie Whittaker, of Whitewood avenue, the borough, has gone to Bayonne, where she will reside with her mother.

PRIEST FOR 25 YEARS

Celebration of Rev. B. M. Bogan's Ordination Anniversary on Monday.

A MASS OF THANKSGIVING.

St. Mary's School Graduates and Pupils to Present a Drama in His Honor—Sketch of Much Beloved Priest.

Rev. Bernard M. Bogan, the beloved pastor of St. Mary's church, on Monday will obeserve the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood and his parishioners, as well as a host of friends from distant parishes are preparing to join him on the happy occasion. On Monday, the anniversary day, a solemn mass of thanksgiving will be celebrated at the church. Father Bogan will be the celebrant, assisted by Rev. John B. Burke, of New York, as deacon; Rev. M. J. White, of Newark, as sub-deacon, and Rev James T. Delehanty as master of ceremonies.

Rev. B. M. Bogan.

The clerical friends of Father Bogan will assemble about the sanctuary. The sermon on this occasion will be preached by a former schoolmate of Father Bogan, the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Charles J. Kelly, rector of St. Mary's church, Hoboken.

On Tuesday night, an entertainment will be given at the Plainfield theatre by the recent graduates and the pupils of St. Mary's Parochial School. The feature will be a drama entitled "Rowena's Triumph" with dramatic pictures of the early days of the Roman Empire. Drills, tableaux and choruses have been rehearsed with much care by the children, who are delighted to take part in this tribute to Father Bogan. They are jealously guarding some secrets of the entertainment to be divulged only on that happy occasion.

The young players have recently had the valued direction of Walter Sherwin, who has just returned from a trans-continental trip with the Ben Hur Theatrical Company. This will be the dramatis personae:

Rowena, niece of Emeror Valerian, Miss Elizabeth Brown; Emperor Valerian, Francis P. Cullen; Emilius, Rowena's child, Master Rufus LaRue; Bertole, William Sullivan; Evaristus, Garret Keating; Corvinius, Francis Donnelly; Claudian, Cornelius Regan; Corella, Mary Donnelly; Maida, Mary Murray; Cornelia, Elizabeth Connelly; Claudia, Regina Brady; Erita, Bessie Parent; Lucia, Madeline Seaman; Agatha, Nora McCarthy; Agnes, Elizabeth Mara; Alba, Mary Traynor. Guards, soldiers, populace, by the pupils.

Father Bogan was born in Newark over fifty years ago. He attended the Cathedral School and St. Benedict's College in Newark. He began his studies of the Classics in St. Charles College, Maryland, where he remained four years. In 1879 he entered the junior class of Seton Hall College, receiving the degree of Bachelor of arts at the end of that year. In the following year he was graduated from the college, taking the degree of master of arts being valedictorian of the class on the day of graduation, and the following September he returned to Seton Hall and entered the seminary to study for the priesthood.

Father Bogan finished his theological course in 1885 and was ordained a priest on May 30 of that year, by the Rt. Rev. Winand M. Wigger, then Bishop of Newark. His first year of the priesthood was spent as an assistant in the Church of St. Paul of the Cross and the church of St. Bridget, Jersey City. From 1886 to 1895 he was assistant at the church of the Holy Cross, Harrison, whence he received his appointment as rector of St. Mary's church, Rahway, where he remained until appointed by the present Rt. Rev. John

SOCIAL DEMOCRACY A PASTOR'S SUBJECT

"The Church as the Focal Point of Our Social Democracy," was the subject of an interesting discourse by Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring at the First Presbyterian church Sunday night. In part Dr. Herring said:

"Professor Giddings, of Columbia University, said at the Alumni dinner of the Union Theological Seminary last week, that he believes that we are going to have in this country a social democracy not a democracy where men will be asserting their individual rights, but a democracy where men shall strive to understand and sympathize with each other, and do team work.

"He further said that though he respects the trade union, he does not believe that it will be the focal point of this coming democracy, neither does he believe that the corporation will be the centre. He does believe, however, that the church will be the focal point, for the reason that the church respects all conditions of men. He stated as his belief, too, that in the future, we shall have a social struggle for existence instead of an individual struggle.

"Professor Giddings gives voice to these sentiments because of his wide and profound study of the whole social question. A busines man who is close to his own business methods may think that there is no other way of doing business and that there can be no economic change for everybody carries on business in the same way. But it certainly is not right that large numbers of people in this country should be in want and poverty at the very time when wealth is accumulating as never before. I sincerely hope that the prophetic vision of Dr. Giddings will be realized and that in the futre we shall have a democracy where men in business relations will strive is never before to understand and sympathize with each other and do team work."

HOMEOPATHISTS WILL OBSERVE SEMI-CENNTENIAL

A half-century of homeopathic medical teaching in New York city will be celebrated in that city next week, at the semi-centennial exercises of the New York Homeopathic Medical College. Plainfield will be represented at the exercises for six of its physicians are graduates of the college, and all have received invitations to attend. They are Dr. Daniel C. Adams, Dr. Thomas D. Blair, Dr. Roger L. Cooley, Dr. Jefferson C. Anderson, Dr. E. L. Finch and Dr. Frank W. Cornwell.

Commencement exercises will be held Tuesday evening, May 31. On Wednesday, June 1, there will be clinics for the benefit of visiting physicians at Flower Hospital, which is owned and controlled by the college. Luncheon will be served at the college for the alumni, who will be greeted by the dean, Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

This will be followed by the annual business meeting of the Alumni Association, of which Dr. George Royal, of Des Moines, Ia., is president. Reunions of nearly all of the fifty classes will be held in various parts of the city, and in the evening there will be a vaudeville entertainment and smoker for all the alumni.

A public meeting to fittingly celebrate the semi-centennial, will be held Thursday afternoon, June 2, at Mendelssohn Hall. Melbert B. Cary, president of the trustees, will preside and there will be prominent speakers. In the evening there will be a banquet at Hotel Astor.

WOMEN'S EXCHANGE REPORTS SHOW CONTINUAL PROGRESS.

Carrie M. Dunham, superintendent, and Mrs. Annie F. Hyatt, treasurer of the executive board of the Plainfield Exchange for Woman's Work, have presented their annual reports for the past year. The report of the superintendent shows among other things that the total amount received from sales was $8,179.05, and $51 from consignors' Tickets. The consignors received $6,881.15. The total reecipts were $8,686.02.

There was paid to consignors, $6,881.15, and the treasurer received $1,298, representing 15 per cent. commission on sales. The total expenditures were $8,240.15, with a balance of $445.87.

The treasurer reports total receipts of $2,298.86, and expenditures of $2,209.35, leaving a balance of $89.51. These reports have been audited and found correct by David K. Sutphen, auditor.

Mr. and Mrs. Neils Johnson, of East Fifth street, are parents of a girl born to them last Thursday.

ENGINEER READY FOR WATER INVESTIGATION

James S. Fuertes, the expert engineer engaged by the city to take charge of the water investigation here, will meet the members of the Common Council tonight preparatory to beginning his work. The meeting will be held in the office of Mayor C. J. Fisk and at that time Mr. Fuertes will learn what already has been accomplished here and all the data in hand will be turned over to the engineer for his work.

It is expected that the work of Mr. Fuertes will require between three or four months, and when this report is made to the Common Council it is believed that the city will be in a position to take definite action as to the acquisition of a sufficent water supply for Plainfield, either through condemnation proceedings of the present water plant or through the building of a new plant.

KIRMESS PAGEANT FOR THE HOSPITAL

The Kirmess pageant, which will be held this week on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, with a matinee on Saturday afternoon is expected to eclipse anything of the kind ever held here. The participants in the various dances which will be spectacular affairs have been under the tutelage of the Misses Florence for the past week or two and are proficient in their various evolutions. In fact the spectacle is one which will excite the admiration of everyone who attends the affair.

Additional attractions are being arranged for by the committee having the pageant in charge, not the least of which will be the booths. Nothing more attractive than these booths can be conceived. The flower and refreshment booths particularly will be features. The former will be in charge of Mrs. J. K. Myers and several assistants and a large variety of fillowers especially suitable for gift purposes will be offered for sale.

It is expected that Playground Director, Lincoln E. Rowley, and a party of city officials of East Orange will occupy boxes on the opening night of the performance, Thursday, as guests of the local committee. nished by Rosenberg's orchestra from New York This orchestra will be remembered as the one furnishing the music for the last Kirmess given for the benefit of Muhlenberg hospital. Photographs of the various dances will be sold during the three days of the carnival.

Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church, of which Mrs. Abbott was a member, assisted by Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, was in charge of the services.

William Holmes sang "Abide With Me," and "Saved by Grace," following the prayer and remarks of the ministers. There were a great many beautiful floral tributes, completely hiding the casket. They included cut flowers, wreaths and set pieces. The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the pall-bearers, relatives of the family, were Richard Randolph, Edward S. F. Randolph, Clifford D. Manning, Edward Abbott, John Abbott and L. W. Randolph.

The party to the number of about one hundred will leave here on the 7:30 o'clock special trolley engaged for the trip, returning, leaving Bound Brook about 11:30 o'clock. N. O. Moore, who for the past four years has been manager of The Recorder Press, the publishing house of the Seventh-Day Baptist church in this city, has tendered his resignation to take effect on September 1 next. He succeeded the late John Hiscock in the position he now holds.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Danish Lutheran church will hold a fair in the W. C. T. U. rooms, tomorrow afternoon and evening.

FOWLER LETTER COMMENT

Politicians as a Rule Non-Committal on Congressman's Card.

AWAIT THE DEVELOPMENTS.

The Literary Broadside Against Kean, Voorhees and Smith Causes a Wide-open Breach.

The letter of Congressman Charles N. Fowler on "Two Bosses," as exclusively appeared in The Daily Press yesterday afternoon, has caused many of the "small fry" politicians to take to the storm-cellar and has acted as a bugle call for the leaders to prepare for a campaign in the field where no quarter will be shown. The consensus of opinion among the wiseacres is that interesting developments may be expected within the course of a fortnight but just what they will be is as much a mystery as is the whereabouts of one Mr. Halley's comet.

Opinion, privately expressed, is much divided as to the wisdom of issuing such a declaration of war against the regular Republican organization. The letter is way far the most caustic document that Mr. Fowler has ever stood sponser for. Organization men say that it is the signal for a mud-slinging campaign, the Congressman having practically announced that such will be the plan of action of his campaigners. The Fowler stalwarts, however, claim that as a political contribution it is a masterpiece and they freely predict the downfall of United States Senator John Kean.

Republican County Chairman Smith, when seen today, was no more committal than he was yesterday. "I have nothing to say, nothing at least at this time," was all that could be gotten from him.

City Clerk James T. MacMurray, Mr. Fowler's field marshal in Union county, smiled broadly as he said, "Just watch! I don't see why I should or could say anything; Mr. Fowler has said all that he has to at this time. Just watch!

Howard C. Tracy, chairman of the New Idea Central Committee, when asked for his views, said that he had read "only a garbled account in The Daily Press" and was not prepared to say anything until he had read the document through. He's a friend of Fowler.

Mayor Charles J. Fisk, to whom Mr. Fowler addressed his letter announcing his candidacy for a renomination, declined to make any statement today. "I haven't gone into the matter," was all that could be obtained from him.

George W. V. Moy, one of the brainy men in the New Idea movement, also stated that he had not found time to peruse the letter thoroughly and therefore did not desire to speak on the subject.

State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, who gets a demerit mark in the Fowler role call, had nothing to add to his statement made exclusively in this paper yesterday.

Factory Inspector Andrew McCardell, an organization leader and a firm friend of John Kean and Frank H. Smith, could not be found today. As "Andy" seldom does any talking, it is considered that he will have nothing to say when asked for his opinion.

Former City Chairman Winfield S. Angleman declined to express any opinion on the letter.

It is generally believed that the campaign here will be started earlier than usual and that Field Marshal MacMurray will have as his aide Charles N. Codding, of Westfield, chancery clerk, in conducting the Fowler campaign in Union county. A vigorous fight will be made to capture the delegates. As the outcome largely depends upon Union, the fight here will be the central scene of the battle.

Will Present Three Sketches.

Amateur theatricals will be given at The Seminary on Wednesday morning, June 8, at 10 o'clock and Thursday evening, June 9, at 8:15, when the young women will present three sketches: "The Land of Heart's Desire," "The Violin Maker of Cremona," and "The Orange Girl." Rehearsals have been in progress for sometime and a finished performance is anticipated.

Plainfield Women to Graduate.

Miss Edna D. Doughty, Miss Edith Ganun, Miss Rose M. Nash, Miss Rose E. Rothberg, of this city, are among the 182 young women who will be graduated from the State Normal School at Trenton on June 16. The address on that occasion will be delivered by Dr. Charles S. Chapin, principal of the new State Normal School at Montclair.

DECISION RESERVED IN DUNELLEN CASE

Judge Whittemore reserved decision for one week in the case of the Dunellen Concrete Block Company against De Costo and Simmonds. The suit, in reality, was for $799, but $500 was deposited in the hands of Dungan and Reger, in order to permit the case being tried in the District court. The suit, therefore, was really for $179.

In the testimony, which involved the building of Mt. Carmel Hall, Bound Brook, the defendants admitted that they had a contract with the Dunellen concern, but they claimed that the price was 14½c per block instead of 14½c per square foot.

Francis J. Blatz represented the plaintiff's and A. M. Beekman the defendants. The testimony of two more witnesses will be taken this week by William Vosseler, Master in Chancery.

TEETH OF THE PUPILS AS A RULE ARE POOR

Only thirty-five pupils in the North Plainfield High School have good teeth, according to report presented by Dr. Frank W. French, dental examiner, at the meeting of the North Plainfield Board of Education last night.

Out of a total of 805 pupils examined, 186 don't own brushes, said Dr. French. Of the total number of pupils examined, he said, 181 were sufferers from toothache, and in the same number of pupils 3,740 cavities were discovered. Three hundred pupils, he declared, used tooth brushes.

Preceding the session the school commissioners were entertained at dinner by the cooking class, the guest of honor being Charles W. McCutchen, the founder of the manual training department.

In the routine business transacted, $150 was appropriated for commencement; $20 for senior class day and $20 for the alumni dinner.

TOM MUIR DEBUT MARKED BY PRESENTATION OF CANE

Tommy Muir made his first appearance yesterday afternoon at Proctor's, and it goes without saying that the "hand" he received from the audience was the biggest ever thrown over toward the footlights in this popular play-house in many moons. At the evening performance the theatre was hardly capable of holding the crowds who wanted to hear Tommy sing and declaim so that the Elks, who attended the performance in a body, were compelled to take places on the stage.

Thomas M. Muir.

When the blind ex-newspaper man did get before the footlights he had to wait for at least two minutes for the applause to subside before he could begin the "monologue with interruptions" which has recently made him famous.

Past Exalted Ruler George O. Stevens on behalf of the Elks presented Tommy with a solid ebony cane. The Silver head on the stick bore a suitable inscripiion and in the interval following the presentation nothing but applause could be heard. It is a fact that the monologue is one of the best ever presented on Proctor's stage and the chances are that the house will be crowded during the balance of the week to hear the surprising things which Tommy says every time he opens up on the audience.

HEROLD'S BODY FOUND IN JERSEY CITY MORGUE

The body of a man found on top of a freight car in the Jersey City yards of the Lehigh Valley Railroad on Saturday, May 14, was identified last night as that of Joseph P. Herold, aged 41 years, a brother-in-law of Henry Windham, proprietor of the Hotel Waldorf. The remains had been detained at a Jersey City morgue awaiting identification. Yesterday a card bearing the address of a relative residing on 51st street, New York, was found in the man's clothes.

Railroad detectives went to the address, explained the details of the case and through this relative the dead man's family in Brooklyn was notified and they identified the body last night. Mr. Windham went to Jersey City this morning and also identified his brother-in-law.

Just how Harold met his death is not known, but it is the opinion of the railroad company that he was riding on top of a freight car and was struck by an overhead bridge. Mr. Herold was a railroad man and had been employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad. The Lehigh Valley officials declared that no person of that name was in the employ of the company.

The remains were brought to Plainfield this morning and the funeral will be held tomorrow morning from the residence of Mr. Windham, 140 East Front street, at 8:30 and at 9 o'clock from St. Mary's church, where a requiem mass will be offered for the repose of the soul. The burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE LEAGUE HAS INTERESTING MEETING.

The Equal Suffrage League, of Plainfield and North Plainfield, held their last regular meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Maxwell, West Seventh street, but it is decided that a social meeting will be held in the home of the president early in June, whose sole business will be the making of a banner for the local league to be used on the occasions of State.

Three new committees were appointed at yesterday's meeting as follows: Enrollment, program and press. Besides this the work for the coming year was discussed. Mrs. Dorr, of Minnessota, gave an encouraging address on the subject of suffrage in the West. At the close of Mrs. Door's address refreshments were served.

ENGLISH WOMAN WITNESS

Probable Case of Jealousy in Murder of Patrick Cahill on May 11.

MEMBER OF WEALTHY FAMILY.

Inherited Large Sum of Money, but Became Careless After Coin Was Gone—Taken to New Brunswick.

Elizabeth Vardon, an English woman of good family, was arrested yesterday by County Detective Peletier, on suspicion that she had knowledge of the crime of Luigi Cerefici who has confessed that he murdered Patrick Cahill on the night of May 11. Her arrest has revealed the fact that the murder was prompted by jealousy.

Cerefici killed Cahill in a hut on a lonely road between Samptown and New Market. He confessed the crime last Wednesday night when he was arrested by Newark policemen who knew nothing of the murder but thought he was implicated in a black hand conspiracy. He told the police that Cahill's body lay back of his pigpen, under cornstalks, and they found it there. He had killed the man because Cahill had broken into his home. The body showed that Cahill had been shot through the head and hacked with an axe until his face was almost beyond recognition.

Cahill lived in a hut near Cerefici's on the Samptown road. Detective Peletier says Elizabeth Vardon has confessed that she was intimate with both men and Cahill had bidden her to go to Cerefici's cabin. She admitted having been in Cahill's cabin on Tuesday night, May 10, but says she was not there on the night of the murder nor with Cerefici but she was unable to tell where she spent the night. It is known that she was seen going to Cerefici's hut in the afternoon of May 11. It is the police theory that Cahill was looking for her there when murdered. The woman has admitted that she spent several days with Cerefici in Cahill's cabin since the murder. She said she asked Cerefici where Cahill was and he said he did not know.

The woman is a member of a wealthy English family and is well educated. About six years ago she inherited a considerable amount of money, took to drinking and has led a dissolute life for three years. She refused to tell the police who her relatives are or where they can be found. She was taken to the county jail at New Brunswick last night.

MAYOR FISK DISCUSSES LOCAL OPTION AT RIDGEWOOD.

Mayor Charles J. Fisk was among the speakers at the banquet of the Men's Club of the Reformed church, Ridgewood, held Saturday night. During the course of his remarks he paid a glowing tribute to Judge Demarest in whose hands the granting of licenses rests, speaking of his high character and good judgment.

Mr. Fisk concluded, after all, that the best way to control the liquor situation was to have the licensing power vested in the governing body of each municipality, which could best regulate such affairs to meet local conditions and which could at the same time be held strictly responsible to the citizen-voters whom they represented in office.

PRISONERS AND PLEAS.

Elizabeth, May 24.—The following prisoners pleaded yesterday in the Union County Court of Common Pleas before Judge Atwater to indictments found against them:

Hearing Postponed.

Youth—"But I'm twenty-one.

Dealer—"Perhaps. You'll have to bring your mother here to prove it."

ELIZABETH-TRENTON TROLLEY CO. COMPLETES MERGER.

Trenton, May 24.—The Elizabeth and Trenton Railroad Company, which was recently chartered as the successor of the Trenton and New Brunswick Railroad Company, filed a certificate with the Secretary of State yesterday showing that it has acquired the property and franchises of the New Jersey Short Line Railroad Company. The new company also filed a map giving the official description of its through line from this city to the Kill von Kull in Elizabeth, a distance of a fraction over forty-one miles.

The papers were signed by H. Hayes Aikens, president, and Chester A. Entrekin, secretary. The property of the New Jersey Short Line Railroad Company was sold at receiver's sale May 5 with the Trenton and New Brunswick Railroad, to Irvin Shupp, Jr., and Charles Clanicksen, and the reorganization and the incorporation of the Elizabeth and Trenton Railroad Company followed. The filing of the papers yesterday merges the two companies into one.

A Business Conference.

"The junior partner wants to see you right away," announced the bookkeeper. "I guess it's the bounce for yours."

"Nix," responded the office boy. "He only wants to find out what new players have been signed."

PLAIN PIANO TALK

THE PIANO is no longer a luxury—it's a necessity in every home.

THE HALLET & DAVIS PIANO has been the home piano of four generations. Over 65,000 in use. Endorsed by all users and such immortal masters as Franz Lizst, Johann Strauss, as well as the world's greatest prima donna, Mary Garden.

THE HALLET & DAVIS PIANO has over 140 Gold Medals from exhibitions starting even before the Civil War; then the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition; The World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago and so on down to a Gold Medal recently received from the Alaska-Yukon Exposition at Seattle.

THE HALLET & DAVIS PIANO is an established product—its quality and its standing are known beyond question.

Why Then The Hallet & Davis For You?

BECAUSE it is the only renowned piano of the world that can be sold at a price within the reach of all.

Why Such a Reasonable Price?

BY REASON of the vast manufacturing facilities every part being manufactured on the most efficient basis.

BY REASON of the large financial backing of the Company which discounts every bill and pays cash for every purchase.

BY REASON of the vast selling organization selling direct from the factory to your home, with factory distributors all over the country.

BY REASON of the easy payment, one price to all plan—making buying easy—sales large, profits relatively small but satisfactory in the aggregate.

THE PRICE IS EXACTLY RIGHT

THAT'S WHY THE HALLET & DAVIS PIANO IS THE BEST PIANO AT THE LEAST PRICE SOLD ON THE EASIEST TERMS.

GOLF.

The destiny of the Women's Eastern Golf Association will remain under the control of the same officials as before, according to the findings of the nominating committee, consiting of Mrs. M. D. Paterson, chairman; Miss M. C. Maule and Miss Margaret Curtis. When the organization was formed some five years ago Mrs. E. F. Sanford, of this city, was chosen president, an office she has held ever since. Her name appears again at the head of the list, the ticket reading as follows:

President, Mrs. E. F. Sanford; vice-president, Miss Maud K. Watmore; secretary, Miss L. A. Wells; treasurer, Miss Florence McNeely. The above officers and Mrs. Caleb F. Fox, Mrs. R. H. Barlow, Mrs. William H. Hillies, Mrs. E. C. Wheeler, Jr., Miss Frances C. Griscom, Miss G. M. Bishop and Miss H. S. Curtis constitute the board of governors.

According to the programme issued by the Apawamis Club, its invitation tournament on June 23, 24 and 25 will begin with a thirty-six-hole medal play testing round. The golfers will qualify in three sixteens and there will be a beaten eight division in the first set. All match rounds will consist of eighteen holes, save the final, which will extend over the double route. Club events extend from May 30 to August 27. Team matches will be arranged from time to time and notices pertaining thereto posted on the bulletin board. In the event of such matches being played on the links at Apawamis they shall have the right of way on the course.

John McCue, assessor at Williamstown is in a serious condition with blood poison.

Vincent Ziegler, of Ridgeway street, Gloucester, was struck in the eye by a baseball and severely hurt during a game Saturday.

Returning to his home in an ugly mood, Charles Lee, of 313 Cherry street, Camden, is alleged to have cut his wife's thumb, and he was committed to jail Sunday by Justice of the Peace Wright.

Some sort of public reception will be held for Miss Mary Oakes, the lone graduate of the Gloucester High School, as the Board of Education has finally decided that it is too late to ararnge for formal commencement exercises.

Struck with a hatchet early Sunday morning, Wolandie Stammack, thirty-six years old, of 1146 Sycamore street, Camden, had his chin so badly cut that it required fourteen stitches to close the wound at Cooper Hospital. Antone Legamonski was arrested as the alleged assailant.

The people of Trenton have contributed $9,228 to the public playground movement for the benefit of the poor children, and more than $1,000 for a sane Fourth of July celebration. Both projects are in full blast, the collectors for both funds being busy all over the city. It is expected that the playground fund will reach $10,000, and the "sane" Fourth fund $3,500 in a few days.

H. E. Amuck, of 158 Pavonia avenue, and John Lawlor, of 276 South street, both of Jersey City, were injured by pieces of rock falling upon them while at work in the Erie Railway cut, that city, Sunday afternoon. They were taken to St. Francis' Hospital.

The refusal of the Gloucester County Board of Freeholders to pay a bill of $440 of the Law and Order Society for the collection of evidence against the liquor dealers and alleged speak-easy proprietors has caused Rev. Mr. Hann, of the society, to proceed to collect it through mandamus efforts. A number of those arrested have pleaded guilty, and the fines to be imposed will probably exceed the amount of the bills.

Thirty-one members of the Seen and Heard Club at Mt. Royal, near Woodbury, were arrested at the club house Sunday afternoon and brought to jail charged with disorderly conduct. Prosecutor Rogers, with a dozen constables, headed by Sheriff Wilson, made the raid. Five kegs of beer and fittings of the clubhouse were brought up. Squire Watkin fined each man $5.75.

Samuel McGowan, 68 years of age, is in St. Francis' Hospital, Trenton, suffering from a deep cut in his head and bruises and strains all over his body. As watchman at a Trenton industrial plant, McGowan, in the darkness, fell twenty feet from a fire escape. Remaining on duty until daylight he managed to crawl to his home, where his wife administered home remedies until the arrival of a physician, who sent him to the hospital.

The Junior Band of the First Baptist church will hold an interesting meeting Friday afternoon.

The Brotherhood of the First M. E. church will hold a meeting in Vincent chapel, Friday night. A full attendance is desired.

Rev. Dr. Henry M. Sanders, the well known Baptist clergyman, preached two eloquent sermons at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Sunday.

The regular business meeting of the First Baptist church will be held tomorrow night, the date of closing the statistics for the year for the East New Jersey Association minutes.

MR. FOWLER'S LETTER.

It is hardly conceivable that a man who is known as and calls himself a gentleman should stoop to the depths that Charles N. Fowler has to besmirch the characters of those he accuses of plotting his political death. There is no justification or excuse for one in political life to throw mud at his opponents to advance his own interests. A dignified presentation of facts and a sober argument is just as essential in political campaigning as it is in a court room. The man who resorts to blatherskite, villifying methods not only loses the goal he is aiming at but lowers himself in the estimation of all decent citizens.

Anyone at all familiar with political history in Union county is quite well aware that Mr. Fowler's animus is due to a personal quarrel with Senator John Kean. Therefore, the shameful abuse heaped upon the latter as a public servant is not only totally unwarranted, but is a cheap exhibition of gallery-playing methods resorted to by the demagogue and the political charlatan.

Mr. Fowler's whine becomes ludicrous when given a moment's thought. In his ravings, he ridicules Mr. Kean's ability and challenges him to show that any utterance or writing of his in the United States Senate is commendable. Almost any school boy today knows that the real work of Congress is done in the committee; it is done quietly and without any display of oratorical fireworks. It is done in just the same way as a gigantic business concern transacts its business. It is not the man who makes a noise, who proclaims for the sake of notoriety that the country is going to the bow-wows unless it accept his particular panacea for all political ills, that is valuable in either the Senate or the House.

Here are some of the blatherskite statements to be found in Mr. Fowler's extraordinary document:

"Ever since I entered public life, from my very first nomination down to this present despicable plot—the chief ambition of Senator Kean seem to have been to defeat me. For what reason I do not know, unless it be envy, jealousy, hate, malice or some other unspeakable impulse that is unworthy of any true man.

Another:

"Almost simultaneously, Frank H. Smith, the Kean echoing parrot "bosslet" of Union county, who is always here or there—wherever the wind bloweth, or the long green is ready for distribution—privately stated and publicly announced that there would be no opposition to me.

Another:

"Of all the subservient, truculent, literal "me-too's" and perfect cuckoos, of all the political poodle dogs that Senator Aldrich prized most highly, undoubtedly Senator Kean wears the blue ribbon.

Another:

"If Senator Kean should lock up his political check book until after the election in November, lock it up even now, and his brother, Hamilton F. Kean, should lock up his political check book too, even now, and Senator Kean should content himself with going about the State and trying to tell the people why he should be returned to the Senate, is there one single person in the whole State who honestly believes that Senator Kean would be re-elected?

Another:

"John Kean and Daniel S. Voorhees are place-mongers, pure and simple. They are office brokers. They are political merchants. But these two self-constituted proprietors of the voters of Union and Morris counties call themselves leaders.

Another:

"I charge him (Kean) with having considered and treated the great office of United States Senator as private property, to be used and prostituted to his own personal political advantage, instead of a sacred political trust to be executed for the benefit of the whole people and the advantage of the Republican party organization, unless he claims that he is himself the Republican party.

When Mr. Fowler saw that Speaker Cannon was not going to re-appoint him to a much coveted chairmanship in the House, he began a campaign of abuse against "Uncle Joe," making startling assertions which if true it was his duty to make public years before his 'turn down."

When Mr. Fowler saw that his close political ally, State Treasurer Daniel S. Voorhees, would no longer lend his efforts in his behalf and that the Union county chairman would not give him any comfort, he renews his campaign of abuse, making John Kean, "Uncle Dan" Voorhees and Frank H. Smith the objects of his attack.

A SCALEY STORY.

A Major loved a maiden so,
His warlike heart was soft as Do
He would often kneel to her and say:
"Thou art my life and only Ray.
Oh, if but kinder thou wouldst be,
And sometimes sweetly smile on Me
Thou art my earth, my guiding star;
I love thee near, I love thee Fa.
My passion I cannot control—
Thou art the idol of my Sol."
The maid suggests his asking pa,
The Major cries, "What, I? Oh, La!"
The Major rose from bended knee,
And went her father for to Si.
The father thought no match was finer—
The Major once had been a Minor.
They married soon and after that
Dwelt in the rooms all in one Flat.
So happy ends this little tale,
For they lived on the grandest Scale
—Young's Magazine.

Mercy!

"Here's a prose sketch," the writer said,
The editor breathed a curse,
And then remarked, as he shook his head,
"Ah, well—it might be verse!"
—Cleveland Leader.

New Compass for Navy.

For the purpose of securing clearness, simplicity, and precision in the application of compass errors, the hydrographic office of the United States Navy has adopted a new form of compass on which there is no north, south, east nor west, but which consists of a circle divided into 360 degrees, beginning with 0 at the true north point and reading to the right. —Popular Mechanics.

Two of our townsmen were talking together, they were both married, and they were talking about this store.

"To my mind," said one, "The strength of Van Arsdale's store lies in the fact that no one ever questions the quality of a shoe bought there. Van-Arsdale's prices may be no lower than others, but people are sure of getting the goods they pay for."

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Mr. Fowler.

It is an amusing illustration of the vagaries of current politics that Representative Fowler, of this State, is advocated for re-election as a particularly meritorious person, because he is opposed to the majority of his party in the House of Representatives and has been refused advancement in committee appointments. The plain truth is that Fowler is a kicker because he was turned down for his inefficiency and neglect of duty. He has given his duties no proper attention, his absenteeism has been notorious, his foolish proposals for currency reform have been laughed out of the House, his attempt to influence voters by promise of public gifts have been a scandal, while his failure to keep these promises has been ridiculed throughout the country.—Newark Call.

The Fowler Letter.

Those familiar with the situation in the Fifth Congressional district, who will take the trouble to read the letter written by Congressman Fowler and published in our news columns today, will agree that in such an untimely, unjust and even vicious attack on United States Senator Kean as is made, a serious political blunder has been committed. The character of the attack, so unsupported as it is by such evidence as intelligent men will demand before they take seriously the charges which are contained in the letter, will come as a surprise even to the friends of Mr. Fowler, who, even though they have long been familiar with his views of Senator Kean, must have credited him with more political foresight and common sense, to say nothing of justice and fair play, than to jeopardize his own political future for the sake of giving vent to feelings of personal animosity.

Every man who has any understanding of the political situation in the Fifth Congressional district, possibly even State Treasurer Voorhees himself, has believed, for a week or more at least, that Mr. Fowler would secure a renomination as a candidate for re-election to the House of Representatives. The opposition talked about, whatever Mr. Voorhees may have believed it to be, has probably never at any time this year been serious. As far as Union county is concerned, the attitude of Senator Kean is understood to have been opposed to any move which would arouse political differences within the party. There has been no wavering in this policy. Except for the somewhat unsympathetic statement made by the county chairman and the interview of Mr. Voorhees, not a word has been heard against Mr. Fowler from anyone prominently connected with the politics of the Fifth Congressional district. Up to today, except for the facts mentioned, it has been plain sailing for Mr. Fowler.

It is not to be expected now, however, that those who have been so bitterly attacked by Mr. Fowler, the friends of those men, and those who have been associated with them in politics, will take off their coats and work with enthusiasm for his nomination or re-election. That would be expecting too much of human nature. The result is that in a year in which the situation calls for a united front, the Republicans of the Fifth district face a decidedly unpleasant mix-up—a condition of affairs which any person understanding politics at all will say would have been avoided by any candidate for office who had the best interests of the party at heart.

The attack on Senator Kean is built upon such a flimsy basis that the force of the criticism and invective is broken at once. That the "crime" of which Senator Kean and State Treasurer Voorhees are accused was committed to secure the latter a re-election is, of course, absurd, especially in view of the fact that Mr. Voorhees had no opposition for the office he sought. Such a trade as is suggested, therefore, would have been too foolish for two experienced political leaders to think of. To support the serious allegation of "crime" all the evidence produced is that Mr. Voorhees did not visit Congressman Fowler on New Year's Day, and that Mr. Voorhees and Senator Kean are known to have called on Speaker Cannon at Washington. "This is the story of the crime," says Mr. Fowler with these significantly weak closing words, "as far as I am able to read and interpret the evidence."

Had Congressman Fowler proceeded in his letter to discuss in a statesmanlike manner the question of the popular choice of United States Senators, the voters would have been interested without doubt, and possibly influenced. This is one of the political subjects of the day which thoughtful citizens are considering. But what can they think of Mr. Fowler's ability to discuss this interesting issue sandily, dispassionately and without prejudice when he starts off by saying:

"Of all the subservient, truculent, literal 'me-too's' and perfect cuckoos of all the political poodle dogs that Senator Aldrich prized most highly, undoubtedly Senator Kean wears the blue ribbon. He never gets off the Aldrich reservation, right or wrong, and on the tariff bill gave 128 votes out of 129 to Mr. Aldrich, if my recollection is correct, rebelling only to insist that polo ponies should go on the free list."

It is difficult to reconcile all this with the broad, clear and admirably comprehensive statement of issues and principles as Congressman Fowler has set them forth in his platform. Even though the views as stated may not correspond to those of Senator Kean or a multitude of others, the straightforwardness and courageousness of this progressive platform as it is given to the voters would appear to come from a clear-headed practical politician, using the term in its best sense—from a stateman incapable of being turned aside from his high purpose to settle publicly any personal difference with a fellow townsman.

The only explanation for all the violent accusation, railing, ridicule and unbridled censure which is contained in this letter is that way down at the bottom there is a personal grudge, which has long been harbored, and about which the public is not concerned at all—a matter of business and not politics. Or else the spirit of insurgency, whether making for the advancement of better government or not—a spirit which is full of suspicion of the patriotism of others, abnormally bitter and keenly alive to opportunity for conflict—has taken hold of the Congressman from the Fifth district so strongly, and so mingled with his personal disappointments, that he is not always himself when imagining another political commotion at hand.—The Elizabeth Journal.

CONFERENCE HAS NO EFFECT ON BAR TRADE.

Atlantic City, May 24.—Dull gray clouds brought disappointment to the biggest crowd since Easter, when they started out for the noon boardwalk promenade. Thousands who came Friday and Saturday night growled, while other disappointed thoongs came in on morning trains. A few drops of rain fell Sunday afternoon, but failed to damage summer togs nearly as much as feelings.

Governor Fort left the Chalfonte early and joined the promenaders after the big religious service held on the Steel pier, and black-garbed ministers of the Presbyterian Assembly were much in evidence. The Governor's presence and the big church gathering had no appreciable effect upon the bars, and glasses clinked merrily all day. Scores of others took chances at dips, but only the regular devotees stayed long in the chilly breakers. Two bathing-houses opened for the season, and Mayor Stoy announced that he would probably put on a force of lifeguards on Memorial Day.

Small Expenses.

Never throw up another person's small expenses as an example that you are ever so careful yourself. You don't smoke cigars as your fiance does, but your unconsidered trifles come to far more money week by week than his tobacco. If you wish to query expenses put down every penny you spend on small items, get your fiance or husband to do the same, and you may find yourself on the wrong side of the ledger.

Capitol's Annual Bath.

The United States capitol receives its annual bath a short time before congress convenes, the toilet article used consisting of about 2,500 feet of hose in the expert hands of one company of the fire department. Powerful streams of water at high pressure remove dust, spider webs, insects of all kinds, birds' nests and other foreign substances from the many crevices.

Seems More Than Coincidence.

A peculiar thing happened at Tweedmouth the other day, says an English exchange. During shunting operations a number of wagons ran into the buffer stops, demolished a wall and fell into the street beneath. No one was injured, but in the debris of the wall the dead body of a newly-born child was found wrapped in a woman's garment.

No Excuse for It.

"I suppose," said a sympathetic neighbor, "that you will erect a handsome monument to your husband's memory!" "To his memory?" echoed the tearful widow. "Why, poor John hadn't any. I was sorting over some of his clothes to-day and I found the pockets full of letters I had given him to post."—Human Life.

Teak Tree Grows Alone.

The teak tree (Tectona grandis) is not found in Siam in the forests composed of its own kind alone, but grows scattered among trees of many other species at an elevation not exceeding 2,500 feet, and prefers the hillsides and comparatively dry land in districts where the average annual rainfall does not exceed 50 inches.

Origin of "Green Room."

In the days of Queen Elizabeth of England it was customary to strew green rushes on the uncarpeted floor of the actor's dressing-room in the theaters, hence the term "green room."

Soap in History.

It is noteworthy that the Latin word for soap, sapo, is derived from the low German word sepe. The ancient Belgians had a sort of caustic soap or rouge that was probably the origin of the well-known old Dutch soap.

Blind Men's Signal Whistle.

Blind men in Japan, instead of being led by a child, or dog with a string, carry a whistle, which they blow, and those who hear it leave the pathway free. There are a great many blind men in Japan.

Find New Use for Cork.

His Hat.

Put a man's hat on his head and the chances are about a hundred to one that it will be uncomfortable until he adjusts it in his own peculiar way.—Atchison Globe.

Difference of Opinion.

The Tailors' association says that "67, 36, 23, 40 inches" makes the perfect female figure. Others think that $1,000,000 is a better figure.

The Hasty Word.

One trouble with a word spoken in haste is that an ink eraser has no effect on it.

When It Does!

When remorse does hit a self-made man it hits him hard.—New York Times.

Feminine Ambition.

A girl's idea of culture is something which will enable her to dodge dishwashing.—Atchison Globe.

USED COMET AS LURE TO TAKE CLUB'S ICE CREAM.

Whitehouse, May 24.—Halley's comet and a couple of practical jokers formed a combination that caused no end of excitement in this place for a short time Saturday night.

The Wishbone Club, an organization of the women of the town formed for the purpose of raising money to have the sidewalks built of concrete, is holding ice cream sales at the homes of the different members. Saturday night's was at the residence of Mrs. Alvah Dempsey, and a large crowd was present eating ice cream cones and listening to pleasing piano music, when someone appeared at the door and exclaimed, "Don't you want to see the comet?"

There was a headlong dash outdoors to the rear of the house, where a good view of the comet was had as it appeared in the West, but when the committee serving the cream went back to the house it found that the large freezer containing the cooling delicacy had mysteriously disappeared.

A confederate of the person who had lured everybody away had been busy and carried off the entire supply of ice cream. The sale was temporarily suspended and all hands went out to search for it, and it proved more difficult to find than the comet. After scouring the neighborhood for half an hour the members in charge were greatly relieved to find the freezer in a yard nearby, and tranquility was restored.

At the Wishbone Club sale Saturday night was Mrs. William P. Johnston, eighty-six years old, who saw the comet seventy-six years ago, and remembers the occasion vividly.

Mrs. Johnson was eleven years old at that time and says the appearance of the comet then occasioned even more interest than now. She says many superstitious people believed the world was coming to an end, and there were a great many shooting stars.

ATTACKS DAMAGE VERDICT.

Trenton, May 24.—After hearing argument in the United States Circuit Court, yesterday, Judge Rellstab reserved decision on a motion to set aside the verdict of $18,000 in the damage suit of Mrs. Mary S. Clegg, against the Atlantic City Railroad Company. Mrs. Clegg's husband, Charles Clegg, was killed by an express train at Magnolia and his widow brought the action as administratrix of his estate.

Clarence L. Cole, of Atlantic City, as counsel for the company, argued that the verdict was excessive. Frank L. Katzenbach, Jr., of this city, representing the plaintiff, held that the verdict was entirely justified. He showed that Mr. Clegg at the time of his death was earning $8,000 to $10,000 a year, and therefore his widow should have every penny of the sum allowed by the jury.

EASY FOR INDIAN MAIDENS TO GET WHITE HUSBANDS.

In Gregory, S. D., I saw a bright-eyed, hard-muscled, clean-looking young fellow from Iowa who had just returned from a honeymoon trip to Sioux Falls with as neat a piece of red calico as you would find in a long day's journey. The girl was suspiciously close to the age limit fixed by the government, but intelligence, good humor, true womanly nature beamed from her button-bright eyes. I happened to follow this couple into a restaurant, and I took a seat near them. The girl was plainly dressed in a neat, plum-colored traveling suit, and the only thing about her make-up that suggested the Indian was a pair of wide beaded bracelets of striking color and design. The honeymoon pair talked low over the table, the girl looking proudly at her new husband while he ordered dinner, and when he laid down the bill of fare her hand stole under it and pressed tightly on his. She blushed a little, just as a white girl would have done, when a ranchman came in, slapping her husband on the back, and congratulated them both in the crude praire-folk way. When the meal was served she ate with her fork, and mind you, she was a full-blooded Sioux whose people wer carving up white men only a few years ago and didn't know a fork from a French horn. After they had gone out, the man who had congratulated them told me all about it.

"She's got a pretty piece of government land as there is on White river," said he; "good rich gumbo. She's a nice girl—been to school six or seven years, and she'll make Charlie a good wife. If they have as many as three children he'll get a whole section, counting her's, and that's going to be worth $16,000 to $20,000 in ten years, the way land's going up now."

No great wonder is it that so many young men of the prairies, who know pretty girls and good lands when they see them, are fascinated by the black-eyed Sioux maidens?—Everybody's.

Retrenchment.

"What are we going to do about this high cost of living problem?" asked one citizen.

"I don't know," replied the other, "unless we compel 'em to cut down the prices of automobiles and grand opera tickets."—Washington Evening Star.

After He Is Gone.

In order that she may be guided by his gentle influence in the future, Mrs. Lysander John Appleton has had her husband say into a phonograph, "Make that go as far as you can." After he is gone and she is a widow she will have the phonograph repeat this record to her whenever she starts downtown to spend as much as a dime.—Atchison Globe.

Early Mail Service in Maine.

In 1793 individuals hired a man to go from Castine to Wiscasset and carry letters and papers once a fortnight. He walked the whole distance over the route. The next year postmasters were appointed and mail sent once a week by carriers on horseback. Rufus Crane, the first postmaster, in Warren, collected 20 cents as his pay for his first three months of work.—Lewiston Journal.

The Kind That Scratches.

"Goodness me!" exclaimed the old lady, looking up from the paper she was perusing, "here's an account of a government raid on a wild-cat distillery in Tennessee. I'd a heap sight sooner pour strychnine down my throat than whisky made of wild cats. It must scratch awfully as it goes down."—Chicago Daily News.

Blessing Should Have Counted.

There is a French story of an old woman who, on seeing the carriage of the young King Louis XIII. passing on its way from church, where the marriage had just taken place, took off her shoe, and throwing it at his coach, cried out: "'Tis all I have, your majesty, but may the blessing of God go with it."

Turkey.

The turkey gobbler, the largest and one of the most important of all domestic fowls, is a simon pure Yankee, and its ancestry goes away back a million years into the early tertiary times when the gobbler was not much bigger than a quail.

Money Merely a Pedestal.

Money may be a pedestal to stand on, as we look up, but not a god for us to worship. Sad indeed is the lot of him who, making the world his chief good, gains the world and loses himself, his true spiritual self, in which life attains a divine fulfillment.

Natural to Seek Adornment.

Woman does not dress merely to please man. Set her down on a desert island and she would find some new flower with which to adorn her hair.—Exchange.

Cold Winter in New York.

It was so cold in New York part of the winter of 1779 that residents in the vicinity were compelled to cut down the tall trees that stood at what is now the head of Wall street to make kindling wood.

Conscious Superiority.

Real power, real excellence, does not seek a foil in inferiority; nor fear contamination from coming in contact with that which is coarse and homely.—Hazlitt.

World-Long Search.

Someone is always looking for the man who is a little better than the average. Also for the man who is a little worse than the average.—Puck.

The hen is a meek and lowly bird, but she has done more for this country than the eagle ever will do.

Qualities That Bring Success.

Success in life is not due to luck; it requires a good deal of steady and persistent application.

A Poor Excuse.

The worst thing about a poor excuse is that it seldom serves the purpose for which it was intended.

Foresight.

A man's foresight is frequently wasted on things that never happen.—New York Times.

"So small a shoe could not have held an extended epistle, madam," I said, ignoring her question.

"No, but the little roll of paper caused me anguish. After I had danced I was on the point of fainting. I hastened to the cover of the nearest curtain, where I might not be noticed. Senor Yturrio of Mexico was somewhat vigilant. He wished to know what Texas planned with England. He has long made love to me—by threats, and jewels. As I stood behind the curtain I saw his face, I fled; but one shoe—the empty one—was not well fastened, and it fell. I could not walk. I reached down, removed the other shoe with its note, hid it in my handkerchief—thank Providence for the fashion of so much lace—and so, not in wine, monsieur, as you may believe, and somewhat anxious, as you may also believe, expecting to hear at once of an encounter between Van Zandt and the Mexican minister, Senor Almonte, or his attache Yturrio, or between one of them and some one else, I made my adieux—I will warrant the only woman in her stocking feet who bowed for Mr. Tyler at the ball that night!"

"Yes, so far as I know, madam, you are the only lady who ever left the east room precisely so clad. And so you got into your own carriage—alone—after awhile? And so, when you were there you put on the shoe which was left? And so Yturrio of Mexico got the other one—and found nothing in it! And so, he wanted this one!"

"You come on," she said. "You have something more than a trace of brain."

"And that other shoe, which I got that night?"

Without a word she smoothed out a bit of paper which she removed from a near-by desk, and handed it to me. "This was in yours! As I said, in my confusion I supposed you had it. You said I should go in a sack. I suppose I did! I suppose I lost my head, somewhere! But certainly I thought you had found the note and given it to Mr. Calhoun; else I should have driven harder terms with him! I would drive harder terms with you, now, were I not in such haste to learn the answer to my question! Tell me, were you married?"

"Is that answer worth more than Van Zandt?" I smiled.

"Yes," she answered, also smiling.

I spread the page upon the cloth before me; my eyes raced down the lines. I did not make further reply to her.

"Madam," went on the communication, "say to your august friend Sir Richard that we have reached the end of our endurance of these late delays. The promises of the United States mean nothing. We can trust neither Whig nor Democrat any longer. There is no one party in power, nor will there be. There are two sections in America and there is no nation, and Texas knows not where to go. We have offered to Mr. Tyler to join the union if the union will allow us to join. We intend to reserve our own lands and reserve the right to organize later into four or more states, if our people shall so desire. But as a great state we will join the union if the union will accept us. That must be seen.

"England now beseeches us not to enter the union, but to stand apart, either for independence or for alliance with Mexico and England. The proposition has been made to us to divide into two governments, one free and one slave. England has proposed to us to advance us moneys to pay all our debts if we will agree to this. Settled by bold men from our mother country, the republic, Texas has been averse to this. But now our own mother repudiates us, not once but many times. We get no decision. This then, dear madam, is from Texas to England by your hand, and we know you will carry it safe and secret. We shall accept this proposal of England, and avail ourselves of the richness of her generosity.

"If within thirty days action is not taken in Washington for the annexation of Texas, Texas will never in the history of the world be one of the United States. Moreover, if the United States shall lose Texas, also they lose Oregon, and all of Oregon. Carry this news—I am persuaded that it will be welcome—to that gentleman whose ear I know you have; and believe me always, my dear madam, with respect and admiration, yours, for the state of Texas, Van Zandt."

I drew a deep breath as I saw this proof of double play on the part of this representative of the republic of the southwest. "They are traitors!" I exclaimed. "But there must be action—something must be done at once. I must not wait; I must go! I must take this, at least, to Mr. Calhoun."

She laughed now, joyously clapping her white hands together. "Good!" she said. "You are a man, after all. You may yet grow brain."

"Have I been fair with you thus far?" she asked at length.

"More than fair. I could not have asked this of you. In an hour I have learned the news of years. But will you not also tell me what is the news from Chateau Ramezay? Then, indeed, I could go home feeling I had done very much for my chief."

"Monsieur, I cannot do so. You will not tell me that other news."

"Of what?"

"Of your nuptials!"

"Madam, I cannot do so. But for you, much as I owe you, I would like to wring your neck. I would like to take your arms in my hands and crush them, until—"

"Until what?" Her face was strange. I saw a hand raised to her throat.

"Until you told me about Oregon!" said I.

I saw her arms move—just one instant—her body incline. She gazed at me steadily, somberly. Then her hands fell.

"Ah, God! how I hate you both!" she said; "you and her. You were married, after all! Yes, it can be, it can be! A woman may love one man—even though he could give her only a bed of husks! And a man may love a woman, too—one woman. I had not known."

"Monsieur, adieu!" she added swiftly. I bent and kissed her hand. "Madam, au revoir!"

"No, adieu! Go!"

CHAPTER XVII.

A Hunter of Butterflies.

I love men, not because they are men, but because they are not women.—Queen Christina.

There was at that time in Montreal a sort of news room and public exchange, which made a place of general meeting. It was supplied with newspapers and the like, and kept up by subscriptions of the town merchants—a spacious room made out of the old Methodist chapel on St. Joseph street. I knew this for a place of town gossip, and hoped I might hit upon something to aid me in my errand, which was no more than begun, it seemed. Entering the place shortly before noon, I made pretense of reading, all the while with an eye and an ear out for anything that might happen.

As I stared in pretense at the page before me, I fumbled idly in a pocket, with unthinking hand, and brought out to place before me on the table, an object of which at first I was unconscious—the little Indian blanket clasp. As it lay before me I felt seized of a sudden hatred for it, and let fall on it a heavy hand. As I did so, I heard a voice at my ear.

"Mein Gott, man, do not! You break it, surely."

I started at this. I had not heard any one approach. I discovered now that the speaker had taken a seat near me at the table, and could not fail to see this object which lay before me.

"I beg pardon," he said, in a broken speech which showed his foreign birth; "but it iss so beautiful; to break it iss wrong."

Something in his appearance and speech fixed my attention. He was a tall, bent man, perhaps sixty years of age, of gray hair and heard, with the glasses and the unmistakable air of the student. His stooped shoulders, his weakened eye, his thin, blue-veined hand, the iron-gray hair standing like a ruff above his forehead, marked him not as one acquainted with a wild life, but better fitted for other days and scenes.

I pushed the trinket along the table towards him.

"'Tis of little value," I said, "and is always in the way when I would find anything in my pocket."

"But once some one hass made it; once it hass been value. Tell me where you get it?"

"North of the Platte, in our western territories," I said. "I once traded in that country."

"You are American?"

"Yes."

"So," he said thoughtfully. "So. A great country, a very great country. Me, I also live in it."

"Indeed?" I said. "In what part?"

"It iss five years since I cross the Rockies."

"You have crossed the Rockies? I envy you."

"You meesunderstand me. I live west of them for five years. I am now come east."

"You have been at Fort Vancouver?"

He nodded. "Also to Fort Colville, far north; also to what they call California, far south; and again to what they may yet call Fort Victoria. I haf seen many posts of the Hudson Bay Company."

I was afraid my eyes showed my interest; but he went on.

"I haf been in the Columbia country, and in the Willamette country, where most of your Americans are settled. I know somewhat of California. Mr. Howard, of the Hudson Bay Company, knows also of the country of California. He said to those English gentlemans at our meeting last night that England should haf something to offset California on the west coast; because, though Mexico claims California, the Yankees really rule there, and will rule there yet more. He iss right; but they laughed at him."

"Oh, I think little will come of all this talk," I said carelessly. "It is very far, out to Oregon." Yet all the time my heart was leaping. So he had been there, at that very meeting of which I could learn nothing!

LAJOIE IS STINGING THE HORSEHIDE SOME

Napoleon Lajoie, the Cleveland slugger, accumulated twelve more hits last week and boosted his average to .433, giving him a commanding lead in the American League. Tris Speaker, of Boston, is still second with .391, while Ty Cobb, the Detroit outfielder, has moved up to third place among the every-day players, his mark being .343. There are now only eight players in the league over the .300 line. Hal Chase leads the New York team with .298.

Considering players who have figured in ten or more games, there are now only ten men batting .300 or better in the National League. Infielder Zimmerman, of Chicago, is the nominal leader with .429 for ten games, but the regular brigade is led by Sherwood Magee, of Philadelphia, who is hitting at a .380 clip. Outfielder Bescher, of Cincinnati, follows Magee with .368. Bescher also leads the league in base running with 17 stolen bases. Dots Miller, of Pitsburg, it hitting. 314.

Jimmy Collins, formerly manager of the Boston Americans, and now pilot of the Providence team, advanced to first place in the batting list of the Eastern League last week, boosting his average to .360. The .300 class now has a membership of only nine, and two of that number wear Newark uniforms, Jack Kelly and Hugh Hearne, Jake Gettman is hitting .285, and Bob Ganley .277.

WESTFIELD NO MATCH FOR THE P.H.S. TEAM

In a one-sided game at Crescent Oval, yesterday, the P. H. S. baseball team easily defeated the Westfield nine with a score of 9 to 1. Plainfield had everything their own way throughout, and had an easy time of it. Instead of filling the pitcher's box as he usually does Van Zandt caught, and Lidgate pitched. The latter twirled some fine ball and proved himself as available for one position as another.

In the first two innings of the game P. H. S. made little showing and were either put out on bases or knocked flies into the fielders' hands. Westfield only reached just once during these innings. In the third Doane was the second up to bat and slammed the ball through shortstop. Zerega followed him by knocking a hot liner through second. Lidgate was next up and field the ball into centre field, bringing in both Doane and Zerega. Nothing of any note was done in the next two innings, but in the sixth, Riffert made a pretty run on Van Zandt's fly. In the seventh, Green, Westfield's pitcher, seemed to lose all control and by the time three men were out, P. H. S. had scored 5 more runs. Westfield brisked up in the next inning and Elliott made a pretty run on Robson's hit. After this, with the exception of one run made by Woodhull, neither team did anything. Altogether, Lidgate was the star player and struck out 11 men, while Green, of Westfield, struck out 2. The score:

GRAND JURY TO ACT ON A THEFT CHARGE

After a lengthy contention between Counsellors V. W. Nash, Jr., representing George L. Forsyth, and J. Henry Crane, representing Henry A. O'Rourke, the later was allowed to go on his own recognizance in the city court this morning, to await the action of the October grand jury, the charge being theft from the recently purchased premises of Mr. Forsyth, at 1131 East Second street.

According to the records O'Rourke was arrested on the complaint made by Mr. Forsyth for taking away some window frames and a door frame after being warned that he was not to take anything away from the place. It developed that Mr. Forsyth had purchased the property from "Count" VanNess and had made a contract with a house wrecking firm to demolish the house then on the premises. The wrecking firm sublet the contract to G. A. Clark, of Scotch Plains and O'Rourke it appears was hired by Mr. Clark to tear down the building.

The total value of the stuff alleged to have been stolen by O'Rourke is $25. After hearing all the evidence Judge William N. Runyon rendered the decision above noted.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Mr. Fowler's Letter.

There is the flavor of the fish market in Mr. Fowler's screed when he reaches the point where he declares that United States Senator John Kean and State Treasurer Daniel S. Voorhees are "place-mongers, pure and simple." He adds that they are "office brokers" and "political merchants." We know or no more persistent place-hunter than Mr. Fowler, who has, for sixteen years, sought to retain office that he now holds, in spite of the fact that two years ago the people in his own county were opposed to his re-election. There has certainly been no public demand for his return to the house of representatives by the people this year, and yet we find Mr. Fowler sniffing along the trail of the "progressive" or New Idea Republicans in the hope that they will place him in the field for United States Senator. Congressman Fowler has a fight ahead of him, and he apparently realizes that fact.—Trenton State Gazette.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Last night in Judge Smith's court at South Plainfield, Chris Bowers, Thomas Duffy and Walter Conners were arraigned on several charges among which were disorderly conduct, using profane language larceny robbery and assault and battery. Most of the more serious charges were not sustained and on one of the counts Judge Smith fined the trio $5 each for disorderly conduct. John Keiderling was the complainant. William DeMeza represented the three men while Francis J. Blatz appeared for the complainant.

On next Friday night a strawberry and ice cream festival will be held on the lawn of the home of Mr. Harrigan for the benefit of the Dover church.

Another lawn festival will be held on Wednesday, June 1, at Oak Tree for the benefit of Marconnier chapel.

"They That Go Down to the Sea in Ships."

A beautiful custom, associated with the observance of Memorial day, has within recent years become established in Gloucester, Mass. Flowers are gathered and strewn upon the waters of the harbor in memory of the men of the fishing fleet who have sailed for the Banks and never come back. The sentiment which conceived this custom is pictured in a larger, national sense on the cover of the Memorial Day Number of The Youth's Companion. Columbia is there depicted scattering flowers on the sea in memory of her sons whose graves are in the unfathomed depths of ocean. The blossoms gleam against the dark blue of the sea, and a squadron at anchor in the distance fires a salute to the nation's lost sailors.

FETE DE MAI IS READY

Spectacle for Tomorrow, Friday and Saturday Will Surprise Many.

PAGEANT IN CITY PARK.

Floral Dances and Other Unique Features to Mark Effort to Help the Playground Commissioners.

There is nothing more sure than that the "Fete de Mai," which is now ready for the approval of the public will eclipse anything heretofore attempted in this city. Programs may come and go, but the life of youth will go on forever. Premature judgment on some acts of the Legislature naturally call the "people" to protest, but it will be a difficult matter to find anyone who will be willing to raise his or her voice against the pageant which is now arranged for tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. The fete will be in aid of the Playgrounds for the children of this city ought to have the support of everybody, whether they are parents or not.

In the opinion of those who have had experience in laying out the plans for just such things for the children in other cities, there is no more effective way of improving the physique and moral condition of our boys and girls.

From the present outlook the grounds will be crowded from the beginning of the fete until the last vestige of the debris is removed. It will be just as well to remember that the tickets sold for any particular evening, for special reserved seats will be replaced to the best of the ability of the management in case the weather prevents the attendance on the nights for which the tickets have been purchased. Mrs. Lewis E. Waring and Mrs. William B. Tyler are the chairmen of the pageant and Mrs. Howard Colby will be the queen.

CAMP COMFORT FOR BOYS

Rev. George A. Warner Makes Plans for Summer for Choir Boys.

GOOD TIME PROMISED ALL.

Boarding Place to Be a Health Building Endeavor—A Lesson in Practical Christianity.

Rev. George A. Warner, the energetic rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, has about completed arrangements for the boys' camp at Hedges Lake, N. Y., in the foothills of the Green mountains and the Berkshire hills. This will be the fifth summer that the choir boys and some of their friends have spent two or three weeks in "Camp Comfort."

Friends of the boys, church people generally, and personal friends of the rector are contributing sufficient money to see the boys through two weeks of camp life. The boys themselves, about twenty in number, raise about $70 each year by giving an annual concert in which they are assisted by artists of ability who offer their services free.

This year the concert will be held tomorrow night the hour 8 o'clock and the place Holy Cross parish house, adjoining the church. Miss Lohrke, of East Orange; Fred Scanlan, of New York; F. B. Ball and James Vail, of this city, will assist. Miss Lohrke has been heard in solo work here before. Mr. Scanlan is a well-known New York violinist. Mr. Ball is inimitable, it is said, in coster songs, and Mr. Vail an exceedingly versatile pianist. The choir will render the usual number of glees and choruses and an opportunity to hear Mr. Pope, the baritone of the choir, who is a favorite with the people, will be afforded. Mr. O'Brien, choirmaster, has charge of the concert.

Boys who are so fortunate as to be members of the Holy Cross organization are overhauling their fishing tackle, preparing the camp pack and living in anticipation of the trip up the Hudson. The boys leave Plainfield on the afternoon of June 26 by the Citienzs Line steamer for Troy, where they disembark and take the train to Shushan, N. Y., and thence by farm wagon or shanks mare to camp.

It will be of interest to Plainfielders generally to learn that Mr. Warner after bringing his church boys safely home to Plainfield, will return with several boys already entered to become inmates of Camp Comfort, and maintain a boarding camp for boys, some of whom will stay the balance of the summer and some for a few weeks only. Several of the parents of well-known families in the borough and city learning of Mr. Warner's plans, have seized the opportunity to place their boys in a summer camp under Mr. Warner's care.

Being questioned by a reporter of this paper, Mr. Warner said: "Yes, I'm going into the summer camp business for the balance of my summer vacation. I have camped every summer for seven years past. The experience I have had and some adaptability in managing the youngsters, suggested the idea that I might continue my vacation in the camp and at the same time be of service to those who wish a summer or part of a summer for their boys in the out-of-door life such as we live. The camp is accessible by good automobile roads, and parents are to be welcomed to the camp's hospitality. We have a cottage and several water-proof canvas tents, cots for the boys to sleep on and every convenience for a safe and well conducted camp, possessing the advantage of being within reach, it is different from the Maine camps in that one is not obliged to send their boys so far from home.

"No, I have done no advertising, but have several boys whose people have heard of my plans and asked to send their youngsters. I have plenty of room for others but at the rate applications have come in presume I will be obliged to limit the number. I take boys from eight to sixteen years of age and it is no more expensive—perhaps not as as much so, as the average run of summer camps. We live well and generously, with al' the fun incident to camp life and have as few rules as possible.

BUSINESS COLLEGE EXERCISES PROGRAM

Professor A. S. Herr has secured an array of talented speakers for the annual commencement exercises of the Plainfield Business College, which will be held in the Plainfield theatre, Friday night, June 10.

In addition to Representative Charles N. Fowler, who will address the graduates on "Your First and Highest Duty," speeches will be made by former Mayor William N. Saunders, Mayor Charles J. Fisk, Mayor Newton B. Smalley and Professor H. C. Krebs. The invocation will be offered by the Rev. Gabriel R. Maguire, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church.

A meeting of the graduating class was held last night when the details for the exercises were completed. There are twenty-two pupils who will be awarded diplomas. Persons desiring reserved seats for the occasion can obtain tickets by making application to Professor Herr at the college.

PUBLIC INTERESTED IN INDIGNATION MEETING

General interest is being taken by the public in the indignation meeting to be held at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium on Friday night as a protest against the recent action of the Common Council in voting not to call a special election for the purpose of giving the voters an opportunity to express themselves as to whether voting machines should be retained or abolished.

The meeting will be called to order at 8:15 o'clock and the indications point to a large audience. Several addresses will be made by citizens who are interestedi n the matter and an opportunity will be afforded to all who desire being heard on the subject.

The claim is made that the Council has not legal right to prevent a special election. These citizens are interested in a movement to force the Council by mandamus proceedings to have an election.

Concert and Conundrum Supper.

A concert and Conundrum supper will be held at the Calvary Baptist church, Thursday night at 8 o'clock. Prof. and Mrs. James Bolling will appear at the concert and all are urged to hear the "Solving of the Negro Problem," by Mrs. James Ross. This will be the menu for supper: Confused Cackler, Unruly Member, The Father of Our Race, Just Grown Up, Staff of Life, Fruit of the Vine, Elevated Felines, What Makes Plainfield the Richest Spot on Earth, The Pastor's Habit, Backbone of History, China Cordial, Costly Cosmopolitan Conglomeration. Rev. G. W. Bailey is pastor of the church.

Miss Louella Harris to Sing.

Miss Louella C. Harris, formerly soprano soloist at the First Baptist church, will sing there next Sunday for Miss Ruth Harris, the present soloist, who has gone south to attend the wedding of a relative. Miss Ruth Harris plans to make her home in Plainfield during June and July.

MUSIC TREAT AT Y.M.C.A.

Grace P. E. Church Choir Gives Evidence of Ability in Vocal Art.

TWO WEDDING HYMNS SUNG.

Chester Chamberlain and Raymond Manley Sing Splendidly—Orchestral Numbers Well Played.

Before a large and fashionable audience the male choir of Grace P. E. church, directed by S. Frederick Smith, gave its first concert last night in the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian Association. The concert was in the nature of a celebration of the first anniversary of the formation of the choir and delighted the audience, not alone because of the character of the selections, but because of the spontaneity of feeling with which the various numbers were rendered and the fine tonal qualities of the singers.

The choir was admirably assisted by the orchestra under the direction of Martin A. Korff. Dr. Leonard Waldo and his daughter, Miss Ruth Waldo aided materially to the pleasure of the evening.

Master Chester Chamberlain, boy soprano, won unstinted applause and a hearty encore for his singing of "Swallows." This boy's phrasing and control are wonderful and an occasional slip from the key can be overlooked. The beauty of his voice showed plainly in the duet "Love Divine," in which William Tallamy sang the tenor and Dr. Waldo played an obligato on the 'cello.

Without doubt the concert of last night wil reflect credit on Mr. Smith, who has faithfully trained the young voices and reached the present high standard of excellence. The best of the chorus work was shown in the two wedding marches. Many of those in the audience feeling the influence of the music which they remembered as a part of their own wedding celebrations, while perhaps there were others who have hopes in that direction. Master Raymond Manley's alto singing was commented upon by many. The boy has a voice of quality which will some day be heard as tenor.

The work of the orchestra was specially fine in Leybach's "Fifth Nocturne" and Loesch's "King of the Forest," the concluding number. The program follows:

Part I—Overture, Titania, Hildreth, Y. M. C. A. orchestra, M. A. Korff, conductor; chorus, March Romaine, Gounod, chorus and orchestra; quartet, No Shadows Yonder, Gaul, Master Chester Chamberlain.

METHODIST PASTORS CONFER WITH BISHOP

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church; Rev. C. S. Kemble, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, and Rev. Ora J. Shoop, of Grace M. E. church, held a conference at Elizabeth, yesterday with Bishop W. F. Anderson, who presided at the last session of the Newark Conference, with a view to planning ways and means for more effective work among the Plainfield and North Plainfield churches.

The conference was in line with the work that the Methodist Social Union has taken up in this city. The plan is to hold evangelistic services here in the fall and the question that has not been decided yet is whether the local ministers or an evangelist will take the lead in the services. There has been some talk of securing Rev. Dr. Henderson, of Brooklyn, to conduct the services. He was here a few years ago and accomplished a great work. Details for more effective work will be considered by the representatives of the local Methodist churches.

WESTFIELD'S BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET

Many Plainfielders attended the second annual banquet of the Board of Trade at Westfield last night, the principal speakers being former Governor Edward Caspar Stokes, W. G. Besler, of this city, vice-president and general manager of the New Jersey Central; Assemblyman Lloyd Thompson; W. C. Hope, general passenger agent of the New Jersey Central, and Mayor Alpers. W. E. Tuttle, Jr., president of the board, was the toastmaster.

The train which brought Mr. Stokes was delayed. He was met at this city by Charles Codding and W. E. Tuttle and taken to Westfield in an automobile.

Mr. Besler explained that the reasons for raising commutation rates was because of the increase in wages granted the company's employes. During the evening a 130 word telegram was received from the president of the Plainfield Board of Trade, in which he "knocked" in his characteristic style. He implored the board "not to be too respectable as was the case in Plainfield, but to be serviceable."

The dinner, one of the best ever served at a public affair at Westfield, was in charge of De Molli the West Front street caterer. The menu and service was satisfactory in every way.

"Land O'Lakes and Mountains."

"Land O'Lakes and Mountains," is the title of a handsomely illustrated summer book issued by the general passenger department of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. It contains a wealth of information about summer trips along the beautiful scenic routes of the Lehigh, giving definite information as to the thousand and one places that one may go for the summer; also rates at hotels, boarding houses, routes and other details. The book is beautifully illustrated with half-tone pictures and also contains a large map, which is a valuable adjunct to the book. Copies of this book may be secured through the general passenger department of the company.

"SILLY" SAYS 'UNCLE DAN'

Tart Comments on Fowler Letter Made by Two He Attacked.

HAMILTON KEAN CAUSTIC.

Congressman's Effusion Depicts "the Excesses of a Furious Mind and Unrestrained Brain."

Branding as silly many of the statements made by Representative Charles N. Fowler, in his open attack upon United States Senator John Kean, State Treasurer Daniel S. Voorhees and other politicians, Mr. Voorhees said yesterday that for the present, at least, he would make no statement regarding the charges of Mr. Fowler. He added that he had not had an opportunity to read Mr. Fowler's open letter in its entirety, but after doing so would decide whether or not to make a formal reply.

Mr. Voorhees said that he did not wish to be brought into any controversy at this time, nor did he wish to reply offhand to the utterances of Mr. Fowler. On the contrary, he said, he would take as much time to deliberate as Mr. Fowler had before making his answer. Incidentally the State treasurer ridiculed the idea that Speaker Cannon, Senator Kean and himself were co-conspirators in a movement against Mr. Fowler. Strange as it may seem, Mr. Voorhees said that Senator Kean had never mentioned Mr. Fowler in speaking with him.

The personal and political animosities between Senator Kean and Mr. Fowler are well known and the conversation of the State Treasurer indicated that Mr. Fowler is regarded as a "dead subject" between the two.

When asked regarding the denial of Mr. Fowler that he had said he would not again be a candidate for Congress when he secured the nomination in 1908, Mr. Voorhees said he did not know that such a statement was a matter of common knowledge. He was rather surprised last night when informed by a prominent Morris county politician that he and several others had been present when Mr. Fowler made the statement.

Mr. Voorhees disclaimed that there was any deal on foot to prevent the renomination of Mr. Fowler, declaring that it had always been the policy of the Morris county leaders to yield to the wishes of the delegates from Union county. Further than this Mr. Voorhees said he would make no further statement at this time.

"John Kean is a candidate for reelection to the United States Senate.

"All statements to the contrary are unwarranted and untrue."

So spoke Hamilton F. Kean, the senior Senator's brother, when seen by a reporter at his office, 30 Pine street, New York city, yesterday.

"Senator Kean is at Washington attending to his duties," he continued. "He has not read the Fowler letter, and I am sure that if he ever does he will not dignify it by a reply.

"The letter is so scurrilous that it furnishes its own answer. It voices the working of a turbulent and well-night disordered mind, beset by ambition and narrowed by impending defeat.

"It goes to the extreme of disreputable argument, and halts only when anger is appeased and invective is exhausted.

"In its original it must have been a masterpiece, depicting the excesses of a furious mind and unrestrained brain, but, chastened by later thought, it assumes the unaccustomed garb of respectability, which partly, but not wholly, obscures the proficiency of the acknowledged champion word-scavenger of the land."

Mr. Kean says a formal statement as to his brother's candidacy will soon be issued. This statement will, however, be silent as to Congressman Fowler.

JACKSON AGAIN IN TOILS

Accused of Assaulting Patrolman Charles Anderson Last Night.

RELIGIOUS FANATICISM CAUSE.

Negro Who Served Brief Term in Jail Defies Local Police—Arrested After Struggle on Street.

After a hard fight in which a blackjack or any other arm would have proved futile in subduing an infuriated negro, William Jackson, who has had at least one taste of the prison fare in the county jail, was landed in a cell at police headquarters last evening by Patrolman Chas. Anderson. Nothing but the superior strength of the policeman prevented his strangulation by the gigantic negro. For lack of witnesses the hearing in the case this morning was adjourned until tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Jackson was arrested after a struggle by Patrolman Tobias Nolan on July 29 last year and after a trial the burly colored man was sentenced to a term of imprisonment during which it was supposed that he would be under observance of the physicians who are experts in insanity cases. For some reason which cannot now be explained Jackson served but twenty days of the sentence and was turned loose upon the community.

Last evening while Patrolman Anderson was on duty on Central avenue the negro said something which irritated the officer and practically challenged him to fight. Anderson told Jackson to be careful of what he said, but in an instant found that the colored man had seized upon the opportunity to do something and was ready for it. Gripping Anderson about the waist the negro attempted to throw him to the ground and partly succeeded and in the melee Anderson's trousers were torn and his entire uniform rendered a heap of blue rags.

Both men fell to the ground and a mighty struggle ensued. Jackson trying to bite the policeman and the latter trying to stop the assaults on his person. At this juncture Edward Britton came to the assistance of the patrolman, only to meet with resistance from Sam Bolden, a barber who has a shop on Central avenue. The barber will probably be arraigned before Judge Runyon tomorrow for interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duty.

Jackson exclaimed at the top of his voice that although he was not Jesus Christ he was just as powerful and defied the whole police department to arrest him. It is to the credit of the officer that he did not hesitate to arrest the man who openly defied his authority. It is also safe to say that a repetition of Jackson's offense will not be probable in this city.

WESTFIELD.

A large number of Westfield people attended the funeral services of the late Mrs. William Abbott at Plainfield Monday. She was well known in town, where her husband and brother have been in business for several years.

Engineers were busy yesterday taking borings on the site of the proposed high school, to determine how deep it will be necessary to go to get a sure foundation for the building.

Westfield Park Commision has an appropriation of $450, to cover the cost of spraying the trees to drive away the elm beetle.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Ruth Peckham and William H. Haskel, on June 11.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The most enjoyable of all was the eighth dance of the Bachelors' Club held last night in Excelsior hall. This was the verdict of the many friends of the club who were out enjoying the waltz and two step to the strains of Suhr's orchestra. The new hardwood floor was a great improvement over the old one and many favorable comments were heard regarding it as well as the pretty appearance the hall made in its new coat of paint. Dancing was enjoyed without interruption from 9 o'clock until 1:30 a. m. Out of town guests were present from Plainfield, Dunellen and Westfield.

If you are interested in the town's Old Fashioned Fourth of July celebration, which it is planned to hold this year, attend the meeting tonight in Excelsior hall. If you cannot aid the celebration in a financial way turn out and show the committee that you are interested in the affair and will give it whatever support you can.

The Union County Sunday School Association holds a meeting tonight in the Baptist church. Representatives and Sunday school workers from every Protestant Sunday school in the county will be present. Several good speakers will make addresses upon the work. The public is invited to attend.

Interment of the body of the late Joseph A. Patterson, who died at his home at Los Angeles, Cal., on May 15, was made in the family plot here yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The necessary amount needed to defray the expenses of the Decoration Day exercises has been raised, so the usual memorial day plans will be carried out.

The local ball team play the Somerville team at Somerville Decoration Day afternoon. Deegan and Brown will be the battery.

Mr. and Mrs. George Harper, of Front street, have been entertaining Mrs. Harper's parents from Brooklyn over Sunday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

On next Sunday the local baseball club will meet the Franklin B. B. C., of Perth Amboy. The game will be on the home grounds. Although the locals have won four straight games and are playing a fast article of ball they will have to go some to beat the Franklins.

The auditing committee of the Middlesex Volunteer Fire Company met last night in the fire house.

The South Plainfield Field Club will play the New Market F. C. here next Saturday.

Mrs. Margaret Kaine, of this place, is just recovering from a serious illness.

SEEK DATA IN TUNNEL ASSESSMENT APPEAL.

Trenton, May 25.—With a view of obtaining evidence to be used in the appeal from the assessment levied against the tunnel property of the Pennsylvania Railroad by five Hudson county municipalities, former Mayor Mark M. Fagan, of the Hudson County Tax Board, and Secretary Joseph P. McLean appeared before the State Board of Assessors yesterday. The information desired was contained in reports made by the railroad to the assessors and was of a character which the County Tax Board regards as essential in preparing the case for presentation to the State Board of Equalization by which the appeal will be heard.

The municipalities affected by the appeal are: Kearny, West Hoboken, Weehawken, North Bergen and Seacaucus. The combined assessments which they levied against the tunnel property aggregated more than $8,000,000.

It is claimed that the State Board of Assessors failed to impose any tax against this property that that the local boards had heretofore failed against this property and that the board had assessed it as railroad property. When the assessments were finally made locally, the railroad appealed to the State Board of Equalization to have them cancelled on the ground that they were improperly assessed by the local boards.

WIFE OF JEWISH RABBI ATTEMPTS TO END LIFE.

Rahway, May 25.—Sick and discouraged, Mrs. Louis Yellin, wife of a Jewish rabbi in this city, attempted suicide late Monday afternoon by hanging. She was found by Max Greifinger, who had gone to the house to deliver an order. He cut the woman down, and then summoned Dr. F. W. Fell. The woman was restored to consciousness and is now out of danger.

The Yellins live on Irving street, and the would-be suicide chose the lower floor of the house in which to attempt to end her life.

REPRIEVED AT GALLOWS.

Philadelphia, May 25.—Carrying a reprieve, a messenger arrived at Moyamensing prison yesterday, from Harrisburg, a few hours ahead of time set for the execution of Cecil La Grange, of Johnstown, N. Y., who was to have been put to death for mudering Paul Hiller, during a brawl here, two years ago. An attorney representing La Grange went to Harrisburg last night and interviewed Governor Stuart at midnight. A reprieve was asked for on the ground that new evidence favorable to the condemned man had been discovered. After considering the matter Governor Stuart reprieved La Grange until June 23.

Preparations for the hanging were in progress when the messenger arrived at the prison with the reprieve.

WILL FIGHT CHATHAM.

Chatham, May 25.—Learning that the borough is trying to secure his land for the erection of a sewage disposal plant, John Pier Munn, owner of the property, has decided to fight the borough in the proposed scheme. He has engaged the law firm of Sommer, Colby & Whiting, of Newark. Mr. Munn would not discuss the subject except to say that he has placed the matter in the hands of the Newark law firm, who are to look after his interests.

Mr. Munn was a former councilman of this place. Work has already been started on the laying of the sewer mains with the idea that the property mentioned would be secured for the works.

GOLF.

Julius E. Erickson, of the Plainfield Country Club, will go to Morris county Saturday to take charge of the handicapping of the players who are to take part in the State Golf Association tournament.

The women of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association will not hold one of their one-day invitation tournaments at the Plainfield Country Club as planned. The next women's tournament will be held at Montclair, May 31-June 3, which will be a championship event. On June 6-7 the intercity team match will be held at the Huntington Valley Country Club, and on June 8-11 the Women's Eastern Golf Association championship will be played at the same place.

Mrs. Arthur Wellington Opp, one of the best women golfers in this vicinity, will not take up the game before July or August. She will take part in a number of the summer tournaments.

Mrs. H. Reeve Stockton has charge of the women's golf competition at the Plainfield Country Club. This will be a selected score competition, the women being permitted to play any day or every day if they choose for a month, the duration of the contest.

More than one hundred entries have been received for the twelfth annual championship tournament of the Metropolitan Golf Association, to begin on the Morris County links today. Thirty of the sixty-one clubs holding membership in the association are represented, and they include practically all the best amateurs in the district, the most prominent absentee being Charles Seely, who won the title in 1905 and 1907.

Heading the list of favorites are Walter J. Travis, of Garden City, the title holder; Jerome D. Travers, of Montclair; Fred Herreshoff, of Westbrook; Findlay S. Douglas, of Nassau; Max Behr, of Morris County, the New Jersey State champion, and Archie Graham, of the North Jersey Country Club, who has returned to the competitive game after an absence of more than two years. A. F. Kammer, the Staten Island champion, and Gardner White, of Oakland, the boy who recently won the interscholastic title; Harold Wilcox, of Montclair, winner of the metropolitan title in 1904, and John M. Ward, of Garden City, also have entered.

Because of the heavy list it will be necessary for the committee to get the first pair away as early as 8 o'clock, and even then it will be an undertaking to get the field twice around the course before dark.

FAIRVIEWS KEEP UP WINNING STREAK.

After the game the Fairviews participated in another contest with 7C grade of North Plainfield grammar school with Kenney and Birch as the battery. C. Beckman played good at third for the Fairviews. The final score was 12 to 3 in favor of Fairviews. The lineup:

LAWYER WILL RECEIVE CHARGES AGAINST HIM.

Trenton, May 25.—Responding to an order made by Chancellor Pitney requiring him to show cause why his name should not be stricken from the roll of solicitors of the Court of Chancery, Robert P. Geyer, a Paterson lawyer, convicted of embezzlement, appeared before Chancellor Pitney yesterday. He was accompanied by Borden D. Writing as counsel.

The order of the chancellor specified that if he desired, Mr. Geyer might demand the presentation of specific charges regarding his alleged malpractise as a solicitor of the court. Mr. Geyer made such a request today and the chancellor directed that William H. Corbin, of Jersey City, and Frank H. Sommer, of Newark, who had been designated to prosecute the proceedings, should prepare the charges and submit them to Mr. Geyer within two weeks. Mr. Geyer will then be given ten days within which to interpose his defense.

NEWARK WAS SETTLED 244 YEARS AGO YESTERDAY.

Newark was just 244 years old yesterday. It was May, 24, 1666, that a handful of settlers met a little knot of redskins in a final powwow on what was then the verdant shore of the peaceful Passaic. They were shrewd bargainers, those first Newarkers, and they purchased for goods which would be worth now about $750 not only the land on which the city stands, but nearly all of the country as well.

After Captain Robert Treat, on a portion of whose home lot the First Presbtyerian church is located, and Samuel Edsal had started negotiations with the Indians, Obadiah Bruen, Micah Tompkins, John Brown and Thomas Dennison finished up the good work. There were nine savages, all of unpronounceable appellations, nevertheless preserved to posterity.

Though the archives of history do not tell whether or not it rained, there is evidence that it was a wet day when Newark was settled. The largest consideration in the land deal was of a decidely fluid nature—thirtytwo gallons of liquor, thirteen horns of rum and four barrels of beer. Rev. Abraham Pierson, however, named the town after his home village—Newark-on-Trent—Newark-on-Pesayak.

—Mrs. Alice Peel has purchased the house and lot at 117 Washington street, of Richard C. Elliott. The consideration was $2,500.

THE FORUM.

Common Council's "Big Six."

Editor, The Daily Press:

All glory to the little five that said by their votes on the resolution to order an election to abolish or retain the voting machines that we will stand by the law on the statute books, and not vote to invalidate a law because a lawyer, in his opinion, said the law was unconstitutional. Taking the report of the newspapers as correct, Mr. Mygatt, of the modern "Big Six," said: "The ordering of a special election now might effect future elections, and inasmuch as the general election in November is an important one, he did not think that the Council should do anything to imperil it." He qualified by saying that the people (his constituents) might compel him and others to do something, that the law says, he, and they must do, under the conditions then before them.

Mr. Buxton is reported to have said: "Let them mandamus us if they want to;" a grand position for a sworn officer of the people to administer the law as he finds it to say. Let my constituents compel me by law, to do something the law says I must do.

Fellow citizens what do you think of this modern "Big Six," who dare by their actions and votes, declare that "by the ordering of a special election now might effect the Republican party in the general election in November," meaning thereby and the natural inference is that the people could be deprived of expressing their opinion at the polls, because of the use of the infamous voting machines, to the benefit of the Republican party. If any member of the modern "Big Six" had taken the pains to concentrate and obtain signers to a petition to vote on the retaining or abolishing the voting machines, as I did in the first district of the First Ward, he or they would have found that there were as many Republicans as Democrats opposed to the partisan voting contrivance.

While comparisons are odious, yet should the ancient "Big Six," (of which I am proud I was a member) ever attempted to evade the positive command of the law, as has been done by the modern "Big Six," they would have been justly condemned by the people of Plainfield.

Confidence in Mayor.

Dunellen, N. J., May 24, 1910.

Editor, The Plainfield Press:

The matter published in your paper on Saturday last under the heading "Want Mayor to Resign," certainly cannot be allowed to go by unnoticed by some citizens of this borough and from some members of the Board of Trade, as in our opinion it is misleading, and we the officers and members of said board desire to publicly express our confidence in the Mayor.

The Board of Trade was without question started with a view of its benefiting the borough, and Mayor Sanford was one of the moving factors in the conception and organization of the body, yet the very article that gives him credit for such, quotes a man who says the Mayor has never done anything for the good of the place.

Furthermore the very fact that the Mayor has recently presented the town with a fountain, which not only beautifies the place, but will be of unestimatable service to man and beast, also goes to prove the man who submitted the so-called report, as well as the man who furnished the material so reported, are jugglers with the truth.

It is but natural a few have opposed the Mayor in some of his movements made for the best interests of the community. Fortunately the Borough Council and the most reliable citizens are with the Mayor in his efforts to have our borough sewered, and other improvements made in order to benefit and beautify our surroundings; and we ask you to state that the Board of Trade has no intention of asking him to resign.

We wish, at the same time, to state that we are well aware that the article in question was published in good faith by The Daily Press which we know has the best interests of our borough at heart.

Respectfully yours,
THE BOARD OF TRADE.
By F. R. Wynkoop, president; Thos. Hogan, secretary, chairman Executive Committee.

Clarence Mackey's Denial.

New York, May 25.—Clarence H. Mackey today made the following statement in regard to the report to London and American papers that the Commercial Cable Company had formed an alliance with its competitors, the Anglo American Telegraph Co. "The Commercial Cable Company never has had and has not now and does not intend to have any connection whatsover with its competitor, the Anglo American Telegraph Company, either in the way of controlling its stock or making any traffic agreement or in any other way," said Mr. Mackey. The Commercial Cable Company will continue to be independent and competitive last as the Postal Telegraph Cable Co. all reports to the contrary are false."

RECEIVERS' SALE of TRUNKS

Men's Trunks

Women's Trunks

At the recent big auction sale of the stock of T. B. Peddie & Co., we secured some very choice bargains, which go on sale today the same way we bought them, at a saving of from $1.50 to $5 on a trunk. The Peddie Co. was one of the oldest and best trunk manufacturers in the country, and in order to wind up their business they put up their entire stock at auction. These trunks are all new goods, not shopworn in any way and this sale takes place at a very opportune time, with Decoration Day right upon us and Fourth of July close at hand then the vacation season. All of them make trunk buying a necessity. Come to the sale early, while there are 156 trunks in the lot, they won't last long at the prices named and then again early buyers get first choice.

TO RAISE TRACTION ENGINE FROM BROOK.

The seven-ton traction engine owned by John S. Lewis, of Scotch Plains, which crashed through the county line bridge on the Washington Valley road at that place, last week, will probably be raised today. Mr. Lewis hopes to get it up on the bank and on the roadway during the day. He will use ropes, pulleys and horse power instead of a crane.

An examination shows that the rear axle of the machine is bent and one side of the heavy frame work splintered. Mr. Lewis and one of his men were on the machine when they noticed the bridge sagging and jumped just in time to escape injury. Mr. Lewis expects damages from the two counties, Union and Somerset, as he claims that the bridge was rotten and in an unsafe condition when he tried to go over it with his engine.

BURGLARS GET AWAY WITH TWO BICYCLES.

Burglars effected an entrance to Jack Horner's bicycle establishment on Somerset street some time during last night and stole two bicycles valued at $50 each. The burglars gained entrance to the store by prying open two rear windows. They afterward left the store with their loot through the front door.

Several months ago burglars visited Mr. Horner's repair shop on the opposite side of the street and stole a couple of wheels and a quantity of tools.

Automobilists and Cyclists Beware.

Chief of Police Kiely instructed his subordinates this morning to arrest any automobilist violating the speed laws regardless of who they happened to be. Another restriction which will be rigidly enforced is the ordinance against the riding of bicycles on the sidewalks of the city. The violations have become so flagrant that complaints are continually pouring into police headquarters and it has been put up to the chief to stop the practice. Every person, young or old caught riding a wheel on the sidewalk will be taken to headquarters and held for trial.

SONG RECITAL GIVEN AT MRS. CLIFTON WHARTON'S.

The May morning recital given this morning at the home of Mrs. Clifton Wharton Jr., on Belvidere avenue, by Francis Rogers, baritone, with Joseph McIntyre at the piano, was a charming affair. The parlors were thronged with music lovers and all thoroughly appreciated the fine work of Mr. Rogers and Mr. McIntyre. The former, who is considered one of the best baritones in New York if not this country, was never heard to better advantage and his selections were admirably adapted to his fine voice. The work of Mr. McIntyre at the piano was a treat.

After the recital, Mrs. Joseph McIntyre gave a delightful luncheon at the Plainfield Country Club for Mr. Rogers and a few friends from New York and Newark.

WIRELESS SIGNAL IN CAB WARNS ENGINEER OF DANGER.

Dr. Millener has constructed for the Union Pacific a cab signal, consisting of a brass box in front of which a glass disc shows a red electric bulb and a semaphone. Attached to the outside of the box is a gong. This signal-box was so placed in the cab that the engineer could see the glass disc without moving from his position at the levers.

When the current at the sending station was thrown on, says Putnam's Magazine, the antennae on the roof of the cab caught the electric waves and the gong on the signal-box clanged loud enough to attract the attention of the engineer; at the same moment the electric bulb blazed, and the semaphone assumed the "block," or danger, position, following the motion of the semaphones of the block-signal.

After the first experiments with this apparatus Dr. Millener concentrated his energies upon the construction of a more perfect arrangement of the signal-box, with the result that the improved signal requires no battery in order to operate it, and, furthermore, it was made virtually "fool-proof."

He Quickly Complied.

GOOD WORK.

Done Daily in Plainfield—Many Citizens Tell of It.

Nearly ever ready has heard of Doan's Kidney Pills. Their good work in Plainfield still continues, and our citizens are constantly adding endorsement by public testimony. No better proof of merit can be had tnan the experience of friends and neighbors. eRad this case:

Mrs. W. W. Mills, 304 West Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "A dull, heavy, bearing-down pain in my back bothered me a great deal, especially when I caught cold. I also had frequent headaches and was at times so dizzy that I could scarcely see. If I did much stooping or lifting, my back became very lame and though I used plasters, I was relieved only for the time being. Finally on the advise of a friend, I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Randolph's Pharmacy and began their use. They acted in every way as represented and in a short time rid me of all symptoms of kidney trouble. I am pleased to recommend a remedy of such undoubted merit."

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

Both cases of smallpox which developed in Millville are convalescent, and no new cases have been discovered.

The bridge across Maurice River at Mauricetown, which has been closed during repairs, was reopened to travel yesterday.

"Aunt" Rachel Clark, ninety-four years old, one of the oldest residents of Beverly, is dying at the home of her nephew, E. F. Woolston.

Hundreds of bottles of all kinds are strewing the beach in the vicinity of Seaside Park, supposed to have come from New York garbage scows, which are emptied at sea.

The Ocean City Board of Trade will send a communication to State Road Commissioner Gilkyson calling his attention to the bad condition of the road between Tuckahoe and Mays Landing.

While seated in a chair in his library at Beverly, William J. Atwood expired. He was a retired Philadelphia undertaker and an elder of the Presbtyerian church. He had resided in Beverly six years.

William W. Stanford, the son-in-law and a witness in the case against Mrs. Elizabeth Ashmead, charged with conducting a "baby farm" a mile east of Millville, was released from jail Monday, when N. Atchison, a liveryman, became his bondsman for $700.

With a view to breaking up an alleged white slave agency in Trenton, the police of that city have been conducting a crusade against the keepers of disorderly houses. Six defendants in disorderly house cases were arraigned before Judge Gnichtel in Mercer court Monday.

Michael Smith, of Passaic, was arrested Monday and taken before Police Justice Costello, charged with burglary. Smith is charged with stealing from the apartments of Agnes Kutchins, of 16 Second street, Passaic, an axe and hatchet valued at $1.40. In default of bail Smith was sent to jail.

Atlantic City Elks have leased a whole floor in one of the Detroit hotels as headquarters for the campaign delegation which is to attend the Sovereign Grand Lodge to meet there, and extend an invitation to hold the 1911 meeting in Atlantic City. Everything looks as if the resort will win its fight.

In the lecture room of the Bergen Reformed church in Jersey City, Monday, a meeting was held by the Ladies' Aid Society to plan the women's part in the celebration of the 250th anniversary next October. It is proposed to give a luncheon to many of the distinguished guests who will be in Jersey City for the celebration, Tuesday, October 18.

Leo Morris, of 359 Totowa avenue, Paterson, employed as a machinist in the Cooke shops of the American Locomotive Works, had his right thumb smashed by a falling section of iron frame while at work yseterday, and was later a patient at the General Hospital. The wounds required suturing and dressing, after which Morris went to his home.

Badly beaten about the head in front of his home, at 209 Stevens street, Camden, late Monday afternoon, Frank L. Smith, the city dog warden, had a cut nose and face dressed at the Homeopathic Hospital. William Straub, thirty-two years old, of 329 Arch street, was locked up as the injured man's alleged assailant. The fight is said to have started over a woman.

Although all the money desired is not in hand, Camden's Board of Health Monday took the initiative toward erecting a municipal hospital. City Council appropriated $50,000 over a year ago, $9,000 of this being expended for a site near Woodlynne. A bill was introduced the past winter at Trenton which provided for $40,000 additional, but never saw daylight. Now the board means to go ahead with what it has. On Thursday the members will meet with an architect to prepare plans.

STRUCK BY TRAIN, DIED ON WAY TO HOSPITAL.

Bernardsville, May 25.—A man thought to be a Hungarian and believed to be employed at Far Hills was struck by the 8:22 train Monday night and died on the train while being removed to Summit, where the ambulance was in waiting to take him to the Overlook Hospital. The victim had waited for a westbound train to draw out of the station and attempted to cross the tracks as the eastbound train came in. He was horribly mangled, both of his legs being crushed to a pulp.

Dr. Joseph Meigh gave him temporary treatment and he was placed aboard the train which struck him. About fifteen minutes later he expired. In one of three shirts which he wore was found a railroad ticket good from Bernardsville to Far Hills. It was dated yesterday, and the man, it is believed, was about to use the return coupon when struck.

The body is at Brewster's morgue in Summit. An investigation will be made by Coroner Long.

Her Explanation.

Howard—Bridget, did my wife come in a few minutes ago?

Bridget—No, sir. That's the parrot you hear a-hollerin'.—Harper's

Keeping in Touch With Home

THE bread-winner is frequently delayed beyond his regular hour. This disturbs the household arrangements. The family does not mind a reasonable delay provided there is notice in advance.

With a telephone in the home a man can advise his family of any delay. A residence telephone also provides the means for the family to communicate with him through the day. Not a week passes that the family has not some urgent message to send to the man of the house.

The cost of residence telephone service is negligible as compared with its convenience.

By order of the Common Council.
JAMES T. MacMURRAY,

Plainfield, N. J., May 2, 1910.

AN ORDINANCE

to authorize the issuing of municipal bonds for the purpose of obtaining money from the sale thereof for the permanent improvement of streets and highways of the City of Plainfield, pursuant to Chapter 200 of the Laws of 1898, during the year 1910.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That for the purpose of obtaining money from the sale thereof for the permanent improvement of the streets and highways of said City during the calendar year 1910 with permanent and durable material of a kind to be determined in each instance by the Common Council before the work is commenced, to an amount not exceeding fifteen dollars per capita for each of the Inhabitants of said City according to the last official census, but not for more than the amount limited by law, the Common Council of said City do hereby, pursuant to the Act of the Legislature of said State entitled "An Act to authorize the improvement of streets and highways in cities of this State, and to provide for the payment of the expense of the same, and for the assessment of the benefits of such improvement upon the land and real estate benefited thereby," and acts amendatory thereof and supplemental thereto, authorize the issuing of thirty coupon municipal bonds of the City of Plainfield of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000) each, and amounting in all to Thirty Thousand Dollars ($30,000), which bonds shall be dated July 1st, 1910, and shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum (5 per cent.) per annum, payable semi-annually, and be payable three years from the date thereof, with the option to the City to redeem or pay off the said bonds, or any one or more of them, at any time after one year from the date thereof and before three years from the date thereof, on giving personal notice to said holders of said bonds or thirty (30) days notice by advertisement in the official newspapers of the City of the intention to make such redemption or payment, which bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and bear the corporate seal of the City and be attested by the City Clerk, and may severally or collectively when ordered by resolution of the Common Council be sold for an amount not less than par value; and there shall be raised by tax in each year hereafter such sum of money as may be necessary to pay the interest on all outstanding bonds and the principal of such bonds as may mature during that year, and the money derived from the assessments upon the property benefited shall when collected be held as a fund toward the payment of said bonds.

Sec. 2. That before any improvement shall be authorized pursuant to the Act of the Legislature referred to in Section 1, it shall be necessary to enact an ordinance designating the street or streets or parts thereof to be improved, together with the kind of pavement proposed to improve them, and all work shall be given out upon contract to the lowest responsible bidder and only after bids therefor have been solicited and received, the Common Council to have the right to reject any and all of such bids.

Sec. 3. That streets or parts of streets to be improved with durable macadam pavement shall be so improved in accordance with the following specifications, that is to say, durable macadam pavement with bituminous binder, shall be laid to a depth running from six (6) inches in the center to four (4) inches at the side, as shown on plan entitled "Plan showing standard cross-sections of streets of the City of Plainfield, N. J., filed in the office of the City Clerk April 30th, 1910," said macadam pavement to be in every respect equal to the macadam with bituminous binder on Union Street between Arlington Avenue and Stelle Avenue in said City. The ordinance specially designating said streets or parts of streets shall also designate in each instance the width to which said macadam shall be laid.

Sec. 4. That after said improvements shall have been completed, the Common Council shall, pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, apply to the Court of Common Pleas of the County of Union for the appointment of Commissioners to estimate and assess benefits upon the owners of the lots or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefited by such improvements, in proportion, as near as may be, to an amount equal to the amount of benefits actually acquired by the lands and real estate bordering on said streets or portions thereof respectively, by reason of such improvements respectively; and in case the costs and expenses aforesaid shall exceed the amount of said benefits, the excess thereof shall be paid by the City at large and raised by general tax; no property or owner thereof to be in any case assessed beyond the amount of benefit actually derived from said improvements. 5 18 2 w

"You know not what you say. A thousand men came into Oregon last year. It iss like one of the great migrations of the peoples of Asia, of Europe. I say to you, it iss a great epoch. There iss a folk-movement such as we haf not seen since the days of the Huns, the Goths, the Vandals, since the Cimri movement. It iss an epoch, my friend! It iss fate that iss in it."

"Then You Think There Is a Chance of Trouble Between Our Country and England Out There?"

"So, then, it is a great country?" I asked.

"It iss so great, these traders do not wish it known. They wish only that it may be savage; also that their posts and their harems may be undisturbed. That iss what they wish. These Scots go wild again, in the wilderness. They trade and they travel, but it iss not homes they build. Sir George Simpson wants steel traps and not plows west of the Rockies. That iss all!"

"They do not speak so of Dr. McLaughlin," I began tentatively.

"My friend, a great man, McLaughlin, believe me! But he iss not McKay; he iss not Simpson; he iss not Behrens; he iss not Colville; he iss not Douglas. And I say to you, as I learned last night—you see, they asked me also to tell what I knew of Oregon—I say to you that last night McLaughlin was deposed. He iss in charge no more—so soon as they can get word to him, he loses his place at Vancouver."

"After a lifetime in the service!" I commented.

"Yess, after a lifetime; and McLaughlin had brain and heart, too. If England would listen to him, she would learn sometings. He plants, he plows, he hass gardens and mills and houses and herds. Yess, if they let McLaughlin alone, they would haf a civilization on the Columbia, and not a fur-trading post. Then they could oppose your civilization there. That iss what he preaches. Simpson preaches otherwise. Simpson loses Oregon to England, it may be."

"Then you think there is a chance of trouble between our country and England, out there?"

He smiled. "It iss not a chance, but a certainty," he said. "It wass only agreed last night. England will march this summer 700 men up the Peace river. In the fall they will be across the Rockies. So! They can take boats easily down the streams to Oregon. You ask if there will be troubles. I tell you, yess."

"What time can England make with her brigades, west-bound, my friend?" I asked him casually. He answered with gratifying scientific precision.

"From Edmonton to Fort Colville, west of the Rockies, it hass been done in six weeks, and five days, by Sir George himself. From Fort Colville down it iss easy by boats. It takes the voyageur three months to cross, or four months. It would take troops twice that long, or more. For you in the states, you can go faster. And ah! my friend, it iss worth the race, that Oregon. Believe me, it iss full of bugs—of new bugs; 12 news species I haf discovered and named. It iss sometings of honor, iss it not?"

"What you say interests me very much, sir," I said. "I am only an American trader, knocking around to see the world a little bit. You seem to have been engaged in some scientific pursuit in that country."

"Yess," he said. "Mein own government and mein own university, they send me to this country to do what hass not been done. I am insectologer. Shall I show you my bugs of Oregon? You shall see them yess? Come with me to my hotel. You shall see many bugs, such as science hass not yet known."

I was willing enough to go with him; and true to his word he did show me such quantities of carefully prepared and classified insects as I had not dreamed our own country offered.

"Twelve new species!" he said, with pride. "Mein own country will gif me honor for this. Five years I spend. Now I go back home.

"I shall not tell you what nickname they gif me in Oregon," he added, smiling; "but my real name iss Wolfram von Rittenhofen. Berlin, it wass last my home. Tell me, you go soon to Oregon?"

"That is very possible," I answered; and this time at least I spoke the truth. "We are bound in opposite directions, but if you are sailing for Europe this spring, you would save time and gain comfort by starting from New York. It would give us great pleasure if we could welcome so distinguished a scientist in Washington."

"No, I am not yet distinguished. Only shall I be distinguished when I have shown my 12 new species to mein own university."

"But it would give me pleasure also to show you Washington. You should see also the government of those backwoodsmen who are crowding out to Oregon. Would you not like to travel with me in America so far as that?"

He shook his head doubtfully. "Perhaps I make mistake to come by the St. Lawrence? It would be shorter to go by New York? Well, I haf no hurry. I think it over, yess."

"But tell me, where did you get that leetle thing?" he asked me again presently, taking up in his hand the Indian clasp.

"I traded for it among the Crow Indians."

"You know what it iss, eh?"

"No, except that it is Indian made."

He scanned the round disks carefully. "Wait!" he exclaimed. "I show you sometings."

He reached for my pencil, drew toward him a piece of paper, taking from his pocket meantime a bit of string. Using the latter for a radius, he drew a circle on the piece of paper.

"Now look what I do!" he said, as I bent over curiously. "See, I draw a straight line through the circle. I divide it in half, so. I divide it in half once more, and make a point. Now I shorten my string, one-half. On each side of my long line I make me a half circle—only half way round on the opposite sides. So, now, what I got, eh? You understand him?"

I shook my head. He pointed in turn to the rude ornamentation in the shell clasp. I declare that then I could see a resemblance between the two designs!

"It is curious," I said.

"Mein Gott! it iss more than curious. It iss vonderful! I haf two Amazonias collected by my own hands, and 12 species of my own discovery, yess, in butterflies alone. That iss much? Listen. It iss notings! Here iss the discovery!"

He took a pace or two excitedly, and came back to thump with his forefinger on the little desk.

"What you see before you iss the sign of the Great Monad! It iss known in China, in Burmah, in all Asia, in all Japan. It iss sign of the great One, of the great Two. In your hand iss the Tah Gook—the Oriental symbol for life, for sex. Myself, I haf seen that in Sitka on Chinese brasses; I haf seen it on Japanese signs, in one land and in another land. But here you show it to me made by the hand of some ignorant aborigine of this continent! On this continent, where it did not originate and does not belong! It iss a discovery! Science shall hear of it. It iss the link of Asia to America. It brings me fame!"

He put his hand into a pocket, and drew it out half filled with gold pieces and with raw gold in the form of nuggets, as though he would offer exchange. I waved him back. "No," said I; "you are welcome to one of these disks, if you please. If you wish, I will take one little bit of these. But tell me, where did you find these pieces of raw gold?"

"Those? They are notings. I recollect me I found these one day up on the Rogue river, not far from my cabin. I am pursuing a most beautiful moth, such as I haf not in all my collection. So, I fall on a log; I skin me my leg. In the moss I find some bits of rock. I recollect me not where, but believe it wass somewhere there. But what I find now, here, by a stranger—it iss worth more than gold! My friend, I thank you, I embrace you! I am favored by fate to meet you. Go with you to Washington? Yess, yess, I go!"

Nothing is said in the announcement as to whether breakfast and afternoon tea are to be provided by the employer, nor is there reference to luncheon. LOCAL JR. O. U. A. M.'S VISIT BOUND BROOK

A delegation of fifty or more Jr. O. U. A. M.'s from the four Plainfield councils attended the rally at Bound Brook last night, which was conducted under the auspices of Pioneer Council, of that place. There were also delegations present from William G. Holton Council, of Dunellen, and Friendship Council, of New Market.

The guest of honor was State Vice-Councillor La Rue and other State officials of the order. Mr. LaRue delivered an interesting address in which he depicted the rapid growth of the lodge in New Jersey and other sections of the United States. Plainfielders who joined in the speech-making were George Watts, P. H. Latourette and W. C. Walker, of Somerset Council, No. 104; Ephraim Compton, of Franklin Council, No. 41; Councillor Smith, of Plainfield Council No. 293, and Past Councillor Wyckoff, of Benevolent Council No. 256.

There was a record breaking attendance and after the speech making refreshments were served under the supervision of the social committee of Pioneer Council.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS MEET AT SCOTCH PLAINS

The district institute of Sunday school work of Fanwood and Scotch Plains, was held at the Baptist church, Scotch Plains, last night, and was largely attended by Sunday school workers from this section. The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, pastor of the church, after which Walter M. Irving, chairman of the executive committee of the New Jersey Sunday School Association, gave a practical talk on Home department work.

There was also an address on "The Adult Class," by James E. Church, of this city, former superintendent of organized adult class work of the New Jersey Sunday School Association; followed with addresses by Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews and Edward Gabler, the latter of All Saints Episcopal church, Scotch Plains, and one by George H. Gabler, secretary and treasurer of the Union County Sunday School Association, on "Our County Association." The service closed with a hymn, after which there was a social hour.

FIRE DEPARTMENT GETS THIRTY MORE HYDRANTS

The Councilmanic fire committee at a meeting held in the office of Mayor Fisk last night decided to recommend the installation of five new fire-alarm boxes and about thirty additional fire hydrants throughout the city. Chief T. O. Doane made a careful survey of the city for the purpose of ascertaining just where the boxes and hydrants are needed the most and he reported to the committee last night. In his opinion there should be fifty-six additional hydrants, but the committee decided to recommend thirty for the present.

It was also reported that the committee had traded in the old gray horse formerly driven by Chief Doane, for a new horse to be used at No. 4 engine house in the Netherwood district. The new animal cost $350 and an allowance of $150 was made for the old one on the trade.

There was also a discussion regarding an automobile for Chief Doane and one will doubtless be purchased within a short time. The new gasolene ordinance was discussed and it is the intention of the committee to allow a public hearing on it before it is recommended for adoption. This ordinance is intended to safe-guard the interests of people in the storage of gasolene about the city.

Lutheran's Fair.

The congregation of the Danish Lutheran church realized a snug sum from their fair held yesterday afternoon and evening in the rooms of the W. C. T. U. on Madison avenue. In spite of the rain the attendance was large and the various booths were well patronized.

"NEW IDEA" MEETING AT ELIZABETH, JUNE 3

A mass meeting will be held at Jacobs' Opera House, Elizabeth, Friday night, June 3, for the purpose of organizing a Republican State League for the popular election of a United States Senator. The speakers will be United States Senator William Borah, of Idaho, and Representative Victor Murdock, of Kansas.

The meeting is called as a result of the open letter recently issued by Congressman Charles N. Fowler, addressed to the voters of the Fifth Congressional District. Senator Borah and Representative Murdock are both recognized as two of the most eloquent and able exponents of "progressive" Republicanism in Congress and both are especially familiar with the way in which popular elections of United States Senators is accomplished in some of the Western States.

HILARIOUS JOY RIDERS CAUSE SOME EXCITMENT

William McGrath, one of the most careful drivers in the employ of George O. Stevens, saved his team from annihilation this morning at 10 o'clock on West End avenue when an automobile, driven by an unknown man, alleged to be drunk, threatened to crash into the coal-laden wagon. McGrath noticing the zig-zag track of the auto coming toward him steered his team into the curb and managed to escape a collision by a hair's breadth.

According to McGrath there were five persons in the fast moving automobile and the path the machine described on the way west on the avenue would take an expert topographer to map. McGrath's wagon had a load of 3,750 pounds of coal on and it was hard work for the team to pull the load over the poor roads.

Unfortunately the driver failed to catch the number of the automobile and the report of the near accident came too late for action to be taken by the local police. McGrath says that the whole party, which consisted of five people, was intoxicated and that the man at the steering wheel of the machine was the worst of the bunch. After the car had passed it required the efforts of four horses to extricate the coal wagon from the mire into which it was forced.

W. R. Cock Remembered.

Among the beautiful floral gifts presented to the members of the cast of "Thelawny of the Wells," at the close of the third act Saturday evening, was a bunch of choice roses given to William R. Cock, who took the part of a butler, and who is a favorite among patrons of similar affairs. The roses were accompanied with a card bearing this inscription: "With congratulations and best wishes from your Old Comrades of the Round Table, Club Car 'Evona,' May 21, 1910." Mr. Cock appreciated the gift exceedingly.

GALLANT FIREMEN ARE FINE CAT RESCUERS.

Saving the lives of cats is becoming quite as important as fighting fires in the local fire department. Yesterday morning the services of William Hogan, of the borough department, was enlisted to rescue a cat from a tree, and in the afternoon, Assistant Chief Andrew Jennings was called on to furnish men to save a cat which was in a tree in front of George P. Mellick's residence on East Seventh street.

Daniel Kreitling and Andrew Connaughton were dispatched to the scene with a ladder. Kreitling climbed the tree, and at a distance of forty feet from the sidewalk, he reached the distressed pussy. The unfortunate cat had been in the tree for forty hours, according to information furnished the rescurers.

BUCKLEY FACES MURDER CHARGE NEXT WEDNESDAY

The approaching trial of John Buckley, who confesed under peculiar circumstances to the murder of Mrs. Frederick Covely on April 21, which will come up in the Somerset County Court on next Wednesday, will undoubtedly attract the attention of lawyers all over the State. Robert Newton Crane, who has been retained to defend the young man, is non-commital as to the line of defence which he will present to the jury, but it is a fact that the sentiment toward the young man accused of the crime has changed greatly since he was incarcerated.

Yesterday when seen by his counsel young Buckley seemed cheerful and declared that he had no fear of the outcome of the trial. While he will not further discuss the crime he asserts that he is nothing more than a misguided boy and that instead of arousing the anatagonism of the community he ought to be pitied.

A panel of forty-eight special talesmen has been drawn for jury duty and with the challenges allowed by the law this quota will probably be reduced to eight and another special panel ordered.

FREEHOLDERS TO VISIT TUBERCULOSIS CAMPS

Freeholders J. Hervey Doane, of this city, Henry Krausse, of Roselle, together with Director John N. Cady, of Summit, and County Collector Nathan Leavitt, of Elizabeth, will leave New York tonight for Boston, where they will inspect several tuberculosis camps in and near Boston, with a view to obtaining the cost of construction and maintenance.

Miss Osgood, of Elizabeth, who has been associated with others in the work for the prevention and relief of tuberculosis, is now in Boston and will meet the county officials there tomorrow for the purpose of escorting them to the several camps. The freeholders are desirous of securing all the data possible so as to make a complete report to the board regarding the proposed camp for Union county. Last night the people of Summit endorsed the plan and it is expected that other municipalities in the county will do the same within a short time. As yet the site for the proposed camp has not been selected. This will be done after the report is made and accepted by the board.

GETTING READY TO ERECT NEW CONVENT

A number of local building contractors are engaged in figuring estimates on the erection of the new St. Mary's Convent, corner of West Sixth and Liberty streets. In all probability Father Bogan and the trustees of St. Mary's church, will be in readiness to award the contract for building the structure within one week's time. Conditions in local building circles are far from being brisk, all of the recent permits issued by Building Inspector Doane being for small extensions, garages, etc. The permits granted are as follows:

Albert Davis, auto garage, 778 Belvidere avenue; Mary E. Crane, dwelling, 500-504 East Second street; Schwed Brothers, extension to building on Front street; L. F. Ginna, auto garage, 1127 Watchung avenue; Hector C. Smith, auto garage, 977 Madison avenue; Mary Donato, conversion of dwelling into a store, 218 Plainfield avenue; Dr. Pittis, extension to building, 122-124 East Front street; Nathan Meyers, office building, 121 Watchung avenue.

Commuter's Narrow Escape.

While running for a train this morning at 7.50 o'clock A. B. Riely, of 44 Fairview avenue, North Plainfield, missed his footing and while clinging to the guard rail was dragged to the Watchung avenue bridge where he fell between the coach and the girders. Fortunately for Mr. Reily the cars passed him without touching his body and he escaped with nothing more serious than a few bruises.

John Newman Breaks Ankle.

John Newman, of Plainfield avenue, an employe of M. D. O'Keefe, the contractor, is laid up with a broken ankle sustained in a fall while at work last week. Mr. Newman will be detained from work for five or six weeks.

LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Predecents Support C. A. Marsh's Opinion on Voting Machine Act.

CALL FOR MASS MEETING.

The Corporation Counsel's View Commended by Newark News—Mr. Marsh Quotes Other Cases.

Arguments opposing the decision of the Common Council to take no action on the popular petitions for a special election on the use of the voting machine will be presented at the indignation meeting to be held at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium tomorrow night. The action, or rather the non-action of the city fathers resulted when Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh submitted an opinion holding that the Act of 1908, Chapter 163, was unconstitutional in parts. The city's attorney pointed out that the petitioners could resort to mandamus proceedings and in that way the constitutionality of the statute would come before the courts.

In common with other journals, the Newark Evening News, New Jersey's foremost daily, supports the action of the city's attorney in giving the opinion that he did. The Newark News' comment follows:

"There is little doubt but that Corporation Counsel Craig A. Marsh, of Plainfield, is right in his opinion that the law providing for a referendum of the voting machines in election districts is unconstitutional. One of his reasons follows in the line of Supreme Court Justice Garrison's memorandum accompanying the decision of the Court of Errors in connection with the voting machine referendum in Bayonne. Justice Garrison made it plain that he considered the act in question invalid for the reason that 'such supplemental act is unconstitutional as a delegation of the law-making power directly to the electors at the polls.' Still another reason why Mr. Marsh considers the act unconstitutional is that the election districts, whose voters are permitted by the act to pass on the use of the voting machines, are only portions of such districts, and the Legislature has no power to confer the right to vote on only a part of the voters of a political district."

Corporation Counsel Marsh was asked by a representative of The Daily Press this morning if he could refer to any other precedents than those referred to in the Newark Evening News in which a State law was disregarded by a municipality on the opinion of counsel before being declared unconstitutional by the courts.

Mr. Marsh replied that there were many other precedents for such action. He referred in particular to the case of the Union County Freeholders in the Dodd-Blore controversy. In that case Blore was warden of the county jail and if the statute then in question was constitutional, Blore was entitled to remain warden. The county attorney gave an opinion to the Board that the act was unconstitutional. The Board on the strength of that opinion of its official counsel, which was concurred in by Mr. Marsh, ignored the alleged unconstitutional statute and appointed Dodd as warden. Blore took the ground that it was the duty of the Board to obey the statute until the courts should declare it to be unconstitutional, being the same ground taken by the petitioners in the present controversy. Blore held onto the county jail and acted as warden for several months thereafter. In the quo warranto proceedings which followed, the Supreme Court sustained Mr. Marsh's argument and held the statute to be unconstitutional.

But the most striking approval by the court of the action of the Board of Freeholders was shown in a second suit brought by Mr. Blore to recover pay for the time he served as warden after Mr. Dodd's appointment, and before the Court declared the act unconstitutional. The Supreme Court gave judgment in favor of Blore. The county attorney and Mr. Marsh took the case to the Court of Errors and Appeals, and that court reversed the Supreme Court and decided in favor of the Board of Freeholders, thereby not only approving the action of the Board, but depriving Mr. Blore of pay for the time he actually served as warden and requiring him to pay the costs of the litigation.

This appeal was issued today on behalf of the petitioners for a special election:

"Whereas, The voters from the various wards in the city have signed and presented to the Mayor and Common Council their petitions requesting the Mayor and Council to

A battle royal was fought at Princeton yesterday between the Tigers and South Orange Field Club nine. It took Old Nasau eighteen innings to beat South Orange.

The Giants knocked Pittsburg out of the lead in the National League race yesterday by beating the Pirates 4 to 3 while Chicago trimmed the Phillies again.

GOLF.

A cheerful band of individuals, composing the Eastern Trades Golf Association, drove and dug divots over the links of the Wykagyl Country Club in their annual spring tournament Tuesday. Handsome prizes were offered, and the contestants forgot all about the manufacturing of steam heating apparatus in their efforts to get around in low figures. The winner in the eighteen-hole medal play handicap proved to be G. H. Chasmer, who returned an 84 net, aided by an allowance of 10 strokes.

The other net prizes were won by E. C. Molby, C. N. Brizse and Stephen Roberts. Molby had an 86, Brizse 87 and Roberts 89. J. B. Garfield, the scratch man, who went around in 87, would have received one of the net cups had his score not entitled him to the gross score medal.

In the special competition against bogey P. H. Seward won the prize, finishing 1 up, aided by a handicap of fifteen strokes. The four-ball competition resulted in a tie between H. F. Hadden and J. B. Garfield, who made an 82 from scratch, and P. H. Seward and A. H. Pearson, with a card of 102—20—82, but as Garfield had already won in the handicap his team retired in favor of Seward and Pearson.

The tournament committee of the Eastern Trades Golf Association consists of M. E. Danforth, Findlay S. Douglas, George F. Brown and J. Barton Garfield, the chairman. Douglas was not present yesterday, however. The best scores in the handicap were as follows:

	Gross.	H'cap.	Net.
G. H. Chasmar	94	10	84
E. C. Molby	101	15	86
C. N. Brizse	102	15	87

HOW EUROPEAN KINGS ABSORB WEAKER NATIONS.

The long series of carefully planned moves which ends in the annexation of a country are fascinating in their subtlety. Let us penetrate the veil of mystery and see how Russia goes about the business. Courteous always, she begins by obtaining privileges for her merchants to pass into or through the coveted country for purposes of trade. Then comes the secret agents, most of them officers of the Russian army. Some pass themselves off as sportsmen in quest of big game, or tourists of an inquiring turn of mind. Some go on the pretense of investigating the possibilities of cotton growing or the market for agricultural machinery. Some assume the character and garb of orthodox priests and cover their political activities by religious proselytism. While others, ostensibly in quest of rugs and furs, penetrate to Ispahan and Shiraz, to Herat and Kandahar. The chauffeur of the Ameer of Afghanistan is a Russian secret agent.

The next step for Russia is to obtain permission to open stores and banks, to trade at ports, to navigate rivers, and to establish a postal service of her own. Concessions are secured for cutting timber, for growing cotton and tobacco, and for operating mines; and rights are procured whereby Russia may buy land and build consulates, stores, factories and dwellings for those who are connected with the various enterprises.

Military reconnoitering expoditions are sent into the country, accompanied by detachments of Cassacks, under the thin disguise of parties for scientific exploration. On the plea that the native tribunals would be prejudiced, she established her own courts of justice, so that Russian settlers can be tried only by Russian judges. And, finally, as the highest mark of her esteem, she "permits" the prospective victims to employ Russian officers to reorganize their armies.

Then there is a carefully planned uprising in some interior town. A few Russian stores are burned or looted, Russian mails are interrupted, the Russian flag is torn down and trampled on by a well-trained mob, and, should necessity demand it, a Russian vice consul is killed. Before the embers are cold, a Russian punitive expedition has occupied the capital and the chief seaports, for, much as it grieves her to take so drastic a step against so dear a neighbor, she is compelled to protect her subjects.

The blue-white-and-red flag of Russia is raised over the public buildings; the shah, or the emir, or the khan, or whatever the ruler's particular title may be, is packed off on a prolonged visit to St. Petersburg; a Russian military governor or political resident is installed with due pomp and ceremony, and a series of polite but vogurly worded notes is dispatched from St. Petersburg to the various European chancelleries, informing them that, in view of the threatening local disturbances Russia has been compelled to take under her protection the dominions of her majesty the shah, or the emir, or the khan, as the case may be.—Everybody's.

LATIN-AMERICANS MAY BE STRONG BUSINESS RIVALS.

Once and for all let it be understood that South America, the Mexican, the Central American, is a foe not to be despised. Nor is he a business competitor to be fooled with. South America with its population of 45,000,000, Mexico with its nearly 14,000,000, the Central American republics, representing an aggregate of over 60,000,000 of human beings.

Cities like Buneos Ayres, with its over a million population—300,000 more than Liverpool—Rio de Janeiro with its 800,000—200,000 more than Manchester—are marts which force themselves to the front in the reckoning with any commercial centres of the world.

Once infuse this colossal body with the propaganda of unification—let it once apply in any comprehensive sense of maxim that in union is strength, and you have a confederation inexpugnable on its own ground, and with aggressive possibilities of immeasurable import.

And there is no doubt that slowly, with many lapses, but with a general movement palpably manifesting itself, this idea is taking root, and will assuredly give a tremendous impetus to this gradually developed policy.—From Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

MEDITERRANEAN MOTH IS PEST OF FLOUR MILLERS.

The Miller of the Dee wouldn't have exchanged his mealy cap for the coronet of his kind, but the millers of today might be very little averse to such an agreement. It's the Mediterranean flour moth that is to blame for the discontent. This pesky insect causes more trouble to the flour-makers of the United States than all the grain weevils and flour beetles that ever infested a germ-ridden world.

Twenty years ago the Mediterranean flour moth made his debut on these shores and now the family is represented in almost every mill in the country, says Van Norden's Magazine. When the mill becomes badly infested with these insects the only thing is to fumigate. This is a very expensive undertaking, and the loss is greatly augmented by the necessary stoppage of the mill.

Not Sure About Auntie.

The teacher had called upon Freddie Brown to give an illustration of the proper manner in which to compare the adjective "clean."

"Mother is clean" said he falteringly, "father is cleaner—" Here he paused.

"And," prompted the teacher.

Freddie was still silent and very thoughtful.

"Haven't you some other relative?" asked the teacher, smiling.

"Oh, yes," replied Freddie, "there's auntie—but I ain't sure about her!"—Cleveland Leader.

There Was a Resemblance.

After the victim's ear was gone, his face battered beyond recognition, two teeth loose, and his nose disjointed, the hooligans desisted.

"How much do I owe you?" he asked between groans.

"Owe us!" they echoed. "What for?"

The victim smiled.

"Beg pardon," he said faintly. "My mind must have wandered. I thought it was a barber giving me a face massage."

Editor, The Daily Press:

Mr. Fowler's declaration of war against Mr. Kean was as sudden as that of Japan against Russia. Whatever of high principle furnished the casus belli existed a good while before the manifesto; but it would appear that Mr. Fowler was already an announced candidate for re-election; and, but for the Kean-Voorhees movement against him, would have been content to go on with Kean, yoke-fellow fashion, through another campaign. When, however, he found Kean and Voorhees conspiring against him, he, for the first time, earnestly picked up the cudgels against Kean. In this personal matter Mr. Fowler can perhaps hardly claim the sympathy of high-minded and patriotic citizens. Mr. Kean's shortcomings were numerous enough and patent enough long ago; but in effect Mr. Fowler has supported Mr. Kean with all his ability, which is considerable. Mr. Kean will miss Mr. Fowler from the stump, for the Congressman is one of the ablest of our political platform orators. He has a large grasp of public affairs, an excellent presence and voice, and a scholarly and convincing manner of stating ideas and arguments. Mr. Kean is not an orator at all, and no one would class him as a thinker. No doubt Mr. Fowler is right in intimating that Mr. Kean's forte lies in voting according to the leadership and example of men who do ably represent the interests of their own States in the Senate. Even these gentlemen do not, however, always rise to the highest plane of patriotism. Nor have they been willing to live up to the pledges upon which their last great party-success was obtained. In following their example and in voting to please them, Mr. Kean has fallen far short either of representing the wish of the people at large or of representing even the State of New Jersey. For a gentleman of Mr. Kean's calibre, however, leadership of some kind was necessary—not having the ability to be himself a leader in statesmanlike thought and plan. Time was when New Jersey was ably represented in the United States Senate. It is to be sincerely hoped that our State will again have such suitable representation. Possibly this "falling out" between Mr. Kean and Mr. Fowler may contribute toward it.

The manner and style of Mr. Fowler's attack are unfortunate. In this he has not done himself justice. He is a brainy man, one of the best endowed of our latter-day Congressmen. I do not think he is always right in his views, and I have not shared his opinions touching banking asset-currency; but he is able and progressive, and he has the ear of his constituents. They have many times returned him to Congress. He has not known defeat. Mr. Kean has been twice defeated as a popular candidate, notwithstanding enormous, (I will not say debauching) expenditures of money. Mr. Kean's power is in his bank account. Mr. Fowler's power is in his brains; and I say this in spite of what I consider to be his error of judgment in the manner of stating his case, and the case of the people, against Mr. Kean.

If with Mr. Fowler's ability, and with the persistence and fighting qualities he has shown in the past, he shall help to organize an earnest resistance against the continued misrepresentation of New Jersey in the United States Senate, he can be of great assistance toward accomplishing this deliverance. It is a cause upon which patriotic Jerseymen might well unite. Probably no considerable proportion of the people of New Jersey desire to be represented by Mr. Kean, and yet we have a situation which constitutes an anomaly and a contradiction under democratic institutions.

Mr. Fowler suggests a number of good names for the Senatorship. Fortunately Republican New Jersey is not deficient in good names. Not a few of his friends and admirers would have been glad to see Mr. Fowler elected Senator. At present, the manner of his attack on Mr. Kean would prevent the realization of their wishes. Amongst the names he mentions is that of Governor Griggs. The Governor stands high in the opinions of honest Jerseymen. If we could go outside of the list of gentlemen prominent in politics and ambitious for office, it would be a great advance in patriotic judgment to select for the Senatorship a man of the type of Alexander Gilbert who is widely known and highly esteemed and who has the particular respect and affection of his neighbors.

PAYING LEGACIES OF HOWELL WILL.

The will of Henry B. Howell, for fifty years grand scribe of the Sons of Temperance of New Jersey, of which he was founder, and for whom Howell Division, Sons of Temperance, of this city, was named, is being settled.

To the three hospitals of Trenton he left $500 each, to the Widows' and Single Women's Home, $500, the National Temperance Society, $500, State Woman's Christian Temperance of New Jersey, $500. In addition to these bequests he gave by his will, hundreds of dollars to benevolent organiatizons in Trenton. Five young men named for him were bequeathed $500 each. One of them, Henry Howell Drake, a lawyer of Elizabeth, died a month before Mr. Howell, and the legacy lapsed into the estate.

After leaving many thousands of dollars to relatives he bequeathed $200 each to Edward K. Drake, a retired newspaper man, of Elizabeth, James Fowler, of Trenton, and the Rev. Dr. Grady, a city missionary.

Mr. Howell, who was wealthy, was one of the founders of the Republican party in this State, and printed and edited its first newspaper. There was no contest over his will. He was a bachelor and the last of his family.

ENDOWMENT FUND FOR 7TH-DAY BAPTISTS' S.S.

There is a movement on foot among the members of the Seventh-Day Baptist church to put their schools on a basis of greater usefulness by raising a "Twentieth Century Endowment Fund." The report of the committee on education has been adopted and the denomination has given its hearty approval of an effort to raise an endowment fund for the benefit of four schools; designated by the executive board of the Seventh-Day Baptist Education Society, or the Board of Trustees of the Seventh-Day Baptist Memorial Fund according to the choice of each contributor, as a trustee to receive and hold in trust contributions to the proposed contributions.

It has been recommended that ninety per cent. of the income be divided equally between Salem College, Milton College and Alfred University and ten per cent. paid to the income be divided equally between Salem College, Milton College and Alfred University, and ten per cent. paid to Alfred Theological Seminary, and the presidents of the three colleges together with Dean A. E. Main, of the Seminary have been appointed a committee to work out plans for raising the fund.

The general committee in charge of the matter comprise President W. C. Daland, Milton, Wis., chairman; Dean A. E. Main, Alfred, N. Y., secretary; President C. B. Clark, Salem, W. Va., and President B. C. Davis, of Alfred, N. Y. The plan is to raise $100,000 for Christian education.

ALL TICKETS SOLD FOR "ROWENA'S TRIUMPH."

All choice seats for the production of "Rowena's Triumph," which will be presented by pupils and graduates of St. Mary's school, are taken. At the Plainfield theatre yesterday the box office was thronged for three hours while the task of exchanging tickets for seats was carried on.

The committee reported this morning that only a few gallery seats remain to be sold for Tuesday night's performance. Persons, however, who have not purchased tickets will be given an opportunity to witness the drama on Saturday afternoon in the theatre.

N. P. A. MEETING IS CALLED FOR TONIGHT.

An adjourned meeting of the North Plainfield Association will be held in the borough Council chamber tonight. The banquet committee at the session expect to be able to present a full and complete report on the recent banquet. All members who handled tickets for the affair are urged to be present.

An invitation is also extended to citizens who are not enrolled as members of the association as matters of public interest may come before the meeting.

Hospital Gets $2,000.

The two performances of "Trelawny of the Wells," given at the Plainfield theatre last week, netted $2,000 for Muhlenberg Hospital. The total receipts amounted to $3,000, and the whole expense for the production amounted to $1,000. Much credit is given to William L. Saunders for his able management of the whole affair; also to Henry C. White, who had charge of the stage details, as well as other members of the general committee who assisted.

DARKNESS DID NOT STOP PRAYER SERVICE

The heavy downpour of rain last night put the electric light wires out of commission in the West End and that part of town was in darkness for several hours. This, however, did not deter about a dozen members of the Monroe Avenue church from engaging in their midweek prayer service.

The lights in the edifice went out during the singing of one of the opening hymns and at the suggestion of the pastor, Rev. Charles S. Kemble, the service was continued in the dark.

It was planned to have F. A. Houltzhauser lecture on the life of Martin Luther, but owing to the inclement weather, and the small congregation, it was decided to postpone the lecture until next Wednesday night, June 1.

R. R. FARE INCREASE AROUSES ELIZABETH.

Elizabeth, May 26.—A general wail of dissatisfaction has been raised by the large number of commuters going to and from this city and New York since the Pennsylvania and Central railroads announced that they would raise the price of the monthly tickets from $5.65 to $6. Many of the people declare that it is an outrage, as they have been delayed on numerous occasions in getting to their work. Many of the men working in Bayonne will go there in rowboats.

A few have gone so far as to assert they will be obliged to resign their positions, as it hardly pays them to pay the commutation fee and risk their positions by being late.

In the lower section of the city, where 200 men leave daily for Bayonne to work, the feeling against the Central Railroad is bitter. The men say that the price they are now paying is enough, and that it should be lowered instead of advanced. They set forth that the advance will cut a larger hole in their weekly stipend, which is none too large. These men maintain that they will not use the railroad for going to their work, but will go by way of Staten Island instead.

The fare by that direction amounts to fifteen cents for one way, but the Staten Island Ferry Company gives reduced rates when a monthly ticket is purchased. The men averred yesterday that they would go this way, although it is a longer ride, and that they will have to arise earlier.

W. P. Martin for Governor.

William P. Martin, of Newark, at a banquet of Progressive Republicans in Krueger auditorium, Newark, last night, declared himself to be a candidate for Governor to succeed J. Franklin Fort. Five hundred men by their applause put the seal of approval upon the boom. For the first time, Mr. Martin introduced as "Jersey's own Roosevelt," stood before the gathering of voters and said: "I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor." Among those present at the banquet were George W. V. Moy and Howard Tracy, of this city.

Didn't Know the Family.

Six-year-old Billie had been sent away from the table for misbehavior and was sitting crestfallen on a chair in an adjoining room when the maid entered. Upon spying him she said: "Oh, Billie, I'd be ashamed to be sent away from the table; as big a boy as you are, too." Billie, with flashing eyes, drew himself up, saying: "Well, you wouldn't if you'd known this family as long as I have."—Delineator.

Suggestion for Girls.

A girl who has just made a brilliant marriage after two successful seasons, says: "I'm a good deal cleverer than most of the men, but I take great care that they don't know it." This attitude resulted in her being surrounded constantly by a crowd of devoted youths who thought she hung upon their clever sayings. This is a good suggestion to girls just entering society.

No Help Needed.

A little miss of five years who had been allowed to stay up for an evening party was told about 8:30 to go to bed. Very, very slowly she moved toward the stair. An aunt, seeing her reluctance, asked: "Helen, can I do anything to help you?" "No," replied Helen. "I will get there altogether too soon as it is."—Judge.

A Lucky Dog

By J. HARDING

"Come here, ye little runt, an' tell us why ye shook de gang." And with a fierce growl the big mongrel cur pounced upon the little yellow pup, sending him rolling over on his back.

"Well, lemme up, ye big tub o' nothin' an' I'll tell ye about it. Quit, I tell ye, before ye muss me ribbon."

"What d' ye mean anyway, wearin' a ribbon like one o' them swell pups? Where'd ye get it?"

"Me missus gimme that. And mebbe ye t'ink I ain't a swell pup. See that big house up on de hill? Well, that's me home, allrighty. Sure it is. Oh, I done made good,—all right, all right. Ye see, I been a-hangin' round there a week or more. Folks didn't take to me much—at first. Threw t'ings at me every time I showed up, but I didn't care; feedin' was pretty good, so what did a few kicks amount to? Was used to that.

"Well, after I got pretty well fed up, I kinder took a shine to th' young lady o' th' house. Say, she's a pippin! She didn't hanker after my society, but of course she couldn't be throwin' t'ings at me all th' time. She gives up after awhile an' her and me has some good times walkin' 'round together. Sometimes she had a feller with her, but I didn't like that so well, 'cause they can throw better'n women. There was one guy I was 'fraid of, though. Stayed there at th' house—her brother, I t'ink. Heard 'im say he was goin' t' get rid o' that cur if he had t' shoot 'im. So you betcher life I stayed out o' his way.

"I was beginnin' t' think mebbe I had better hike out 'fore he did shoot me, an' was layin' awake late in th' night thinkin' 'bout it, when I saw a guy come a-sneakin' in th' gate. I'd never seen 'im before, an' he didn't look good to me. I knowed he wasn't callin' on nobody, 'cause they was all in bed by that time. So when he comes up 'bout half way in th' yard an' whistles kinder low, I lets out a yelp an' hikes fer th' front step, barkin' to beat th' band. Then I heard th' brother cuss an' say he was goin' to fix me, so I shut up.

"From under th' step I heard th' front door open, an' I tell ye I was scared some till I heard th' rattle of skirts, an' then I knowed it was me missus. She come out in th' yard an' called th' guy. 'Tom,' she says, 'is it you?'

"'Hurry up,' th' guy says, 'I'm 'fraid that cur has aroused them. My machine's right out here, an' we'll be away in a jiffy.'

"Well, before they had a chance t' get away, here comes th' brother bustin' through th' door—a-huntin' me. But when he seen them two out in th' yard he forgot all about me.

"'Elizabeth,' he says, 'what ye doin' with that grip? An' who is this with you?' Then when he seen th' guy good, he grabs 'im by th' collar an' begins a-kickin' him.

"'I'll show ye how to come 'round here 'lopin' with my sister,' he yells. 'Tom Scanlon, ye dirty thief, if ye don't get out o' here in about a minute I'll have ye sent to th' penitentiary just as sure as I live!' An' don't ye know, that guy just hustled down th' walk an' jumped in his machine an' was gone 'fore ye could say Jack Robinson.

"Then th' brother turned to th' lady, an' his voice didn't sound mad like it did when he was talkin' to th' guy.

"'Sis, he says, 'ye must excuse me fer buttin' in, but I just couldn't help it. Ye see, I know that feller, an' there ain't a dirtier scoundrel in th' city than he is. I thought I ought t' let ye know 'bout 'im; then if ye want t' go on, it's up to you.'

"Well, she cried a little, then she asked 'im not t' tell nobody, an' said she didn't want nothin' more t' do with th' guy if he was that sort. An' as they was a-goin' to th' house I heard th' brother say, 'An' it was all on account o' th' little dog.'

"Ye betcher life I stand ace high with th' lady an' her big brother, all right, an' what they say goes with the rest of 'im.

"But say, I gotter go. She'll be worryin' 'bout me if I ain't Johnny on the spot at eatin' time. Bring th' gang 'round some time an' I'll set 'em up."

A Fire Chief There, Maybe.

One day a sympathetic old German gentleman was leisurely strolling past one of the city firehouses when he was moved by the tears of the captain. Stopping to offer consolation, he said:

"Say, for what you grief?"

"Oh," replied the captain, with a fresh gush of tears, "my poor father is dead. If he had lived just one more day he would have been chief of the whole fire department; just think."

"Do not so bad feel," said the friendly old German, patting the fellow on the shoulder, "maybe he is a fire chief now."—From Norman E. Mack's National Monthly.

Alaric the Goth.

Alaric, the first of the barbarian kings who entered and sacked the Eternal City, and the first enemy who had appeared before its walls since the time of Hannibal, is said to have received as the price of his departure from the city (during the first siege, in A. D. 408) 5,000 pounds weight of gold, 3,000 pounds weight of silver, 3,000 silken robes, 3,000 pieces of scarlet cloth and 4,000 pounds of pepper. In order to furnish a portion of the ransom it became necessary to melt down some of the statues of the ancient gods.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning May 29, 1910.

Topic.—Is ours a Christian nation?—Ps. xxxiii, 8-22. Comment by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

The only answer that can be given to the question "Is the United States of America a Christian nation?" is that it is. To say that a nation is a Christian nation does not mean that every citizen of that country is a Christian, nor does it mean that there are no adherents of other religions within its bounds. The Chinese empire is Confucian, so far as religion is concerned, but multitudes of its people are not followers of Confucius, but are Buddhists, Brahmans and Christians. So it is to a greater or less extent with all nations. But the United States in numbers, in the character of its government, in its history and development, is by far more Christian than China is Confucian or India is Brahman. It is more distinctively of one particular religion (Christianity) than perhaps any other nation in the world.

1. Numerically our nation is a Christian nation. The recent religious census gives the total membership of Christian churches as about 33,000,000. But actual membership in the Christian church does not begin to include the entire number of our people who are Christian in heart and in belief. Every actual church member represents on an average between one and two who are Christians in preference to any other religion, so that within a few millions of our population, and they representing unbelief rather than faith in any other religion, all our people are professors or advocates of Christianity. No other religion has any numerical hold upon our nation.

2. Our nation, from a historical standpoint, always has been Christian. Christian people settled our land. God led them here from tyranny and persecution abroad. In all their struggles and dangers they put their trust in God, and He blessed and helped them. In all great national crises we have depended upon the God of Christianity. Moreover, today, in peace as in time of war, in quiet as in storm, our nation goes steadily on advancing in Christian civilization.

3. In the basic principles of her government our nation is Christian. God's name may not be written in the constitution of the United States, but it is plainly written in the character of that immortal document. If not written in the constitution it is stamped upon our coins, and when a popular president decided to omit the motto "In God We Trust" the people demanded its retention, and it was retained. None but a Christian nation would have taken such a vigorous position and compelled its opinion to be regarded. The laws of our states are practically Christian as well as the vast majority of our officeholders. No atheist could be elected to any important office in our land. Robert G. Ingersoll was once under consideration as a candidate for governor of New York, but his party dared not nominate him because of his agnosticism. Some time later he sarcastically asked, "What good has Christianity ever done anyway?" A clever elderly lady at once replied, "It kept Robert Ingersoll from being governor of New York." That was a great good at least.

4. The attitude of our nation toward foreign missions demonstrates that it is Christian. This nation surpasses all other Christian nations in its foreign mission benevolence and activities. America is looked upon by the world as the greatest force for the evangelization of the heathen nations. "Evangelize America and through America the world" is a common slogan. Let us speed the day when America shall be absolutely Christian. Let every Endeavorer be a good citizen and not neglect or avoid the duties of citizenship. Let not extent of territory, the fast increase and possession of wealth, the advance of commercialism, be the basis of the proud exclamation "I am an American," but rather let it be the increasingly assured fact that this is a nation "whose God is the Lord" and ours a "people whom He hath chosen for His inheritance."

BIBLE READINGS.

Mark ii, 1-5; Ps. li, 18; cxlvii, 20; Prov. xiv, 34; Matt. xvii, 24-27; xxii, 15-21; Rom. ix, 1-5; x, 1-4; xiii, 1; I Tim. ii, 1-3; Heb. xi, 8-16.

Value of New Schemes.

The "model Endeavorer" will not be afraid to start new schemes. Christian Endeavor from its beginning has been a series of new starts and new schemes. Its religious and secular life are so interwoven that you never know what a new plan will accomplish. Some Endeavorers took possession of the pastor's study while he was away on his vacation and completely renovated it, putting in a new carpet, desk and chairs. Of course the pastor preached better after his return. The young people were interested in the place where the sermons were prepared and, of course, in the sermons themselves, and the final result was a revival. New work springs from new work.

A Voice From Galatia.

After nearly fourteen years of waiting the school and church building at Yozgat, in Galatia, Turkey in Asia, were erected a short time ago. The leader in this work is Rev. G. H. Krikorian, the Armenian Christian Endeavor pioneer who many years ago published in Turkey Christian Endeavor literature which was suppressed by the timid authorities. Many young people's societies contributed to Mr. Krikorian's enterprise, and the American board kept the funds until the recent change in the Turkish empire made building possible.

CHAPTER XVIII.

The Missing Slipper.

There will always remain something to be said of woman as long as there is one on earth.—Bauflers.

We passed the luncheon hour at the hostelry of my friend Jacques Bertillon; after which I suggested a stroll about the town for a time.

Before we started, I asked him to step to my room, where I had left my pipe. My eye fell on the commode's top, casually. I saw that it was bare. I recalled the strange warning of the baroness the evening previous. I was watched? My apartment had been entered in my absence. Property of mine had been taken.

My perturbation must have been discoverable in my face. "What iss it?" asked the old man. "You forget something?"

"No," said I, stammering. "It is nothing."

He looked at me dubiously. "Well, then," I admitted; "I miss something from my commode here. Some one has taken it."

"It iss of value, perhaps?" he inquired politely.

"Well, no; not of intrinsic value. 'Twas only a slipper—of white satin, made by Braun of Paris."

"One slipper? Of what use—"

"It belonged to a lady—I was about to return it," I said; but I fear my face showed me none too calm.

"Each man studies for himself his own specialty," mused the old man. "You haf perhaps studied the species of woman. Once, also I."

We walked, my friend musing and babbling, myself still anxious and uneasy. We turned out of narrow Notre Dame street, and into St. Lawence Main street. As we strolled I noted without much interest the motley life about me, picturesque now with the activities of the advancing spring. Presently, however, my idle gaze was drawn to two young Englishmen whose bearing in some way gave me the impression that they belonged in official or military life, although they were in civilian garb.

Presently the two halted, and separated. The taller kept on to the east, to the old French town. At length I saw him joined, as though by appointment, by another gentleman, one whose appearance at once gave me reason for a second look. He accosted my young Englishman, and without hesitation the two started off together. As they did so I gave an involuntary exclamation. The taller man I had seen once before, the shorter, very many times—in Washington!

"Yess," commented my old scientist calmly; "so strange! They go together."

"Ah, you know them!" I almost fell upon him.

"Yess—last night. The tall one iss Mr. Peel, a young Englishman; the other is Mexican, they said—Señor Yturrio, of Mexico. He spoke much. Me, I wass sleepy then. But also that other tall one we saw go back—that wass Capt. Parke, also of the British navy. His ship iss the war boat Modeste—a fine one. I see her often when I walk on the riffer front, there."

I turned to him and made some excuse, saying that presently I would join him again at the hotel. Dreamily as ever, he smiled and took his leave. For myself, I walked on rapidly after the two figures, then a block or so ahead of me.

I saw them turn into a street which was familiar to myself. They passed on, turning from time to time among the old houses of the French quarter. Presently they entered the short side street which I myself had seen for the first time the previous night. I pretended to busy myself with my pipe, as they turned in at the very gate which I knew, and knocked at the door which I had entered with my mysterious companion!

The door opened without delay; they both entered.

So, then, Helena von Ritz had other visitors! England and Mexico were indeed conferring here in Montreal. There were matters going forward here in which my government was concerned.

At the moment nothing better occurred to me than to return to my room and wait for a time. It would serve no purpose for me to disclose myself, either in or out of the apartments of the baroness, and it would not aid me to be seen idling about the neighborhood in a city where there was so much reason to suppose strangers were watched. I resolved to wait until the next morning, and to take my friend Von Rittenhofen with me. He need not know all that I knew, yet in case of any accident to myself or any sudden contretemps, he would serve both as a witness and as an excuse for disarming any suspicion which might be entertained regarding myself.

The next day he readily enough fell in with my suggestion of a morning stroll, and again we sallied forth, at about nine o'clock, having by that time finished a dejeuner a la fourchette with Jacques Bertillon, which to my mind compared unfavorably with one certain other I had shared.

A sense of uneasiness began to oppress me, I knew not why, before I had gone half way down the little street from the corner where we turned. It was gloomy and dismal enough at the best, and on this morning an unusual apathy seemed to sit upon it, for few of the shutters were down, although the hour was now mid-morning. Something said to me that it would be as well for me to turn back.

I might as well have done so. We passed up the little walk, and I raised the knocker at the door; but even as it sounded I knew what would happen. There came to me that curious feeling which one experiences when one knocks at the door of a house which lacks human occupancy. Even more strongly I had that strange feeling now, because this sound was not merely that of unoccupied rooms—it came from rooms empty and echoing!

"Yes," Commented My Old Scientist Calmly; "So Strange. They Go Together."

I tried the door. It was not locked. I flung it wide, and stepped within. At first I could not adjust my eyes to the dimness. Absolute silence reigned. I pushed open a shutter and looked about me. The rooms were not only unoccupied, but unfurnished! The walls and floors were utterly bare! Not a sign of human occupancy existed. I hastened out to the little walk, and looked up and down the street, to satisfy myself that I had made no mistake. No, this was the number—this was the place.

Followed by my wondering companion, I made such inquiry as I could in the little neighborhood. I could learn nothing.

"Sir," said I to my friend, at last; "I do not understand it. I have pursued, but it seems the butterfly has flown." So, both silent, myself morosely so, we turned and made our way back across the town.

Half an hour later we were on the docks at the river front, where we could look out over the varied shipping which lay there. My scientific friend counted one vessel after another, and at last pointed to a gap in the line.

"Yesterday I wass here," he said, "and I counted all the ships and their names. The steamer Modeste she lay there. Now she iss gone."

I pulled up suddenly. This was the ship which carried Capt. Parke and his friend Lieut. Peel of the British navy. The secret council at Montreal was, therefore, apparently ended! There would be an English land expedition, across Canada to Oregon. Would there be also an expedition by sea? At least my errand in Montreal, now finished, had not been in vain, even though it ended in a mystery and a query."

CHAPTER XIX.

The Gentleman from Tennessee.

Women distrust men too much in general, and not enough in particular.—Philibert Commerson.

Now all the more was it necessary for me and my friend from Oregon to hasten on to Washington. Rumors abounded, I found as soon as I struck the first cities below the Canadian line. It was in the air now that under Calhoun there would be put before congress a distinct and definite attempt at the annexation of Texas. Stories of all sorts were on the streets; rumors of the wrath of Mr. Clay; yet other rumors of interesting possibilities at the coming Whig and Democratic conventions. Everywhere was that strange, ominous, indescribable tension of the atmosphere which exists when a great people is moved deeply.

Late as it was when I reached Washington, I did not hesitate to repair at once to the residence of Mr. Calhoun; and I took with me as my best adjutant my strange friend Von Rittenhofen, who, I fancied, might add detailed information which Mr. Calhoun would find of value. We were admitted to Mr. Calhoun; and after the first greetings he signified that he would hear my report. He sat, his long, thin hands on his chair arm, as I went on with my story, his keen eyes scanning also my old companion as I spoke. I explained what the latter knew regarding Oregon. I saw Mr. Calhoun's eyes kindle. As usual, he did not lack decision.

"Sir," said he to Von Rittenhofen presently, "we ourselves are young, yet I trust not lacking in a great nation's interest in the arts and sciences. It occurs to me now that in yourself we have opportunity to add to our store of knowledge in respect to certain biological features."

MAY DAY PAGEANT WILL START TONIGHT

The weather man evidently thinks that Plainfield is one of the spots where his indulgence should have the best display and in consequence has ordered special conditions for the exhibition tonight, tomorrow night and Saturday. Nothing could be better than the layout of the clouds which the wetherman's influence has caused to be dispelled and a record-breaking crowd will likely witness the performances in the City Park tonight.

The committee having the May Day pageant in charge have taken every precaution looking toward the health and comfort of those who will attend the festival. The grounds will be brilliantly illuminated and danger from dampness will not be noticeable because of the boards scattered about the grounds.

Owing to the fact that all the seats are on the same level the committee respectfully ask that the women spectators consider those behind them and if possible either remove their hats or come without them. Another thing which may be safely considered is that those who intend to purchase flowers for gift purposes do so at the flower booth on the grounds. Orders for pictures of the dances taken by P. Frank Stone, will be taken.

There is no question about the effectiveness of the dances which will be produced in the stage tonight. They are artistically the best that this city has ever witnessed and those who miss the various spectacles will have omitted one of their greatest opportunities.

ATTACKS ON STATUTES

Cases Where City Attorney Has Advised That a Law is Unconstitutional.

CITY HAS ALWAYS WON.

Some Cases in Point Which Give the Clue Why Corporation Counsel Gave that Opinion on Voting Machine.

That the Corporation Counsel has been eminently successful in litigation where he has previously given his opinion that a particular statute is unconstitutional, is shown as a result of an investigation made by a representative of this paper. The Daily Press was prompted in having the records looked up when a communication was received yesterday asking why Corporation Counsel C. A. Marsh should advise the Common Council to order a special election on the voting machine when the statute makes such action mandatory. It will be recalled that the city's attorney advised the city fathers that in his opinion the law is unconstitutional and that the municipality could allow the petitioners for an election to bring mandamus proceedings. In this way, the constitutionality of the statute would be tested.

As stated in this paper yesterday, Mr. Marsh gave such advise in the case of the Union County Freeholders in the Dodd-Blore controversy. In quo warranto proceedings, the Supreme Court sustained Mr. Marsh's argument and held the statute to be unconstitutional.

Among other instances in which the opinions of Mr. Marsh holding statutes to be unconstitutional were subsequently upheld by the decisions of the courts, the records show the following:

In Plainfield against Hall the statute purported to confer power on the Common Pleas judge to review judgments of the City Court. Under that statute the judgment in question was reversed. Mr. Marsh advised the Common Council that the statute was unconstitutional and obtained leave to take the case to the Supreme Court. That court in an opinion by Judge Dixon held that the statute was unconstitutional.

Perhaps the case of most importance to this city was the case in which the act to incorporate the Plainfield fire department, covering Plainfield and a part of North Plainfield, was declared unconstitutional. That act was passed in 1854, and from that time to 1887 the Board of Fire Commissioners assessed and collected taxes. Mr. Marsh gave an opinion that the charter, so far as it conferred power to assess and collect taxes, was unconstitutional. Local counsel, with the aid of Attorney General Stockton, made the most elaborate efforts to sustain the constitutionality of the act in the litigation which followed, but the Supreme Court declared the act unconstitutional. The city then procured legislation under which it organized the present fire department, to be controlled by the city.

The late Col. George Bliss, on the recommendation of the late Roland Cox, applied to Mr. Marsh for an opinion as to the constitutionality of a statute under which Long Branch made assessments. The opinion rendered was that the act was unconstitutional. The Supreme Court in the case of Dobbins against Long Branch, sustained that opinion and declared the statute unconstitutional and void.

In the case of Haurand against Connett, Mr. Marsh convinced Supreme Court Judge Magee, who afterwards became chief justice and chancellor, that the statute giving the Circuit Court power to review on certiorari summary proceedings in landlord and tenant cases, although it had been acted under for many years, was unconstitutional, and judgment was rendered accordingly.

There have been other statutes under which the city from time to time has contemplated acting, but refrained from acting because of opinions of the corporation counsel holding the statutes to be unconstitutional; and so far as these statutes subsequently came before the courts, they have in every instance been so declared.

An instance of the other sort in which Mr. Marsh's opinion was in favor of the constitutionality of the statute in question, and such opinion was sustained against the attack of eminent counsel was the case of Lewis against the Water Works Co. of Plainfield and the City of Plainfield. Plainfield had made a contract for a water supply. The proceedings were certiorariedl, and it was contended that the Water Works act of 1867 under which the water company was incorporated, was unconstitutional and void. Mr. Marsh

MOVEMENT FOR PUBLIC PLAYGROUNDS IN BORO

The necessity of public parks in the borough was the keynote of the meeting of the North Plainfield Association held in the Borough Council Chamber last night. David J. Carney began the discussion, by offering a suggestion that the association make an effort to acquire certain sites within the borough limits that are adapted for "breathing spots" for poor children. He mentioned a plot of land owned by the Curry estate on Brook avenue and a site along Stony Brook on Grove street and Greenbrook road. The two suggested locations were considered, and following an informal discussion, President Alex. Milne appointed Mr. Carney chairman of the committee to investigate the situation, and was empowered to appoint two associates on the committee.

Professor B. J. Phelps, of the North Plainfield High School, secretary of the association, was among those who spoke in favor of the establishment of parks and ball grounds for high school boys. "A ball ground is a safeguard for a community," declared Professor Phelps. "It is better to have boys playing ball than to have them standing on street corners in front of pool rooms and other similar places.

"I think the matter should be considered seriously by the association," continued Mr. Phelps. "A baseball team has a great bearing on the spirit of a school, a great bearing on a school and a school that slights athletics is not a school."

Councilman William L. Smalley in a discussion along the line of the necessity of parks suggested that the opening up of Albert street to Greenbrook road would be a move in this direction, and he and Meredith Dryden were appointed a committee to look into the matter.

Former Councilman James K. Arnold advised the extension of Myrtle avenue, from West End avenue to Dunellen avenue, holding that it would be a big improvement to the borough. Councilman Smalley was appointed as chairman of the committee to investigate the feasibility of this projected improvement.

The municipal ownership of a water plant by the borough was touched on and the association voted to co-operate with the Borough Council as to whether it was advisable to take up the matter. Secretary Phelps was authorized to communicate with J. A. Stahl, chairman of the water committee, urging co-operation in the matter.

David J. Carney, chairman of the banquet committee, presented a report showing that the association netted a profit of $60 on the banquet held on April 28. A vote of thanks was extended to the committee.

Rev. Joseph O. McKelvey made some remarks favoring public parks.

In Trouble Himself.

George L. Forsythe, who caused the arrest of Henry A. O'Rourke on a charge of theft from his premises, was himself arrested yesterday by Mr. O'Rourke on complaint of J. K. Van Ness on a charge of trespass. Mr. Forsythe was released under a bond of $300.

Mathewson Visits Plainfield.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY FOR ASSAULTING COP

William Jackson, the negro arrested on Wednesday night by Patrolman Charles Anderson after a fight on Central avenue, was sent to Elizabeth this morning in charge of Sergeant Overbaugh, who landed his man in the county jail without further trouble. Jackson is being held under $3,000 bonds to await the action of the grand jury. Samuel Bolden who was accused of having interfered with Anderson in the performance of his duty was held in $500 for appearance on June 4 before Judge Runyon. Bail for the latter was furnished by his counsel, William G. DeMeza.

William Conover, who was arraigned last evening before Judge William Runyon on a charge of gambling and resisting Patrolman Vanderweg in the discharge of his duties, was fined $10, with the alternative of spending twenty days in the county jail.

PRINCETON'S ALUMNI WILL HOLD A SMOKER

The Princeton Alumni Association of Plainfield, is planning to hold a smoker in the grill room of the Watchung Hunt Club, on Tuesday night, May 31, and a fine time is promised all the members who attend. The speakers will be Prof. Stockton Axson, of the faculty; Senator Morton Saxe, of New York, '83, and William W. Roper, '02, the head football coach at the University.

The affair comes a little later in the season than usual, but the members were unable to arrange for an earlier date and secure the desired speakers. The committee in charge comprises Dr. B. VanD. Hedges chairman; Edward J. Patterson, James P. Murray, Dudley H. Barrows and Ames Brooks.

CONTRACTS AWARDED FOR ST. MARY'S CONVENT.

Contracts have been awarded for the erection of the new St. Mary's convent at the corner of Liberty and West Sixth streets. Frank McInerney, of this city, will do the mason work, and Michael Byrne, of Elizabeth, was awarded the carpenter work.

The structure will cost about $20,000 and will be fully completed by next spring. Contractor McInerney has started work in making excavations preparatory to erecting the foundations.

President Rush Rhees Will Preach.

McCutchen, of the borough, announce that he will be the commencement preacher at Columbia University May 29 and will preach the baccalaureate sermon at the commencement exercises of Rochester University in June.

INSANITY HIS DEFENSE?

PANEL FOR MURDER TRIAL.

Somerset County to Pay for Services of Defendant's Counsel, Robert Newton Crane and A. A. Clark.

Robert Newton Crane, of this city, and Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, were appointed this morning by Judge Parker, sitting in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, at Somerville, to act as counsel for John Vincent Buckley, the alleged murderer of Mrs. Frederick Coveley, of North Plainfield.

In court this morning Judge Parker was informed by Mr. Crane that all of the funds he had received to carry out the defense of the prisoner had been spent for carfare and suggested that Mr. Clark or some other attorney be retained by the county to assist him in defending Buckley. Judge Parker, on this plea, appointed Mr. Clark to assist Mr. Crane.

Mr. Crane also received an order from the court permitting Dr. Green, of Elizabeth, and a Somerville physician, to make an examination as to the prisoner's sanity. This indicates that Buckley's defense will be insanity. Mr. Crane also requested that Dr. Maximilian Groszmann also be appointed to examine the prisoner but this motion was denied.

The court was informed by Mr. Crane that the defense would be in readiness to open the trial on Wednesday, June 1, as scheduled.

The following panel of jurors have been drawn for the trial:

William P. Laing, William K. Holt, Simon Mantz, Charles H. Lyman, Charles J. Byer, Jr., Peter H. Herder, Charles F. La Rue, John M. Brokaw, William H. Horton, James Ralph, Christopher Conover, Samuel Marine, Louis V. Ludlow, Peter H. Reger, William J. Kepler, William Senter, D. Newton Waish, James McCready, Walter Mucklow, George Friday, Henry J. Brokaw, Harmon Sutton, Fred Miller, Peter Terhune, Israel V. Adams, Arnold Owens, Arion Cruser, Christopher Eahnny, Daniel H. Ammerman, Austin Wright, R. Veghte, Abram V. D. Williamson, Peter Hall, Charles Bo s, Howard Stryker, Augustus B. Bembrook, Andrew V. Covine, John H. Ross, John Hulick Theodore Luers n, Jacob R. Sutphen, Stephen Arnott, Martin Jenning, William H. Kershaw, Edward Sutphen, James Flynn, Robert Garrabrant.

HOLY CROSS CHOIR IS HEARD TO ADVANTAGE

Holy Cross choir in one of the best of the five concerts given by them held up their reputation last night before one of the best audiences ever assembled in the parish house. After the singing of Molloy's "Song of the Triton" the listeners were ready for a special treat—and they were not disappointed. What could have been sweeter than "Ma Curly Headed Baby" when Miss Lorke made everybody think they were rocking the cradle. And what could be better than the "Song of the Vikings," which ended the entertainment?

Will S. O'Brien, the organist of the church, has reason to be proud of his young singers. Interpretations of songs by Pinsuti and De Beriot such as those rendered last night are not often heard in Plainfield and more the reason why discriminating music lovers should prefer the songs of youth rather than the lisping, halted notes of those who depend upon the present day ragtime songs and dances for entertainment.

Mr. Ball's coster songs delighted the audience and many of those present would have been glad to have had them repeated. The work of the choir was admirable. Mr. Scanlon's contributions were heartily received and deservedly so. The concert was a success from every standpoint.

WASHINGTON AVENUE TEAM WINS TENPIN MATCH.

At the Park Club last night the Washington avenue five-back bowlers maintained their supremacy against "The World," a team composed of members not residing on Washington avenue. They won two straight games by scores of 497 to 450, and 471 to 439.

This is the last contest of the season. The attendance was large and much interest manifested.

MAY DAY PAGEANT, FOR PUBLIC PLAYGROUNDS FUND, DRAWS BIG CROWD

Twelve hundred people gathered in the City park last night to witness what actually was one of the most brilliant spectacles ever presented to the public of this city. Graceful dancing, splendid music and an unrestrained freedom in the open air all lent their influence to make the opening night of the Kirmess in aid of the public playgrounds successful. Mayor Charles J. Fisk with the enthusiasm which always characterizes his acts stepped with lively feet in front of the procession at the final roundup of the dancers and after the grand march headed the megaphone artists in appeals to the audience for votes in the dancing contest.

The work of C. Bertram Leggett who had charge of the voting contest was one of the features of the final scenes of the pageant. A great number of the actual votes received in which the "Rough Riders" carried off the palm were due to his activity. In all 1226 votes were cast with the following results: Fete de Mai, 222; Queen Flora, 52; Spanish, 156; Killarney, 92; Tyrolean, 59; Jumping Jacks, 121; Pony Ballet, 150; Bulgarian, 19; Millie and Billikens, 53; Rough Riders, 302.

One woman in the audience last night gave expression to a sentiment which might well find its echo in the breast of every other person who witnessed the splendid performance of the dancers and the historical pageant. She said: "One must wonder how so much energy can be voluntarily given for so magnificent a project when the work is so prodigious, and not always appreciated.

From the beginning, when even the most optimistic felt that the threatening clouds would drench the park and its temporary population, until the final march, the spectacle presented will remain indelibly impressed upon the memories of those who were so fortunate as to witness it. The Pierrot and Columbines, following closely upon the premiere dance of May enthused the audience so that the applause was continuous until the end.

Nothing more dignified and pretty could have been devised than the gavotte danced by the Lords and Ladies of the court of the May Queen. Picturesque costumes, graceful gestures and a courtliness of character brought to the front the natural beauty of the old time social deferences paid as a tribute to beauty. Its effectiveness was not marred by a single mis-step nor was there any room for criticism in the portrayals of the different characters. Ball tossing in its antique form amused the vast audience and the applause at the end of the opening dance could have been heard half a mile away.

Perhaps one of the prettiest pieces of dancing was performed by little Stella Butler who won unlimited applause and a vociferous encore for her dainty tripping. "Twinkling feet" hardly expresses the thoughts surrounding the appearance and poses of this little beauty and she will continue to be a drawing card throughout the four performances. Another notably graceful dancer was Miss Grace Hall, in fact the whole list of names could be given with the assurance that each one deserved special mention.

The boys in the various dances acquitted themselves with the assurance of veterans of the game and if they continue in the manner in which they have started they will be remembered for a long time as provid-

AUTO OIL-SPRINKLER AT WORK ON STREETS

Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett has secured two oil-sprinkling cars of the auto type, known as the "Saybolt," from the Standard Oil Company to sprinkle oil on the streets of the city. The device is the patent of George Saybolt, of the Standard Oil Company.

The cars are provided with tanks holding 1,000 gallons of oil. The machine is equipped with an air compressor, operated by a gas motor, and the air forces the oil through the apparatus in a fine spray. It puts a thinner coat of oil on the street and with more power than in the ordinary way. It puts the oil on in less quantity requiring more frequent treatment, but permits the immediate use of the road.

Arrangements have been made with the Standard Oil Company to put this oil on here by contract, the price being one and one-fifth cents per square yard. The roads treated thus far include East Front street from Leland avenue to Terrill road, Franklin place, Watchung avenue, Crescent avenue, parts of West Eighth street, East Sixth street and East Third street.

THIRTY-SECOND WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED

Mr. and Mrs. George Staats, of Netherwood avenue, celebrated the thirty-second anniversary of their wedding last night by giving what they called a "house dedication," which marked the possession of their new home. Fifteen years ago when they moved into a new house a similar affair was held and Rev. Dr. J. S. Braker, then pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, but now of the First Baptist church, Lynn, Mass., conducted an informal religious service.

Dr. Braker was among those present last night and he and Rev. J. W. Musson, of the Temple Baptist church, of which Mrs. Staats is a member, officiated at a religious service prior to the wedding festivities. Dr. Braker made a few remarks appropriate to the occasion and Mr. Musson offered prayer and read the story from the Bible of the dedication of the Temple. Congratulations were then offered. During the evening Mr. Musson on behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society and the King's Daughters of the Temple Baptist church, presented Mrs. Staats with a dozen silver tea spoons.

During the festivities there was a pleasing musical program, including a vocal solo by Mrs. David C. Patterson, vocal duets by Miss Thomas and Henry Thomas; Mrs. Charles Quint and David C. Patterson and Mrs. David C. Patterson and George Staats, Jr.; also an instrumental duet by Mrs. J. H. Cubberly, mandolin, and Miss May Richardson, piano. The program was well received and the musicians responded to several encores. The program was concluded with the singing of "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow," after which refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Staats have lived in Plainfield throughout their married life and have a host of friends here. There were about two hundred guests present at last night's affair.

SAW THE HALLEY COMET SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

While scores of New Market residents are skeptical on the Halley Comet craze, George Larkin, aged eighty-three years, who resides near that village, entertains the belief that scientists are correct and that the comet will appear in the skies in due time.

In conversation with a Daily Press reporter Mr. Larkin declared that he saw the comet seventy-five years ago, when he was a lad of eight years. He related the incident when his father awakened the household one morning about 3 o'clock and he and the other members of the family witnessed the comet whisk its tail through the skies.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR.

Union Leaders Appear in Behalf of Sulzer Bill.

Washington, May 27.—A sub-committee of the House committee on labor Wednesday gave a hearing on the Sulzer bill to create a Department of Labor, the secretary to have a seat in the Cabinet.

Representative Sulzer, of New York, said his bill was not antagonized by capital and was favored by the toilers and producers.

"I believe that the great army of industrial workers should be represented by a Cabinet officer, so that their rights at all times can be explained and their interests protected," he said.

Mr. Sulzer introduced President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, who argued in favor of the bill. He was followed by Frank Morrison, secretary of the Federation of Labor, who submitted statistics to show the number of wage-earners in the country who would be benefited by the proposed department.

The contests will be held in September. The races twelve years ago were won by the Medway Club's boat Maid of Kent against Mark Fay's boat Irex.

That old question of the superiority of the college athlete over the club athlete is sure to be threshed out this season, writes Arthur Duffey. The great strides the club athletes have made the past few years, owing to the encouragement the different clubs have given them, Duffey says, have now placed them in line for leading honors. Here is a list of some of them, and in looking them over there will be but few college athletes to be found to be reckoned in their class: Martin Sheridan, Harry Gissing, Mel Sheppard, George Bonhag, and many others. If a dual meet could be arranged between the winners of the college championships and the pick of the club athletes it would be a contest worth going miles to see.

The tennis season will open at the Plainfield Country Club on Saturday, June 4, with the men's novice event, open to players who have never won a prize in a lawn tennis tournament.

BASEBALL LAW NEEDS NO CHANGE

Tinkerers with baseball law are trying to change the game so that batting might increase. Various suggestions have been made, some of them worthy and some of them absurd.

One writer goes so far as to say that a return to the old style in which the batsman asks for a high ball, low ball or any kind of ball he desires might solve the so-called problem. This writer was not trying to be humorous, but was dead serious, which reflects some of the absurdities one occasionally encounters in baseball literature.

In all the mass of suggestions to promote batting, nobody has pointed out how present-day baseball was so disgustingly unsatisfactory that it ought to be changed at all.

Would a fan like an 18-7 game better than a 2 to 1 contest? What is wrong with modern baseball?

The people want lots of hitting, they answer. How do they know they do? Do the men who go out to games every day want to see two and a half hours of aimless slugging? Possibly the man who sees one game a year would like to see a quarter season of hitting on the one day he enriches the club's treasury, but how about the others who go regularly and are the backbone and support of the game?

To take drastic legislation to increase hitting would simply ruin the game. It would be taking a step backward. It would put inferior managers on a footing with the competent managers.

Nobody ever hears the Macks, Jenningses, McGraws, Clarkes and Chances making a wail about the lack of hitting. These shrewd managers are always able to gather about them a number of men who are able to worry a pitcher once in a while. Look at the Collinses, Murphys, Bakers, Davises, Cobbs, Crawfords, Doyles, Bridwells, Wagners, Leaches, Millers, Tinkers and Hofmans. They are not thinking much about the pre-eminence of the pitcher.

The writer believes that the game as it is played today cannot be improved. It is a battle of wits, with one team trying desperately to outguess the other and the opponent equally on the alert to know what is going on.

In the game today a hit has some meaning. We are sure to see a contest and not eighteen men in a rough, witless, leather-mauling duel. The pitchers today are good. That is a fact. When a Mathewson, Bender, Joss or Walsh is carded to perform, you can generally take it for granted that you will see high-class work in the box.

There is no need to return to old cat or town ball. The sport is satisfactory to the majority of persons that support the game today, even if some superannuated writers, always barking about the glorious past, want to go back to the seventies.

GOLF.

Playing a wonderfully steady game, always straight ahead and with few errors, Miss Fanny C. Osgood, of the Country Club, Brookline, led a field of forty-three starters in the qualifying round of the Boston Women's Golf Association's eleventh championship tournament, over the Wollastop links Tuesday.

Miss Osgood's 85 for the eighteen holes is considered one of the finest exhibitions of golf in this part of the country since the visit of Miss Rhona Adair, the British champion.

Mrs. E. C. Wheeler, of Wollaston, who won the Eastern title last year as Miss Mary B. Adams, was second, with 88; Miss Alice Underwood, of Oakley, was third, with 90, while Miss K. C. Harley, of Fall River, a former national champion, had 92. Four others made 98 or better, including Mrs. F. S. Lefferts, of Englewood, who was invited to compete in the medal round, but will not continue at match play.

"Hardluck" Randolph.

Clifford Randolph, the Grant avenue boy, pitching for Binghamton yesterday dropped another hardluck game, losing to Troy by the score of 2 to 1. Six hits were made off each pitcher. If Cliff could land a job on a winning team he would be a star.

The Women's Relief Corps will meet tonight to complete details for the observance of Memorial Day. Under its direction a large chorus of children will sing at the public exercises Monday afternoon at Reform Hall and there will be recitations by children.

Harvey VanPelt, of the West End, has been visiting his father at Millstone.

FACULTY TRIUMPH OVER THE SENIORS

A mixed team of janitors, students, professors, algebra experts and science instructors, representing the Plainfield High Faculty, defeated the Seniors in the annual baseball contest on Crescent Oval yesterday afternoon by the score of 7 to 5. The contest was witnessed by a good sized crowd of school teachers and boy and girl students.

The lolly-pop merchant did a rushing business as about every representative of the schools indulged in these sticked sweets. The camera brigade was also in evidence and the modest diamond artists were embarrassed on several occasions by being obliged to pose in battle array. In connection with the picture taking feature it is supposed that Commander-in-Chief Lindsley Best of the Faculty aggregation submitted to the snap-shooting torture at least thirty-three times. There were five official scorers doing duty on the bench including "Obituary Jack" Nicol, but none of the photo experts came there way.

There was little science connected with the contest although there was some class to the encouraging cheer yells that were furnished for the occasion by the teacher's brigade.

There were bunches of loose plays and there were also some fancy work executed.

It was the first time in the baseball history of the school that the faculty triumphed over the Seniors, 'tis said.

There is no guessing where the educators would have finished in the contest had it not been for the superb work contributed by the janitorial pair, Ben Evans, who covered second, and George Broadbent, who played shortstop. The janitors carried off all honors in the bingling department with three hits each. They also fielded in splendid style.

Professors Bostwick and Hubbard, it may be recorded, were the star atmosphere punchers in the cast. Each hammered the air in terrific style three times, to the great joy of Miller, the red sweatered slab artist of the Seniors. Harry Brick, at second base, starred for the latter aggregation. This boy shined in the fielding line and looked strong enough for a position on the P. H. S. nine.

The Faculty held the upper hand all through the game. "Shake" Clark held the Seniors in fine style for seven innings and then Lindsley Best assumed the mound. The Seniors looked like winners in the ninth when Best passed three men and allowed three bingles but the Goddess of Luck smiled sweetly on Best from the horizon and he succeeded in retiring the Seniors after three runs came across the plate. The score:

ENDEAVORERS CONDUCT A PATRIOTIC EXCURSION

Under the auspices of the social committee of the Christian Endeavor Society of Trinity Reformed church an entertainment called a "Patriotic Excursion," was held in the lecture room of the church last night. The young people selected partners for a trip on an imaginary train destined from "Plainfield to Pleasantville," and three minutes were allowed to elapse between stations. Frederick Soper, as "Uncle Sam," was the conductor. During the three minute intervals between stations there was a discussion of the following subjects:

Halley's Comet, Was Jackson's Administration a Benefit to the Country, Would the Consolidation of Plainfield and North Plainfield be a Benefit? Should Summer Flirtations be Encouraged, How Did You Spend Your Most Pleasant Vacation, Are Men More Extravagant Than Women, Discuss the Best Generals of the Civil War, Is the World Generally Growing Better or Worse, How Can a Christian Endeavor Society Be a Benefit to a Church, and Why Is a Man Like a Shoe? In response to the last question, Miss May Randolph read a clever poem.

Upon the arrival of the passengers at Pleasantville, the party enjoyed two or three fine tableaux; also a clever sketch entitled "Washington's Dream," written by Miss Marie Hahn, who also took the part of "Molly Pitcher." The dialogue was especially good and was filled with patriotism. The participants were all in costume. Those representing the characters were: "Washington," Alfred W. Dunavan; "Betsy Ross," Miss Minnie Hahn; "Mrs. Griswold," Miss Elsie Dunavan; "Mrs. Pond," Miss Myra Dunavan; "Martha Washington," Miss Edna Cole; "Mary Knight," Miss Edna Dilts; "Emily Geiger," Miss Harriet Randall; "Molly Pitcher," Miss Marie Hahn. At the close of this Miss Etta Raybert sang, "Love's Old Sweet Song," accompanied on the piano by Ida Randolph-Smalley.

Then followed two tableaux, the first being "The Spirit of 1776, those taking part being William Bellerjeau, Russell Doeringer and Elmer Gayle, and the second was "The Spirit of 1996," in which Miss Harriet Randall, Miss May Randolph, Mrs. William Kriney and Elmer Gayle took part.

Afterward a fishing game was enjoyed, the young people fishing for partners before refreshments were served. This afforded lots of fun, an improvised fishing pond being arranged for the occasion. The refreshments comprised sandwiches, cake and lemonade. A feature of the evening was a soprano solo by Miss Etta Raybert, accompanied by Ida Randolph-Smalley, in which the young people joined in the chorus. The rest of the evening was given up to sociability. The committee in charge comprised Miss May Randolph, chairman; Miss Minnie Hahn, Miss Marie Hahn, Miss Elsie Dunavan, Miss Edna Cole, Miss Edna Dilts, Miss Myra Dunavan, Elmer Gayle, Alfred W. Dunavan, Russell Doeringer and Edward Honeyman.

The rooms were attractively decorated for the entertainment with American flags, carrying out the spirit of patriotism intended by the committee.

ing some of the best spectacles of the evening.

The dances will continue tonight, tomorrow afternoon and night and in event of a storm they will be given in the Plainfield theatre. Special attention is asked toward the announcement of the sale of flowers. The committee would be glad if those who contemplate buying flowers for gift purposes would get their supplies at the flower booth, where any reasonable order can be filled at a moment's notice.

While many people are cognizant of the object of holding the festival now going on there are many others who do not know. The proceeds from the fete are to be devoted to equipping the playgrounds at Bryant and Washington school and Parker field with apparatus and suitable overseers of the games and training of the children.

—Neuman Brothers' store will be closed all day Monday and patrons are requested to make purchases tomorrow.

ATTACKS ON STATUTES

advised the Common Council, that the statute was not unconstitutional. Judge Reed wrote the opinion for the Supreme Court, and sustained the view advocated by the city and held the statute to be constitutional.

In the present case, the opinion of the corporation counsel on file expressly points out how the petitioners may have the question in dispute promptly settled, viz., by application to the Supreme Court for mandamus. Undoubtedly the Common Council would be glad to have that course taken, and thereby leave the question to be decided by the court.

MOTHER GOOSE TABLEAUX GIVEN BY A GIRLS' CLUB.

A large audience enjoyed a novel entertainment by the Girls' Club of St. Stephen's church last night in which several of the young women posed in tableaux from "Mother Goose." The ten numbers of the program were received with applause and particularly the series of four representations of the "Mistletoe Boughs." After the entertainment dancing continued until midnight. The overture by Suhr's orchestra was followed by the Mother Goose tableaux. Miss Ida Apgar made a hit as "Mary Quite Contrary," following which songs by Miss Pearl Evans, advertising novelties, posed by the girls and one boy, made the audience laugh heartily.

Miss Eleanor Vollmer, Mr. Van Auken and "Kelley" contributed in no small measure to the evening's entertainment. To Miss Clara Davison is due in large measure the success of the performance.

A Cheery Nature.

The Mohammedan bandit looked up and beheld a caravan approaching.

"Ha!" he cried, "the gentle spring is here!"

"How do you know?" inquired his trusted lieutenant.

"I see the first robbin'!"

Then he chuckled within his beard murmuring, "And yet they say I have not a gentle, fun-loving disposition!"

"You know, Fred, I am observing Lent. No more kisses for forty days."

"That puts the microbes on a diet."

VETERANS ADDRESS PUPILS.

L. V. F. Randolph Heard at the City High School—Commodore John Finley at Parochial School.

Exercises appropriate to Memorial Day were held in the Plainfield High School Auditorium, this morning, the pupils of the school taking part and several G. A. R. veterans being present, occupying seats on the stage. After the pupils sang several patriotic songs, during which Charles L. Lewis sang, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," Former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph gave a brief address on "The Meaning of Memorial Day."

"Speaking of the veterans," Mr. Randolph said, "you do not tire of hearing of the struggles made by them. Today, we are constantly looking back on those things. The Civil War veteran represents these four things: Truth, traditions, events and titles." Mr. Randolph referred to the republics which permitted slavery before this country was dreamed of, such as Rome, Greece and Carthage. Their whole civilization was enveloped in slavery. The speaker concluded by saying that Memorial Day stands for something far above the general idea and it is a day set aside in memory of those who gave their lives that this country might live.

At the close of Mr. Randolph's pleasing address, Stephen R. Struthers expressed his regrets that the high school cadet corps had disbanded, but in a stirring address called upon the young men to volunteer to march with the old soldiers on Memorial Day. Many responded. He then called on the girls to form a chorus and sing at the cemetery. He was also successful in this as many of the girls gladly responded. The exercises closed with the singing of "America."

The children of the Irving School sang patriotic songs at their exercises this morning, allowing most of the time to the veterans who visited the school. Among those who spoke were T. O. Doane, William Hand, Isaac Houston, while J. N. Bogert interested the children with the army bugle calls. Charles Lewis sang a solo during the exercises.

The program at the Franklin School this afternoon consisted chiefly of the singing of patriotic songs by the children with an address by W. W. Coriell.

The children at the Stillman School held their exercises at 9 o'clock this morning, with the singing of patriotic songs. The address was by Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of schools.

The Memorial exercises at the Whittier School were held at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. The children sang songs and gave several recitations and a patriotic address was delivered by S. R. Struthers.

Commodore John Finley was the veteran speaker at the Parochial School, and in addition the children presented a fine program of songs and recitations. The program was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Comrade W. I. Chittenden was the speaker at the exercises held at the Bryant School, and after his interesting remarks, this program was rendered by the pupils:

"America," school; salute to flag; three cheers for the Red, White and Blue; Psalm 1, school; song by school, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic;" recitations, "Decoration Day," Florence Huntsman; "Peace," five boys from 4A; song, "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," school; recitation, "Love of Country," Warren Moyer; song, "Decoration Day," Fifth grade B; recitations, "Old Ironsides," Fifth grade 8; "Remembrance," Grace West; song, "Marching through Georgia," school; class exercise, "Emblems of Decoration," girls from grade 3A; recitation, "The Old Song," Clara Stewart, song, "The Stars and Stripes," school; presentation of flag; songs, "Barbara Frietchie," and "The Star Spangled Banner," school.

Elaborate observance of Memorial Day was conducted in the borough public schools today where patriotic exercises, consisting of the rendition of songs and anthems, addresses and declamations by the pupils in all departments. Detachments of Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., attended the exercises in each department.

High school pupils listened to an able address by Superintendent H. M. Maxson, of the city schools. A patriotic musical program was rendered, including "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," "America," and "Old Glory." All of the schoolrooms were profusely adorned by the national colors.

In the primary department of the Somerset School patriotic songs were rendered while musical selections and recitations were given by the pupils. The children who participated included Dorothy Seader, Edith Debele, Gertrude Rittenhouse, Helen Willett, Hamilton Shoop, Fred Sheelen, Frederic Attlee, John Hermann, Lillie Smith, Roswell Ewart, Martha Emmons, Lillian MacDonald, Marion Woolley, Edward Clay, Mabel Saffron, Marguerite Johnson and Mildred Boyle.

At the celebration of the first grade at the Watchung School these pupils took part: Eleanor King, Jesse Hummer, Alfred Thorne, Seeley Mosher, George Chandler, Marguerite Case, John Mogey, Edith Kirchner, Alma Herrmann, Leonard Cobb. Singing by the choruses were also a feature.

Pupils of the second grade, who took part in special exerices were Dorothy Skalarew, Victoria Bogan, Katie Johnson, Beatrice Maxwell, Irene Daley, Mildred Swick, Myrtle Bird, Grace Wyckoff, Elida Townley, Rosanna McDonough, Carl Klotz, James Conroy, Beatrice Lee, Leroy Jones, Charles Hewitt, Thomas Egan, Herbert Huff, Alfred Currin, Edna Barrett, Marie Winans, Eldora Bolomey and Annie Herlihy.

Members of the third and fourth grades confined their celebration to the rendition of anthems which included. "Marching Through Georgia," "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," "Tenting Tonight," "The Star Spangled Banner," "Dixie Land," "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" and "Tmerica." The pupils also listened to a patriotic address.

In the Third B grade those participating in the program were Sydney Dunning, Alfred DeNise, Etta Titus, Dorothy Jacot, Annie Johnson, Lyddon Herbert, Raymond Bowers, Norman Pope, Robert Journeaux, William Cornell, William Feiring, Pauline Mowery, Dorothy Keller, Mildred Wyckoff, George Cary, Grace Mosher, Irving Scarborough, Grace Bolen, Ida Marcacrino, Annabel Schnegan, Laura Smalley.

Two of our townsmen were talking together; they were both married, and they were talking about this store.
"To my mind," said one, "The strength of Van Arsdale's store lies in the fact that no one ever questions the quality of a shoe bought there. Van-Arsdale's prices may be no lower than others, but people are sure of getting the goods they pay for."

This statement emphasizes this point: IF THE VALUE IS RIGHT THE PRICE IS BOUND TO BE RIGHT. IT IS NOT WHAT YOU PAY BUT WHAT YOU GET FOR YOUR MONEY THAT COUNTS.

BILL DOANE, DIPLOMAT.

"Bill Doane, he was the durndest chap
That ever left this town, I snore,"
Said Uncle Matthew Underwood,
To us one night in Stokes' store.
"He warn't no more like other folks
Than black's like white, or chalk's like cheese;
Why, durn my buttons, ef he warn't
Wus nor an Injun chief to please.

"Bill Doane, he never will agree,
No matter what the subject is;
An' when he's talkin' pollertics
They's only one opinion—HIS!
Wuz alus mystery to me
How Roosevelt app'inted him
To thet position over 'crost;'
The pickin' must be'n awful slim

"Bill Doane, he's got, to my idee,
A mind too strong to represent
Our nation on the other side,
An' yit, by jingoes, he jest went!
Man'd orter be more meller like
To be a diplermat, I snore;
Some mighty cur'ous things take place,"
Said Matthew, "down to Stokes' store."

An Interruption.

England's King was delivering a charming speech on the beauties of peace.

An unpleasant sound of hammering annoyed him. He paused and looked around. A flunkey hastily stepped forward and closed the open window.

The King turned to the first lord of the shoe closet.

"What noise was that?" he asked.

"They are laying the keel of a new dreadnought, your majesty," the officer replied.

Then the king resumed his praise of peace.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Sunflower Seeds.

In some countries, notably in the Russian provinces north of the Caucasus, the sunflower serves other purposes besides ornamenting gardens with its huge golden bosses. The seeds are used to make oil, which is employed in the manufacture of soap and in cooking. The stems and leaves are burned and the ashes used to make potash. Last year the sunflower factories of the Caucasus produced 15,000 tons of potash.

Living Omnibuses.

Oliver Wendell Holmes compared a man to a living omnibus in which he carries all his ancestors. Most of us are copies of those who have gone before us. We take up into our lives their traits and characteristics. We are hampered by their faults, helped by their virtues. Our progress is accelerated or handicapped by what we have received from our ancestors.—Success Magazine.

Boring Artesian Wells.

The boring of an artesian well is not an easy task. The well of Grenelle, France, required from December 4, 1833 to February 26, 1841, for completion. The one at Passy of the same depth took only two years to make. Engineers now count upon one year in which to complete the well of Maisons-Laffitte. This well is already at a depth of 460 meters. It will go to a depth of 550 meters.

Pegging the Frogs.

In France, a hundred and fifty years ago, the rich people living in the country obliged men and boys among the poor to walk about their lakes and ponds at night and throw stones at the frogs who croaked and made a disturbing noise. It wasn't fun for the boys after the first night or two, and the frogs also had something to complain of.

Barred Dancing in Churches.

One of the popes in the Middle Ages had to prohibit dances in the churches. In 858 the bishop of Orleans condemned the dancing of women in the presbytery at festivals. In 1209 theatrical dances in the churches were forbidden, and two church councils not long afterward condemned all dancing in churches or churchyards.

POSITION HAD ITS DRAWBACKS.

"Do you know of any man who wants a stenographer?" asked Miss Timms when she had ordered a cup of extra strong coffee, relates the Chicago News.

"Why," exclaimed Miss Winkle. "Surely you don't want to change. It's been only a little while since you were telling me about your lovely position at the New Women's Hotel—or the Women's New Hotel—whatever you call it."

"I call it a 'Home for Indignant Females,'" said Miss Timms, sarcastically.

Miss Winkle gasped with surprise. "The last time I saw you, as I remember, you were feeling sorry for me, because I had to work for a common, ordinary business man. You said your life in the hotel, surrounded by cultivated women, was so much more refining."

"Yes, I know," admitted Miss Timms, "but don't rub it in. I also thought it would be nice to live in the same building with my work and not have to go out into the rain and get my skirts wet, and I thought I'd save time by not having to go on the cars. From this time on I'll board at least ten miles away from my business."

"Why, what's the matter?"

"Well, the hotel is run by a board of lady managers. Did you ever work for a board of lady managers?"

Miss Winkle shook her head.

"Those lady managers picked out the office furniture as if it were for a boudoir. We have to keep our stationery in the window seat. The inkwells were as sweet as they could be, but they had to be filled every half-hour. No office boy profaned the sacred precincts of the hotel, so I had to put in a large share of my time filling inkwells."

"It's nice to make one's self generally useful," said Miss Winkle, politely.

"That wasn't the worst of it," went on Miss Timms. "The superintendent had a great many interruptions during the day, so I suggested one afternoon that I take her dictation that evening."

Miss Winkle looked at her scornfully. "Don't you know any better than that?"

"No," confessed Miss Timms, "for I had always worked for a considerate man. I did not forsee that the superintendent thenceforth would drink tea with her friends and then would send up to my room in the evening to ask me to take a few letters and some reports for the board meetings.

"That hotel had committees for renting the building, committees for buying the curtains, committees to buy carpets, committees for the restaurant department, other committees for making out rules to govern the guests, and then various other committees besides.

"The time I did not use up in filling inkwells was put in making out reports for committees and sending notices to members of committees. Fortunately there was no real business women on the board, so the directors were impressed with the fact that I had written 500 letters in two months and had addressed 1,000 envelopes."

"Didn't they ask you what you did with the rest of your time?"

Miss Timms shrugged her shoulders. "No, if they had I should have answered that I used it up in waiting on the committees and filling the inkwells."

"Once I forgot that I was not working for a man and I ordered a book of coupons for typewriting ribbons. The superintendent made me return them. She said it was too risky, as a typewriter company might fail. Once I had to take back two brown scrapbooks, because the superintendent preferred blue. I suppose she wanted them to match the bathroom. One of the lady managers the other day expressed a preference for green, so now the bookkeeper is scared to death for fear she will have to balance her book with green ink instead of red."

"You are getting sarcastic," said Miss Winkle.

"Yes, I know I am," admitted Miss Timms. "That is why I am going to get a position with a real business firm. It may be more refining to work for women, but it is less irritating to work for men."

Literary Housekeeping.

She laid down her pencil and went into her room to rearrange her hair. Her husband glanced at the MSS. upon which she was working and by which she hoped to achieve literary fame.

"She swept the room with a quick glance," he read. Then picking up the pencil he added:

"Ah! if she would but sweep our rooms with an ordinary broom, once in awhile."

But this passage did not appear in the completed narrative.

Busy Reducing Your Fat?

Are fat folks enthusiastic about performing athletic stunts when garbed in heavy woolen underclothing? No—not enthusiastic. Do they subscribe readily to a diet of half a glass of buttermilk and a toasted cracker? No—not readily. Are they happy, then, while reducing by such methods, during this hot weather? No—they are not exactly happy.

Some fat reducers are happy though during the process, but these neither exercise nor diet. They lose fat—as much as a pound a day, in many instances—but they do it without missing a single, righteous meal or lifting an unnecessary finger. These emancipated ones reduce either in hot weather or cold, without bother or harm to themselves, by taking quietly and secretly, and even cunningly—one little Marmola Prescription Tablet after each meal and at bedtime.

That's all. They get their tablets (made after the formula of the famous prescription) in large, generously filled cases at a cost of seventy-five cents, the case from any drug store or from the makers, the Marmola Co., 988 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., take one as per directions, and get as thin as they want to be—just that way, without causing a wrinkle or the least internal fuss.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

Governor Fort moved to his summer home at Spring Lake Wednesday.

William Ferguson, convicted of bigamy in the Gloucester county courts, was yesterday sentenced to two years in State prison by Judge Starr.

An inmate of the State Home for Women at Vineland is in the Physicians' Hospital there suffering from a broken back caused by a fall from a stepladder.

Catching her right hand in machinery yesterday, Ella E. Gilfillian, nineteen years old, was taken to the Homeopathic Hospital, where two fingers were amputated.

A bottle thrown by a workman at the glass works of Whitall-Tatum Company at Millville yesterday struck Bert Bellar upon the arm and, bursting, cut a long, deep gash, severing two veins.

The Slovak Gymastic Union Sokol, representatives of 196 lodges in all parts of the United States, will hold its annual convention in Trenton next Monday. The order has about 5,500 members.

The United First Presbyterian church of Amwell, located at Larison's Corner, will observe its one hundredth anniversary Tuesday, June 7. For a century it was known as the German Reformed church of Amwell, and in 1810, it was changed to a Presbyterian church.

Philip Rogevy, an aged farmer, who was knocked from his wagon on Sunday last by a big automobile near his home at Pine Grove, is in a critical condition. Physicians state that his advanced age makes his chance of recovery slight. The occupants of the touring car are unknown.

Efforts are being made by certain members of the Burlington medical fraternity to double the rates for medical service which have been in force here for years. It is said a "round robin" agreement has been held up by the refusal of two of the most prominent physicians to attach their signatures. The agreement would make the rate for office calls $1 and the fee for home visits $2. The doctors refuse to discuss the situation.

CONGRESSMEN TELL WHY PRICES ARE HIGH.

Trenton, May 27.—Three hundred persons participated in the Mercer County Republican Club dinner Wednesday night in the club's auditorium.

Congressman Ira W. Wood was toastmaster, and the principal speeches were by Congressman Joseph W. Fordney, of Michigan; Congressman Duncan E. McKinlay, of California, and former United States Senator John M. Thurston, of Nebraska.

The tariff was the principal topic of discussion. Congressman Fordney admitted that the price of many commodities was high, but pointed out that good wages were being paid and that employment was plentiful. Among other things he said:

There's nothing high in price, for the many who have the money to pay for it. In 1896 horses were cheap, but the people could not afford to ride; three-year-old steers sold for $25, and to-day a little runt of a hog will bring as much, because the demand exceeds the supply; potatoes were 12½ cents a bushel, but the people then went hungry, while now they are 50 cents, and consumers are beginning to demand that they be washed before marketing. Lumber was cheap in 1896, but no one was building houses—they were losing those they had. Now lumber is high because nearly everybody has the money with which to build a home.

After deploring the fact that America had no ships of commerce, Mr. McKinlay urged all good Republicans to back up President Taft in his effort to restore the merchant marine.

Former Senator Thurston, who was chairman of the convention that nominated Benjamin Harrison for President, said:

Put the people out of work, and prices will go down. Lumber will no longer be high, for there will be no demand for it. Why should it be high now Because it is wanted all over the country. Since the time McKinley was President until now more homes have been built and paid for by Americans than by all the other nations of the earth.

Be Not to Modest.

To start out in a modest way,
My modest friends, is very well,
But don't forget to say your say
About the things you have to sell.

Your store may be a modest place
Upon a very modest block;
But go ahead and hire some space
And advertise your modest stock.

To be too modest does not pay;
You are no daisy in the dell.
Prepare your 'ad' and say your say
About the things you have to sell.

A Toast.

Here's the health to you
And the best of luck.
As you spend a sou,
May you save a buck.

OFFICIAL MINUTES OF THE BOARD OF FREEHOLDERS.

The regular meeting of the Board of Freeholders of Union county was held on May 5, 1910, at 2:30 o'clock p. m.

Roll call showed the following members present: Director Cady, Freeholders Adams, Crane, Darby, Doane, Garrison, Gruener, Haviland, Jones, Krouse, Martin, Meisel, Perry, Smith, Swain, Thompson and Wilbur—17. Absent—Freeholders Jensen and Randolph—2.

On motion of Freeholder Wilbur it was ordered that the minutes of the meeting of April 7 be approved as per printed copies on members' desks.

Communications.

Communications were read from the City Councils of the cities of Elizabeth, Rahway and Plainfield, and from the Township Committee of the Township of Clark, expressing their approval of the project under consideration by the board regarding the treatment of tuberculosis patients.

On motion of Freeholder Wilbur the communications were ordered received and placed on file.

From Middlesex Water Company.

April 28, 1910.

Dear Sir—I am authorized to state in behalf of this company that it is willing to dedicate to public use so much of its lands on Madison Hill Road as lie within the outside lines of the proposed State road as indicated to me at my interview with the committee on the 18th instant. This dedication is upon the understanding and agreement that the bridge crossing Robinson's Branch in front of the property of the company will be levated at least three feet and the grade of the road so established as to make it unnecessary for this company to change the location of its present mains where they cross the same. It is also understood that the Elizabethtown Company is to contribute $200 toward the cost of raising the bridge.

Yours truly,
FOSTER M. VOORHEES.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse communication was received and placed on file.

From aRhway as Light Company.

April 14, 1910.

To the Union County Board of Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.

Dear Sir—We are about to lay a new ten-inch line of gas pipe on Grand street, and in crossing the Rahway river wish to suspend the pipe to the iron girders of the Grand street bridge, and ask your permission to do so.

Yours truly,
H. SIMMONS.

On motion of Freeholder Swain received and referred to the members from the City of Rahway and County Engineer with power.

From Louise Robison.

Scotch Plains, April 20, 1910.

The Board of Freeholders, Union county, N. J.

Gentlemen—Please accept our heartiest thanks for the flowers which so beautifully expresed to us your sympathy in our bereavement.

Very sincerely yours,
LOUISE ROBISON.

On motion of Freeholder Smith received and placed on file.

From Elizabethtown Water Company.

April 19, 1910.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders Courthouse, Elizabeth, N. J.

Gentlemen — The Elizabethtowa Water Company agrees to pay to the Board of Chosen Freholders the sum of two hundred ($200) dollars toward the cost of raising the bridge at Robinson's Branch of the Rahway River, on the condition that the present grade of our thirty-six-inch pipe as now laid may be maintained, and that the proposed grade crossing Madison avenue may also be maintained.

Yours truly,
THE ELIZABETHTOWN WATER COMPANY.

On motion of Freeholder Jones received and placed on file.

From James C. Park.

Cranford, N. J., April 16, 1910.

William R. Codington, Esq., 152 Park avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Dear Sir—Acknowledging your letter of April 12, 1910, I beg, to advise you that I completed my contract referred to therein on or before December 1, 1908. "Satisfactory" and otherwise, and my work was "Accepted" and paid for, excepting the retained percentage, which I am now entitled to receive with interest thereon from December 1, 1909, and which I propose to recover forthwith. I am very glad that the Freeholders have consulted you in the matter for I feel that when you read the contract and section 46 carefully in connection with the correspondence between the Board of Freeholders through their engineer, you will advise them that there is no warrant in law or equity for their withholding the payment of the amount of my retained percentage with interest thereon to be added from December 1, 1909, and that they cannot justify their action in court or before the taxpayers who can borrow what money they need for less than the six per cent. which I shall exact.

I may add that I have never consented to modify, change, or waive any of my rights under this contract or increase any of the obligations imposed on me therein, and I feel that the board will pay my bill immediately on being advised by you. Thanking you for your serious consideration.

Yours truly,
JAMES C. PARK.

On a motion of Freeholder Wilbur ordered received and referred to the Committee on County Roads and County Attorney.

child."

And after due consideration of the matter, we are of the opinion that the authorities of the Borough of Roselle, should proceed as the law directs with reference to making an examination and determination as to the legal settlement of the children in question, and we are of the opinion that children who have no legal settlement in the State of New Jersey may be charged to the county from which they are committed; and that then in such cases the Board of Chosen Freeholders would be obliged to contribute toward their support a sum not less than one dollar and fifty cents per week for each child, as provided for in said act; and until such investigation is had as to legal settlement, and until it is determined that said children in question have no legal settlement within the State of New Jersey. This committee is advised that the Board of Chosen Freeholders are not required to contribute toward their expenses, and we accordingly so report.

Dyspepsia.

Man's normal appetites and passions, if used temperately, make his earth heaven, but if abused or polluted may or can make it living hell. Same way about foods, particularly meats. If meat is right in the first place, and then is cooked right, it is all right all together, as delicious as incense of the gods. But if not right to start with, or badly cooked, it becomes the most disgusting deformity and breeder of dyspepsia that comes upon the table.—Boston Pilot.

Good in Being Well Dressed.

Carelessness in the matter of clothes undoubtedly lowers a man in his own estimation. I don't believe there is a man alive who can preach a good sermon or can be an effective and skillful doer of any good work, if he is conscious that his linen is soiled and his clothes are ill-fitting and worn. There is about the ill-clad man a sense of incompleteness that shears him of his personal power and magnetism.—Dr. Madison E. Peters.

Aids to the Digestion.

Where nourishment and health are concerned laughter and good will are vigorous promoters of the digestive functions. The court jester was a valuable piece of dining room furniture in olden times, and a good-natured and cheerful guest, who keeps up a lively and entertaining conversation at table, does more to aid digestion than all the nostrums ever invented.

Revenge.

Revenge is a debt, in the paying of which the greatest knave is honest and sincere, and, so far as he is able, punctual. But there is a difference between a debt of revenge and every other debt. By paying our other debts, we are equal with all mankind; but in refusing to pay a debt of revenge we are superior.

"Rights" and "the Right."

Small souls are always seeking their "rights;" great souls seek "the right." No great deed has ever been done by the absolutely independent man. There have been brilliant deeds and daring, but all lacking something of human grandeur if not under orders and in obedience to a higher will.

His "Reading Up."

Medical Understudy—"Dr. Allwise, have you decided whether or not Mr. Speckham has appendicitis? You said you were going to read up on the case." Dr. Allwise—"Glad you reminded me of that. Hand me that last Bradstreet's."

The old gentleman rose and bowed. "I thank you for the honor of your flattery, sir," he began; but Calhoun raised a gentle hand.

"If it would please you, sir, to defer your visit to your own country for a time, I can secure for you a situation in our department in biology, where your services would be of extreme worth to us. The salary would also allow you to continue your researches into the life of our native tribes."

Von Rittenhofen positively glowed at this. "Ach, what an honor!" he began again.

"Meantime," resumed Calhoun, "not to mention the value which that research would have for us, we could also find use, at proper remuneration, for your private aid in making up a set of maps of that western country which you know so well, and of which even I myself am so ignorant. I want to know the distances, the topography, the means of travel. I want to know the peculiarities of that country of Oregon."

Few could resist the persuasiveness of Mr. Calhoun's speech, certainly not Von Rittenhofen, who thus found offered him precisely what he would have desired. I was pleased to see him so happily situated and so soon. Presently we dispatched him down to my hotel, where I promised later to make him more at home. In his elation over the prospect he now saw before him, the old man fairly babbled. Germany seemed farthest from his mind. After his departure, Calhoun again turned to me.

"I want you to remain, Nicholas," said he, "because I have an appointment with a gentleman who will soon be present."

"Rather a late hour, sir," I ventured. "Are you keeping faith with Dr. Ward?"

"I have no time for hobbies," he exclaimed, half petulantly. "What I must do is this work. The man we are to meet to-night is Mr. Polk. It is important."

Perhaps half an hour later, Mr. Calhoun's old negro man ushered in this awaited guest, and we three found ourselves alone in one of those midnight conclaves which went on in Washington even then as they do to-day. Mr. Polk was serious as usual; his indecisive features wearing the mask of solemnity, which with so many passes as wisdom.

"I have come, Mr. Calhoun," said he—when the latter had assured him that my presence would entail no risk to him—"to talk over this Texas situation. How do you stand in case war should be declared against Mexico? That ought to be a popular measure. The Texans have captured the popular imagination. The Alamo rankles in our nation's memory. What would you say to a stiff demand there, with a strong show of military force behind it?"

"I should say nothing as to a strong showing in any case. I should only say that if war came legitimately—not otherwise—I should back it with all my might. I feel the same in regard to war with England."

"With England? What chance would we have with so powerful a nation as that?"

"There is a God of Battles," said John Calhoun.

The chin of James K. Polk of Tennessee sank down into his stock. His staring eyes went half shut. At last he spoke, tentatively, as was always his way until he got the drift of things.

"Well, now, perhaps in the case of England that is good politics," he began. "It is very possible that the people hate England as much as they do Mexico. Do you not think so?"

"I think they fear her more."

"But I was only thinking of the popular imagination!"

"You are always thinking of the popular imagination, Jim. You have been thinking of that for some time in Tennessee. All that outcry about the whole of Oregon is ill-timed today."

"'Fifty-Four Forty or Fight;' that sounds well!" exclaimed Polk; "eh?"

"Trippingly on the tongue, yes!" said John Calhoun. "But how would it sound to the tune of cannon fire? How would it look written in the smoke of musketry?"

"It might not come to that," said Polk, shifting in his seat. "I was thinking of it only as a rallying cry for the campaign. Dash me—I beg pardon—" he looked round to see if there were any Methodists present—"but I believe I could go into the convention with that war cry behind me and sweep the boards of all opposition!"

"And afterwards?"

"But England may back down," argued Mr. Polk. "A strong showing in the southwest and northwest might do wonders for us."

"But what would be behind that strong showing, Mr. Polk?" demanded John Calhoun. "We would win the combat with Mexico, of course, if that iniquitous measure should take the form of war. But not Oregon—we might as well or better fight in Africa than Oregon. It is not yet time. In God's name, Jim Polk, be careful of what you do! Cease this cry of taking all of Oregon. You will plunge this country not into one war, but two. Wait! Only wait, and we will own all this continent to the Saskatchewan—or even farther north."

"Well," said the other, "have you not said there is a God of Battles?"

"The Lord God of Hosts, yes!" half screamed old John Calhoun; "yes, the God of Battles for nations, for principles—but not for parties! For the principle of democracy, Jim Polk, yes, yes; but for the Democratic party, or the Whig party, or for any demagogue who tries to lead either, no, no!"

The florid face of Polk went livid. "Sir," said he, reaching for his hat, "at least I have learned what I came to learn. I know how you will appear on the floor of the convention. Sir, you will divide this party hopelessly. You are a traitor to the Democratic party; I charge it to your face, here and now. I came to ask of you your support, and find you only talking of principles! Sir, tell me, what have principles to do with elections?"

John Calhoun looked at him for one long instant. He looked down then at his own thin, bloodless hands, his wasted limbs. Then he turned slowly and rested his arms on the table, his face resting in his hands. "My God!" I heard him groan.

To see my chief abused was a thing not in my nature to endure. I forgot myself. I committed an act whose results pursued me for many a year.

"Mr. Polk, sir," said I, rising and facing him, "damn you, sir, you are not fit to untie Mr. Calhoun's shoe! I will not see you offer him one word of insult. Quarrel with me if you like! You will gain no votes here now in any case, that is sure!"

Utterly horrified at this, Mr. Polk fumbled with his hat and cane, and, very red in the face, bowed himself out, still mumbling, Mr. Calhoun rising and bowing his adeaux.

My chief dropped into his chair again. For a moment he looked at me directly. "Nick," said he at length slowly, "you have divided the Democratic party. You split that party, right then and there."

"Never!" I protested; "but if I did, 'twas ready enough for the division. Let it split, then, or any party like it, if that is what must hold it together! I will not stay in this work, Mr. Calhoun, and hear you vilified. Platforms!"

"Platforms!" echoed my chief. His white hand dropped on the table as he still sat looking at me. "But he will get you some time, Nicholas!" he smiled. "Jim Polk will not forget."

"Let him come at me as he likes!" I fumed.

At last, seeing me so wrought up, Mr. Calhoun rose, and smiling, shook me heartily by the hand.

"Of course, this had to come one time or another," said he. "The split was in the wood of their proposed platform of bluff and insincerity. 'What do the people say?' asks Jim Polk. 'What do they think?' asks John Calhoun. And being now, in God's providence, chosen to do some thinking for them, I have thought."

He turned to the table and took up a long, folded document, which I saw was done in his cramped hand and with many interlineations. "Copy this out fair for me to-night, Nicholas," said he. "This is our answer to the Aberdeen note. You have already learned its tenor, the time we met Mr. Pakenham with Mr. Tyler at the White House."

I grinned. "Shall we not take it across direct to Mr. Blair for publication in his Globe?"

Mr. Calhoun smiled rather bitterly at this jest. The hostility of Blair to the Tyler administration was a fact rather more than well known.

"'Twill all get into Mr. Polk's newspaper fast enough," commented he at last. "He gets all the news of the Mexican ministry!"

"Ah, you think he cultivates the Dona Lucrezia, rather than adores her!"

"I know it! One-third of Jim Polk may be human, but the other two-thirds is politician. He will flatter that lady into confidences. She is well nigh distracted at best, these days, what with the fickleness of her husband and the yet harder abandonment by her old admirer, Pakenham; so Polk will cajole her into disclosures, never fear. In return, when the time comes, he will send an army of occupation into her country! And all the while, on the one side and the other, he will appear to the public as a moral and lofty-minded man."

"If we temporarily lack the Baroness von Ritz to add zest to our game," I hazarded, "we still have the Dona Lucrezia and her little jealousies."

Calhoun turned quickly upon me with a sharp glance, as though seized by some sudden thought. "By the Lord Harry! boy, you give me an idea. Wait, now, for a moment. Do you go on with your copying there, and excuse me for a time."

An instant later he passed from the room, his tall figure bent, his hands clasped behind his back, and his face wrinkled in a frown, as was his wont when occupied with some problem.

CHAPTER XX.

The Lady from Mexico.

As soon as women are ours, we are no longer theirs.—Montaigne.

After a time my chief re-entered the office room and bent over me at my table. I put before him the draft of the document which he had given me for clerical care.

"So," he said, "'tis ready—our declaration. I wonder what may come of that little paper!"

So now, till far towards dawn of the next day, we sat and talked. I put before him full details of my doings across the border. He sat silent, his eye betimes wandering, as though absorbed, again fixed on me, keen and glittering.

"So! So!" he mused at length, when I had finished, "England has started a land party for Oregon! Can they get across next fall, think you?"

"Hardly possible, sir," said I. "They could not go so swiftly as the special fur packers. Winter would catch them this side of the Rockies. It will be a year before they can reach Oregon."

"Time for a new president and a new policy," mused he.

"The grass is just beginning to sprout on the plains, Mr. Calhoun," I began eagerly.

"Yes," he nodded. "God! if I were only young!"

"I am young, Mr. Calhoun," said I. "Send me!"

"Would you go?" he asked suddenly.

"I was going in any case."

"Why, how do you mean?" he demanded.

I felt the blood come to my face. "'Tis all over between Miss Elizabeth Churchill and myself," said I, as calmly as I might.

"Tut! tut! a child's quarrel," he went on, "a child's quarrel! 'Twill all mend in time."

"Not by act of mine, then," said I hotly.

Again abstracted, he seemed not wholly to hear me.

"I will tell you, Nicholas," said he at last, wheeling swiftly upon me. "Start next week! An army of settlers waits now for a leader along the Missouri. Organize them; lead them out! Give them enthusiasm! Tell them what Oregon is! You may serve alike our party and our nation. You cannot measure the consequences of prompt action sometimes, done by a man who is resolved upon the right. A thousand things may hinge on this. A great future may hinge upon it."

"While you have been busy, I have not been idle," he continued. "I have here another little paper which I have roughly drafted." He handed me the document as he spoke.

"A treaty—with Texas!" I exclaimed.

"The first draft, yes. We have signed the memorandum. We await only one other signature."

"Of Van Zandt!"

"Yes. Now comes Mr. Nicholas Trist, with word of a certain woman to the effect that Mr. Van Zandt is playing also with England."

"And that woman also is playing with England."

Calhoun smiled enigmatically.

"But she has gone," said I, "who knows where? She, too, may have sailed for Oregon, for all we know."

He looked at me as though with a flash of inspiration. "That may be," said he; "it may very well be! That would cost us our hold over Pakenham. Neither would we have any chance left with her."

"How do you mean, Mr. Calhoun?" said I. "I do not understand you."

"Nicholas," said Mr. Calhoun, "that lady was much impressed with you." He regarded me calmly, contemplatively, appraisingly.

"I do not understand you," I reiterated.

"I am glad that you do not and did not. In that case, all would have been over at once. You would never have seen her a second time. Your constancy was our salvation, and perhaps your own! In due time you will see many things more plainly. Meantime, be sure England will be careful. She will make no overt movement, I should say, until she has heard from Oregon; which will not be before my lady baroness shall have returned and reported to Pakenham here. All of which means more time for us."

I began to see something of the structure of bold enterprise which this man deliberately was planning; but no comment offered itself; so that presently he went on, as though in soliloquy.

"The Hudson Bay Company have deceived England splendidly enough. Dr. McLaughlin, good man that he is, has not suited the Hudson Bay Company. His removal means less courtesy to our settlers in Oregon. Granted a less tactful leader than himself, there will be friction with our high-strung frontiersmen in that country. No man can tell when the thing will come to an issue. For my own part, I would agree with Polk that we ought to own that country to fifty-four forty—but what we ought to do and what we can do are two separate matters. Should we force the issue now and lose, we would lose for 100 years. Should we advance firmly and hold firmly what we gain, in perhaps less than 100 years we may win all of that country, as I just said to Mr. Polk, to the River Saskatchewan—I know not where! In my own soul, I believe no man may set a limit to the growth of the idea of an honest government by the people. And this continent is meant for that honest government!"

He sighed as he paused in his walk and turned to me. "But now, as I said, we have at least time for Texas. And in regard to Texas we need another woman."

I stared at him.

"You come now to me with proof that my lady baroness traffics with Mexico as well as England," he resumed. "That is to say, Yturrio meets my lady baroness. What is the inference? At least, jealousy on the part of Yturrio's wife, whether or not she cares for him! Now, jealousy between the sexes is a deadly weapon if well handled. Repugnant as it is, we must handle it."

I experienced no great enthusiasm at the trend of events, and Mr. Calhoun smiled at me cynically as he went on. "I see you don't care for this sort of commission. At least, this is no midnight interview. You shall call in broad daylight on the Senora Yturrio. If you and my daughter will take my coach and four tomorrow, I think she will gladly receive your cards. Perhaps also she will consent to take the air of Washington with you. In that case, she might drop in here for an ice. In such case, to conclude, I may perhaps be favored with an interview with that lady. I must have Van Zandt's signature to this treaty which you see here!"

"But these are Mexicans, and Van Zandt is leader of the Texans, their most bitter enemies!"

"Precisely. All the less reason why Senora Yturrio should be suspected."

"I am not sure that I grasp all this, Mr. Calhoun."

"Perhaps not. You presently will know more. What seems to me plain is that, since we seem to lose a valuable ally in the Baroness von Ritz, we must make some offset to that loss. If England has one woman on the Columbia, we must have another on the Rio Grande!"

CHAPTER XXI.

Politics Under Cover.

To a woman, the romances she makes are more amusing than those she reads.—Theophile Gautier

It seemed quite correct for the daughter of our secretary of state to call to inquire for the health of the fair Senora Yturrio, and to present the compliments of Mme. Calhoun, at that time not in the city of Washington. Matters went so smoothly that I felt justified in suggesting a little drive, and Senora Yturrio had no hesitation in accepting. Quite naturally, our stately progress finally brought us close to the residence of Miss Calhoun. That lady suggested that, since the day was warm, it might be well to descend and see if we might not find a sherbet; all of which also seemed quite to the wish of the lady from Mexico. The ease and warmth of Mr. Calhoun's greeting to her were such that she soon was well at home and chatting very amiably. She spoke English with but little hesitancy.

Lucrezia Yturrio, at that time not ill known in Washington's foreign colony, was beautiful, in a sensuous, ripe way. Her hair was dark, heavily coiled, and packed in masses above an oval forehead. Her brows were straight, dark and delicate; her teeth white and strong; her lips red and full; her chin well curved and deep. A round arm and taper hand controlled a most artful fan.

Mr. Calhoun expressed great surprise and gratification that mere chance had enabled him to meet the wife of a gentleman so distinguished in the diplomatic service as Senor Yturrio.

"We are especially glad always to hear of our friends from the southwest," said he, at last, with a slight addition of formality in tone and attitude.

At these words I saw my lady's eyes flicker. "It is fate, senor," said she, again casting down her eyes, and spreading out her hands as in resignation, "fate which left Texas and Mexico not always one."

"That may be," said Mr. Calhoun. "Perhaps fate, also, that those of kin should cling together."

"How can a mere woman know?" My lady shrugged her very graceful and beautiful shoulders—somewhat mature shoulders now, but still beautiful.

"Dear senora," said Mr. Calhoun, "there are so many things a woman may not know. For instance, how could she know if her husband should perchance leave the legation to which he was attached and pay a visit to another nation?"

Again the slight flickering of her eyes, but again her hands were outspread in protest.

"How indeed, senor?"

"What if my young aide here, Mr. Trist, should tell you that he has seen your husband some hundreds of miles away and in conference with a lady supposed to be somewhat friendly toward—"

"Ah, you mean that baroness—!"

So soon had the shaft gone home! Her woman's jealousy had offered a point unexpectedly weak. Calhoun bowed, without a smile upon his face.

THE SCARLET PERIL

By STUART B. STONE

When I arrived at the Charity rink the great hall resounded with the roll of half a thousand skates, and the babble and laughter of the masked skaters doubled the noise. I was late—I knew that—so I hurried into the baggy, blue trousers and scarlet fez of a Turkish man-of-the-world and waddled on the floor.

The scene was a brilliant one—monarchs, mermaids, muses and monks. There were all the gods of Greece and Egypt and every name in the annals of nations. Neptune reveled with Mother Goose, and Cleopatra with Paul Revere. Here were Jack and Jill pulling Confucius about, and there was Napoleon Bonaparte ogling the Queen of Spades.

We circled round and round the mammoth hall, and the pace grew mad, madder, and yet madder. Then a Chinese mandarin in front slid on one foot, then on another, on both, on none at all—and finally on his pigtailed head, and the bunch of us went down in a scrimmage. As I sprawled atop of a fat colonel of hussars, a voice whispered in my ear: "Beware the Woman in Red!"

I looked up very quickly, and a Spanish flower girl held a pretty white forefinger in front of lips red as cherries. "I mean you, Mr. Turco," she said, and skated away on the arm of Christopher Columbus.

"What the deuce does she mean?" I thought, and, picking myself up, limped over to lean against an iron post. Then ribald, old Bacchus reached around the post and touched me on the arm. "As you value your life," he said, "watch the Woman in Red!"

"A plague on your scarlet lady," I complained; "where is she, anyhow?"

Bacchus had gone with Margaret of Navarre, but I found the Woman in Red. She was tall, well-formed, and a bright, blood-red from the hood of her long gown to the dainty French shoes on her feet. She was a graceful thing, too, and just now she was executing a series of maneuvers on the rollers, turning, reversing, leaping—and all as lithesome as nature itself. Quite a crowd looked on, but it seemed to me that one of them approached very near.

I skated easily toward Her Mysterious Redness, and a little Cupid laid hands on me. "Don't go nearer," he said, "it will be your death." I broke away angrily, but a wood nymph and an Amazon repeated the warning before I had made a dozen strides.

Then I halted in a corner and Pontius Pilate stood there, every limb quivering with fright. I knew Pontius—he was Jim Leary of the National theater staff—and I went for him. "How now—the noble Pilate trembles—is not Judea quiet and tranquil as a country graveyard?"

"Shut up, Eddie Carroll," said the Roman governor. "That infernal Woman in Red over there wants to slip a stiletto between my fourth and fifth ribs."

"You!" I said. "No, my son, you're wrong; it isn't you. The Red Death is after me this round."

"I mean what I say," said Jimmy.

"So do I," said I.

"Look," cried Jimmy. "What in the world!"

I looked and rubbed my eyes, for I thought that I might dream. Instead of the Woman in Red, there were now Women in Red—12 of them, and all of a strange, weird sameness. They had formed a line and were marching, mute and somber, down the center of the great hall. A hundred skaters scurried from in front of them, falling over each other in terror. "Others have been warned," I said to Jimmy, but he was too scared to reply.

Then the Women in Red halted, unmasked, shuffled off their robes and stood revealed—revealed as the chorus of the Ruffy Ruffles opera company. And they began to kick and carol the famous "Hawaiian Maid" chorus, while a small boy displayed a banner, "The season's biggest hit."

"Only another press agent scheme," I said, and groaned. But James Leary Pontius Pilate, by my side, showed plainly his relief.

"By George," he said, "it was narrow escape. I believe you were afraid."

Scholarship's Long Pull.

Science delves and scholarship digs. A few days ago Charles Gross, head of the Gurney professorship of history and political science at Harvard, died at a little past 50. Let the impatient think of the plodding preparation he gave himself for his university work. Born in Troy in 1857, his youth was spent in fitting himself for college. He was graduated from Williams in 1878. Until 1883 he studied at the universities of Leipsic, Goettingen, Berlin and Paris. Until 1888 he worked and studied in England. In that year he went to Harvard as an instructor in history. He was still studying to fit himself for his real work. In 1901, eight years ago, he was made professor of history, last year taking the Gurney chair of history and political science. Fifty years of life; out of this practically 30 in study alone, 40 in study and other preparation for the professorships which he finally reached with the reputation, after the death of Prof. Maitland, of Cambridge university, England, of being the leading authority on the history of English institutions and on early constitutional history.

Pennsylvania's Lapse of Memory.

Forgetting that he had started to draw a gallon of whiskey from a barrel in the cellar, A. C. Hidlay, proprietor of the Hotel Hidlay, Bloomsburg, Pa., left the spigot turned on and went upstairs. Two hours later he remembered it and hastened there. He found that it had all run away and into the sewer. His loss because of his lapse of memory will be about $100.—From the Philadelphia Record.

Genius.

The only real difference between a genius and one of common capacity is, that the former anticipates and explores what the latter accidentally hits upon. But even the man of genius himself frequently employs the advantages that chance presents to him. It is the lapidary that gives value to the diamond, which the peasant has dug up without knowing its worth.

The Successful Man.

He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often, and loved much; who has filled his niche and accomplished his task; who has left the world better than he found it; who has always looked for the best in others and given the best he had; whose life was an inspiration; whose memory a benediction.—A. Stanley.

The Father Handicap.

"No man will ever ask me to marry him," Daysey Maymne Appleton wrote in her diary recently, after an outburst of tears, "as long as father continues to wear a porous plaster, and come in the parlor to scratch his back on the mantel when I am entertaining a young man."—Atchison Globe.

Prize Little Valued.

The irony of fate was shown the other day when a member of the Yarmouth (Eng.) miniature rifle club who is a keen temperance worker was awarded two prizes at the annual distribution. Each was a bottle of whisky.

And the Judge Had a Chance!

If the Missouri judge who said, "A man is not a good citizen unless he reads the papers," had added, "and pays up on time," the Humanville Star-Leader says it would have been the wisest utterance ever given from the bench.—Atlanta Constitution.

Limitations of Genius.

The happiest genius will hardly succeed by nature and instinct alone in rising to the sublime. Art is art! he who has not thought it out has no right to call himself an artist.—Goethe.

Growth of Population.

Insurance authorities tell us that it requires about 300,000 new houses every year to supply our increase of population and 80,000 more to take the places of those that are destroyed by fire.

On Husbands.

The silliest fellows are, in general, the worst of husbands; and it may be asserted as a fact that a man of sense rarely behaves very ill to a wife who deserves very well.

Men and Wisdom.

The best men are born wise. Next comes those who grow wise by learning; then, learned, narrow minds. Narrow minds without learning are the lowest of the people.—Confucius.

Slightly Misquoted.

She—"Did I understand you to say that your friend, Mr. Needs, was thirsting for glory?" He—"Well, not exactly. I said he had a glorious thirst."—Tit-Bits.

One of the most remarkable gardens in the world is established on the roof of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy. Practical Grace.

The family were waiting at the breakfast table for the father to come and say grace before beginning the meal, and the four-year-old, growing hungry and impatient, said: "Let me say the blessing," and putting her head flat down on the table, began: "Now I lay me down to breakfast, we are all hungry. O Lord, and you know father can't hurry!"—Los Angeles Times.

TYROLEAN GROUP

ORDAIN ROYAL A. STOUT

Before a congregation which completely filled the new church edifice,

Rev. Royal A. Stout.

Rev. Royal A. Stout was ordained and made pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church last evening. The Classes of Newark consisted of Rev. Dr. Charles B. Condit, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, Newark; Rev. Albertus J. Broek, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Reformed church, of the same city; Rev. P. T. Pockman, D. D., pastor of the First Reformed church in New Brunswick; Rev. Henry J. Vyverberg, of Hurly, N. Y., and Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, this city. Assisting the pastors were elders J. S. Mundy, S. O. Rush, James C. Hansen, F. E. Smith, Horace J. Martin, Sr., and William Carson.

Just preceding the benediction which was given by the new pastor, Elder Rush presented Mr. Stout with a leather bound issue of the topical and indexed Bible. Rev. Mr. Stout responded to the presentation with a few appropriate remarks and thanked the people of his congregation for their thoughtfulness and expressed his appreciation of the gift. Some fine music was sung by the choir of Trinity church including for the offertory "The Great Way of the Lord." A duet by F. S. Cutter and Miss S. Etta Raybert followed the charge to the congregation.

The sermon delivered by Rev. Dr Pockman was most impressive and in part was as follows: "The church is the custodian of the Word of God and the Holy Spirit is the instrument God uses in this life. The main characteristics of the church are its unity, efficiency a world-wide sphere of activity and a present and future glory. The church possesses unity but not necessarily uniformity. It has a variety of religious experience and character.

"The purpose of the church is to save from sin and to develop Christian character. It has but one God and one Saviour; one revelation of God and one heaven. She is also the pillar and ground of Truth and truth finds expression in the life of the members of the church. She is the greatest institution in the world and is the unrelenting foe of wickedness; helps to strike down unrighteousness and is the leader in every reform movement. This is what makes America so free and it is our highest joy in holding up the living God."

In his charge to the pastor Dr. Vyverberg spoke of the pastor as a man, declaring that it is manhood and life which count in Gospel ministry. The pastor must be a man with a message and his equipment must be the Word of God and Christ's fellowship.

Rev. Albertus J. Broek in his charge to the people told them not to expect too much from the pastor. He is but human and his duties call him at times when some minor

COMMON COUNCIL RAKED

Over one hundred men, including Chairman George W. V. Moy and Secretary Zerega answered the call to a meeting of voters held last night in the Young Men's Christian Association hall to protest against the action of the Common Council in refusing to call a special election on the matter of voting machines. Speeches by Mr. Moy, James E. Martine, Winfield S. Angleman, Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., and others led to the adoption of the following resolution, which was introduced by Mr. Martine:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that we respectfully urge the Common Council of this city that they reconsider the action taken by their body in refusing to call an election according to statute, Laws of 1908, Chapter 163, page 266."

The resolution was adopted unanimously.

Mr. Moy in calling the meeting to order explained the object of it and among other things declared that our laws were made for a purpose and not to be ignored. He said there can be no constitutional limitation arising out of a condition which the Legislature may remove.

"If the Legislature has the power to create it must also have the power to control, and the attitude of the Common Council deserves some consideration at our hands." Mr. Moy also referred to the action taken by the Common Council in the matter of a safe and sane Fourth of July, without wasting any compliments on those resuonsible for the deferred ordinance.

Mr. Martine's speech was full of vigor. He declared the voting machine to be a contrivance made for the special purpose of preventing the voters depositing their own ballot. He would be glad to see the "Little King of Plainfield" taught that the people have rights which even the king must respect.

A lively tilt ensued between Robert Newton Crane and Mr. Martine, when the former took issue with Mr. Martine on some of his allegations of Mr. Marsh's official opinions. Mr. Crane's defense of the corporation counsel was a splendid effort, but Mr. Martine's had the crowd with him.

In order that a fair discussion of the action by the Common Council might be had and that its action might be defended, Mr. Stevens, of Dunellen, suggested that the body be represented in the argument by a member, but unfortunately none of the city fathers was present.

The general impression was given by the tone of the speakers that the Common Council will be forced to order a special election to let the voters decide, as is their privilege and right, whether the voting machine shall be kept in use in the four districts of the city.

Will Preach Memorial Sermon.

"The Message of Memorial Day to Patriotic Citizens," will be the topic of the discourse by Rev. John Y. Broek at Trinity Reofrmed church, tomorrow night. The sermon will be appropriate to Memorial Day and the members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and the Women's Relief Corps will attend in a body. There will also be special music.

Entertainment at Washington School

The pupils of the Washington School, under the direction of Miss Humpstone, the principal, will give an elaborate entertainment at the school Tuesday afternoon and evening, consisting of fancy dances and drills. The pupils have been rehearsing for the affair sometime and a fine program is anticipated.

TO PRESENT "12TH NIGHT"

A delightful entertainment planned for Decoration Day afternoon is the open-air play to be given by the pupils of The Hartridge School from 4 to 6 o'clock. Every other year the pupils of this school present a Shakespearian play. Since 1904, "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "As You Like It," "A Winter's Tale," have all been given and this year "Twelfth Night" will be presented.

Through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Mali, the entertainment will be given on the lawn of the beautiful John Taylor Johnston estate, which will afford an ideal background for the girls in their quaint costumes.

Not the least delightful part of the performance will be the music, for Dr. Waldo, Mr. Fuerstel, Miss Annie Waldo and Mrs. Violet Trueil-Johnson will form a quartet and with Miss Seward and Mr. Jewett will play for the entrances, the dances and the songs.

The young players have been busy with their their parts since February, but the work was so planned that there has been little strain on any individual. In the English department the play was first read and studied. Then the principal characters saw the performance at the New Theatre and later the acting of Julia Marlow and Sothern. After that the coach, Miss Elsie Goddard, took them in hand at rehearsals on rainy days in their school hall and on fine days on the play ground. Later the matter of costumes was taken up by the art teacher, Miss Maude Robinson, who has planned every detail with a view to the artistic effect of the whole. Finally, the teacher of aesthetic dancing, Miss Cuno, devised two dances for the Jester and for the characters at the close. The cast is as follows:

Orsino, R. Stanley Brown; Sebastian, M. Walker; Antonio, L. Hedges; Roberto, H. Harrington; Valentine, E. Foster; Curio, M. Buttfield; Sir Toby Belch, L. French; Sir Andrew Aguecheek, E. Stiles; Malvolio, L. Fox; Fabian, A. Williams; Clown, A. Swann; Friar, M. Blendinger; First Officer, M. Stanley-Brown; second Officer, E. Hovey; Olivia, Marjory Woods; Viola, Agnes Rogers; Maria, Dorothy Lyon; Ladies in Waiting, Eleanor Brown, Susan Hartridge, Katharine Drayton.

Later in the week commencement exercises will be held at the school. The orator for this occasion will be Leslie Willis Sprague, a well known speaker who has delighted many audiences.

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight; Sunday fair; warmer in interior; light to moderate northwest winds becoming variable.

Maximum, 78; minimum, 47.

The Fourth at South Plainfield.

Elaborate arrangements are being made for the firemen's Fourth of July celebration at South Plainfield. There will be festivities on the lake in the evening, in addition to a parade and games of all sorts and other amusements in the afternoon. There will also be fireworks. Refreshments will be served on the old Van Nest farm.

Prize Winner at Rutgers.

Among the prize-men at Rutgers College for this year are John De Lancey, son of Chaplain Ferguson, of the New Jersey Soldiers' Home. Mr. Ferguson is a graduate of the Plainfield High School Class '07. He has taken the Wall-Targium prize in English and the Winner prize in Philosophy.

No Paper Monday.

Monday, Memorial Day, being a legal holiday, there will be no issue of The Daily Press.

PLAYGROUND PAGEANTRY

Two thousand people or more gathered in the city park last night to witness the second presentation of the Kirmess dances being held for the benefit of the public playgrounds. There was nothing lacking in the way of entertainment and some of the dances omitted in Thursday's night's performance elicited round after round of approbation. Who ever saw the Highland Fling so perfectly executed or was there ever a more graceful coterie of young people than the dancers engaged in the Rough Riders and Spanish danza.

The dances given last night were as follows:

Fete de Mai, Queen Flora, Spanish, Killarney, Tyrolean, Jumping Jacks, Pony Ballet, Rough Riders, Highland and Robin Hood. Everyone present agreed that it was the most brilliant affair of the kind yet presented here, and included among the spectators were several distinguished visitors comprising the Mayor and other officials from East Orange. They occupied private boxes throughout the entertainment and joined in the applause and praise accorded the dancers. They expressed the opinion that it was one of the most elaborate entertainments of this character yet witnessed by them.

From the opening dance, that of the Fete de Mai, until the last one, that of the Rough Riders, there was scarcely an interruption, everything going along as smoothly as a professional performance. Every dance reflected the careful and painstaking training of the Misses Florance, of Elizabeth, who are in charge of the affair, as well as the ideal arrangements made for the comfort and convenience of the patrons, and the general decorative effect.

Little can be added to the words of praise given the soloists in each dance. They each shared the honors of the evening. The graceful figures and intricate formations were all executed in clever fashion, keeping in perfect time with the catchy orchestral music.

It was about 10 o'clock when the dances were concluded and then the large audience divided its time between voting for the most popular dance and patronizing the various booths. Just prior to this there was great excitement on the stage when Richard Waring appeared representing "Teddy" Roosevelt. He was mounted on a hobby horse and his general makeup was perfect. Amid the shouts of the Rough Riders and other participants of the dances he galloped about the stage.

Mayor Charles J. Fisk took charge of the voting for the most popular dance, and he was ably assisted by Bertram Leggett, W. H. P. Veysey, Joseph Sandford and G. Stuart Simons, while John Cose, John Todd, Harry DeMeza and Boys' Secretary Bingaman, of the Y. M. C. A., acted as "barkers." In all 1,590 votes were received for the various dances, making a total of 2,816 for the two nights. The Rough Riders lead with 592, followed by Highlands with 332 and the Killarney with 327. The contest now stands as follows:

Rough Riders, 592; Highlands, 332; Killarney, 327; Pony Ballet, 293; Spanish, 291; Jumping Jacks, 277; Fete di Mai, 272; Tyrolean, 219; Robin Hood, 89; Billikens and Millies, 53; Queen Flora, 52; Bulgarian, 19.

A matinee performance will be given this afternoon especially for children an dthose who cannot attend at night, and it is urged that as many people as possible take advantage of this opportunity to witness the beautiful entertainment at the popular price of general admission. There are accommodations for thousands of people and all who attend will be cared for by the various committees. All of the dances will be given at tonight's affair, which will be the closing of the May Day Pageant.

The scene opens at the Court of the Mai Queen with the arrival of guests costumed in the period of Louis XIV. They amuse themselves with games until the entrance of the Queen and her ladies in waiting. The Pierrots and Columbines are called in to honor the Queen and to amuse the Court with their antics. The picturesque game of Ball-Tossing is introduced. The Lords and Ladies then dance a dainty Court Gavotte and after the Rose Garland Dance, led by the Queen, watch the various dances planned for the Queen's entertainment.

The program for this afternoon's performance follows:

Charles H. Fox has sued the Bridgeton Turnpike Company for $500 for damages received when he met an automobile where the road was not the width required by law.

J. Ryland Fortune, who has been principal of the school for colored children at Cape May, has accepted the principalship of the new colored school at Atlantic City and will have eighteen girl graduates.

Andrew Zelker, of Pleasantville, was convicted in the Atlantic county court Thursday of beating his wife with a poker because he found the door locked when he returned after two weeks' absence.

The annual convention of the Methodist Protestant Christian Endeavor Union opened Thursday night in Christ church, Atlantic City, of which Rev. Charles D. Sinkinson is pastor. Rev. J. C. Broomfield, of West Virginia, is its head.

Marshal Stuckey, of Beverly, has received word from authorities at Washington that they can find no records of John Scott, who gave himself up to the marshal last week, claiming that he had deserted as a marine from the S. S. Ohio. Scott was given his freedom.

Harry Glover, of Philadelphia, alias George W. Wilson, was arrested Wednesday night by Magistrate Smith, of Burlington, and is now held in the county jail charged with conducting a magazine subscription swindle. Glover, the police say, has been identified by several of his alleged victims in Burlington county, who, during the last week, put up $2 each for an automobile magazine the prisoner posed as representing. Glover worked only among rich residents who owned automobiles.

Dog Catcher George Burke, of Atlantic City, fled before a woman armed with a hat pin, which she had jabbed into his thigh twice before he put enough distance between himself and the pin to human sieve. The woman was Martha Johnson, negress, weight 170 pounds, who objected to the dog catcher gathering in her pet. Burke had the woman arrested and Magistrate Grove held her to keep the peace. She recovered her pet, a small poodle, "who wouldn't harm any one," she told the court.

Boy Took Grocer's Rig.

Elizabeth, May 28.—Believing that his horse and delivery wagon had been stolen Thursday from in front of a house, where it had been left, Richard T. Potts, a grocer, notified the police, who sent telephone messages to nearby towns. Policeman Hankins last night found the rig in a lot on Second street, Elizabethport, and learned that a Polish boy, Harry Bolosky, had been seen driving it. Bolosky, a few weeks ago, stole a go-cart. He told some of his chums Thursday he was having a "joy ride." He drove the horse around through Union county, and the animal was completely exhausted when discovered. Mr. Potts made a complaint yesterday against the juvenile offender.

Cement Company Adds Employes.

Phillipsburg, May 28.—The Vulcanite Cement Company, operating a large plant near Phillipsburg, increased its number of employes in the quarry, stonehouse and in other outside positions to 150 men on Thursday and yesterday resumed work in its No. 3 mill, which has been idle for some time. The entire plant is now in full operation, and Superintendent Dunn states that the outlook is for a busy summer. The industrial conditions at the Alpha, Portland and other local cement plants also show a big improvement over a year ago, with only a small supply in the stock houses.

The voters of Washington, and even Hackettstown, where the movement was supposed to have received a chill, are now signing the petition.

The Boys' Rough Rider Brigade will be a feature for the children again this season, with Captains McNair and Familton commanding. Every week day during the season there is to be an organ recital and there will be a moving picture entertainment every open evening through the summer.

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

Next Monday night at the Grand Opera House, New York, David Warfield will begin a week's engagement, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday in the Klein play, "The Music Master." It will be Warfield's first engagement in Greater New York in about a year. "The road" has claimed the Belasco star all season, which has been a remarkable series of triumphs in cities he had not visited before in his most notable success. Although his welcome in the tender little play was not worn out in New York or the larger cities of the East, Mr. Balasco decided that this season theatre-goers in all parts of the country should be given an opportunity to see his eminent star in the play that he has made so popular. And so a transcontinental tour was arranged to the exclusion of cities that have seen Mr. Warfield. Each corner of the country was reached, and about 20,000 miles covered. Advanced prices were charged on tour on account of the increased traveling expenses, and seldom was a theatre large enough to hold all who sought admittance.

"Seven Days" is so popular it has been booked for Boston and Philadelphia for practically all next season. The company now at the Astor theatre in New York will go to these cities. That will not interrupt the New York run, as another company will go on with the comedy. Wagenhals & Kemper believe other cities wish a company with a New York reputation, while New York doesn't care who is in a cast so long as they can act.

Florence Reed, daughter of the late Roland Reed, who has made a hit as the psychic girl in "Seven Days," has abandoned a starring tour for next season to remain with Wagenhals & Kemper, who will place her in a new Broadway production.

Miss Etta Jones, of Jersey City, who has been visiting friends here, has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith, of Brooklyn, have been visiting friends in this city for several days.

TAFT UNCERTAIN AS TO VISITING JERSEY.

Ocean Grove, May 28.—To the Jerseymen who called on him at Washington, D. C., Thursday, President Taft was unable to say definitely as to whether or not he would visit Ocean Grove and Sea Girt this summer. The visitors were Rev. Dr. Aaron E. Ballard, president of the Ocean Grove Campmeeting Association; U. S. Senator Kean and Representative Howell. It was explained to Mr. Taft that it was desired that he come here sometime between July 6 and 13, when the Society of Friends holds its convention in this place. The Sea Girt visit was desired during the National Guard encampment there.

Mr. Taft explained that as there was no certainty as to the date of the adjournment of congress he was unable to make any definite answer to the invitation.

Dr. Ballard handed to the President a letter from Governor Fort, which the president read while listening to Dr. Ballard. It is probable that if congress adjourns by July 1 that the president may arrange to visit Ocean Grove. He seemed impressed with the statement made by Dr. Ballard that every president since Grant, except the late President Cleveland, had spoken at Ocean Grove.

CROSS AND A MEDAL FOR JERSEY LIFE SAVER.

Asbury Park, May 28.—William S. Doyle, one of the life guards here, has received an American Cross of Honor from the society of that name at Washington. Two of the medals are given each year, one to the President of the United States or a foreign ruler and the other to a holder of a government life-saving medal.

Doyle has been a life guard for twenty-five years and has saved a score of lives in that time. For saving the life of William C. Truesdale at Spring Lake in 1887 he received the government medal. Through some delay this only reached him recently. Among those who have received the Cross of Honor are King Edward, Emperor William, Theodore Roosevelt, Carnegie and President Taft. The last named received his when Doyle was rewarded.

Mr. Taft wrote Doyle the following letter soon after the medals had been bestowed: "I am glad to be associated with you, sir, even though it be not on account of my own merit." Doyle has written a book containing "don'ts" for surf bathers.

ROSELLE MAY OWN ITS WATER AND LIGHT PLANT.

Roselle Park, May 28.—The Board of Trade of the Roselles at a meeting Thursday night in Tuthill's hall appointed a committee to investigate as to the advisability of erecting a municipal water and electric light plant for the twin boroughs.

Action was brought about by reason of the numerous complaints made against the water which is now being furnished the two towns. On the commitee are Mayor Charles W. MacQuoid, of Roselle; Mayor Louis V. Ebert, of Roselle Park; Borough Engineer J. Wallace Higgins, of Roselle Park; Roswell S. Nichols, B. F. Tuthill, H. F. Dankel and Dr. A. A. Snowden.

Borough Engineer Higgins presented the board Thursday night with a set of plans showing how Chestnut street, the main thoroughfare of the boroughs, could be connected by being depressed under the Central Railroad. The railroad now divides the two towns, and Chestnut street in each town ends at the railroad station, so that there is no way for wagons or other vehicles to cross from one borough into the other on that thoroughfare.

BIG AWARDS FOR N. J. GROWERS OF ORCHIDS.

Boston, May 28.—The New Jersey orchid growers exhibit in the big show of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, have captured the majority of the best prizes. The Julian Roehers Company, of Rutherford, was awarded the $1,000 cash prize for the most varied and artistically arranged collection. The value of their exhibit was placed at more than $25,000.

The 5,000 orchid plant shown by Lager & Hurrell, of Summit, was given a gold medal and the exhibit of Charles Roebling, of Trenton, took second prize in Class 1, amounting to $500.

About a dozen other minor prizes were also taken by the New Jersey exhibitors mentioned above. W. A. Manda, of South Orange, also won several cash prizes and medals. His exhibit is one of the most attractive in the show. In Mr. Roebling's exhibit there is one orchid plant bearing 100 blossoms of the largest.

Joseph Manda, of West Orange, was given first prize of $100 and a gold medal for the best collection of cut orchids.

These sports will include running, jumping, baseball, throwing and weight throwing.

Death Ravages in Barry Post.

Rahway, May 28.—Reports taken from Barry Post, G. A. R., rolls show that nearly three times as many members of the post are in the cemeteries about Rahway as are living today. FIVE OLD FAVORITES ON THE BRUNSWICKS

When the Plainfields clash with the Brunswicks at New Brunswick it will be a battle something like Plainfield vs. Former Plainfield, as on the Middlesex aggregation there are five old local favorites.

Dave Driscoll will be at his old station at first base; Bill Dalton, who is a find of Phil Daab, and who played second here, will be on the third corner; Cosgrove of dress-suit fame will be in right field, and Kid Brogan, who was also brought out by Phil Daab, will be at shortstop.

Gene Gauven, who was discovered by John H. Cose, when the latter managed the Hope Chapel nine, will be behind the bat. Gauven also played several games on the former St. Mary's nine and was a big favorite here. Joe Harter will also be back on the Brunswicks and will play in the outfield.

The High school nine departed for New York on the 7:55 train this morning for New York for the Adelphia Academy game.

Mal Eason, the former big league pitcher, is umpiring in the Southern League.

Manager Jim McGuire of the Cleveland team is carrying twenty-four players on the Eastern trip.

Right Fielder Miller, secured from the Cubs, is doing some good work for the Boston Doves.

"Amby" McConnell of the Boston Red Sox expects to be out of the hospital again in two weeks.

Fred Tenney, the ex-Giant, is keeping in condition by working out with the Boston Americans every morning.

The largest crowd that ever attended a baseball game in Buffalo turned out to greet Jimmy Collins and his Providence team.

So far this season the St. Louis Browns have displayed the same quantity of pepper that you would eat on a piece of chocolate fudge.

If their pitchers can stay on the ground Brooklyn will surely cause some trouble for those "top-notchers" in the National League.

Cleveland fans are betting even money that Larry Lajoie will cop the batting championship and the automobile that goes with it.

The Pittsburg Pirates and the Chicago Cubs both shut out on Friday the 13th of May. Don't overlook this when you talk about pennant winners.

Hughey Jennings says that his Tigers miss the rooting on the home grounds when they are on the road. How did they win three pennants in a row, you grass eater?

After reading Christy Mathewson's new book "Won in the Ninth" we knew that something would happen to him. But, even so, we didn't think that it would be as bad as St Louis knocking him out of the box.

Honus Wagner has been hitting around .225, but will no doubt start the fireworks before the season is much older.

Bob Bescher, of the Reds, is making a strong bid for that buzz wagon offered by a Detroit Automobile Company to the major leaguer having the best batting average. Bescher has an average around .370, according to unofficial averages, and has stolen more bases than any other major league player. Thursday he was at bat three times and slammed out a triple and a single.

GOLF.

There will be the weekly competition for the Spring Handicap cups, Classes A and B, at the Plainfield Country Club today, and the boys' weekly competition. This evening a dinner-dance will be held at the clubhouse.

The events at the Park Golf Club today include the weekly competition for the President's and golf club cups.

Special golf events will attract many players to both the Plainfield Country Club and Park Golf Club on Monday, and there will be the usual receptions and teas, to be followed in the evening with a dinner-dance at the former club.

Several local golf enthusiasts are at the Morris County Country Club today witnessing the big golf tourney.

The women golf players at the Plainfield Country Club are taking more than usual interest in the game this season and considerable rivalry is anticipated in the various events.

Fired Shot at Train.

Elizabeth May 28.—After being on trial for several hours Thursday before Judge Vail and a jury in the Union County Court of Common Pleas, Rosario Pino, of Roselle, who was indicted for carrying a revolver and firing into a passenger train on the Jersey Central, retracted his plea of not guilty and entered one of non vult. His counsel, Martin O'Connor, said that the prisoner's conviction was inevitable from the strong testimony against him, and persuaded Pino to throw himself on the mercy of the court. He will be sentenced next Wednesday.

EAST ORANGE OFFICIALS FETE MANAGERS GUESTS

Mayor Charles J. Fisk, together with George P. Mellick, Harry W. Marshall and Joseph W. Gavett, comprising the local Playground Commission, entertained Mayor William Cardwell and other officials of East Orange, at the May Day Pageant, last night. The visitors arrived here in automobiles about 6 o'clock, and were entertained at dinner at Truell's Inn, before going to the entertainment in the City Park.

The visitors from East Orange included Mayor William Cardwell, Thomas R. Crerde, president; Joseph P. Schiller and Edward E. Reed, playground commissioners; Councilmen Joseph Leonard Merrill, Joseph Lee, Frank Bancroft, Harry J. Burr; members of Board of Education, Charles P. Titus, Robert M. Crater and Frank E. Blake; City Engineer Frederic A. Reimer; David L. Pierson, city editor of The Daily Chronicle, and Lincoln E. Rowley, city clerk.

In addition to the above the Plainfielders at the dinner were Mayor Charles J. Fisk, George P. Mellick, Harry W. Marshall, A. J. Gavett, Herbert E. Parker, W. H. P. Veysey, Stephen J. Voorhees and G. Stuart Simons.

Speeches were made by the two Mayors; also Messrs. Mellick, Rowley, Merrill and Titus. The East Orange people are very enthusiastic over the playground proposition and commended the action of Plainfield.

things need not be placed upon him as an extra tax. Visits to members of the congregation should not be expected every week. There are souls outside the Kingdom which must be saved. Be liberal, he said, in your contributions to the work of the Lord being sure that you are paying the Lord's tax. Every church can make its pastor and remember that the object of the church is to spread the spirit of Jesus Christ throughout the community.

The services opened with the singing of the Doxology, followed by the invocation by Rev. John Y. Broek. Owing to the inability of Rev. W. Warren Giles, of East Orange, president of the Classis, to be present, Rev. John Y. Broek was elected to assume the president's duties and read the form of ordination and installation. Following the benediction there was the laying on of hands by the ministers present, adding greatly to the impressiveness of the occasion.

Under the guidance of Rev. Mr. Stout, the Netherwood Reformed church has had a wonderfully successful career in its short life and indications for the future are most encouraging.

FALSE ECONOMY IN PIANO BUYING

Some people are too apt to be influenced by an apparently attractive price when they go to select a piano.

They imagine any make will do, just so the price is small.

Others are attracted by a flashy cased piano that is offered at a cheap price.

It is an absolute certainty that you cannot purchase a "piano of quality," one that is built on honor; one that will stand the test of time; that wears well and holds its own, at a cheap price.

You can rest assured that "Quality" is always sacrificed in the cheap piano.

If you expect to buy a piano every few years a cheap one will answer your purpose. But how much better it is to pay just a little more at the beginning and secure one that will last for all time. The economical plan, the sensible plan, is for your FIRST PIANO to be a

HALLET & DAVIS

Then the piano question is settled. The Hallet & Davis is built to wear. It lasts a lifetime. It is the only strictly High-Grade piano that is sold at a moderate price. Many of them are in use today that are 30 and even 40 years old.

A matter of $50, $75 or $100 above the cost of a cheap piano invested in a Hallet & Davis assures you complete piano satisfaction. A Hallet & Davis in the home is evidence of good judgement and refined taste.

From an examination of the Fire Department and the reports of the Chief, it is believed that Plainfield is lacking in sufficient equipment for fighting fires.

If a big fire were to occur, Plainfield might be wiped off the map. Complacent apathy will not accomplish anything. We must have these things and better lights for our business district.

Come to the Board of Trade meeting Thursday evening, June 2, at 8 o'clock, 109 Park Avenue. Join in and hear the discussion.

An authority on Fire Fighting from Brooklyn will address the Board.

Our officials should act in these matters right now.

"Mr. Pakenham, the British minister, is disposed to be friendly to this same lady. Your husband and a certain officer of the British navy called upon this same lady last week in Montreal—informally. It is sometimes unfortunate that plans are divulged. To me it seemed only wise and fit that you should not let any of these little personal matters make for us greater complications in these perilous times. I think you understand me, perhaps, Senora Yturrio?"

She gurgled low in her throat at this, any sort of sound, meaning to remain ambiguous. But Calhoun was merciless.

"It is not within dignity, senora, for me to make trouble between a lady and her husband. But we must have friends with us under our flag, or know that they are not our friends. You are welcome in my house. Your husband is welcome in the house of our republic. There are certain duties, even thus."

Only now and again she turned upon him the light of her splendid eyes, searching him.

"If I should recall again, gently, my dear senora, the fact that your husband was with that particular woman—if I should say that Mexico has been found under the flag of England, while supposed to be under our flag—if I should add that one of the representatives of the Mexican legation had been discovered in handing over to England certain secrets of this country and of the Republic of Texas—why, then, what answer, think you, senora, Mexico, would make to me?"

"But Senor Calhoun does not mean—does not dare to say—"

"I do dare it; I do mean it! I can tell you all that Mexico plans, and all that Texas plans. All the secrets are out; and since we know them, we purpose immediate annexation of the Republic of Texas! Though it means war, Texas shall be ours! This has been forced upon us by the perfidy of other nations."

"You seek war, Senor Secretary! My people say that your armies are in Texas now, or will be."

"They are but very slightly in advance of the truth, senora," said Calhoun grimly. "For me, I do not believe in war when war can be averted. But suppose it could be averted? Suppose the Senora Yturrio herself could avert it? Suppose the senora could remain here still, in this city which she so much admires? A lady of so distinguished beauty and charm is valuable in our society here."

He bowed to her with stately grace. If there was mockery in his tone, she could not catch it; nor did her searching eyes read his meaning.

"See," he resumed, "alone, I am helpless in this situation. If my government is offended, I cannot stop the course of events. I am not the senate; I am simply an officer in our administration—a very humble officer of his excellency our president, Mr. Tyler!"

My lady broke out in a peal of low rippling laughter, her white teeth gleaming. It was, after all, somewhat difficult to trifle with one who had been trained in intrigue all her life.

Calhoun laughed now in his own quiet way. "We shall do better if we deal entirely frankly, senora," said he. "Let us then waste no time. Frankly, then, it would seem that, now the Baroness von Ritz is off the scene, the Senora Yturrio would have all the better title and opportunity in the affections of—well, let us say, her own husband!"

She bent toward him now, her lips open in a slow smile, all her subtle and dangerous beauty unmasking its batteries. The impression she conveyed was that of warmth and of spotted shadows such as play upon the leopard's back, such as mark the wing of the butterfly, the petal of some flower born in a land of heat and passion. But Calhoun regarded her calmly, his finger tips together, and spoke as deliberately as though communing with himself. "It is but one thing, one very little thing."

"But It Never Will Be Known, My Dear Lady."

"And what is that, senor?" she asked at length.

"The signature of Senor Van Zandt, attache for Texas, on this memorandum of treaty between the United States and Texas."

Bowing, he presented to her the document to which he had earlier directed my own attention. "We are all well advised that Senor Van Zandt is trafficking this very hour with England as against us," he explained. "We ask the gracious assistance of Senora Yturrio. In return we promise her—silence!"

"I can not—it is impossible!" she exclaimed, as she glanced at the pages. "It is our ruin—!"

"No, senora," said Calhoun sternly; "it means annexation of Texas to the United States. But that is not your ruin. It is your salvation. Your country well may doubt England, even England bearing gifts!"

"I have no control over Senor Van Zandt—he is the enemy of my country!" she began.

Calhoun now fixed upon her the full cold blue blaze of his singularly penetrating eyes. "No, senora," he said sternly; "but you have access to my friend Mr. Polk, and Mr. Polk is the friend of Mr. Jackson, and they two are friends of Mr. Van Zandt; and Texas supposes that these two, although they do not represent precisely my own beliefs in politics, are for the annexation of Texas, not to England, but to America. There is good chance Mr. Polk may be president. If you do not use your personal influence with him, he may consult politics and not you, and so declare war against Mexico. That war would cost you Texas, and much more as well. Now, to avert that war, do you not think that perhaps you can ask Mr. Polk to say to Mr. Van Zandt that his signature on this little treaty would end all such questions simply, immediately, and to the best benefit of Mexico, Texas and the United States? Treason? Why, senora, 'twould be preventing treason!"

Her face was half hidden by her fan, and her eyes, covered by their deep lids, gave no sign of her thoughts. The same cold voice went on:

"You might, for instance, tell Mr. Polk, which is to say Mr. Van Zandt, that if his name goes on this little treaty for Texas, nothing will be said to Texas regarding his proposal to give Texas over to England. It might not be safe for that little fact generally to be known in Texas as it is known to me. We will keep it secret. You might ask Mr. Van Zandt if he would value a seat in the senate of these United States, rather than a lynching rope! So much do I value your honorable acquaintance with Mr. Polk and Mr. Van Zandt, my dear lady, that I do not go to the latter and demand his signature in the name of his republic—no, I merely suggest to you that did you take this little treaty for a day, and presently return it to me with his signature attached, I should feel so deeply gratified that I should not ask you by what means you had attained this most desirable result! And I should hope that if you could not win back the affections of a certain gentleman, at least you might win your own evening of the scales with him."

Her face colored darkly. In a flash she saw the covert allusion to the faithless Pakenham. Here was the chance to cut him to the soul. She could cost England Texas! Revenge made its swift appeal to her savage heart. Revenge and jealousy, handled coolly, mercilessly as weapons—those cost England Texas!

She sat, her fan tight at her white teeth. "It would be death to me if it were known," she said. But still she pondered, her eye alight with somber fire, her dark cheek red in a woman's anger.

"But it never will be known, my dear lady. These things, however, must be concluded swiftly. We have not time to wait. Let us not argue over the unhappy business. Let me think of Mexico as our sister republic and our friend!"

"And suppose I shall not do this that you ask, senor?"

"That, my dear lady, I do not suppose!"

"You threaten, Senor Secretary?"

"On the contrary, I implore! Dear lady, may we not conspire together—for the ultimate good of three republics, making of them two noble ones, later to dwell in amity? Shall we not hope to see all this continent swept free of monarchy, held free, for the peoples of the world?"

For an instant, no more, she sat and pondered. Suddenly she bestowed upon him a smile whose brilliance might have turned the head of another man. Rising, she swept him a curtsey whose grace I have not seen surpassed.

In return, Mr. Calhoun bowed to her with dignity and ease, and, lifting her hand, pressed it to his lips. Then, offering her an arm, he led her to his carriage. I could scarce believe my eyes and ears that so much, and of so much importance, had thus so easily been accomplished, where all had seemed so near to the impossible.

CHAPTER XXII.

But Yet a Woman.

Woman turns every man the wrong side out,
And never gives to truth and virtue that
Which simpleness and merit purchaseth.
—Shakespeare.

On the day following my last interview with Mr. Calhoun, I had agreed to take my old friend Dr. von Rittenhofen upon a short journey among the points of interest of our city, in order to acquaint him somewhat with our governmental machinery and to put him in touch with some of the sources of information to which he would need to refer in the work upon which he was now engaged. We had spent a couple of hours together, and were passing across the capitol, with the intent of looking in upon the deliberations of the houses of congress, when all at once, as we crossed the corridor, I felt him touch my arm.

"Did you see that young lady?" he asked me. "She looked at you, yess?"

I was in the act of turning, even as he spoke. Certainly had I been alone I would have seen Elizabeth, would have known that she was there.

It was Elizabeth, alone, and hurrying away! Already she was approaching the first stair. In a moment she would be gone. I sprang after her by instinct, without plan, clear in my mind only that she was going, and with her all the light of the world; that she was going, and that she was beautiful, adorable; that she was going, and that she was Elizabeth!

As I took a few rapid steps toward her, I had full opportunity to see that no grief had preyed upon her comeliness, nor had concealment fed upon her damask cheek. Almost with some resentment I saw that she had never seemed more beautiful than on this morning. The costume of those days was trying to any but a beautiful woman; yet Elizabeth had a way of avoiding extremes which did not appeal to her individual taste. Her frock now was all in pink, as became the gentle spring, and the bunch of silvery ribbons which fluttered at her belt had quite the agreeing shade to finish in perfection the cool, sweet picture that she made. Her sleeves were puffed widely, and for the lower arm were opened just sufficiently. She carried a small white parasol, with pinked edges, and her silken mitts, light and dainty, matched the clear whiteness of her arms. Just as she reached the top of the broad marble stairs, I spoke.

"Elizabeth!"

Seeing that there was no escape she paused now and turned toward me. I have never seen a glance like hers.

"How do you do?" she remarked. Her voice was all cool white enamel.

She was there somewhere, but I could not see her clearly now. It was not her voice. I took her hand, yes; but it had now none of answering clasp.

"Elizabeth," I began; "I am just back. I have not had time—I have had no leave from you to come to see you—to ask you—to explain—"

"Explain?" she said evenly.

"But surely you cannot believe that I—"

"I only believe what seems credible, Mr. Trist."

I pulled from my pocket the little ring which I had had with me that night when I drove out to Elumhurst in my carriage, the one with the single gem which I had obtained hurriedly that afternoon, having never before that day had the right to do so. In another pocket I found the plain gold one which should have gone with the gem ring that same evening. My hand trembled as I held these out to her.

"I prove to you what I mean. Here! I had no time! Why, Elizabeth, I was hurrying—I was mad!—I had a right to offer you these things. I have still the right to ask you why you did not take them? Will you not take them now?"

She put my hand away from her gently. "Keep them," she said, "for the owner of that other wedding gift—the one which I received."

Now I broke out. "Good God! How can I be held to blame for the act of a drunken friend? You know Jack Dandridge as well as I do myself. I cautioned him—I was not responsible for his condition."

"It was not that decided me."

"You could not believe it was I who sent you that accursed shoe which belonged to another woman."

"He said it came from you. Where did you get it, then?"

Now, as readily may be seen, I was obliged again to hesitate. There were good reasons to keep my lips sealed. I flushed. The red of confusion which came to my cheek was matched by that of indignation in her own. I could not tell her, and she could not understand, that my work for Mr. Calhoun with that other woman was work for America, and so as sacred and as secret as my own love for her. Innocent, I still seemed guilty.

"So, then, you do not say? I do not ask you."

"I do not deny it."

"You do not care to tell me where you got it."

"No," said I; "I will not tell you where I got it."

"Why?"

"Because that would involve another woman."

"Involve another woman? Do you think, then, that on this one day of her life, a girl likes to think of her—her lover—as involved with any other woman? Ah, you made me begin to think. I could not help the chill that came on my heart. Marry you?—I could not! I never could, now."

"But you loved me once," I said banally.

"I do not consider it fair to mention that now."

"I never loved that other woman. I had never seen her more than once. You do not know her."

"Ah, is that it? Perhaps I could tell you something of one Helena von Ritz. Is it not so?"

"Yes, that was the property of Helena von Ritz," I told her, looking her fairly in the eye.

"Kind of you, indeed, to involve me, as you say, with a lady of her precedents!"

"I hardly think any one is quite just to that lady," said I slowly.

"Except Mr. Nicholas Trist! A beautiful and accomplished lady, I doubt not, in his mind."

Still I went on stubbornly: "But may I not see your father and have

"But May I Not See Your Father and Have My Chance Again?"

my chance again? I cannot let it go this way. It is the ruin of my life."

But now she was advancing, dropping down a step at a time, and her face was turned straight ahead. The pink of her gown was matched by the pink of her cheeks. I saw the little working of the white throat wherein some sobs seemed stifling. And so she went away and left me.

CHAPTER XXIII.

Success in Silk.

As things are, I think women are generally better creatures than men.—S. T. Coleridge.

It was a part of my duties, when in Washington, to assist my chief in his personal and official correspondence, which necessarily was very heavy. This work we customarily began about nine of the morning. On the following day I was on hand earlier than usual. I was done with Washington now, done with everything, eager only to be off on the far trails once more. But I almost forgot my own griefs when I saw my chief. Over him hung an air of utter weariness; yet, shame to my own despair, energy showed in all his actions. He greeted me with a smile which strangely lighted his grim face.

"We have good news of some kind this morning, sir?" I inquired.

In answer, he motioned me to a document which lay open upon his table. It was familiar enough to me. I glanced at the bottom. There were two signatures!

"Texas agrees!" I exclaimed. "The Dona Lucrezia has won Van Zandt's signature!"

I looked at him. His own eyes were swimming wet! This, then, was that man of whom it is only remembered that he was a pro-slavery champion.

"We are certain to encounter opposition. The senate may not ratify," said he. "I am perfectly well advised of how the vote will be when this treaty comes before it for ratification. We will be beaten, two to one!"

"Then, does that not end it?"

"End it? No! There are always other ways. If the people of this country wish Texas to belong to our flag, she will so belong. It is good as done to-day. Never look at the obstacles; look at the goal! It was this intrigue of Van Zandt's which stood in our way. By playing one intrigue against another, we have won thus far. We must go on winning!"

He paced up and down the room, one hand smiting the other. "Let England whistle now!" he exclaimed exultantly. "We shall annex Texas, in full view, indeed, of all possible consequences. There can be no consequences, for England has no excuse left for war over Texas. I only wish the situation were as clear for Oregon. And now comes on that next nominating convention, at Baltimore."

"What will it do?" I hesitated.

"God knows. For me, I have no party. I am alone! I have but few friends in all the world"—he smiled now—"you, my boy, as I said, and Dr. Ward and a few women, all of whom hate each other."

I remained silent at this shot, which came home to me; but he smiled, still grimly, shaking his head. "Rustle of silk, my boy, rustle of silk—it is over all our maps. But we shall make these maps! Time shall bear me witness."

"Then I may start soon for Oregon?" I demanded.

"You shall start to-morrow," he answered.

Keeping in Touch With Home

THE bread-winner is frequently delayed beyond his regular hour. This disturbs the household arrangements. The family does not mind a reasonable delay provided there is notice in advance.

With a telephone in the home a man can advise his family of any delay. A residence telephone also provides the means for the family to communicate with him through the day. Not a week passes that the family has not some urgent message to send to the man of the house.

The cost of residence telephone service is negligible as compared with its convenience.

Remember, too, that every Bell Telephone is a Long Distance Station.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all.

Plainfield people endorse our claim.

Mrs. O. C. Moore, 57 Manning avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Though I have had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills in the past few years, I value them as highly as ever. My kidneys were weak for years and I suffered severely from backache. I was unable to sleep well and when I arose in the morning, my limbs were so stiff and sore that I could hardly get out of bed. Every cold I caught settled in my kidneys and aggravated my suffering. I doctored but the medicines I used did me no good. At length I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and procuring a supply at Randolph's Pharmacy, I began taking them. They went directly to the seat of my trouble, disposing of the pains and making me feel like a different person."

Discuss Public Produce Exchange for Elizabeth.

Elizabeth, May 28.—Plans for a public produce exchange will be discussed by the First Street Association next Thursday evening.

The members are enthusiastic over the proposition. They declare that farm products should be disposed of at a centrally located market. The idea is to have the proposed exchange in the downtown section of the city.

SERVICES FOR VETERANS

Old Soldiers Hear Rev. Mr. Broek at Trinity Reformed Church.

With handsome decorations of flags for a background the Memorial Day services were held in Trinity Reformed church on Sunday evening at which members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and the Women's Relief Corps attended in a body. Special music marked the services consisting of patriotic hymns and for an offertory piece "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" was sung effectively by the church quartet. The sermon preached by Rev. John Y. Broek was a masterly effort and was full of the kind of patriotism of which true religion is the basis.

Rev. Mr. Broek said in part: "I extend a cordial and hearty welcome to you veterans of the Civil War to these services. I consider myself honored by your presence and hope the influences of the services will remain with us all for many days to come."

From Psalm 33, verse 12, the pastor drew three lessons. He said: "We come together at this time every year to freshen our love and keep green the memories of those who died in battles for our common country. Not to talk war but to decry it in any form. Is war justifiable? If war has a just cause, then religion can have no scruples against it. We believe that the Civil War was a just one.

"You men went to the front to uphold the invincible principle of liberty and freedom. The North as well as the South thought they were right. But one was fighting for the preservation of the Union while the other fought for the separation of it. Far be it from us to glory in our army and navy as a menace to other nations. From remote ages right up to the latest war of this country the wars for just causes have been followed by blessings. The influence of the Civil War did not remain alone in this country, but spread all over the world and begat for us the homage of the world.

"Today we have a united nation. Breaches have been healed and one grand and glorious commonwealth was created by the final result of the sanguine contest. And being a just war what a lesson it bears for the young American of today. It ought to inculcate patriotism, the kind which is a sacred enthusiasm for our country and loyalty to its institutions, especially in the communities in which we live. Liberty, although it cost us dear, is here and that should be a part of the meaning of Memorial Day. It is because of your patriotism and valor we owe what we now are. A country more blessed than ever it was before your bravery and patriotism safeguarded its sacred name. Your sacrifice and devotion should be another lesson to the youths of coming generations.

"A patriot is one who gives his best manhood to his country in both times of peace and days of war. The need for strong men is great in this country. It is a crying need. Men whose honesty cannot be questioned. Men endowed with the spirit of honesty itself to assume their places in our national life with absolute incorruptibility. Future wars will be fought out on moral lines. Intemperance one of the greatest of the country's enemies, must be driven from the battle. And other social conditions will have to be fought out on the same lines. And when won their victories will be just as great in a sense as any of the other great wars.

"Our flag is the emblem of liberty, the Herald of Truth and the Standard of Righteousness. Let us always keep it unsullied."

After the benediction the men of the G. A. R. marched out ahead of the rest of the congregation. The choir sang with feeling the Star Spangled Banner, being joined by the congregation at the end of each verse. The final hymn, "My Country 'Tis of Thee" was heartily sang by the whole audience.

Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., desires to acknowledge with thanks the services rendered by those assisting in the observance of the day. To Co. K for its escort and firing the salutes to the pupils of the public schools in Plainfield and North Plainfield for their generous gifts of flowers for the decoration of the graves, to the boys of the Plainfield High School who joined in the parade of honor, to the girls of the Plainfield High School who, by their singing added so greatly to the beauty of the services at the cemetery and to the younger boys and girls who took part in the services in the afternoon.

WATCHUNG HUNT RACES

Sixth Annual Meet Witnessed by Fashionable Crowd at the Club's Grounds.

Five races on the flat and one steeplechase afforded fine sport for the one thousand spectators at the spring meeting of the Watchung Hunt Club yesterday afternoon. The weather was ideal and the grounds thronged with handsomely gowned women, presented an attractive sight.

There were a few minor accidents that only added excitement to the fine racing. Among the best races of the day were those for the Netherwood cup and the steeplechase for the Somerset cup.

Rufus C. Finch's Lady Ann, Schuyler Casey up, in the first race for the Union cup, had a narrow escape from injury. Coming around for the first time, Mr. Casey's mount bolted through the paddock gate and crashed into a table upon which two men were seated. They were bowled over, but escaped serious injury, while Casey slid off the horse's back and also escaped. The animal ran home before stopping.

Hugh Gormley had a series of exciting experiences throughout the afternoon, and he certainly was in hard luck. In the fifth race mounted on Rufus C. Finch's Harry Baylor, he was making a strong bid for first place against Essex B, when on the third round the horse stumbled and fell, throwing its rider. In an instant both horse and rider were on their feet and off again, but too late to figure in the race.

The race for the Netherwood cup, furnished an exciting finish between J. H. Mulchay's Hammon Lass, owner riding, and James Hever's Sir Gaze, with Wildey up, and P. F. Bruner's Victory Belle, with Alpers up. Victory Belle was picked for a winner, until the animal stepped in a hole on the far turn and almost went down. The animal quickly regained its feet, but not in time to prevent Hammon Lass from winning by a scant length. Wildey brought Sir Gaze home ahead of Victory Belle.

The farmer's race was as usual an exciting event. A. F. Bremer's Spitfire and Charles Kelly's Flora were the principal contestants and finished in a dead heat. In the run-off, Spitfire won easily, as Flora took her rider off the track first time around.

Marcus Hoyt's entry, Kilter, Yorke up, won the sixth race in clever fashion, and won lots of money for the former and his many friends present.

The bookies were out in large numbers and they plied their trade without interference throughout the afternoon. Some of them started a shell game, but the officials soon stopped it and it was not resumed.

Among the interested spectators at the races was Reginald C. Vanderbilt and his party. The hunting colonies throughout the metropolitan district were well represented. The summaries:

Union cup, for hacks or hunters. For horses used as hacks or hunters, to carry 165 pounds, one and one-half miles on the flat; cup presented by Hart Farlee. First, Al H. Woods, David Dows, (Dows); second, Big Ben, J. R. Pollard, (Gormley).

Farmers' race, for work horses the property of farmers in the neighborhood of Plainfield, about five furlongs on the flat; post entries. Spitfire, E. F. Bremer, (Bremer), and Flora, Charles Kelly, (Glaser), dead heat. On the run-off Spitfire won.

Third race, Netherwood cup, for galloways, fifteen hands or under, to carry 150 pounds, professionals 7 pounds extra; half mile on the flat; cup presented by C. F. Wildey, Jr.: First, Hammon Lass, J. H. Mulchay, (Mulchay); second, Sir Gaze, James Hever, (Wildey); third, Victory Belle, P. F. Brunner, (Alpers).

Sixth race, open race, for horses three years old and upward; winner of a race on the flat in 1910 to carry 5 pounds extra; two or more, 10 pounds, sex allowances as by rule, gentlemen riders allowed 5 pounds, about six furlongs on the flat. First, Kilter, Marcus Hoyt, (Yorke); second, Dr. Fizz, David Dows, (Tone); third, Tivolini, James Hever, (Mulchay).

HONOR DEAD SOLDIERS

Winfield Scott Post Decorates Graves and Holds Memorial Service.

The members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., assisted by the Women's Relief Corps and John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans, as well as Co. K, N. G. N. J., and a large delegation of boys from the public schools, joined in the observance of Memorial Day. There was a noticeable depreciation in the number of those in the parade which was the feature of the morning. The veterans held a short parade about the city and vlisted the North Plainfield and Plainfield avenue cemeteries, where services were held. Prior to that various details visited all of the cemeteries in this vicinity, strewing flowers on the veterans' graves, the expense of which was born by the county

While the exercises of the day were in charge of Commander H. Craig Smith, of Post No. 73, G. A. R., Past Commander I. L. McVoy was chairman of the Memorial detail, and Captain William Hand was the marshal of the day, having charge of the parade.

Following the parade, the veterans adjourned to headquarters at Reform Hall, where dinner was served to the veterans and others by the members of the Women's Relief Corps. Commander Smith was in charge of the program at Reform Hall in the afternoon. A large chorus of children sang patriotic songs. Adjutant J. F. Berg read the orders of the day from National headquarters, as well as the local, and Lincoln's Gettysburg address was also read, as usual. Instrumental music was also a feature.

The oration was delivered by Rev. Dr. Herman C. Berg, of New York, a brother of Dr. J. F. Berg, adjutant of the Post. After the exercises the children and others were invited to partake of refreshments prepared and served by the members of the Women's Relief Corps.

JUMPING JACKS WON KIRMESS CONTEST

Nothing but the capacity of the grounds limited the audience which gathered in the city park on Saturday night for the final performances in aid of the city playgrounds. The Misses Florance were practically smothered in flowers thrown in great profusion upon the stage and none of those who took part in the spectacle were forgotten. The final winners of the dancing contest were announced as the Jumping Jacks.

A lively contest took place at the flower booth, probably to see who could be the most liberal with their gifts and also with the spirit of aiding a good cause. After the final spectacle in the evening the voting contest got into full swing in a jiffy and the voting was fast and furious. First one and then another was in the lead and it was only after the persistent work of the counters and cashiers that they were able to announce the winners in the different classes.

The final results follow:

In the older class the Highland Fling dancers, Spanish and Rough Riders received the flags while in the children's classes the Jumping Jacks and Pony Ballet received the trophies. The final vote was as follows:

Jumping Jacks, 2,402; Highland Fling, 2,305; Fete De Mai, 357; Queen Flora, 529; Spanish, 648; Killarney, 387; Tyrolean, 375; Pony Ballet, 743; Bulgarian, 56; Millie and Billikens, 157; Rough Riders, 785, and Robin Hood, 282. The net receipts from the Fete will be between $1,000 and $1,500.

THE WEATHER.

Showers tonight; Wednesday, partly cloudy; light to moderate west to northwest winds.

Maximum, 79; minimum, 50.

Will Attend Playground Convention.

MRS. M. E. EDGERTON GOES TO HER REWARD

Mrs. Minnie E. Edgerton died at her home, 427 East Front street, yesterday morning after a week's illness. For many years she had been an invalid and by reason of her weakness was debarred from an active life. At one time she was president of the Women's Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital and always has been interested in the various chairtable enterprises of the city.

Every Thanksgiving some two score of turkeys with all the other good things that go to make up the dinner were distributed to those who otherwise would have had simple fare; and every Christmas numerous homes were gladdened by the thoughtful generosity.

Though a great sufferer she always received the numerous friends who called at her home, with no mention of her own pains, but with a cordial interest and a warm sympathy that made her so beloved by all who were privileged to know her. She was the only sister of the late James T. Closson, who died a little over a year ago. She leaves no family.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning and will be private.

BASS ARE PLENTIFUL AT NEW MARKET POND.

"Gee Whiz, that's jjust like pulling an elephant's tooth," remarked Dr. Elmer A. Giddes, to Percy Giddes, as he was pulling in his line while fishing at New Market yesterday afternoon. As he yanked in his line and saw a pretty bass dangling on the hook he remarked again. "Gee, but it's a whopper." It was a whopper sure enough. It was the largest bass hooked in the pond this year and weighed three pounds and two ounces. In addition to this catch the string was increased by the acquisition of several other good sized specimens of the finny tribe.

Bass are biting exceptionally well in the pond this year. Daniel Moody, fishing on Thursday and Friday mornings, hooked six bass at each undertaking, the largest being a two-pounder.

CONGRATULATE FR. BOGAN

Mgr. Falconio and Others Send Greetings on 25th Anniversary of Ordination.

Rev. Bernard M. Bogan, rector of St. Mary's church who celebrated his twenty-fifth anniversary of his entry into the priesthood yesterday, had many notable divines of the Roman Catholic church at high mass which was celebrated in the morning some of whom were old classmates of the rector, besides receiving from Rome the Papal blessing through Bishop O'Connor, of Newark, who is now in Rome. Among other messages of congratulation was one from Mgr. Falconio papal delegate resident in Washington; Mgr. O'Grady, of New Brunswick and several others.

After the services at the church which was handsomely decorated for the occasion, a dinner was held in the old Washington school building. This was a quiet and sociable affair in which no formal speechmaking was done. Father Bogan received the congratulations of his colleagues and appeared happy to know that he was appreciated not alone in his work in the parish but because of his whole-souled devotion to his parishioners.

A mass for thanksgiving was celebrated in the moring at which Father Bogan was celebrant, assisted by Rev. James E. Burk, of New York, as deacon and Rev. M. T. White, of Newark, as sub-deacon. Rev. James Delehanty was master of ceremonies. Monseigneur C. J. Kelly, of Hoboken, preached the sermon taking for his subject "The Priesthood." He told of the unvarying characteristics of the studies; the self effacement of the person in matters of the world and the duties imposed upon candidates for the priesthood. The church was filled to its utmost capacity.

The last part of the celebration of Father Bogan's jubilee will take place tonight when the children of the parochial school will give their entertainment at the Plainfield Theatre. This will include a play "Rowena's Triumph," the rehearsals for which have given promise of splendid work.

'12TH NIGHT' AL FRESCO BY HARTRIDGE PUPILS

The pupils of the Hartridge School presented "Twelfth Night" as their annual play on the lawn of the John Taylor Johnston estate yesterday afternoon before a large and appreciative audience. The natural stage settings were ideal for the production and the pupils all without an exception acted their parts exceedingly well, calling forth frequent applause.

The cast of the play was exactly as published in The Daily Press on Saturday. A feature of the production was the orchestral music in which Dr. Waldo, Miss Waldo and Mrs. Violet Truell-Johnson took part. Much praise is due the coach, Miss Elsie Goddard, as well as other teachers of the school, who assisted in the preparation for the play.

The cast was as follows: Orsino, R. Stanley Brown; Sebastian, M. Walker; Antonio, L. Hedges; Roberto, H. Harrington; Valentine, E. Foster; Curio, M. Buttfield; Sir Toby Belch, L. French; Sir Andrew Aguecheek, E. Stiles; Malvolio, L. Fox; Fabian, A. Williams; Clown, A. Swann; Friar, M. Blendinger; First Officer, M. Stanley Brown; second officer, E. Hovey; Olivia, Marjory Woods; Viola, Agnes Rogers; Maria, Dorothy Lyon; Ladies in Waiting, Eleanor Brown, Susan Hartridge, Katharine Drayton.

Mr and Mrs. Levis Booth, of Watchung avenue, entertained about twenty members of the Delta Upsilon at a picnic on the Watchung Mountains Saturday afternoon and evening. The guests included several Plainfielders and Swarthmore College and New York members, as well as several from Hamilton College. The affair was held at the King's Daughters Baby Camp.

Among those present were Rev. Isaac O. Best, class '67, Hamilton College, father of Lindsey Best, of this city. The party had a good social time singing college songs, after which there was a spread. All remained until early evening to see the comet, returning home about 9 o'clock.

ALUMNAE HOLDS REUNION

Graduates of Mt. St. Mary College are Addressed by Mgr. Kelly.

The members of Mt. St. Mary Academic Alumnae Association held their annual reunion and banquet at the college yesterday. The president, Miss Matilda A. Gregory, of Newark, who presided, made a graceful and witty speech, and presented a loving cup to the former president, Miss Hnna Coad, of Brooklyn. Mrs. George N. J. Somers, of Trenton, accepted the gift on behalf of Miss Coad, who was detained by illness.

In a few well-chosen words, Rt. Rev. Mgr. Kelly, of Hoboken, urged the young women to absolute loyalty to their alma mater on which depended to a great extent the propagation of the faith of Christ. "How many homes would be desolate without the influence of the women of the family," said the speaker. "In how many homes the lamp of faith would burn dimly if it were not for the saintly influence of a devoted mother."

There were speeches by Mrs. George N. J. Somers, of Trenton; Miss Helen Coll, of Philadelphia; Miss Annie Gilbert Drummond, of Brooklyn. At the conclusion of the banquet all assembled in the college library and an informal meeting was held. The treasurer, Miss Margaret C. Gray, of Princeton, then presented Rev. Mother M. Gabriel, in the name of the alumnae, with a purse for the scholarship fund of the college. Mother Gabriel expressed her sincere appreciation of the loyal support and devotion of the members to their alma mater. After a visit to the chapel the guests sought the college campus and there amid woodland beauties and a riot of wild flowers the time sped rapidly by until the hour of departure arrived.

Among those present were Miss Catharine Redican, Miss Mary R. Sullivan, Miss Marguerite McDonough, Miss Irene N. Duchesne, Miss S. Snyder and Mme. Alice Jaccard, of Plainfield; Mrs. G. N. J. Somers, Miss A. McGrory, Miss Grace Convery, of Trenton; Miss Agnes Allen, Miss Edna M. Smith, Miss Mabelle Griswold Townsend, Mrs. Edward Styles, Miss Jane Uyllet, Miss Etta Loftus, Miss Irene A. Smith, of New York; Miss Margaret C. Gray, of Princeton; Miss Annie Gilbert Drummond, of Brooklyn; Miss Flora Hurley and Miss Elsie Bierman, of Camden; Miss Catherine Ratty, Miss Helen C. Coll, Miss Bertha C. Neely, of Philadelphia; Miss Hanna Henry, of Cape May; Miss Alva May Taylor, of Chespeake City, Md.; Miss Jennie Dunnigan, of Woodbridge; Mrs. Joseph Carlton, of Orange; Miss Julia Blake and Miss Florence Connlin, of Bordentown.

THOMAS KELLY IS KILLED

Struck by Automobile on South Avenue, Dies in Hospital.

As a result of being struck by an automobile driven by Lee Gazley, of New York city, Thomas B. Kelley, a fireman employed on the P. & R. Railroad, died this morning in Muhlenberg Hospital at 4 o'clock. Both of Kelley's thighs and several of his ribs were broken. The accident occurred on South avenue near Fanwood at 10 o'clock last night. Mr. Gazley was driving a Packhard runabout and directly behind his was a touring car containing three passengers, one of whom, William P. Earle, of New York, stopped and picked Kelley up and hurried him to Muhlenberg Hospital with the injured man.

After seeing the man safely in charge of the house physician, Dr. W. H. Anthony, Mr. Gazley came to police headquarters and surrendered. In the absence of Judge William N. Runyon, Mayor Charles J. Fisk was summoned from his home and accepted bail in the sum of $1,000 for Mr. Gazley's appearance in court this morning. Craig A. Marsh appeared as counsel for Mr. Gazley and at the hearing before the Mayor this morning cancelled the bail bond and allowed the accused automobilist go in the custody of his counsel to appear before Judge Atwater in the county court in Elizabeth at noon.

In the runabout with Mr. Gazley were Mrs. William P. Earle and Philip Apry, a boarder at Truell Hall. In a statement made to the Mayor last night Mr. Gazley said that he first saw Kelley as he lunged in a drunken condition in front of his car, and in trying to avoid hitting him swerved close in to the curb. But as he swung his machine in Kelly made a jump for the lights and tripped directly in front of the machine.

Chief of Police P. S. Kiely swore out a complaint against Gazley for felonious assault and upon the supposition that Kelly's injuries were not serious Gazley was released under the bond of $1,000 furnished by S. S. Schuyler and A. B. Davies, of Belvidere avenue. No ante-mortem statement was obtained from Kelly owing to the fact that his injuries last night were not considered fatal. Several witnesses to the accident besides those in the automobiles will be summoned to be present at the hearing which will in all probability be held tomorrow morning before Judge Atwater. The body is lying at Cole's morgue and City Physician C. W. Lufburrow will perform an autopsy this afternoon Kelley was unmarried.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Captain Benjamin Cole, pilot of the ferryboat Cranford, had a stiff battle with a pilot on Saturday afternoon. The scrap was not of a pilot of the ferryboat variety, but with a pilot snake in the yard of Mr. Schneidler, who resides on the opposite side of the street. Captain Cole was looking over Mr. Schneidler's vegetable patch when he discovered the reptile enjoying a nap among some pea vines. Captain Cole retreated in the direction of a clothes-pole, buckled up courage, advanced on the enemy, and smote it on the back. The snake gave a wiggle, but that was all. The reptile measured nearly four feet long.

The funeral service of Mrs. Catharine Hill, widow of the late Nathaniel Hill, who died on Friday, was conducted at St. John's church yesterday morning, where a solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Father Dunphy. There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors of the deecased. Mrs. Hill's death was hastened by the tragic death of her husband which occurred three month's ago when he was hit and killed instantly by a train on the Jersey Central railroad near Boynton Beach. Mrs. Hill is survived by a daughter, Miss Carrie Hill, and two sons, Joseph and John Hill.

Rev. N. J. Sproull, who was pastor of the Presbtyerian church ten years ago, occupied the pulpit on Sunday evening. Mr. Sproull's visit to the borough was unexpected and there was considerable surprise at the morning service when he walked in the church and took a pew in the center of the edifice. Mr. Sproull was greeted by a large congregation at the evening service.

Rev. William H. Morgan, D. D., pastor of the Central M. E. church, at Newark, will deliver his lecture on "A Yankee in Ireland" on Friday night in the Methodist church. Tickets are selling freely for the event.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Decoration Day exercises were held yesterday morning at 8:30. The members of the fire department together with the school children, met the members of Winfield Scott Post, G. A. R., and the band at the Park avenue trolley corner. A short line of march was held after which the services at the cemetery were conducted, Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews making the address and Rev. Mr. Hollingshead, of the Methodist church, asked the blessing. After the children had strewn flowers upon the graves of the soldier dead, the veterans were escorted back to the trolley and the exercises were over.

The Township Committee at its meeting Friday night passed a resolution allowing the N. Y. & N. J. Telephone Co. to place overhead or underground wires through the town, the permit being a fifty year contract. This will enable the company to enlarge its telephone system in town, as it has been badly handicapped in the past for the reason that it was necessary for them to get a permit to erect poles or wires for every subscriber.

The second team had a game scheduled for yesterday morning with a team from Westfield, but for some reason the Westfield team failed to put in an appearance. The result was the fans did not enjoy a game yesterday.

If the Township Committee is to oil the streets let it be soon, as yesterday dust raised by the hundreds of passing automobiles made life miserable for the residents of Front street and Park avenue.

The Misses Jahn and a number of their friends enjoyed a picnic yesterday on the mountain near Glenside. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Jahn chaperoned the party and a most enjoyable day was had.

A clay bird shoot arranged by Richard Hurley was held yesterday on the mountain near Green Brook. The affair was an all day shoot and was attended by a number of the trap shooters.

Michael Fitzgerald, of Front street, has returned from a visit with relatives and friends in New York.

The local ball team lost an 11-inning game at Somerville yesterday afternoon by the score of 3 to 2.

BOYS OF THE PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATING CLASS.

Second Row—Horace Earle, Clifford Vail, Fred Loizeaux, Howard Runyon, John Kenney, Osgood Sewall.
Bottom Row—Lester Sutton, Russell Miller, Thomas Ricketts.

Although outnumbered more than two to one by the girls of the class the fourteen boys who will receive diplomas as graduates of the Plainfield High School at the First Baptist church next month have each and all "made good" in school activities during their course. The members of the class of nineteen ten are fifty-one in number, and thirty-seven of the graduates are girls.

Above the average standing in studies during the four years of their school course, the young men have been particularly active and efficient in the school life, and have won an enviable record for their class. Winning the school insignia in baseball, football, and basketball, the young men have helped the school to win many a game, and members of the class have also come into prominence on the cinder path, the stage and the burnt-cork semi-circle. Those who have served as managers of the various school teams and publications have shown unusual busines and executive ability.

Russell Miller has developed into the decade's best school runner, and has nailed up new records in the sprints and middle distance runs during his school course. Edson Vail is a shot-putter known as a point-winner, and he has pushed the metal beyond the mark of previous years in competition. Horace Earle also represented his team in the various track meets.

Executive ability among the boys is shown by the sucess as managers of its various members. Harry Brick was especially successful as manager of the Senior play; Fred Loizeaux turned in a good report as manager of the P. H. S. Oracle as did Howard Runyon, who was also manager of the nine

Press-notice winners in the senior play was Hamilton, Bullock, Putnam and Overton and high school people say that Sewall Osgood is the real Lew Dockstader thing, and back up their statement by referring to his success in various minstrel entertainments.

Lester Sutton rushes into prominence because he is the smallest man ever graduated from the school; folks say he's a man from his chin up, anyway. Thomas Ricketts made a name for himself when he played behind the line on the school eleven.

Fred Loizeaux is the president of class. Miss Meta Pennock has been chosen as valedictorian and Miss Margaret Leggett is the salutatorian.

Mailed It All Right.

"Why did you try to mail your letter in a fire alarm box? Don't you know these are regular boxes for letters?" So asked the battalion chief. Y-yess," blubbered the dazed maid, "but it was for a lad in Engine 16." So the word was passed throughout the department, and when it came off there were quarters and halves enough to furnish a flat near the engine house.—Buffalo Express.

Makes Delicate Perfume.

To impart the delicate fragrance of any flower to one's letters the oil of any desired flower can be added to the writing fluid. Scent the blotter and place it with the letter paper, but do not put flower oil or perfume upon the letter. A package of invitations can be scented by keeping them over night in a closed jar containing oil of flowers on white wool or cotton.

Bees and Fruit.

An insufficient supply of bees will hinder the setting of fruit. While other insects may take a part in the carrying of pollen, the fruit raiser must rely chiefly upon honey bees. Experience shows that, though bees may fly two or three miles, hives should be within half a mile of the orchard or small fruit patch.

Really Desirable Epitaph.

In one of the New Zealand cemeteries is a grave on which the following words are inscribed after the name and age of the dead girl: "She was so pleasant," says a writer. What a delightful character she must have had to deserve such an epitaph, an essentially lovable girl.

Injurious Concrete Floors.

Opponents of the use of concrete for floors in factories contend that the stonelike surface is injurious to the feet and backs of workmen, and that the dust ground from the concrete finds its way into and injures the machine bearings.

Out of a Job Both Ways.

Explaining why he could not pay a judgment against him, a man said he could not get any bell-hanging to do, and indeed if he did he could not do that kind of work.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Where Is One That Isn't?

Kansas City physicians are puzzled over the case of a boy who is a good kid in the daytime but a bad one at night. If they can find that out they will be in line for a fortune all right, all right.—St. Joseph Gazette.

Easy.

Friend.—Could you explain the tariff to a man if you were allowed to canvass for votes? Miss Suffragette. Of course, I could. It's something that makes you wear silk gloves when you prefer kid.—Smart Set.

Showing Immensity of Oceans.

If all the oceans were suddenly dried up, and the rivers could maintain their present rate of flow, it would take 3,500 years to refill the basin.

Liberty.

To be a good citizen you must think of a number of things besides liberty; the jails are full of people who aren't interested in anything else.—Atchison Globe.

Explaining Woman's Progress.

Perhaps one reason the women are forging ahead of the men is that the men spend so much time laughing at the manner in which a woman sharpens a pencil.—Atchison Globe.

Doesn't Prove It.

Blessed is the man who, having nothing to say, abstains from giving us wordy evidence of the fact.—George Eliot.

Uncle Ezra Says:

"A good many people hev the courage uv their convictions, while a good many more hev the courage of their assumptions."

Conundrum.

The latest conundrum is: "What can you fill a barrel weighing ten pounds with and yet make it lighter?" The answer is holes, of course.

Health Note.

A medical paper claims that a dentist's finger carry disease germs. Moral: Boil your dentist.—Boston Transcript.

Extremely So.

It is hard for a man to have harmony in his soul when there is discord in his stomach.

Improvement Ever Possible.

No one can be more profound than he really is. But everyone can learn and strive.—Schumann.

Win Through Self-Denial.

It is the habit of self-denial which gives the advantage to men we call self-made.—David Starr Jordan.

The Proof of Goodness.

It is not a man's disposition that makes him good; it's his acts.

"Convenience" as Exemplified By Our Store Arrangement.

To make the purchasing of merchandise an easy and economical process for you is the great aim of this store.

Have you ever studied the arrangement of the departments? If you have not, upon your next visit note the manner in which they lead one into another.

This is no haphazard grouping of merchandise, nothing has been left to chance. The position of each stock has been selected with care and calculation.

Allied goods—those which you are apt to require at the same time—materials needed for the same garment—articles which go to make up the same outfit—have been brought as near together as possible.

In this, as in all else, we have sought how best we might serve your interests and convenience.

HALLEY COMET HEALS DUNELLEN FACTIONS

The Halley Comet appeared at Dunellen Friday night and served as a dove of peace to the warring factions of the Board of Trade of that place. The meeting was well advertised by rumors to the effect "that there is something liable to drop," etc., and there was a large turnout of members in expectation of seeing something drop; but the only thing known to have dropped in the town was the tail of Halley's comet. Owing to the arrival of the comet the janitor of the town hall did not "light up" until 9 o'clock.

George R. Day presided and the only matter of interest was the introduction of a 1,500 word resolution by F. D. Baerman in reference to the story appearing in The Daily Press last Saturday to the effect that Mayor Sanford's resignation may be requested by certain citizens, and a subsequent communication appearing in The Daily Press, signed by Dr Thomas Hogan and Frank Wynkoop, officers of the Board of Trade.

The purport of the resolution was to mildly censure Messrs. Hogan and Wynkoop for taking the assumption of power and publishing the letter as being the sentiment of the board. Mr. Baerman, who introduced the resolution entangled the situation by offering an amendment. A vote was taken on the amendment and original resolution and both were adopted. After the session was over nobody appeared to know whether the amendent or motion was carried.

The controversy, in which Mayor Sanford figured in the chief role, was threshed out at an executive meeting on Thursday night. There was considerable talk before Friday night's meeting that legal steps would be taken to compel Mr. Sanford to resign from office, but there were no developments of that nature Friday night. Mr. Sanford left Dunellen on a business trip Friday and will return this week.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The regular business meeting will be held at the First Baptist church this evening.

Children's Day will be observed in the local churches on Sunday, June 12, and in the Methodist churches there will be baptism.

Two candidates, a young woman and a young man, were baptized at the First Baptist church Sunday night by Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss.

Miss Hazel Hattfield, the new contralto, and William Holmes, baritone, sang a pleasing duet at the First Baptist church, Sunday evening.

The Baptist Battalion will hold a drill in the Sunday school room of the First Baptist church Friday night. New recruits will be welcomed.

The local Methodist churches will be represented at the annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Elizabeth District to be held in the Bound Brook M. E. church tomorrow.

Plainfield in .... The Olden Days.

Re-printed from The Weekly Constitutionalist

October 24, 1872.

We are informed by Mr. John M. Schorb that it is his intentions to shortly commence the erection of a fine three-story brick building on the site of his late place of business, recently destroyed by fire. We learn that Mr. Smith contemplates repairing his building (next to Mr. Schorb's.) We trust that he will think differently and replace his partly destroyed edifice by a brick building, similar in style of architecture to that of Mr. Schorb.

The Democrats came out the other night with a banner inscribed—"The pen is more mightier than the sword." This is the most mightiest motto we have seen.—Times.

And the Republicans came out the other night with a banner inscribed—"A few carpet-baggers from Plainfield," which was the most truthful motto we have seen this campaign.

If the voters of Plainfield are wise they will give Doctor Sutphen a rousing majority. He deserves at least 200.

A brick arch is being built over the raceway from French's mill, on Somerset street. We believe it is the intention of Messrs. French and J. B. Brown to erect a brick building on the above site.

A laundry is soon to be started in this city by parties thoroughly understanding the business. Our citizens have long felt the need of a laundry and we have no doubt it will be well patronized.

The extreme length of this State from Cape May to Carpenter's Point is 167 2-3 miles. It is narrowest in the middle. From Delaware River, above Bordentown, to Raritan Bay is scarcely 35 miles. There are 21 counties and 223 townships, with an area of 7,576 square miles.

November 21, 1872.

There are thirty-three hundred persons employed in the Treasury building in Washington, including those in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. About twenty-six hundred are employed in the Treasury proper, and nearly seven hundred in the printing bureau. Out of the whole force eleven hundred are females.

Fatal Railroad Accident.

Mr. David Mundy, an aged gentleman, residing at Bound Brook, N. J., while walking on the track of the Central Railroad at the above place, on Tuesday afternoon last, was run over and instantly killed by the passenger train leaving New York at 2:30 p. m. Deceased was a grandfather of A. L. Mundy, of this city. Being a little deaf and hearing the whistle of a dummy engine on the new road nearby, his attention was drawn that way and he did not notice the fatal train approaching.

On Monday last, Robert Walker, employed in Morgan Bird's Sash and Blind Factory, this city, while running a circular saw had the middle finger of his left hand cut off at the second joint.

The stone cracker at the Notch is kept busy cracking stone for macadamizing purposes, a large portion of the stone being used in macadamizing Front street. This machine cracks about 45 tons of stone daily.

These being the days when every boy in the land and a lot girls too, are seized with the aviation craze and every village turns out its ambitious Darius Greens, it is natural that there should have sprung up a demand for juvenile books dealing with airships. Such a volume is the "Boy Aviators in Nicaragua; or Leauged with the Insurgents," by Captain Wilbur Lawton, published this week by Hurst and Co., New York. The careful and clear account the author gives of the construction of his young aviators' airship is sure to be relished by boys, and possibly by following the example of the two Chester brothers they can manufacture an air-craft themselves. Of course, being a boys' book the volume is crammed from cover to cover with exciting incidents and bits of racy description of life in the tropics A good gift for any boy, aerialized or otherwise. The book is the first of The Boy Aviators series.

JERSEY CITY RIDER CAPTURES BOY RACE

Jesse R. Pike, of Jersey City, won the twenty-five mile bicycle race in a field of 102 riders here yesterday. Percy Haberle, of this city, finished a close second, only three inches of space separating him from the winner. John Stafko, of New York, was third. The winner's time was 1 hour 5 minutes 48 seconds. The first sixteen riders were bunched so thickly that the judges had difficulty in locating them at the time.

G. Orlando, the Italian champion, of Brooklyn, who started with a two-minute handicap, captured the time prize, his time being 1 hour 4 minutes and two-fifths seconds. J. Struber, of Brooklyn, was one fifth of a second behind.

There were numerous spills on the road, but there were no serious injuries. Ten thousand people lined the course all the way from this city to Mountainside a distance of 6¼ miles.

The one-mile race was won by Jerome Steinert, of Hicksville, with John Struber, of Brooklyn, second, and Carl Ericson, of Brooklyn, third.

In the boy's two-mile race Plainfield captured all honors: W. Drake, first; Eddie Simon, second; Willie Simon, third. Eddie Simon, a 14-year-old boy, who finished in second place in this race, secured eleventh place in the twenty-five mile race. The summary of the twenty-five mile race follows:

RANK UMPIRING FOR LOCALS IN BRUNSWICK

New Brunswick and Umpire Sheehan, who hails from the Squash League, near Trenton, defeated Plainfield on the former's grounds on Saturday by the score of 6 to 2. All close decisions, and those that were not close, were handed to New Brunswick, much to the disgust of the local combination, but it all goes in a game of baseball.

Loose fielding on the part of the locals also aided the Brunswicks in their easy conquest. The Middlesex nine secured a commanding lead in the first three rounds by tallying five runs. In the seventh Cosgrave reached home on a triple and sacrifice by Stallings.

Doremus, the actor-twirler of the Brunswicks, had the locals hypnotized until the eighth inning. In this round the Dorflingerites kicked the Brunswick whitewash bucket over and scored a pair of tallies. Carlstrom was the hero in this round when he slammed out a triple that scored Emery. Carlstrom negotiated his tally through an error by Bragen.

Driscoll, Gauven, Dalton and Cosgrave, former Plainfield players were given vociferous receptions as they made their re-appearance in Brunswick uniforms. The score:

Y.M.C.A.'S VICTORS IN A GARRISON FINISH

Y. M. C. A.'s aggregation of ball tossers won a sensational game with the Bedford Y. M. C. A. on Crescent Oval on Saturday afternoon by the score of 5 to 4.

After being goose-egged for six successive rounds, and the score standing 4 to 0 in favor of the visitors, the locals rallied in the seventh inning and tied the score. The winning tally came in the eighth.

It was one of the most exciting climaxes to a ball game in local sport history. Slocum was in fine form and fanned fourteen Brooklynites. Schuyler, the visiting twirler, only fanned one batter, but the locals were unable to hit his delivery to any extent until the "lucky seventh." The score:

CAUSE OF ECZEMA EXPLAINED.

After years of debate medical authorities are now agreed that Eczema and other skin diseases are not seated in the blood, but are caused by myraids of microscopic animals gnawing the flesh just below the epidermis. The patient is perfectly healthy, it is only the skin that is diseased.

Hence, scientists are now agreed that you must cure the skin through the skin. The medicine must be in liquid form in order to penetrate properly. And we can say with confidence that we have the true remedy for Eczema in our store.

The instant you wash with this soothing liquid you will find the itch relieved. We positively assure you of this. Will you try a bottle (at only 25c), on our recommendation? Ask for D. D. D. Prescription.

LITERARY

A most unusual story in the locale it presents is Thomas Samson Miller's "The Ship-builders," a tale of the west coast of Africa. It is one of several stories by the same author, all located in the same little known corner of the world that The Red Book Magazine is published from time to time.

This is of greatest importance. Always select a subject that will not offend anybody. To do this, take a pastor, a prude, and a Republican politician, and consider whether the subject would be pleasing to them. If it is pleasing to each, or to all, you may be sure that no editor will object to it.—Thomas L. Mason in June Lippincott's.

Probably the most remarkable action in which any model played a part, says Andrew Soutar in the June Strand, was one that arose in a South of England town. A factory was erected near a church, and it was alleged that the vibration caused by the machinery in the former interfered with the mid-week services in the latter; during prayer, it was said, the church shook and rattled omniously. I had to prepare models of church and factory; the factory is still being worked, so I assume that the action failed.

Full of interest and valuable information the Wide World Magazine for June upholds its reputation as being unique among present day periodicals. The stories and articles are all founded on facts and deal with every corner of the civilized and uncivilized world. From Alaska to San Pedro Bay, from Mexico to German East Africa, the amount of territory which a single number covers is remarkable. Shark fishing, bear hunting, show boating, swimming, etc., are all dealt with, while the stories of exploration and adventure are full of fascination.

The June number of "Success Magazine" opens with an article of unusual interest, entitled "The Marriage Factory," which is the first of a series on "Marriage in America," by Robert Haven Schauffler. "The Evils of the Night Messenger Service," by Leroy Scott, contains an appeal to every thoughtful American citizen for the protection of the boys in that service. A noteworthy business article is "Our Chance in South America," by Charles Johnson Post. "Congress—Helpless and Hopeless" is an article by Arthur I. Street on conditions in the United States Treasury Department.

The best chapter so far of Theodore Roosevelt's hunting experiences leads the June number of Scribner's Magazine. In "Elephant Hunting on Mount Kenia" he gives all the romance and adventure that is associated with the huge animal that is the subject of unflagging interest around the camp fires of African hunters. The African elephant has never been trained as the Indian elephant, therefore neither the natives nor the hunters have the kind of intimacy and knowledge which demestication gives; moreover hunting in the forest is surrounded with danger and excitement, which Mr. Roosevelt has graphically portrayed in his article. Indeed, there could not be a better description of all that attends a great elephant hunt than this aricle gives. The pictures are among the best ever taken. It is doubtful whether any herd of wild African elephants was ever before photographed so successfully as in the pictures by Kermit Roosevelt. He secured three successive snapshots of the herd in the heart of the forest.

The June Metropolitan Magazine touches what is perhaps one of the sorest spots in the body of the American Republic today in its leading article, "The Alien Peril." It gets at the heart of the problem of foreign-born criminals and points the way to a solution. "Back to the Land" is an old theory that is being put into practise during the last few years with a vigor. H. W. Collingwood sets forth the subject in a thoroughly practical fashion, showing how the city man may become a farmer to his advantage.

In the June Hampton's Peary gets down to the meat of his story of his "Discovery of the North Pole," and in the course of the article makes plain to the readers why his own expedition was successful, and why no other expedition, especially a "sporting party," could hope to accomplish the work. Peary makes no mention of Dr. Cook, but his statement of the reason for his success makes plain the only basis on which an expedition could be successful.

We believe in Fraternal Life Insurance, say the editors of Everybody's Magazine in introducing an article entitled, "Will Your Widow Get Her Money?", but we know that the system has certain faults which the leaders of the associations have themselves long been trying to correct. This is our effort to help them. It has been read with approval by the highest and most thoughtful authorities in the fraternal field. The subject and the revelations of this article are of the utmost importance to millions.

The first of a series of three papers by George Kennan, reviewing the events that have taken place in Russia since the "Bloody Sunday" of January, 1905, makes its appearance in the June Century. During the last thirty years Mr. Kennan, through his articles published in The Century and elsewhere, has become one of the leading authorities on political and social conditions in Russia. His revelations of the barbarities involved in the convict system of Siberia attracted the attention of the civilized world, and gained for him the fear as well as the respect of the Czar's government. T. R. MacMechen and Carl Deinstbach, special students of aeronautics, present a novel forecast of some of the possibilities of aerial warfare based on recent investigations of some of the peculiarities observed in the flight of birds. Another article, by Andrew Carnegie, gives a careful analysis of recent contributions to the movement having universal peace for its object, and shows wherein President Taft's pronouncement before the Peace and Arbitration Society on the 22d of March is one of the most vital helps to the Anti-War Crusade.

The current springtime number of this alway interesting magazine contains an extraordinary variety of spring and summer suggestions. The cover design is unusually attractive, even for the Woman's Home Companion, and the entire magazine lives up to the standard set by the cover. A superb new painting by Jessie Wilcox Smith, "Let Dogs Delight to Bark and Bite," is reproduced in full color on a large mat.

Men and women who feel that call of the great outdoors which every healthy and normal human being experiences at this season, will be especially interested in Physical Culture for June—a special outdoor number containing many timely and readable contributions on outdoor life, and numerous beautiful and striking illustrations. Among the many topics akin to health building discussed in this issue in an interesting manner are: "When, Where and How to Camp Out," "Turning Up the Ball Players of the Big Leagues," "On the Road With Weston."

Captain—Oh, yes; I ran into a man the other day in a fog who insisted upon telling me all the bright things his young son said!—Yonkers Statesman.

Man of the Street—No chance to beat that trust.

"And If You Didn't Give the Values You'd Never Succeed As You Have"

That's what a young woman said last Saturday as she was paying Four Dollars for a dainty pair of patent pumps—and the aptness and truth of the remark struck the writer so forcefully that it is repeated here. The word "values" doesn't apply to the littleness of price alone because we are showing a superb collection of shapes and designs in the $4.00 Oxfords that are unmatchable at that price.

G.A.R. ANNUAL REUNION AT LONG BRANCH JUNE 9

For weeks past the joint committee in charge of the entertainment for the delegates to the forty-third State Encampment, G. A. R., which assembles at Long Branch June 8, 10 and 11, has been busy preparing for a hearty reception to the men who defended the nation in the dark days from '61-'65.

The three big attractions planned are the automobile ride for the delegates on the afternoon of June 10, the salute in the morning to the veterans by hundreds of school children waving flags and singing national airs, and the campfire at night, at which Governor Fort and Past Commander-in-Chief Henry M. Nevius will speak.

The Women's Relief Corps and the Ladies of the G. A. R. will also hold their conventions at the same time. Mrs. Sarah A. Reed, of this city, who is past State President of the Women's Relief Corps, has charge of planning for those two conventions.

Friends of James Campbell will insist that he be placed in nomination for State Commander. Mr. Campbell, who is the leading spirit in G. A. R. work, has served as junior vice commander and declined promotion. He said yesterday that he would not accept even should he be elected.

WEDDING GIFTS

"Oh, Fred!" exclaimed the engaged girl to the engaged young man who had just entered the hall door. Then she threw herself into his arms and burst into tears.

"Why, Kathie," gasped the mystified Fred, "what's up?"

"Oh, Fred!" moaned Katharine amid strangled sobs. "Did you ever see anything more hideous in all your life?" She held up something round, smooth and pearly white in color. "Think of wearing it! Think of it, Fred! Oh, of all spiteful creatures, girls are the worst!"

Katharine sniffed recuperatively and dabbed a bit of lace upon her discolored eyes. Presently she was in a condition to tell her story.

"The Alpha Zeta girls did it just because it makes them jealous to think that I'm about to marry such a splendid man as you. They are, Fred," she insisted as the young man smiled a bit incredulously. "Though in fairness to them, I will admit there is the smallest chance possible of their having actually imagined that I'd like this frightful thing.

"You see," began Katharine confidentially as she settled herself comfortably beside the young man, "when Clara Frazier was married last June the Alpha Zetas decided to give her a handsome bracelet. And I gave in my little $1.50—I, who love Clara as I should love a viper. Do you remember, Fred, when you both happened to be on the same train going to Detroit a year ago? Of course, I know that you were merely polite to her, but she actually made so much out of your attentions to her when she told about them that the girls thought you and I were on the point of quarreling. Since then Clara and I have kept up a perfect fiction of friendship. If we meet as often as three times a day she always kisses me on both cheeks and, opening her eyes wide, inquires sweetly, 'How's Fred?'

"Well, to get back to Clara's wedding present, I was one of the committee of three appointed to select the bracelet. For some reason or other we put off making the purchase till the last day. By that time Carrie had sprained her ankle roller skating and Helen had to help her mother pack for a trip to New York, so I was left to choose the gift all by myself.

"I had a perfectly miserable time, Fred. All the way downtown I juggled impossible designs up and down in my mind. By the time the salesman began bringing out tray after tray of bracelets for my inspection I was utterly confused.

"Of course, some of them were dreams. There were gay Parisian designs and hand-wrought orientals. I saw a silver bracelet set with turquoise, native drilled and warranted never to fade. There was a beauty in rose gold with enamel flower tracings and studs of pearls. But did I select one of these? Never!

"I waved aside all the lovely ones and chose a silver beaded affair. It was an ugly Wall of Troy pattern set with eight lapis lazulis and three cream jades. There wasn't a bit of high light on the article. Altogether it was the ugliest bracelet I ever saw in all my life—except this one here.

"I was ashamed to think what the handsome young salesman might conclude about my intellect, so I told him that the bracelet was not for me, but for an elderly person of peculiar tastes. Of course 25 is elderly, and if Clara weren't odd she never would have dreamed that she could make that sweet-minded Billy Thompson happy for life.

"As I expected, the girls all looked rather shocked when I opened the white velvet box for their inspection; but though the praises were tame, no serious complaints were lodged, so the bracelet was sent to Clara."

Tears were in Katharine's voice as she went on. "Fred, we received a wedding present to-day!" She crushed tightly in her hand the white velvet box. "Inside was an Alpha card. There were also the same beaded silver and the same Wall of Troy, with eight lapis lazulis and three cream jades! A twin monstrosity to the bracelet I selected for Clara!" Tears rolled down her cheeks.

"Oh, I'm nearly through crying," she declared, "but I want to tell you, Ferdinand Augustus Milton Stoll, that you can just make up your mind to use this bracelet to chain on the cover of the ash can or bolt the kitchen door. It may do to tie up the bull pup. As for my wearing it—"

She rose impulsively and the white velvet box went spinning across the room. The bracelet rolled out and lay on the rug.

"Oh, Fred," sobbed Katharine, as she sank pathetically back on the divan, "wouldn't you be awfully afraid to marry me to-morrow if I were as spiteful as some girls?"

How a Disappointment Feels.

"Yes, sir," Uncle Eben said to his nephew, "there are all kinds of disappointments in this world, Charley, and some of 'em are worse'n others. But they're all jest ways of feelin' bad for a minute, I guess.

"'Bout the disappointingist disappointment I ever have is when I feel and feel like sneezin' and it won't sneeze! That kinder gives you a notion of how all disappointments feel till you get over them."—Youth's Companion.

There are no delays—no errors—satisfaction is snugly packed with each parcel we send out. If you are not a patron (which is highly improbable) send in a trial order and you'll quickly realize the truth of the foregoing statements.

A Diet of Wild Honey.

Wild honey as a change is an agreeable sweetmeat, but after a few days constantly partaking of it the European palate rejects it as nauseous and almost disgusting. Our experience extended over a fortnight, during which period our food consisted solely of it and maize. It has escaped the Biblical commentators that one of the principal hardships that John the Baptist must have undergone was his diet of wild honey.—National Geographic Magazine.

Boston's Best Bet.

A Boston lady who found herself trying to eat stones when she thought she was eating bread, and who incidentally broke one good tooth and a set of false ones, is suing the baker for damages. His defense is contributory negligence because the stone was larger than the size of a piece of bread which a lady should put in her mouth. It all goes to show that Bostonians ought to stick to beans.—From the Charleston News and Courier.

Icelandic Wayside Poetry.

Mr. N. P. Fenwick, Jr., notices a curious custom in Iceland of depositing written verses on a cairn, to be found by the next passerby. He translates one so found by himself as follows: "I am sitting here late and early; hungry and cold I linger. Sincere friend, will you not warm the old one?" The reference is to an old crone supposed to inhabit the cairn.

Fragile Leaf of Gold.

While a leaf of gold is so thin that it is impossible to measure its thickness, scales have been made which weigh it accurately. One leaf weighs one-fifth of a grain. It is so light that a breath will blow it away. Held to the light, it is translucent and greenish.

True Education.

That most womanly woman, Hannah More, once gave an excellent definition of education. "Education," said she, "is not that which smothers a woman with accomplishments, but that which tends to consolidate a firm and regular character—to form a friend, a companion and a wife."

Figures of Speech.

The figure eight had just slapped the figure four in the face. A little later it apologized. "I shouldn't have done it," it said by way of making amends. "You are smaller than I am and from what I have said I am sure you will think I am a sorry figure."

Almost Every Time.

When an indulgent and socially ambitious father consents to stand the expense of a "coming out" ball for his daughter, the shortage of his bank account is usually the only thing that really comes out.

Swearing in Spanish Witnesses.

In some provinces of Spain the witness must cross the thumb of one hand over the forefinger of the other; then, kissing this symbolic, if primitive, cross he announces: "By this cross I swear to tell the truth."

When She Has Lost Her Charm.

"You're never grateful for the tyranny of your parents," says the Philosopher of Folly, "till you meet the girl they forbade you to go with, 20 years ago."

For Your Enlightenment.

When a man tells you he wishes you to understand that he is a gentleman you may take it for granted that he is afraid you might not find it out otherwise.

Luck.

The little red man is your good-luck man; the little black man is your bad-luck man. But usually your little black man is on top of your little red man, walloping him.—Atchison Globe.

Failure.

Real success is often achieved after may failures; an active man builds success upon a foundation of failure. —Russel Sage.

Pretenders.

Lawyers who give secret tips to survivors of rich people as to how wills may be broken are usually disliked for putting on heirs.

Most Valuable Influence.

The influence of one man of genius is of more value than that of many persons capable of instructing, but not of stimulating.

Retributive Justice.

You may expect from one person what you have done to another.—Laberius.

Earth's People Apportioned.

As near as can be estimated there are thirty inhabitants to the square mile on this globe.

After Dinner Note.

The fellow who has a story to fit every occasion is all right if the occasions don't come too often.

Growth of the Heart.

Remember that the heart grows to resemble what it contemplates.

Fortunately Rare.

Nothing can be worse than a woman who is never pleased.—Exchange.

Cost of Ocean Cable.

The average cost per mile of a trans-Atlantic submarine cable is $1,200.

THE TOUR OF A SMILE.

My papa smiled this morning when
He came downstairs, you see,
At mamma; and when he smiled, then
She turned and smiled at me;
And when she smiled at me, I went
And smiled at Mary Ann,
Out in the kitchen, and she lent
It to the hired man.

So then he smiled at some one, who
He saw, when going by;
Who also smiled and ere he knew
Had twinkles in his eye;
So he went to his office then
And smiled right at his clerk,
Who put some more ink on his pen
And smiled back from his work.

So when his clerk went home he smiled
Right at his wife, and she Smiled over at their little child
As happy as could be;
And then their little child she took
The smile to school, and when
She smiled at teacher from her book,
Teacher smiled back again.

And when the teacher passed on one
To little James McBride,
Who couldn't get his lessons done,
No matter how he tried;
And Jamesy took it home and told
How teacher smiled at him
When he was tired, and didn't scold,
But said "Don't worry, Jim!"

And when I happened to be there
That very night to play,
His mother had a smile to spare
Which came across my way;
And then I took it after while Back home, and mamma said:
"Here is that very self-same smile,
Come back with us to bed."

The New Jersey Central has been generous in [illegible]ing the beauties of the many [illegible]s and cities along its road and [illegible]nformation is given as to hotels, [illegible]ing-houses, rates of board, as [illegible] as rates on the railroad. The book will be mailed to any one who sends eight cents in stamps, covering postage.

SOCIAL DIVERSIONS

(Scene—Any large house on one of Chicago's fashionable streets. Before it are numerous motor cars and carriages and the strip of bright velvet carpet up the steps shows that an afternoon tea is in progress within. Two women, one in gray velvet, the other in green broadcloth with heavy hand embroidery, approach hastily down the sidewalk, changing to a leisurely pace as their feet touch the bright hued carpet.)

Woman in Gray—Thank goodness, we didn't meet a soul outside and anyone seeing us now couldn't tell but that we had driven up in that electric motor standing at the curb!

Woman in Green—Our car is in the repair shop and—

Woman in Gray—It's been in all winter, hasn't it, dear? Anyone would think you didn't have one at all. I knew some people who did that to save garage rent—not that I mean—of course—

Woman in Green (hastily)—Goodness, they've hired all the waiters in town, I think—four men in the hall alone! Yes, I'm going upstairs first. I'm going to keep my coat, but I think it's a shame for a hostess to fix her bedrooms up and have nobody see them. I heard that she had her own room done over completely in Circassian walnut and blue brocade, but I don't believe it, for a man told my husband that her husband was running awfully close to the wind. Well, it is Circassian walnut! Did you ever! Mercy, this is cheap face powder!

Woman in Gray—Lottie Thorston is here—that's her coat, the moth-eaten looking one. She's worn it for ten years, I believe. Let's go down. Isn't there a crowd! I suppose everybody came because there weren't many other things to go to to-day. You can't make me believe Mrs. Klimber is so dreadfully popular. She's just pushing. Look! Her dress is a fright! How do you do, Mrs. Klimber! It's lovely to see you again! My dear, your decorations through the rooms are charming and make such a becoming background for you in that sweet frock.

Woman in Green—How are you, Mrs. Klimber? I needn't ask, because you are looking awfully well. Dear me, there are so many people behind me that I can't get in even a little bit of chat. I'll move on!

Woman in Gray—She's got Mrs. Cedar and Mrs. Lake assisting. Now, how in the world did she manage that? You needn't tell me; I know she just grabbed and cornered them! That's her way! Just because she has a little money she dares try anything! Anybody can make a showing who is willing to do that! There's Sarah Hittey over there and isn't she terribly made up! Anyone who didn't know she was 35 would say she looked positively young. Good afternoon, Sarah! I was just saying how sweet you looked! My dear, where did you get that perfectly stunning gown? It makes you look positively slim! No one glancing at you would think you weighed as much as you do! I remember now, you had a lavender satin year before last and you've just had it covered with the spangled stuff and made over! Well, that's clever and most people would never dream it was an old gown.

Woman in Green—Let's go on out into the dining room. I want to get near that woman with the coral willow plumes so I can have a good look at her. Why, haven't you heard of her? She's the one who tried to rope in the Glendennings' son and his millions. She's ten years older than he and divorced and he was crazy about her till his father sent him to Mozambique or Oshkosh or somewhere. Go slowly. Well, all I can say is that he certainly was crazy. I think that type of face with the big oriental eyes and scarlet lips is perfectly unladylike. It makes you think of snake charmers and things of that sort. Why are men such idiots?

Woman in Gray—That's not Mrs. Klimber's lace tablecloth. Every place Maccaroon has served this winter I've seen it! Orchids on the table! Well, I suppose she struck a bargain sale, for there's $100 worth there!

Woman in Green—Isn't that Etta White at the coffee urn? They say her grandfather will leave her half a million. No wonder she is called the most popular debutante! My mother knew her mother when she had to scrub her own kitchen floor! Did you ever taste such weird sandwiches in your life?

Woman in Gray—They're awful. And I know that whipped cream is part egg. I expect the Klimbers had to save somewhere, since they got the Circassian walnut. And such little dabs of frozen punch! I know where she got those plates—I saw them at a mark-down sale one day. With these lights the gold on them looks almost like real hand work. Look at those women in the door, glaring! I think they want our seats. Some people are so ill bred. We can get upstairs through this door. Goodness! Look at the way things are piled on my furs! I never— Oh, you say you just this instant laid your coat there? Well, sable crushes so. Oh, that woman stepped all over my train! What a pretty handkerchief on the floor! I I can't find my own so I'll just keep it. No doubt the owner is gone anyhow. Are you ready?

Woman in Green—Yes. Hurry before the doorman shouts out to ask your carriage number. Good-by Mrs. Klimber—such a lovely time!

Woman in Gray—A perfectly charming afternoon! Good-by, Mrs. Klimber!

PLANS JERSEY TROOPS FOR GETTYSBURG TRIP

The problem of moving the Second Brigade of the New Jersey National Guard to the army manoeuvres at Gettysburg, Penn., in July has been completed by Quartermaster General C. Edward Murray. On July 9 Company G, Second Infantry, will start from Freehold and go to Elizabethport, where Companies C and I from Elizabeth, Company K from Plainfield, Company M from Somerville, and Company H from Bound Brook, will join it.

The horses for the officers, including the commandant, Brig. Gen. Dennis F. Collins, and his staff, will be loaded in Newark and sent to Elizabethport. This section will go by special train to Gettysburg over the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

At the same time the second section of the regiment will assemble at Trenton, together with the commandant of the brigade and his staff. Companies A, B, and D from Trenton, will march to the Philadelphia & Reading station, where Company L will have preceded them from Princeton by trolley, together with Company F from Lambertville. Company E of the Trenton battalion has been disbanded and a new company recruited, but as the army regulations say that no troops can participate which have been enlisted since March 31 that company can not go.

The Third Regiment will concentrate at Camden, and go by the bridge route over the Pennsylvania Railroad, through Lancaster, York, Hanover, and to Gettysburg. The Second Troop of Red Bank will go with their sixty horses over the Central Railroad and the First Troop will follow. All of the troops will go on July 9 and remain until July 19, excepting the First Troop of Essex, which goes July 16 and gets back July 23, and the Second Troop, which goes July 23 and gets back July 30.

Twelve hundred members and their guests, which included notables from various sections of the country, filled the auditorium. Plainfield was largely represented throughout the afternoon and evening. The business sessions were held in the afternoon.

Automobile Buyers Are of Two Kinds

Those who want the best car for the least money.

Those who want the best car regardless of price.

THE CHALMERS CAR is the one car that appeals to both classes of buyers. That accounts for its wonderful popularity.

It is easy to show the man who wants a "cheap" car how much more value he can get in the CHALMERS by paying a little more.

It is easy to prove to the man who wants automobile satisfaction regardless of price that CHALMERS cars compare favorably at every point with the highest priced cars.

If you want real motor-value—if you want a car that "makes good" then the car for you is a CHALMERS

CHAPTER XXIV.

The Whoahaw Trail.

There are no pleasures where women are not.—Marie de Romba.

In our own caravan, now pressing on for the general movement west of the Missouri, there was material for a hundred canvases. The world of our great western country was then still before us. A stern and warlike people was resolved to hold it and increase it. Of these west-bound I now was one. I felt the joy of that thought. I was going west.

The old trail to Oregon was laid out by no government, arranged by no engineer, planned by no surveyor, supported by no appropriation. It sprang, a road already created, from the earth itself, covering 2,000 miles of our country. Why? Because there was need for that country to be covered by such a trail at such a time. Because we needed Oregon.

We carried with us all the elements of society, as has the Anglo-Saxon ever. Did any man offend against the unwritten creed of fair play, did he shirk duty when that meant danger to the common good, then he was brought before a council of our leaders, men of wisdom and fairness, chosen by the vote of all; and so he was judged and he was punished. At that time there was not west of the Missouri river any one who could administer an oath, who could execute a legal document, or perpetuate any legal testimony; yet with us the law marched pari passu across the land. We had leaders chosen because they were fit to lead; and leaders who felt full sense of responsibility to those who chose them.

At the head of our column, we bore the flag of our republic. On our flanks were skirmishers, like those guarding the flanks of an army. It was an army,—an army of our people. With us marched women. With us marched home. That was the difference between our cavalcade and that slower and more selfish one, made up of men alone, which that same year was faring westward along the upper reaches of the Canadian plains. That was why we won. It was because women and plows were with us.

CHAPTER XXV.

Oregon.

The spell and the light of each path we pursue—
If woman be there, there is happiness too. —Moore.

Twenty miles a day, week in and week out, we edged westward up the Platte, in heat and dust part of the time, often plagued at night by clouds of mosquitoes. Our men endured the penalties of the journey without comment. I do not recall that I ever heard even the weakest woman complain. Thus at last we reached the South pass of the Rockies, not yet half done our journey, and entered upon that portion of the trail west of the Rockies, which had still two mountain ranges to cross, and which was even more apt to be infested by the hostile Indians. Even when we reached the ragged trading post, Fort Hall, we had still more than 600 miles to go.

By this time our forces had wasted as though under assault of arms. Far back on the trail, many had been forced to leave prized belongings, relics, heirlooms, implements, machinery, all conveniences. The finest of mahogany blistered in the sun, abandoned and unheeded. Our trail might have been followed by discarded implements of agriculture, and by whitened bones as well. Our footsore teams, gaunt and weakened, began to faint and fall. Horses and oxen died in the harness or under the yoke, and were perforce abandoned where they fell. Each pound of superfluous weight was cast away as our motive power thus lessened. Wagons were abandoned, goods were packed on horses, oxen and cows.

We put cows into the yoke now, and used women instead of men on the drivers' seats, and boys who started riding finished afoot.

Gaunt and brown and savage, hungry and grim, ragged, hatless, shoeless, our cavalcade closed up and came on, and so at last came through. Ere autumn had yellowed all the foliage back east in gentler climes, we crossed the shoulders of the Blue mountains and came into the valley of the Walla Walla; and so passed thence down the Columbia to the valley of the Willamette, 300 miles yet farther, where there were then some slight centers of our civilization which had gone forward the year before.

Here were some few Americans. At Champoeg, at the little American missions, at Oregon City, and other scattered points, we met them, we hailed and were hailed by them.

Our Men Endured the Penalties of the Journey Without Comment.

Messengers, too, came down from the Hudson bay posts to scan our equipment and estimate our numbers. There was no word obtainable from these of any Canadian column of occupation to the northward which had crossed at the head of the Peace river or the Saskatchewan, or which lay ready at the head waters of the Fraser or the Columbia to come down to the lower settlements for the purpose of bringing to an issue, or making more difficult, this question of the joint occupancy of Oregon. As a matter of fact, ultimately we won that transcontinental race so decidedly that there never was admitted to have been a second.

So we took Oregon by the only law of right. Our broken and weakened cavalcade asked renewal from the soil itself. We ruffled no drum, fluttered no flag, to take possession of the land. But the canvas covers of our wagons gave way to permanent roofs. Where we had known a hundred camp-fires, now we lighted the fires of many hundred homes.

CHAPTER XXVI.

The Debated Country.

The world was sad, the garden was a wild!
The man, the hermit, sighed—till woman smiled! —Campbell.

Our army of peaceful occupation scattered along the more fertile parts of the land, principally among the valleys. Of course, it should not be forgotten that what was then called Oregon meant all of what now is embraced in Oregon, Washington and Idaho, with part of Wyoming as well. It extended south to the Mexican possessions of California. How far north it was to run, it was my errand here to learn.

I settled near the mouth of the Willamette river, near Oregon City, and not far from where the city of Portland later was begun; and builded for myself a little cabin of two rooms, with a connecting roof. This I furnished, as did my neighbors their similar abode, with a table made of hewed puncheons, chairs sawed from blocks, a bed framed from poles, on which lay a rude mattress of husks and straw.

From the eastern states I scarcely could now hear in less than a year, for another wagon train could not start west from the Missouri until the following spring. We could only guess how events were going forward in our diplomacy.

The mild winter wore away, and I learned little. Spring came, and still no word of any land expedition out of Canada. We and the Hudson bay folk still dwelt in peace. The flowers began to bloom in the wild meads, and the horses fattened on their native pastures.

Summer came on. The fields began to whiten with the ripening grain. I grew uneasy, feeling myself only an idler in a land so able to fend for itself. I now was much disposed to discuss means of getting back over the long trail to the eastward, to carry the news that Oregon was ours. It was at this time that there occurred a startling and decisive event.

I was on my way on a canoe voyage up the wide Columbia, not far above the point where it receives its greatest lower tributary, the Willamette, when all at once I heard the sound of a cannon shot. I turned to see the cloud of blue smoke still hanging over the surface of the water. Slowly there swung into view an ocean-going vessel under steam and auxiliary canvas. She made a gallant spectacle. But whose ship was she? I examined her colors anxiously enough. I caught the import of her ensign. She flew the British Union Jack!

England had won the race by sea!

Something of the ship's outline seemed to me familiar. I knew the set of her short masts, the pitch of her smoke-stacks, the number of her guns. Yes, she was the Modeste of the English navy—the same ship which more than a year before I had seen at anchor off Montreal!

News travels fast in wild countries, and it took us little time to learn the destination of the Modeste. She came to anchor above Oregon City, and well below Fort Vancouver. At once, of course, her officers made formal calls upon Dr. McLaughlin, the factor at Fort Vancouver, and accepted head of the British elements thereabouts. Two weeks passed in rumors and counter rumors, and a vastly dangerous tension existed in all the American settlements, because word was spread that England had sent a ship to oust us. Then came to myself and certain others at Oregon City messengers from peace-loving Dr. McLaughlin, asking us to join him in a little celebration in honor of the arrival of her majesty's vessel.

Here at last was news; but it was news not wholly to my liking which I soon unearthed. The Modeste was but one ship of 15! A fleet of 15 vessels, 400 guns, then lay in Puget sound. The watch-dogs of Great Britain were at our doors. This question of monarchy and the republic was not yet settled, after all!

I pass the story of the banquet at Fort Vancouver, because it is unpleasant to recite the difficulties of a kindly host who finds himself with jarring elements at his board. Precisely this was the situation of white-haired Dr. McLaughlin of Fort Vancouver. It was an incongruous assembly in the first place. The officers of the British navy attended in the splendor of their uniforms, glittering in braid and gold. Even Dr. McLaughlin made brave display, as was his wont, in his regalia of dark blue cloth and shining buttons—his noble features and long, snow-white hair making him the most lordly figure of them all. As for us Americans, lean and brown, with hands hardened by toil, our wardrobes scattered over a thousand miles of trail, buckskin tunics made our coats, and moccasins our boots. I have seen some noble gentlemen so clad in my day.

It was, as may be supposed, late in the night when our somewhat discordant banqueting party broke up. We were all housed, as was the hospitable fashion of the country, in the scattered log buildings which nearly always hedge in a western fur-trading post. The quarters assigned me lay across the open space, or what might be called the parade ground of Fort Vancouver, flanked by Dr. McLaughlin's four little cannon.

As I made my way home, stumbling among the stumps in the dark, I passed many semi-drunken Indians and voyageurs, to whom special liberty had been accorded in view of the occasion, all of them now engaged in singing the praises of the "King George" men as against the "Bostons."

I was almost at my cabin door at the edge of the forest frontage at the rear of the old post, when I caught glimpse, in the dim light, of a hurrying figure, which in some way seemed to be different from the blanket-covered squaws who stalked here and there about the post grounds. She passed steadily on toward a long and low log cabin, located a short distance beyond the quarters which had been assigned to me. I saw her step up to the door and heard her knock; then there came a flood of light—more light than was usual in the opening door of a frontier cabin. This displayed the figure of the night walker, showing her tall and gaunt and a little stooped; so that, after all, I took her to be only one of our American frontier women, being quite sure that she was not Indian or half-breed.

This emboldened me, on a mere chance—an act whose mental origin I could not have traced—to step up to the door after it had been closed, and myself to knock thereat.

I heard women's voices within, and as I knocked the door opened just a trifle on its chain. I saw appear at the crack the face of the woman whom I had followed.

She was, as I had believed, old and wrinkled, and her face now, seen close, was as mysterious, dark and inscrutable as that of any Indian squaw. Her hair fell heavy and gray across her forehead, and her eyes were small and dark as those of a native woman. Yet, as she stood there with the light streaming upon her, I saw something in her face which made me puzzle, ponder and start—and put my foot within the crack of the door.

"Threlka," I said quietly, "tell madam the baroness it is I, Mons. Trist of Washington."

CHAPTER XXVII.

In the Cabin of Madam.

Woman must not belong to herself; she is bound to alien destinies.—Friedrich von Schiller.

With an exclamation of surprise, the old woman departed from the door. I heard the rustle of a footfall. I could have told in advance what face would now appear outlined in the candle glow—with eyes wide and startled, with lips half parted in query. It was the face of Helena, Baroness von Ritz!

"Ah, Mons. madam, why do you bar me out?" I said, as though we had parted but yesterday.

In her sheer astonishment, I presume, she let down the fastening chain, and without her invitation I stepped within. I heard her startled "Mon Dieu!" then her more deliberate exclamation of emotion, "My God!" she said. She stood, with her hands caught at her throat, staring at me. I laughed and held out a hand.

"Madam baroness," I said, "how glad I am! Come, has not fate been kind to us again?"

I pushed shut the door behind me. Still without a word, she stepped deeper into the room and stood looking at me, her hands clasped now loosely and awkwardly, as though she were a country girl surprised, and not the Baroness Helena von Ritz, toast or talk of more than one capital of the world.

Yet she was the same. She seemed slightly thinner now, yet not less beautiful. Her eyes were dark and brilliant as ever. The clear features of her face were framed in the roll of her heavy locks, as I had seen them last. Her garb, as usual, betokened luxury. She was robed as though for some fete, all in white satin, and pale blue fires of stones shone faintly at throat and wrist. Contrast enough she made to me, clad in smoke-browned tunic of buck, with the leggings and moccasins of a savage, my belt lacking but prepared for weapons.

TO BE CONTINUED.

Just Married

They had returned from their honeymoon tour and were adjusting their new household belongings in the flat they had engaged.

"It's good fun, isn't it, dearie?" she said as she stood in a corner of their 10 by 11 parlor and looked at a picture she had hung on a wall near the door.

"No end of it, darling," he replied.

"One thing that makes it so delightful is that we harmonize so entirely in our ideas of where things should be. I do think that our tastes are wonderfully similar.

'Isn't it nice to have it that way? I don't see how we can possibly quarrel when we think just alike."

"Quarrel! The idea of us quarreling. I'd as soon think of the possibility of the sun and moon bumping together as you and I quarreling. Whatever put that foolish idea into your head, sweetheart?"

"Oh, just because, you know, married people do quarrel now and then, and often about the merest trifles. But it takes two to make a quarrel, and I know that I never will—where are you going to put that chippendale chair that dear Aunt Ellen gave us, darling?"

"I was going to put it right in this corner, sweetheart."

"Do you think that is the best place for it, Harold, dear? You know that it is the handsomest thing we have, and—seems to me it would look better near the center of the room."

"Think so? I'll try it there."

"I like it better there, darling."

"You do? Well, now, I can't say that I do. Sometimes it looks as if we were trying to show it off and call attention to it."

"I don't think it does. And I want folks to see it so long as it is really the handsomest thing we have. I don't think that I am any more disposed to make a vulgar display of what we have than—"

"My dear, I didn't say that you wanted to make a vulgar display of the chair, but—"

"I know that you didn't exactly say that, Harold, but your tone of voice, and—"

"My tone of voice? My dear, I spoke as I always speak when—"

"No, you didn't, Harold. There was a certain little note of irritation in your voice, and—but about the chair. I don't like it there in the corner. For one thing, I think dear Aunt Ellen would not like it tucked away out of sight in that out-of-the-way corner, and she might feel hurt, and—"

"Tucked away out of sight in a corner! As if anything could be tucked away our of sight in a 2x4 room like this! Really, child, I—"

"Harold, I am not a child, and I would thank you not to treat me as if I were one. And I don't like that certain sneer in your voice, and—"

"A sneer in my voice? What in time—"

"Harold! Remember that—anyhow, so long as it was my aunt and not yours who gave me the chair, I think that I might have the privilege of saying where it shall stand. I owe a great deal to Aunt Ellen and I don't want her to get the idea that her present has been slighted. It's really the nicest thing we have, and none of your relatives gave us—"

"I guess that what my relatives gave us will size up very favorably with anything your relatives gave us, and to be absolutely frank, my dear, I think that a chippendale chair is all out of harmony with everything else we have. It's a sort of a false and screaming note in—"

"Harold Newlywed, that chair is not a false and screaming note and it couldn't be that in any environment. You gushed enough over it to dear Aunt Ellen, and I'd like to know what she'd say if—"

"It wouldn't make much difference to me what she said. And as for arranging my furniture to suit your Aunt Ellen or—"

"'My furniture!' I'd like to know who gave us more than half of the furniture we have! Yes, and more than half of all our wedding presents. It comes with poor grace from you to—but about that chair, I mean to have it almost in the center of the room."

"Yes, and have it screeching out to every one who comes into the room and—"

"You'd better say have it letting folks know that we have at least one really nice thing. Now that you have gone so far I will tell you flatly that I think that that willow chair your Aunt Hannah gave us is enough to set one's teeth on edge! If you want any chair tucked in a corner out of sight you'd better put that monstrosity there for—"

"It's a more sensible-looking chair this minute than that sprawling-legged chippendale with—"

"It isn't!"

"It surely is, and I say that—"

"I don't care what you say! To think that before we have been married a month you turn from the lover to the brute and—"

"And you from the purring angel to—but, by George, I'll not stand here to be insulted and—"

"If you do you'll stay alone, for I mean to go right over to Aunt Ellen's and—"

"Aunt Ellen go hang!"

"And you speak that way of—"

But Harold was going down the stairs three steps at a time and—of course they made it all up later and were like a pair of cooing doves at dinner.

To Prevent Contagion.

To prevent contagion when a patient has diphtheria, scarlet fever or any of the dreaded diseases, take equal parts of turpentine and carbolic acid; put one-half teaspoonful at a time in a kettle of water kept near the boiling point. The odor gives relief to the patient and also prevents the spread of the malady if kept in the room.

If You Want to Be Liked.

Do not "take liberties" with your friends. Don't intrude on them when they are busy. Don't break engagements with them if you can possibly help it. Many a friendship comes to an untimely end because little courtesies are set aside. A habit of courtesy carries one safely through many dangerous places, especially with intimate friends.

Beware of "Getting Mad."

The tendency to fume and rage and brood over every untoward occurrence is the badge of ignorance, ugly nature and, as a rule, poor health. So, if you find yourself getting "mad" at people for slight cause, try to cure yourself for you are in danger of inviting nerve troubles that destroy brain and eyesight when age comes on.

Commercial Tricteries.

In Cuba they fatten little pigs on cocoanuts, and bake them into Christmas turkeys, and fine they say they are. Pick out cocoanuts that are heavy with water and sound solid when struck together. In Barbados and Trinidad they plaster pitch over the monkey eyes to keep the nut from spoiling.

Poverty in Haiti.

Abject poverty is the condition of much of Haiti's population. There is a brisk demand there for old condensed milk, preserve, butter and lard cans, of which are made practically all the cooking and table utensils they use.

The Difference.

"John Peters isn't fit to associate with gentlemen." "Gee! What's the matter?" "He held out a card when we were playing poker last night." "So did you." "But I only held out a nine-spot. He stole an ace."—Cleveland Leader.

Diverse Salvage Methods.

By the old method of salvage the rents and breaks in the hull of the vessel were closed and the water pumped out. By the latest system the ship is rid of water by pumping air into the holds, which floats the vessel.

Proud Man's Vain Wish.

"I wonder why so many business men marry their stenographers?" "Probably under the mistaken assumption that they can dictate to them as easily after marriage as they did before."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Expert Definition.

According to the Delineator, Leah was having her first lesson in punctuation. On her return from school she explained to her brother that a period was a dot, and a comma was a period that had sprouted.

Philosophical Needs.

Before philosophy can teach by experience, the philosophy has to be in readiness, the experience must be gathered and intelligibly recorded.—Carlyle.

For an Obvious Reason.

It is becoming fashionable again for men to wear their hair pompadour, but a good many of the men wore their hair pompadour before that will not do so now.

The Ways of Men.

Many a man who would be unable to find the family Bible if he hunted all day would have no difficulty in putting his hand on the corkscrew, even in the dark.

Telegraph Poles of Glass.

Glass telegraph poles are being used in places where wooden poles are quickly destroyed by insects or by climate.

Dreamers.

The trouble with most dreamers is that they forget that it takes hard work to make their dreams come true.

If.

This would be a splendid world if no one could secure profits in any way that might increase the hardships of others.

Men.

Men of loftier mind manifest themselves in their equitable dealings; small minded men in their going after gain.—Confucius.

Australia's Wool Production.

The annual production of wool in Australia amounts to about $125,000,000.

Singular, Indeed.

"That's strange! The papers always announce the death of famous men, but never their birth."—Le Sourire.

Uncle Ezra Says:

"It's a mighty poor man who says he lets his roof go unshingled so's his prayers will git to Heaven easier."

Holland Always in Dire Peril.

The greater part of Holland is eight feet below the level of the sea.
